SECTION A: NEWSCAST OVERVIEW AND QUARTERLY ISSUES ADDRESSED

WFSC-AM airs four local newscasts during its broadcast day, Monday through Friday at 7:06am, 8:10am, 12:30pm, and 5:06pm, following three to ten minutes of world and national news from CBS Radio News. WFSC reports local and area news events and issues on an ongoing basis.

News Treatments: The nominal length of each of our lead or feature news stories described below is between 30-seconds and one minute 30 seconds.

Some of the issues covered in these newscasts and programs during the fourth quarter are as follows:

1-Voter Education / Elections

News Treatments: July 7, 29; August 7, 17, 23; September 1, 2, 6, 7, 8, 20

With this being a Presidential election year, there is much interest in the coming elections, along with the elections, North Carolina saw the new voter identification law struck down in the courts. Many citizens were unsure about the new voting laws that were put into place, and we kept them informed of changes to laws, as well as local elections coming up.

2-Economy/Jobs

News Treatments: July 13, 23; August 15, 25, 31; September 6, 18, 21, 25

Despite some improvements, economic conditions remained tough in the third quarter for our listening area. The jobs picture gradually improved but unemployment rates for the third quarter remained higher than pre-recession levels. We aired a variety of stories with information on job fairs in the area, in addition to news stories with information on businesses expanding and adding more jobs in the future.

3-Poorly Informed Citizens

News Treatments: July 22, 28; August 4; September 13, 18, 22

Several changes were made to policies and regulations that affected the listening area. We provided critical information not necessarily obtained easily for our listeners. This may include government issues, transportation projects, and new or changing regulations. We informed listeners about these new policies and issues during the quarter.

4-Transportation/Public Safety

News Treatments: July 10, 27; August 8, 9, 15, 23, 24; September 20, 28

Many road projects were going on in the third quarter and to help listeners be better informed of traffic delays and problems we aired stories letting them know about anticipated road projects and the detours and delays associated with them. Additionally, we aired several stories regarding public safety issues, such as outdoor burning conditions and traffic enforcements that could help Maconians avoid public safety problems.

5- Crime / Police

News Treatments: July 11, 21; August 4, 11; September 3, 13, 14, 18

Our coverage area saw several different examples of major crimes through the third quarter, along with sentencing for earlier crimes. We kept the community informed of the crimes and sentencing throughout the entire third quarter.

6-Food Insecurity

News Treatments: July 27, 29; August 2, 6; September 6, 8, 10, 28, 27

Food insecurity remained a top issue in the county for the third quarter. Fortunately, there are many programs and opportunities for local citizens to help fill the gap. We reminded residents about the need in the community to help spur donations to food banks, Carenet and the Community Table. We also provided information about events and places residents could check with to get food.

7-Financial Awareness

News Treatments: July 8, 26, 28; August 26, 30; September 24

Several scams were reported throughout our listening area during the third quarter. Many of these scams were reported after the victims had given information or money to the scammers. We provided information to the public so that they would be more informed and not fall victim to scammers.

8-Mental Health

News Treatments: July 27; August 1, 19; September 23

Mental Health is an ongoing issue throughout our listening area. Many in the area struggle with mental illness and addiction. There were several changes to local and state protocols involving those with mental illnesses. Our news programming included features on the state of mental health services, new information on treatment, and what kinds of mental health problems are occurring in our area.
