News Watch	17:34:00	8/28/2014	L	0:02:15	Classes at Eastern Illinois University only started Monday, and the Delta Sigma Theta sorority wasted no time organizing an event to remember Michael Brown, the Ferguson Missouri teen shot and killed by police August 9th. The goal was to spread awareness, and the sorority said they accomplished that goal by marching around campus, holding their hands and signs up, in support of Michael Brown. A march that included nearly fifty students, faculty and staff members. Student Brian Hannah was part of the event. He says everyone should educate themselves before retaliating. And Eastern Director of Housing and Dining Mark Hudson, says we also need to focus on better communication.
News Watch	17:34:00	8/28/2014	L	0:00:28	The Missouri National Guard has finished its duty in Ferguson, where citizen-soldiers were called in for crowd control after the Brown shooting. St. Louis County Chief Operating Officer Garry Earls estimates the cost of extra policing in Ferguson after the rioting and looting could cost local, Missouri and federal taxpayers millions of dollars. Michael Brown was laid to rest this week. A grand jury is considering evidence in deciding whether Ferguson officer Darren Wilson should face criminal charges.
News Watch	17:34:00	8/28/2014	L	0:00:29	Indiana State Police are investigating whether four special sheriff's deputies, working traffic control at a Terre Haute event, accepted cash from motorists for not reporting alleged infractions to the court. Police say the four Bigo County special deputies issued citations, then told drivers they could pay cash on the spot. Sheriff Greg Ewing says the individuals under investigation worked for a Bloomington security company hired for last weekend's Scheid Diesel Extravaganza.

The event will include a re-enactment of a meal, visit with friends and family, along with other events that took place during Lincoln's time at the cabin.
News Watch	17:34:00	9/3/2014	L	0:00:22	Starting next year, new parking fines will go into effect in the city of Champaign. City officials say the first citation will be free of charge, but prices will increase by at least ten dollars after that. They say citations could generate more than one hundred and fifty thousand dollars a year to help operate the city's parking system.
News Watch	17:34:00	9/3/2014	L	0:00:19	The city of Charleston is looking to add a few more No-Parking zones on their streets. The roads that would be affected are Reynolds Drive and Taylor Avenue from Ninth to 10th street. The new no-parking zones have not been approved yet, but it will be voted on later this month.
News Watch	17:34:00	9/3/2014	L	0:00:29	A major environment project once planned for Mattoon gets the green light from the government. The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency has approved permits for the FutureGen clean coal project to store carbon dioxide underground. The permits are a key piece of the project. FutureGen aims to capture carbon dioxide from coal at a power plant in Meredosia and store it. The project still faces, though, a complaint filed by the Sierra Club with the Illinois Pollution Control Board over potential air pollution.

News Watch	17:34:00	9/4/2014	L	0:00:22	Don't expect record harvests for the state's strawberry crop. United States Secretary of Agriculture Tom Vilsack has declared six counties federal disaster areas following a May 21st hailstorm that destroyed the area's strawberry crop. Counties in our area include Champaign, Douglas, and Edgar. Farmers in these counties are eligible for federal disaster assistance, primarily low-interest loans.
News Watch	17:34:00	9/4/2014	L	0:00:22	A local unit of the National Guard will not be deploying to Afghanistan. The 1544th transportation unit of Paris was first told it would be sent as a part of Operation New Dawn. Illinois National Guard officials say one-hundred sixteen of the unit's members would have been deployed in October. They say the Department of the Army in Washington D.C. decided the 1544th deployment was no longer needed.
News Watch	17:34:00	9/4/2014	L	0:00:28	Cancelled this month is September Drill for all Illinois Army National Guard members. Last week the Illinois Army National Guard cancelled most travel, military professional development courses and non-critical training events in response to a national budget shortfall. The Guard intends to ask Congress for additional money. Officials say the budget shortfall is largely due to fewer mobilizations, and higher than expected training attendance.
News Watch	17:34:00	9/5/2014	L	0:00:29	The Coles County Highway Department says it will start construction on Loxa road just south of the intersection of County Highway 1, and will continue north to the intersection of Illinois Route 16. The Department will also begin construction on a bridge over Polecat Creek on County Highway 3 southwest of Ashmore. They say the bridge is expected to be closed for two months. Both projects will start Monday.
News Watch	17:34:00	9/5/2014	L	0:00:27	A United States Appeals Court in Chicago has ruled same-sex marriage bans in Indiana and Wisconsin are unconstitutional. The unanimous decision was made by a three judge panel at the U.S. 7th Court of Appeals. The Wisconsin and Indiana cases shifted to Chicago after their attorneys general appealed separate lower court rulings in June tossing the bans. Wisconsin Attorney General J.B. Van Hellen says he will appeal the ruling to the U.S. Supreme Court.

