Health – Pandemic & Coronavirus

Jax Journal

Host: Steven Ponson

Airdate: 4/4/2020

Topics: Coronavirus

Guests: Dr. Greg Poland, Professor of Medicine and Director of the Mayo Vaccine Research Group at the Mayo Clinic in Minnesota

Duration: 23:55

Summary: In this episode of Jax Journal, Rich Jones talked with Dr. Poland about where the medical community currently stand with responding to coronavirus. Dr. Poland say it will be a few more weeks before we start to see if any of the social distancing orders announced will have any sort of impact on flattening the curve. Dr. Poland says washing your hands is one of the best ways you can prevent spreading the virus and also stay inside and limit contact with people.

Jax Journal

Host: Steven Ponson

Airdate: 4/11/2020

Topics: Covid-19 plasma donations and services available from the Salvation Army of Northeast Florida

Guests: Dr. Chris Lough with Lifesouth Community Blood Services and Major Keath Biggers with the Salvation Army of Northeast Florida.

Duration: 25:36

Summary: In this episode of Jax Journal, I talked with Dr. Chris Lough with Lifesouth Community Blood services which serves the Northeast Florida area to talk about their need for people who've overcome the virus to donate plasma which will go toward helping others recover who are currently Covid-19 positive. He says there isn't much out there to treat the virus, but one of the more promising methods appears to be donating plasma that likely already has coronavirus anti-bodies in it. He says the plasma will both stay locally from where its donated and it could go to a national stockpile that would be used for anyone. I also talked with Major Keath Biggers from the Salvation Army of Northeast Florida to talk about the services they are providing during this time of hardships for some in our area. He says they have seen an increase in the number of people they serve at dinner and they have also started a new lunch service. He says they also recently delivered care packages for families in an underserved community in Jacksonville. He says they are also hoping to ramp up donations since they believe they will see an increase in people needing their services in the near future.

Jax Journal

Host: Steven Ponson

Airdate: 4/18/2020

Topics: Covid-19 plasma donations and new text line domestic violence survivors can use if they need help since domestic violence cases have gone up in Jacksonville.

Guests: Dr. Chris Lough with Lifesouth Community Blood Services and Dr. Gail Patin with Hubbard House

Duration: 22:53

He says the plasma will both stay locally from where its donated and it could go to a national stockpile that would be used for anyone. In the second part of this episode, I talked with Dr. Gail Patin with Hubbard House about a new texting option available for domestic violence survivors. Since so many people are staying home, that presents a potentially deadly scenario for domestic violence survivors. She says survivors should be discreet when using the number and it could stick around after the pandemic is over.

First Coast Forum

Host: Clarence Natto

Airdate: 04/19/2020

Topic: Infectious Disease/Pandemics

Guests: Dr. Kenneth Cohen, Pediatric Associates

Duration: 24:53

Our guest on First Coast Forum is Dr. Kenneth Cohen with Pediatric Associates. Dr. Cohen defined what an infectious disease is and when one is considered a pandemic. He goes on to explain what the novel coronavirus is, its symptoms and how the disease is currently being treated. Dr. Cohen also goes in depth about prevention and how to function with a sense of normalcy while being cautious. Finally, Dr. Cohen explains how his practice is still able to see patients under the safer at home state order and the measures they take to ensure that he practice operates safely while protecting patients and staff.

First Coast Forum

Host: Sophia Cafiero

Airdate: 05/03/2020

Topics: Coronavirus

Guest: Dr. Dan O'Brien; medical expert

Duration: 08:09

Dr. Dan is a medical expert as well as a medical futurist. Dr. Dan acknowledges that COVID-19 is a novel virus that began from animals. He strongly believes that a way to prevent viruses like this from occurring is to find the right vaccine & conduct extensive research. COVID-19 affects children & adults differently, according to Dr. Dan because adults have weakening immune systems while children have underdeveloped immune systems. One of the precautions he recommends taking is to build up your immune system to help you stay safe from this virus.

As a medical futurist, Dr. Dan believes that we will not only need more healthcare workers in the future, but there will be an increase in enrollment for medical students in the future. Dr. Dan recommends that the healthcare workers on the front lines always wear a mask & properly wash their hands to be less anxious about contracting this novel virus from patients. Dr. Dan's work & commentary on COVID-19 can be found on his website, drdanmd.com or his Twitter page.

