DOT Sec. LaHood Announces Record Low Traffic Deaths, Improved State Seat Belt Use

Traffic deaths on U.S. roads last year reached a record low, while seat belt use continued to climb, Transportation Secretary Ray LaHood announced April 6. New state-by-state data shows that Michigan has the highest seat belt use at 97.2 percent, while Massachusetts registered the lowest (66.8%). NHTSA estimated that 37,313 people were killed in motor vehicle traffic crashes in 2008, the lowest number since 1961 (36,285). The nation also saw the lowest fatality rate ever recorded – 1.28 fatalities per 100 million vehicle miles traveled, down from 1.36 in 2007.

New Fuel Economy Standards for Model Year 2011 Cars and Trucks Announced

U.S. Secretary of Transportation Ray LaHood announced March 27 that the Department of Transportation has posted the new fuel economy standards for cars and light trucks for the 2011 model year. The new standards will raise the industry-wide combined average to 27.3 miles per gallon (a 2.0 mpg increase over the 2010 model year average), as estimated by NHTSA. It will save about 887 million gallons of fuel and reduce carbon dioxide emissions by 8.3 million metric tons.
