Broadcasts by the station dealt with programming on each of the above-referenced issues. Programming on In Focus, with host Carolyn Hutcheson, targeted each issue within a 7-minute time frame, between 12:40 and 1:00 p.m. twice a week. Note: the station also presented twice weekly political recap programs with Alabama Public Television news director Don Dailey and award-winning reporter Verna Gates of Birmingham.

A. Environmental Issues:

-Broadcast on June 2:

A discussion by phone with guest Fred Espenak, an astrophysicist NASA named Mr. Eclipse, about preparations for the August 2017 total eclipse. During this week's Planetarium Conference in Montgomery, sponsored by Troy University, Espenak will give the keynote address and recount his experiences as an eclipse expert. His websites are designed to help citizens understand and prepare to view eclipses properly.

-Broadcast on June 8:

A discussion with guest Nick Thomas, chemistry professor, author, and feature writer for some 200 publications, about science in film – do the filmmakers get the science right or wrong? His entertaining discussion included several films , and he previewed an AUM mini-course he will be teaching to help audience members discern accuracy in scientific depictions in movies.

-Broadcast on June 17:

A discussion with guest Phyllis Mardis, environmental supervisor with the Alabama Department of Public Health, about the mosquito that spreads the Zika virus. She outlined environmental defense methods that homeowners can use to keep the mosquito out of their yards and gardens. The mosquito is active in the daytime, rather than the evening hours. Currently Alabama has a few travel-related Zika cases.

Then, a follow-up discussion with guest Debbie Boutelier, past-president of the Herb Society of America, about plants that can be used to repel mosquitos – American Beautyberry, the Mosquito plant, the Citronella Geranium, and other highly scented yard plants.

-Broadcast on June 29:

A discussion with guest Greg Lein, director of the Alabama State Parks for the Alabama Department of Conservation and Natural Resources, about the current status of the park system, after a tumultuous year with a funding shortfall from the Alabama Legislature. He outlines plans to stabilize the parks for the future, with new programs like the Dirt Pass, to garner financial support from trail users. After the park system lost three smaller state parks, their operation has been taken over by local governments to keep them open.

B. Societal & Health Issues:

-Broadcast on April 6:

A discussion with guest Ambassador Connie Morella, who served in the US Congress from Maryland from 1987 to 2003. During that time, she fought for equality for women. When she started her tenure, there were 24 women in Congress; when she left, there were 82. Note: Ambassador Morella is the current Troy University Ambassador-in-Residence.

-Broadcast on April 7:

A discussion with guest Lynne Bozeman, Montgomery CPA and a CPA Ambassador for the Alabama Society of Certified Public Accountants, about Tax credits and the IRS regulations.

-Broadcast on April 13:

An on-location interview on the front lawn of the Alabama Attorney General's office with guest Miriam Shehane, founder and education director of the nonprofit VOCAL. Shehane's college-age daughter was abducted and murdered in 1976, which led to Shehane's founding of the Victims of Crime and Leniency organization, which advocates for crime victims. The lawn of the AG's office contained hundreds of white wooden crosses, signifying those who died violent deaths at the hands of criminals.

-Broadcast on April 20:

A discussion by phone with guests Homer Hickam and in-studio with Troy University professor Kirk Curnutt about the Alabama Book Festival. Hickam recounted stories from his childhood, including his mother's pet alligator, Albert, which he has written about in a new book. The guests talked about Hickam's earlier book, Rocket Boys, on which the hit movie, October Sky, is based, and they stressed the importance of cultivating the literary arts for all generations.

-Broadcast on May 26:

A discussion with guest James Perdue, Alabama Mental Health Commissioner, about the history of Alabama's treatment of mentally ill citizens, from state mental health hospitals to community-based treatment, which is still evolving. Perdue's unique perspective as former probate judge of Crenshaw County allowed him to also talk about the involuntary commitment process.

-Broadcast on May 27:

A discussion by phone with guest Mary Ann Pettway of Gee's Bend, Alabama, about the quilt art of the members of the Gee's Bend Quilting Collective, which she manages. The unique geometric artistic styles have become famous worldwide, and now the Smithsonian owns several Gee's Bend quilts. Pettway delves into how the quilts are constructed and how the designs evolved.

-Broadcast on June 3:

An on-location discussion by producer Grishma Rimal at a Montgomery gay bar with guest members of Montgomery's LGBTQ community about the city's gay bars past and present, where club members can socialize.

-Broadcast on June 10:

A discussion with guest Cindy Ducker, Arthritis Foundation advocate, about her recent trip to Washington to meet with members of Congress about the treatment of arthritis in veterans. Osteoarthritis is the second highest doctor-diagnosed reason for medical discharges from the US Army.

-Broadcast on June 23:

A discussion with guest David Smitherman, president of the Better Business Bureau of Central and Southern Alabama, about the Scam Tracker, an online tool that consumers can use to track current scams being perpetrated on citizens.

-Broadcast on June 24:

A discussion by phone with guest Raymond Arroyo, Mother Angelica's biographer, about her founding of EWTN, the world's largest religious broadcasting network. Her last years were ones of silence, due to the aftermath of a major stroke, but Arroyo recounted highlights of her establishment of the network in Alabama and of her final journey. His last book about the nun is Mother Angelica: Her Grand Silence.

C. Historical Issues:

-Broadcast on April 1:

A rebroadcast from two years ago of a discussion with guest Jett Williams about her fight to discover her identity as the daughter of musician Hank Williams. For most of her youth, she lived as the daughter of adoptive parents in south Alabama. The mystery of her birth was finally discovered, and the courts restored her rightful heritage.

-Broadcast on April 14:

A discussion by phone with guest J.E. Saliba, director of the play All My Sons at the Southeast Alabama Community Theatre in Dothan, in observance of what would have been playwright Arthur Miller's 100th birthday, about the play's origins as a newspaper article Miller's mother saved for him.

-Broadcast on May 12:

A discussion with guest Martin Olliff, Troy University associate professor of history on the Dothan campus and director of the Wiregrass Archives, about the importance of preserving family history. The Wiregrass Common Heritage Project is set up to assist with preserving family archives and genealogy, especially African American genealogy.

-Broadcast on May 13:

A discussion by phone with guest Keller Johnson Thompson, great grand-niece of Helen Keller, about Keller's nomination to be the new face of the $10 bill. Johnson Thompson told family stories about Helen Keller and talked about the impact she had on the world.