News Watch	17:34:00	9/8/2014	L	0:01:41	Construction begins today on a busy road in Charleston. Residents who live between Route 316 and Route 16 on Loxa Road say they're having some trouble getting around. Crews started digging today on a project to install a couple of new storm drains under the road. Engineer Jeff Dooley says putting in the drains are necessary to combat flooding. He says the project is a must, and may be a problem for drivers for a few weeks. The project involves just a small stretch of the road. Dooley says one of the two storm drains should be done later today, that way, whoever is blocked will at least be able to go south on Loxa Road. Dooley and his crew says the whole project should be done in three weeks.
News Watch	17:34:00	9/8/2014	L	0:00:23	Governor Pat Quinn says more than 27 million dollars will be used for projects in Champaign, Coles, Cumberland, Piatt, and Vermillion counties. In Coles County, the funding will go toward upgrades on Eastern Illinois University campus and repairs to Interstate 57. The projects will be managed by the Illinois Department of Transportation.
News Watch	17:34:00	9/8/2014	L	0:00:24	Eight of Illinois' 30 interstate rest areas that have been closed are set to reopen. Illinois Department of Transportation spokesperson Paris Ervin says maintenance was required at the closed facilities. The Salt Kettle rest area on Interstate 74 west of Danville and parts of the Silver Lake rest area along Interstate 70 have been undergoing bathroom renovations and upgrades. Ervin says the rest areas should all be open in November.
News Watch	17:34:00	9/8/2014	L	0:01:05	September 11th is just a few days away and Eastern Illinois University's campus has events planned to help military members. The Military Student Assistance Center hosted an event known as Rucksacks To Backpacks. Coordinator Scott Shaffer says the organizations that attended this event are designed to help military students transition from the battlefield to the classroom. Shaffer says only ten percent of student veterans that attend college graduate with their degree, which is why they want to provide resources to those student veterans.

News Watch	17:34:00	9/9/2014	L	0:00:52	A new security proposal could result in recording your every move in nursing homes. Attorney General Lisa Madigan says she will support legislation allowing video and audio recording devices in the rooms of Illinois nursing home patients. She says her office has gotten complaints from residents and families concerned about safety and security. The nursing home industry has fought past efforts to have cameras installed in facilities in Illinois, arguing cameras invade privacy. Your chance to speak with a state senator about the nursing home proposal is tonight in Strasburg. Chapin Rose will be at the town hall meeting at the Stewardson-Strasburg high school.
News Watch	17:34:00	9/9/2014	L	0:00:25	Home Depot confirms hackers broke into its computer system, possibly stealing millions of customer's data. The retailer says the breach may go back to April, giving hackers five months to take consumer's debit and credit card information. The company is still investigating the incident, but says it doesn't believe customers' pin information was compromised. The company is offering free identity protection and credit monitoring to customers.
News Watch	17:34:00	9/9/2014	L	0:00:21	General Motors is apparently done issuing mass recalls on its older vehicles. The head of G.M., Mary Barra, says the company will move forward and deal with issues as they arise. The company has recalled a record 29-million vehicles in 765 separate announcements so far this year. G.M. expects to have to pay out as much as 600 million dollars to victims in related crashes.
News Watch	17:34:00	9/9/2014	L	0:00:17	Members of the city staff in Champaign are recommending the city council add bamboo to the list of plants local residents are barred from planting. Officials say some bamboo species can crack concrete and colonize neighbors' yards. The city already ban 15 plants. They include marijuana, poison oak, and kudzu.
News Watch	17:34:00	9/10/2014	L	0:00:23	Swimming, basketball, and volleyball are just some of the activities residents of one local town will get to enjoy in the near future. Groundbreaking for the new Richard Workman Sports and Wellness complex in Effingham, is scheduled for next Friday, September 19th. Park district director Jeff Althoff says his goal is to have the complex completed and in operations about one year from the start of construction.