Jax Journal

Host: Steven Ponson

Airdate: 5/9/2020

Topics: Other historical pandemics

Guests: Dr. Chau Kelly, Associate Professor of History at the University of North Florida.

Duration: 23:37

Summary: In this episode, I talked with Dr. Kelly from UNF about the other historical pandemics that the world has faced and the criteria needed for a disease to be called a pandemic. She says there are six stages that an infectious disease goes through in order to be called a pandemic and there is plenty of reporting needed from governments and health organizations in order for an infectious disease to be classified as a pandemic. We also went over some of the other pandemics the world has faced, like the Spanish Flu from 1918. We also talked about some of the new possible social norms that could come after the pandemic has passed. She mentioned that hand shaking could become a thing of the past, but we won't know until we're done with the pandemic.

Topics: COVID-19/Coronavirus

Guests: Dr. Richard Cassidy, Cancer Specialists of North Florida

Duration: 25:23

Dr. Richard Cassidy is a radiation oncologist who practices at Cancer Specialists on NE Florida. This week's program specifically focused on how high-risk or immune compromised patients are cared for during the pandemic. Dr. Cassidy first explains that patients with severe life threatening ailments (like CV-19) are treated for that ailment prior to beginning treatment for cancer. Dr. Cassidy goes on to explain how his practice, through a rigid set of protocols protects his staff, their workspace and patients during the pandemic. While the pandemic has had an effect on how the practice operates, Dr. Cassidy says the flow of patients to his practice hasn't slowed. He goes on to encourage our listeners to practice safe hygiene often and remain at home unless it's necessary to venture out.

First Coast Forum

Host: Clarence Natto

Airdate: 06/28/2020

Topics: Corona Virus/Pandemic

Guests: Shantay Carter RN

Duration: 29:57

Shantay Carter is a Registered Nurse, Author and COVID 19 survivor. Shanta contracted the virus in the early days of the pandemic and speaks of her experience from infection to recovery. As a registered nurse, she believed she contracted the virus from a patient who didn't practice proper coughing etiquette. As a result she became infected. Sidelined for nearly 2 and a half months, Ms. Carter was able to recover and return to work after overcoming the virus. Her advice to the audience is to follow all directives outlined by the CDC- wear face masks, wash hands, practice distancing, wash hands, keep hands from nose, eyes, face and mouth.

Kimberly explains that they started helping out locally in Jacksonville but have actually expanded to send masks to New York. Justin asks how much different the process is to make these mask, and Kimberly explains the process they used to make sure the masks are comfortable and safe for the people wearing them.

First Coast Forum

Host: Sophia Cafiero

Airdate: 06/07/2020

Topics: Medical supply/demand

Guests: Kristin Keen/ Founder & President of Rethreaded

Duration: 18:47

Kristin Keen founded the Jacksonville based company "Rethreaded". It is a safe haven & employment opportunity for survivors of human trafficking. They give them a job in the company based on their talents, and provide weekly mental health groups to continue to heal them from any trauma that they are still suffering from. On top of creating incredible products to be sold in our community, Kristin & her company Rethreaded are constantly out speaking in the community to bring awareness to human trafficking & all the many different ways it can occur.

Rethreaded was asked to produce masks at the beginning of this pandemic. Since then, they have made over 20,000 masks & completed countless large orders for companies as well as small orders for families within the community. Rethreaded is a company full of employees who are healing & helping those around them heal while also doing good in the community. From combatting human trafficking in Jacksonville, to supporting causes in India, many are thankful for the existence of Rethreaded! You can get involved on their website Rethreaded.com or at their physical location off of Beaver street in downtown Jacksonville!

Local Economy

Jax Journal

Host: Steven Ponson

Airdate: 5/2/2020

Topics: Jacksonville's economy during coronavirus and outlook.

Guests: Jacksonville City Councilman Rory Diamond and JAXChamber President and CEO Daniel Davis.

