Boise State Public Radio's Supplemental Outreach Initiatives

June 1, 2022 through May 31, 2023

This section summarizes Boise State Public Radio's supplementary outreach to broaden dissemination of employment opportunities with the station and information about careers in public media.

1. Establishing an internship program designed to assist members of the community to acquire skills needed for broadcast employment.
June 2022-May 2023: Four area college students completed our formal Spring-Fall internship program. The goal of the Boise State Public Radio (BSPR) internship program is to provide students with the opportunity to learn various facets of the news business from inside a working newsroom. By seeing the processes of planning and executing daily news content, students come away with a better understanding of the way modern media works. Sáša Woodruff was the supervisor of the program. Due to Covid-19 issues the internships have been a combination of remote and in person participation.
2. Participation in at least four job fairs by station personnel who have substantial responsibility in making hiring decisions.
Ongoing: As a department at Boise State University, Boise State Public Radio is served by multiple recruiters in the Human Resources department, with our main recruiter being Christine Uria. The recruiters frequently attend community and educational job fairs to inform visitors about open positions at the University and discuss career opportunities. Boise State Public Radio positions are included in the information disbursed to job fair guests, and recruiters notify Boise State Public Radio HR regarding attendees interested in broadcasting opportunities specifically. Specific dates of job fairs were: February 10, March 10, 2023 with a student focus.
3. Participation in job banks, internet programs, and other programs designed to promote outreach generally (i.e. that are not primarily directed to providing notices of specific job vacancies).
Ongoing: Boise State Public Radio posts positions and actively participates year-round with the Idaho State Broadcasters Association to encourage local engagement with other broadcasters and the public.

4. Other

Ongoing: Boise State Public Radio values participation in industry organizations and coalitions that are continuously working to further the field of public media, for both our staff and the greater public. Our management team is individually members of the following organizations: Public Radio News Directors Incorporated (PRNDI)/PMJA, Public Media Business Association (PMBA), Public Radio Program Directors Association (PRPD), Society of Broadcast Engineers (SBE), the Idaho Press Club and working groups like Federal Emergency Management Agency-Integrated Public Alert & Warning System (FEMA-IPAWS). Additionally, Boise State Public Radio is a member station and board member of Western States Public Radio (WSPR) and is also a Greater Public member station, supporting their mission to advance public media organizations across the country. Boise State Public Radio also participates with The Groundtruth Project and Report for America. (<https://thegroundtruthproject.org/>) A sixth hire in 2022, a general assignment reporter, was recruited through the innovative grant program, the GroundTruth Project. The grantors reviewed 1,000 applications and recommended 4 finalists for the BSPR SEU to interview, from which group we selected and hired a finalist who began on 5/29/22 and is being mentored by more experienced reporters on BSPR's news staff. The Groundtruth Project is an award-winning, independent, non-partisan, nonprofit news organization dedicated to supporting and developing the next generation of journalists.
