Topics: Systemic Racism/Social Justice Reform

(Time For Change Part- Racism, Policing and Reform in Jacksonville Part II)

Guests: State Attorney Melissa Nelson, Christina Kittle- Jax Community Action Coalition, Jacksonville Mayor Lenny Curry, Ben Fraizer- Northside Coalition of Jacksonville, Jacksonville Sheriff, Mike Williams Attorney Leslie Scott Jean-Bart

Duration: 32:51

Summary:

Part II in the series around racism, policing and reform in Jacksonville continues with a conversation around trust in law enforcement due to lack of a citizens review board and lack of independent investigation. The community leaders continue to implore the elected officials to listen to the citizens of Jacksonville. Sheriff Williams and Mayor Williams shares that there are real issues in the community and insists that they do indeed listen to the voice of the people but must work through legal channels to effect the change demanded by citizens. The elected officials were asked if they have taken the time to educate themselves and their respective teams about systemic and institutional racism. Attorney Melissa Nelson responded in the affirmative with specific examples. Sheriff Mike Williams follows and responds in the affirmative with specific examples of how his department is trained in this area. The conversation concludes with each elected official agreeing to include more diverse voices to begin implementing tangible sustainable changes.

Topic: Judge Says Ending 2020 Census On Oct 5 May Violate Order

Duration: 10 minutes

A federal judge on Tuesday said a revised Oct. 5 date the U.S. Commerce Department picked to end the 2020 census may violate an order she issued last week that cleared the way for the head count of every U.S. resident to continue through the end of October. U.S. District Judge Lucy Koh suggested she would be open to considering a motion of contempt against the federal government or a motion saying her order had been violated. The Trump administration attorneys said the lawsuit was premature since it's impossible to know who will be affected by the exclusion order before the head count is finished and whether the Census Bureau will come up with a method for figuring out who is a citizen. "It's just not right for a president to come in and say, without explanation, "I'm changing that," Letter said. The census helps determine how many congressional seats each state gets during apportionment, as well as the distribution of $1.5 trillion in federal spending annually.

Government - Voting/Elections/Amendment 4

Jax Journal

Host: Steven Ponson

Airdate: 7/18/2020

Airtime: 11:00 pm

Topics: Registering to vote before the Florida Primary and what can voters expect before the primary next month.

Guests: Supervisor of Elections for Clay and St. Johns counties Chris Chambless and Vicky Oaks.

Duration: 24:09

Summary: In this episode, Steven Ponson talked with supervisor of elections for both Clay and St. Johns counties. We talked about the voting registration deadline before the Florida primary. Clay Supervisor of Elections Chris Chambless said his county is seeing a lot of people change their party affiliation to vote in a few races within the county. He specifically mentioned the race for sheriff, tax collector and the open county commission seats. He says the county has seen an increase in mail in balloting request due to the pandemic. Chambless says there are no changes to early voting times because of the virus, but the county is adding an additional early voting site in Orange Park at St. Johns River State College. Just like with the elections in March, there will be additional safety measures like hand sanitizer, masks, ect with the upcoming primary in August. He is concerned about long lines within the county this November due to the proper cleaning processes that are needed during the age of coronavirus. He is encouraging people to take advantage of early voting and vote by mail this election season to help avoid those lines. When Steven talked with Vicky Oaks she mentioned they are opening two new early voting sites and they will be ready for the Florida Primary in August. She says she hopes to have two more online before the general election in November. She mentions that people who want to register can go to Northfloridavotes.com.

First Coast Forum

Host: Julie Morgan

Airdate: 8/29/2020

Airtime: 11:30 pm

Topics: Elections/Amendment 4

Guest: Demond Meade, Executive Director Florida Rights Restoration Coalition

Duration: 22:28

Summary:

Mr. Meade discusses how the organization came about in 2003 to address the needs and issues of felon disenfranchisement. At the time of formation, Florida was one of four states in the U.S. that permanently disenfranchised convicted felons permanently no matter how serious or trivial a conviction might be. Mr. Meade says Florida's policies were born out of the Job Crow era and denied returning citizens among other things the right to vote in local and national elections. Through a robust campaign the Florida Rights Restoration Coalition has been able to introduce and obtain a state constitutional amendment to give returning citizens the right to vote after completion of their sentence.

Jax Journal

Host: Steven Ponson

Airdate: 9/5/2020

Airtime: 11:00 pm

Topics: RNC/DNC reaction, New police body camera policy

Guests: Dean Black Chairman for the Duval County Republican Party, Daniel Henry Chair of the Democratic Party of Duval County, and State Attorney Melissa Nelson

Duration: 23:09

Summary: In this episode, Steven Ponson talked with Black and Henry about what they saw from their party's conventions. Black said that one aspect from the RNC that could have an impact in Duval is money and support for HBCU's. He says that would have an impact on Edward Waters College in Jacksonville. He says one of the key messages voters in Duval need to know about is that the GOP is the party of law and order. When asked what Joe Biden would do for Duval County, Henry said that Biden would be able to unite the country. Henry says the key messages that people need to know about in Duval are that Biden can fix the economy, Biden gives the county a chance to unite, he will deal with coronavirus better, and you'll be able to keep your healthcare. Melissa Nelson talked with Rich Jones about a change in the release of body camera footage involved in officer involved shootings. She says They are speeding up the review process involving body camera footage and they will let law enforcement agencies know sooner if they are allowed to release body camera footage. She says there are some exceptions where they could hold on to the footage. She says the policy is effective immediately for cases going forward.