News Watch	17:34:00	9/12/2014	L	0:02:23	The quality of care in nursing homes is a concern for anyone with family members in them. Illinois Attorney General Lisa Madigan wants to give those families peace of mind, and help find the unsafe centers. She says she'll fight for legislation that would let nursing home residents and their families have video or audio recording devices in their rooms to monitor patient treatment. Patty Hawkins' brother is currently in a nursing home, and her father was in one prior to his passing. With more than a hundred thousand people living in more than 12 hundred nursing homes in Illinois, Madigan says keeping those individuals safe while in the care of others has never been more important. Madigan doesn't understand why care facilities would be hesitant the addition of video recording devices. Patients and their families would have to install the devices at their own expense. If the law is passed, Illinois would become the sixth state to allow audio and video recording in nursing homes.
News Watch	17:34:00	9/12/2014	L	0:00:23	After a short delay, work is finally set to start at Coles County Courthouse. Sheriff Darrell Cox says there was some delay in getting the contract signed so the work was set back a couple of weeks. Tuckpoint work will be down on the stone exterior to repair years of water damage. Work will also include replacing the stone gable on the east side of the courthouse. The labor is expected to wrap up in November.

News Watch	17:34:00	9/19/2014	L	0:00:24	Champaign County ordered more than two thousand tons of road salt this season, which is slightly less than the past years. Engineer Jeff Blue says the county paid 108 dollars a ton, which is double what they paid last winter. Record snowfall and temperatures last year, wiped out supplies of road salt, leaving much of Central Illinois without salt.

News Watch	17:34:00	9/25/2014	L	0:00:32	A new project hopes to bring new life to Lake Decatur's grounds. Specialist for the Agricultural Watershed Institute Tim McMahon says the plan is to provide a foundation allowing prairie grasses to grow. The grasses may be used as animal feed, or as a bioenergy crop, which would allow people to burn them for heat and power generation. In July, the city council approved a 237 thousand dollar contract to move 11-thousand cubic yards of sediment from the Oakley basin to the former Corley Landfill. The institute plans to plant a cover crop of cereal rye this fall. A Decatur company gets the approval to store carbon dioxide gas deep underground. The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency has approved a permit for Archer Daniels Midland company to start storing the gas underground in Decatur. The EPA says the permit will allow ADM to store 1.1 million tons of CO2 a year. The company plans to capture the CO2 from its Decatur Ethanol plant. ADM can start drilling its well in November.

News Watch	17:34:00	9/3/2014	L	0:02:22	The city of Mattoon was approached about being a location for a marijuana cultivation center. Last night, the city council approved by a vote of, 4-1, a letter supporting Health Central LLC's intentions. That letter was needed for the company's application process. But as News Watch's Margaret Lagevin reports, while many in Mattoon support job growth, it's what comes with this company that has some concerned. Resident Daniel Haifley is concerned about what's it's going to do to a city that already has trouble with drug abuse. But city leaders say the business would be secured, have state of the art surveillance and 24 hour guards. It's also promising to bring jobs, hundreds of them. City Council member Dave Cox says having the cultivation center in Mattoon is a good opportunity for the city. News Watch did speak to council member Sandra Graven who voted against the letter of support. She says she's not convinced having a cultivation center in Mattoon will benefit the city.
News Watch	17:34:00	9/5/2014	L	0:02:01	Governor Pat Quinn recently signed legislation that smokers on all state-supported colleges and universities, will have to take to their cars if they want to light up a cigarette. Eric Davidson, Assistance Director at EIU Health Services, says movement for a smoke-free campus is gaining popularity, 700-800 campuses across the country have already gone smoke free. Smoker Garra McCullough says he's not likely to quit, rather put in the extra effort to find somewhere he can. Starting July 1 of 2015, designated smoking areas will no longer be available for smokers to use. The Smoke Free Campus Act does have a couple of exceptions. The first, people can smoke in their vehicles traveling through a campus.
News Watch	17:34:00	9/5/2014	L	0:00:27	More than 2000 people have applied for ID cards allowing them to use medical marijuana since the application process began this week. The Illinois Department of Public Health started accepting applications Tuesday from patients whose last names started with letter "A" through "L". Others can apply starting November 1st. Lawmakers adopted the medical marijuana law in 2013.

News Watch	17:34:00	9/29/2014	L	0:01:10	A fire breaks out in a small town that leaves three families without a home. Late last night fire departments from Kansas, Oakland, Hutton, and Ashmore responded to an Ashmore apartment complex fire on Indiana Street. Ashmore Assistant Fire Chief Kurt Crail says around 11:30, a good samaritan drove by and spotted the complex on fire, he then knocked on the door and helped the resident get out. One of those residents, Celia Cook, says there were 11 people living in the building, including five children, who all escaped without any injuries. Crail says many people in the community are helping out the families affected by the fire. The state fire marshal deemed the fire as accidental, but its specific cause is still under investigation. The local Red Cross provided the families with hotel rooms last night, but residents say they're not sure of their plans going forward.
