Government and Politics	Brian and LeeAnn	The city of Lakewood has gained national attention including a mention on the comedy central blog site "Tosh 2.0" for it's long and complicated fireworks rules sign that the city posted at Lakewood Parks. The sign has in big letters everything fireworks-goers are not allowed to bring to the fourth of July festivities including sparklers, propane tanks and pets.	7/3/13 4:43 am	:56
Health and Human Services	Brian and LeeAnn	The first patients begin arriving at MetroHealth's new community health center in Middleburgh Heights this morning. The Middleburgh November Family Health Center is located right off I-71, and offers MetroExpressCare, imaging, primary care, and specialties including cardiology, obstetrics and ophthalmology.	7/8/13 5:08am	1:04
Government and Politics	Brian and LeeAnn	The man who escaped from a Mansfield prison used ladders from a maintenance area to scale fences between him and freedom. JAMES Myers had been working as a carpenter with work wrapping up around 8:20 p.m. He was missing for the 9 p.m. head count. Myers was arrested after being spotted at the Olivesburg General Store, about 10 miles from the prison. Mark Cooper, a customer wearing an American flag shirt, tackled Myers in the store and held him until police arrived.	7/9/13 4:31am	1:08
Government and Politics	Brian and LeeAnn	A former employee of the Cuyahoga Heights School District was sentenced to more than 11 years in prison Tuesday for the theft of more than $3.4 million from the district. 31-year-old Joseph M. Palazzo of Independence previously pleaded guilty to conspiracy to commit mail fraud, conspiracy to commit money laundering, and wire fraud.	7/10/13 4:57am	1:00

Government and Politics	Brian and LeeAnn	The Justice Department this week distributed more than $3.4 million to local and state law enforcement agencies under its equitable sharing program. The money came from seizures and forfeitures in three federal cases. the Justice Department keeps 20 percent of the seized assets. The remaining money is divided among other participating agencies based on hours worked on the case. The U.S. Marshal administers the funds.	7/11/13 4:55am	:56
Health and Human Services	Brian and LeeAnn	More mosquitoes are buzzing around because of the wet weather in Cuyahoga County. Joe Lynch with the County Board of Health says mosquito calls have increased in the past week. They were getting two to three calls a week, now they're getting up to six a day. Lynch suggests using bug repellent if you're going to spend time outside.	7/12/13 5:15am	:57
Government and Politics	Brian and LeeAnn	The state of Ohio hopes to have suspended drivers back on the road more quickly. They plan on doing that by allowing them to pay license reinstatement fees in monthly installments and legally resume driving in the meantime. The bureau of motor vehicles says nearly half og Ohio's roughly 1 million suspended drivers will be eligble for the payment plan.	7/15/13 4:31 am	:52
Diversity	Brian and LeeAnn	Protests and vigils are being held around the country, including Cleveland, following the acquittal of George Zimmerman. A jury found George Zimmerman not guilty in the death of Trayvon Martin. A noontime rally was held Monday outside the Justice Center. Many were carrying signs in support of the 17-year-old shooting victim.	7/16/13 5:01am	:56