Airtime: 11:30 pm

Topics: Elections/Voter Education

Guests: Daniel Henry, Chairman Jacksonville, DEC

Duration: 15:28

Summary:

Our guest defines voter suppression as a tactic used through legislation, laws, administrative roles that prevent eligible voters from casting ballot during an election. Mr. Henry explains that voter suppression disproportionately affects communities of color. Tactics used to invoke those policies include purging voter rolls, reducing the number of polling places and invoking ID laws that create barriers to voting. Our guest also discusses gerrymandering as one of the biggest effects of how communities of colors are affected by these types of redistricting laws. It makes it very difficult for candidates of color to be elected to office, for communities to be properly represented and disenfranchise voters even more. Mr. Henry goes on to discuss the voting rights act being named for the late Honorable Congressman John Lewis is a testament to his work by giving citizens automatic voter registration, same day voter registration and equal access for all to cast a ballot freely without interference.

Topic: Federal Govt Taxes Due July 15 at 11:59 PM

The COVID-19 pandemic led the Treasury Department to delay the federal tax filing deadline from its traditional mid-April date, and if you took that time to relax and think of other things, now you need to focus. The deadline to file your federal taxes and to pay your 2019 tax bill, is 11:59 p.m. Wednesday. According to the Internal Revenue Service, around 142 million taxpayers have already filed returns, but the IRS has not processed them all. According to The New York Times, a report by Erin Collins, a national taxpayer advocate, says those filing paper returns — as opposed to the majority of people who file electronic returns — “may be in for a long wait” for their refund. In May, the Times reported that there was a backlog of 4.7 million paper returns. Is there any exception? You can get an extension until Oct. 15 to file your federal income tax form. You can do that by filling out and submitting IRS form 4868. You can find it here. Filing an extension does not mean you have more time to pay your taxes. If you owe money, you are expected to pay that money by Wednesday. If you do not pay the tax bill you owe, you will have to pay interest and penalties on the amount you owe. What if I can't pay it? You can request a payment plan by filing Form 9465. The plan will allow you to take up to 72 months to pay your tax bill. I got a stimulus check, do I have to pay taxes on that? That money is not taxable for 2019, nor for 2020. The money was structured as a tax credit for the 2020 tax year.

Airtime: 11:00 pm

Topics: Hurricane preparedness ahead of Isaias

Guests: Bek Parker with Baker County Emergency Management, Steve Woodard with Duval Emergency Management, John Ward with Clay County Emergency Management, Greg Foster with Nassau County Emergency Management and Linda Stoughton with St. Johns County Emergency Management.

Duration: 24:34

Summary: In this episode, I took the Hurricane Expo program that Rich Jones and Mike Buresh did back towards the beginning of hurricane season. We had all of the emergency management officials from the five-county Jacksonville metro area. Steve Woodard says people should look at alternatives to shelters, like staying with a family member, due to the pandemic. All of the other emergency management leaders echoed that statement. Steve Woodard said people should have other things in their hurricane kit like masks and hand sanitizer. Greg Foster with Nassau County said people who evacuate should only go tens of miles instead of hundreds of miles. John Ward and Linda Stoughton echoed those comments. Mike says people should look into getting flood insurance. Steve Woodard says people should also understand the geography of their property and understand the risk that's associated with the area. Mike Buresh says pay attention to changes with storms. He says forecasts change so its important to stay up to date with what's going on. All the emergency management officials said now is the time to get prepared for a storm.

Guests: Hampton Ray with FDOT

Duration: 10:24

Summary: In this episode, I talked with Hampton Ray about the major road construction projects around Jacksonville and the rest of Northeast Florida. He says the construction project on the East Beltway is now set to be completed in the Spring of 2021. He says due to the pandemic construction on the Highway 200 improvement project in Yulee has been sped up due to lower traffic. The second part of the First Coast Expressway from Middleburg down to Green Cove Springs is set to be done in 2025. There is a third phase of the expressway that is set to go in after that from Green Cove Springs to I-95 in St. Johns County. When I talked with Tony he said the zoo wanted to raise at least $250,000 to help cover budget losses due to the pandemic. He said the money will go towards the operations at the zoo. He said they are about 40% down in attendance and 30% down in revenue since the pandemic started.

Promotional, Community Service & Volunteering Events

Since we are still in quarantine, we didn't do any on-site events, but here are a couple online and on-air community initiatives we ran/supported:

(7/13 – 7/17) WOKV: Care-a-thon, all other Stations helped with their Brands On-Air & On-Line
Due to COVID, we expanded our annual Care-a-thon from one day, to one week and all 8 radio brands backed the cause. We asked our community to help childhood cancer patients and their families by donating to the Child Cancer Fund of NE Florida and raised over $175,000. Throughout its history, CCF has provided financial and emotional assistance to thousands of local families during their cancer journey. If you have been involved in Care-a-thon before, you have witnessed the deeply personal impact that the Child Cancer Fund has in our community. Care-a-thon has raised over $1 million for local families in just five years for local families!

(9/4) ALL STATIONS: National Food Bank Day

On Friday, September 4th, CMG radio brands asked the community to support National Food Bank day by donating on our websites to help Feeding Northeast Florida replenish their food banks. Due to COVID, by the end of July: 140,371 ppl (in the 8 county coverage) had filed initial unemployment claims (16.1% of labor force) – up from end of March which was 19,007 (2.2% of labor force) - according to FL Dept. of Economic Opportunity.