Duration: 23:27

Summary: In this episode, I talked with both Rory and Daniel about the state of the local economy. Both said that the economy in Jacksonville have been negatively impacted because of the virus. Rory talked about the nearly $160 million relief bill approved by city council that in part will get money into people's hands to pay their bills and money to expand testing. He also talked about the measure approved to provide loans for small businesses in Jacksonville between Vystar and the city. Rory says the city is in a better position than most other metro's to make a comeback once the virus passes. Daniel has a similar outlook for the city, he says the city is in a good spot to make a good comeback one Jacksonville reopens. He says the hospitality and restaurant industries have been impacted the most due to the virus. He says Jacksonville has an advantage, since there are so many different industries here, the local economy doesn't have to rely on a single industry.

First Coast Forum

Host: Clarence Natto

Airdate: 05/17/2020

Topic: Covid-19 Effects on the economy

Guests: Economist, Mr. Jack Hanney, Patriot Gold Group

Duration: 27:36

Our guest on First Coast Forum is Mr. Jack Hanney, an economist and the President and CEO of Patriot Gold Group. The U.S. economy has been severely impacted by the coronavirus, and Americans' retirement savings have not been immune. Mr. Hanney discusses his analysis of the current financial climate and what Americans should be doing now to secure and prepare for retirement. In addition, Mr. Hanney talks about the record unemployment figures, manufacturing, consumption and the effect of these issues are having on the economy.

First Coast Forum

Host: Meghan Lane

Airdate: 06/14/20

Topics: Effects of Covid-19 on the economy

Guests: Lauren Hopkins

Duration: 25:32

The weekend of June 14th, I had Lauren Hopkins director of Catholic Charities in Jacksonville. We talked about what the catholic charities do for the community and the various ways they help people during crisis. She discussed the multiple programs they offer, food pantries and how these have been helping especially during the pandemic. She said their organization had to completely transfer to a virtual helping center and described how they've been able to make it work while making sure staff and clients stay healthy while continuing to serve the community.

Education

Jax Journal

Host: Steven Ponson

Airdate: 4/25/2020

Topics: Distance learning and new text line service for domestic violence survivors

Guests: Duval Public Schools Chief Academic Officer Paula Renfro and Dr. Gail Patin with Hubbard House

Duration: 24:17

Summary: In this episode I talked with Duval Public Schools Chief Academic Officer Paula Renfro about distance learning in Duval Public Schools. She said the county was in a good spot overall to begin distance learning and it was implemented quickly. She says they are prepared to head back to school next school year or continue distance learning if necessary. She said there are advantages and disadvantages to distance learning, for example students are able to move at a more comfortable pace than in a face-to-face setting, but they are not able to get necessary attention from a teacher. In the second part of this episode, I talked with Dr. Gail Patin with Hubbard House about a new texting option available for domestic violence survivors. Since so many people are staying home, that presents a potentially deadly scenario for domestic violence survivors. She says survivors should be discreet when using the number and it could stick around after the pandemic is over.

First Coast Forum

Host: Tasheka Young

Airdate: Sunday, April 26, 2020

Topic: Distance Learning

Guest: Holly Homer

Duration: 29 minutes, 02 seconds

Our discussion began with Ms. Homer explaining how she's spending her time in isolation since the Covid-19 pandemic. We discussed the three books she's written and how it has contributed to distance learning. We ended the interview with discussing the new social norm.

Jax Journal

Host: Steven Ponson

Airdate: 5/23/2020

Topics: Mental Health Awareness

Guests: Steven Montesinos a licensed mental health counselor

Duration: 22:20

Summary: In this episode, I talked with Steven Montesinos during Mental Health Awareness Month. Since the coronavirus pandemic has taken over so much of our lives we talked about some of the more common mental health issues popping up during these times. He suggested moving around and getting out of the house to help improve one's mental health. He also talked about disconnecting and making sure that someone isn't consuming too much on one thing. He also says stay connected with family and friends virtually or in person while keeping distance.

Airdate: May 30th/31st

TOPIC: Distance Learning

Duration: 23 minutes, 09 seconds

Justin sits down with Kathleen Schofield, from STEM, to talk about distance learning and how learning has been impacted and changed because of the coronavirus. They talk about STEM, and how they are still reaching out to kids virtually to teach kids while quarantined and social distancing. They talk about challenges that have hit teachers this year, and how they are learning to adapt to the new work environment. Kathleen explains that STEM is still holding summer camps this summer, and parents can reach out about concerns over their kids safety. Last Kathleen explains the Million Women Mentors for young girls that are interested in getting into this male driven industry.

Environment

Jax Journal

Host: Steven Ponson

Airdate: 5/16/2020

Topics: Hurricane preparedness

Guests: Al Sandrik, Warning Coordination Meteorologist with the National Weather Service Jacksonville

Duration: 23:50

Summary: In this episode I talked with Al Sandrik with the National Weather Service in Jacksonville and we talked about hurricane season preps. The season starts June 1st and runs through the end of November. He suggested people buy batteries for flashlights and buy food and water that will last you and everyone in your family for three days. He suggested buying food that you will be ok with eating, not anything that you normally don't eat. He said after the storm could be just as dangerous as during it with wildlife disturbed and possibly hiding in areas around your home. He also said power lines might be down so people should stay away from them and not strain yourself too much since that could lead to a heart attack. He said when people hearing a call to evacuate, they need to take those precautions because the evacuations is being called for a reason. There is no conspiracy to force people to leave their homes during a storm. And he said everyone needs to have patience before during and after a storm.

First Coast Forum

Host: Abby Murphy

Airdate: 06/25/2020

Topic: Hurricane Preparedness

Guests: Christian Smith, American Red Cross

Duration: 26:00

Our guest on First Coast Forum is Christian Smith with The American Red Cross. Christian talked about the Red Cross' role in the community during times of crisis. She explained what items everyone needs in their Hurricane Preparedness kit and talked about the importance of some commonly overlooked items. The difference in recovery between people who do and do not prepare ahead of time for a hurricane, Christian mentioned, is stark. However, thanks to generous donations and a willing staff, the Red Cross is ready to step in help those in local communities who are hit hard by disaster.

Civic

Jax Journal

Host: Steven Ponson

Airdate: 6/6/2020

Topics: Protest response from local leaders

Guests: Jacksonville Mayor Lenny Curry, NAACP of Jacksonville President Isaiah Rumlin, Congressman Al Lawson and Congressman John Rutherford.

Duration: 25:08

Summary: In this episode, I took interviews the WOKV did with local leaders over the past week on protests and how to move the city of Jacksonville and Northeast Florida forward, after the protests in response to the death of George Floyd and put them together to make a compilation. Jacksonville Mayor Lenny Curry says he's open to holding conversations on improving policing in the city. He says he's open to marching with protesters but now is not the right time. He says there is always room for more transparency, but he did not give specific examples as to what that would look like. NAACP Jacksonville President Isaiah Rumlin says he wants to see JSO release body cam footage within 48 hours of an incident, a citizen review board with subpoena power, and other police reform measures. Congressman Al Lawson says there's going to be a lot of conversations in Congress to discuss what type of measures could be filed in response to what's happened. He says young people's voices should be heard, but they should not do something stupid like cause chaos and get arrested. Congressman John Rutherford says the actions from law enforcement agencies to condemn what happened in Minneapolis is important because it sends a message to all the law enforcement officers within that department that doing something outside the lines will not be tolerated. He says one way to improve policing at the federal level would be to expand the FBI crime reporting, so the government has a better way of tracking incidents similar to what happened to Floyd. Both he and Congressman Lawson say the peaceful protesters can help police out and keep protests peaceful by reporting the potential bad actors to police so they can get them away from the crowds.

Jax Journal

Host: Steven Ponson

Airdate: 6/13/2020

Topics: Time for Change Racism, Policing and Reform in Jax Part 1

Guests: Jacksonville Mayor Lenny Curry, Sheriff Mike Williams, State Attorney Melissa Nelson, Christina Kittle with the Jacksonville Community Action Committee, Ben Frazier with the Northside Coalition and local attorney and community advocate Leslie Scott Jean-Bart.

Duration: 25:18

Summary: In this episode, I cut up a roundtable 104.5 WOKV and Action News Jax had with community leaders on the recent developments between the community and those in power. Sheriff Mike Williams expressed his desire to speed up the release of police body camera footage, so the public can see what happened quicker.

State Attorney Melissa Nelson said she wants investigations to be sped up and completed quicker without compromising the integrity of the investigation, so the state is in a position to release the body camera footage. Ben Frazier from the Northside Coalition says he agrees with that statement. Ben said more politicians need to listen to the people. Leslie Scott Jean-Bart said she wants to create a community review board of the police. Ben Frazier also said he wants the Florida Department of Law Enforcement to investigate all officer involved shootings. Currently JSO investigates those incidents themselves.

Jax Journal

Host: Steven Ponson

Airdate: 6/20/2020

Topics: Time for Change Racism, Policing and Reform in Jax Part 2

Guests: Jacksonville Mayor Lenny Curry, Sheriff Mike Williams, State Attorney Melissa Nelson, Christina Kittle with the Jacksonville Community Action Committee, Ben Frazier with the Northside Coalition and local attorney and community advocate Leslie Scott Jean-Bart.

Duration: 24:47

Summary: In this episode, I used the second half of the roundtable between 104.5 WOKV, Action News Jax and city leaders and activists. In this episode advocates and the sheriff discussed the trust gap between police and the African-American community. There was also more discussion about releasing more body camera footage to the public. Jacksonville's mayor also brought up the budget he says he'll continue to invest in neighborhoods in the city that were left behind over the years. Leslie Scott Jean-Bart says more investments have to be made. All of the elected officials say they've made efforts to educate themselves on race relations. Christina Kittle said that JSO's budget needs to be cut in half and that money needs to be moved into other social programs. At the end, the sheriff said he wants to give a timetable for releasing investigations. The state attorney said she agreed. The mayor said he is committed to investing in certain things in the community during this tough budget year.

Promotional, Community Service & Volunteering Events

Since we were in quarantine, we didn't do any on-site events, but here are a few online and on-air community initiatives we ran/supported:

(3/30-6/12) ALL STATIONS: Healthcare Heroes

Cox Media Group Jacksonville wants to honor those fighting on the front lines of the COVID-19 pandemic. We are asking our listeners to nominate someone in the health care field or see who's been nominated already in the Jacksonville area! Over the two-month promotion we received over 50 nominations.

(4/9-4/17) ALL STATIONS: Virtual Food Drive

CMG JAX PARTNERED WITH FEEDING NORTHEAST FLORIDA TO REPLENISH THEIR FOOD PANTRY WITH A VIRTUAL FOOD DRIVE DURING THIS CRUCIAL TIME OF NEED. WE ASKED LISTENERS TO VISIT ANY OF OUR STATION WEBSITES TO MAKE A DIFFERENCE BY DONATING WHAT THEY CAN TO FEEDING NORTHEAST FLORIDA

(4/20-5/10) ALL STATIONS: Senior Shout Outs

All of our brands shouted out the Jacksonville class of 2020 seniors on-air every week day and shared messages from their loved ones who nominated them. At the end of the promotion we had a total of more than 250 seniors who submitted to be shouted out.

(5/30) WAPE, WEZI, WXXJ, POWER: Break the Stigma Walk

MAY IS MENTAL HEALTH AWARENESS MONTH AND IT COULDN'T HAVE COME AT A BETTER TIME, PEOPLE ARE FEELING STRESSED SCARED AND ALONE SO WE ARE WORKING TO BREAK THE STIGMA AROUND MENTAL HEALTH! BECAUSE AS SCARY AS IT MAY BE TO START THOSE CONVERSATIONS, TALKING ABOUT IT IS THE FIRST STEP TO HELP AND HEALING. WE ASKED LISTENERS TO JOIN US IN THIS CAUSE WITH A VIRTUAL MENTAL HEALTH AWARENESS WALK ON MAY 30TH. LISTENERS COULD WALK ANYWHERE THEY COULD, THE LIVING ROOM, THE BACKYARD, AROUND THE BLOCK. WALK FOR AWARENESS, WALK FOR SOMEONE YOU LOVE, OR WALK FOR YOUR OWN PERSONAL STRUGGLE.

(6/20) WEZI: Taking Steps Jacksonville

All CMG radio stations supported the virtual event online and on-site. The Crohn's & Colitis Foundation is a non-profit, volunteer-driven organization whose mission is to cure Crohn's disease and ulcerative colitis and improve the quality of life of children and adults affected by these diseases. For 2020 instead of walking a route, we asked listeners to walk on their own time, in their neighborhood, at the beach, etc. and to contribute to the cause by donating online.
