	Lopate at Large	When W. E. B. Du Bois, believing in the possibility of full citizenship and democratic change, encouraged African Americans to “close ranks” and support the Allied cause in World War I, he made a decision that would haunt him for the rest of his life. Seeking both intellectual clarity and personal atonement, for more than two decades Du Bois attempted to write the definitive history of Black participation in World War I. His book, however, remained unfinished.	04/05/2023 1:00 pm 1 hour

	Lopate at Large	Regular contributor Michael Patrick MacDonald grew up in the Old Colony Housing Project in South Boston, a neighborhood that held the highest concentration of white poverty in the United States. After losing four of his eleven siblings and seeing his generation decimated by poverty, crime, addiction, and incarceration, he wandered beyond the entrenched borders of his community toward solidarity and coalition-building with Boston’s Black and brown survivors and organizers.	04/24/2023 1:00 pm 1 hour
	Lopate at Large	As early as 1947, Black parents in rural South Carolina began seeking equal educational opportunities for their children. After two unsuccessful lawsuits, these families directly challenged legally mandated segregation in public schools with a third lawsuit in 1950, which was eventually decided in Brown v. Board of Education.	05/08/2023 1:00 pm 1 hour

	Lopate at Large	White Power and American Neoliberal Culture speaks to the urgency of the present moment by uncovering and examining the ideologies that led us here. This book argues that white extremist worldviews—and the violence they provoke—have converged with a radical economic and social agenda to shape daily life in the United States, especially by enshrining the male-dominated white family as the ideal of national identity. Sources include white terrorist manifestos, white power utopian fiction, neoliberal think tank reports, and neoconservative policy statements.	05/12/2023 1:00 pm 1 hour

	Eco-Logic	The NYC Labor Chorus has been battling injustice with song since 1991, with 75 members from more than 20 unions. The chorus has traveled extensively, with performances in Wales, Cuba, Puerto Rico, and other locales. Organized labor, united with its community allies, is an irrepresible social force. This is the message of the New York City Labor Chorus. We celebrate them on this Eco-Logic episode. Our guest Jeff Vogel is a founding member and now president of the chorus. He was inspired by the Earthrise photo of the Earth from the moon, taken by Apollo 8 astronaut William Anders on Christmas Eve 1968, to write new lyrics to the Hallelulah Chorus. Jeff aimed to bring together believers and nonbelievers in shared appreciation of the wonders of Nature.	04/01/2023 6:00 am 1 hour
	Lopate at Large	Phosphorus has played a critical role in some of the most lethal substances on earth: firebombs, rat poison, nerve gas. But it's also the key component of one of the most vital: fertilizer, which has sustained life for billions of people. In the The Devil's Element, Dan Egan shares his investigative research of this vital crop nutrient which is causing toxic algae blooms and "dead zones" in waterways from the coasts of Florida to the Mississippi River basin to the Great Lakes and beyond. Egan also explores the alarming reality that diminishing access to phosphorus poses a threat to the food system worldwide?which risks rising conflict and even war.	04/04/2023 1:00 pm 1 hour
	Eco-Logic	We start each show with News and Information, and this week we'll be talking about increasing solar energy in Connecticut, in a decentralized way with towns and activists working together; what happened at the United Nations first Water Conference in 46 years, and what might happen as a result; opposition to Spain's proposed inhumane octopus aquaculture, and why octopuses should not be farmed for food; and "guerilla crosswalks" that have been popping up in the middle of the night in several cities.	04/08/2023 6:00 am 1 hour
	Eco-Logic	Our guest on this episode of Eco-Logic is Mark Scully, president of People's Action for Clean Energy (PACE), with a mission of "transition[ing] Connecticut to clean energy through grassroots education and advocacy, [with their] 100PercentCT Project.". One of the best solutions to the climate crisis is to replace fossil fuel use with solar energy, especially when that solar energy does not replace forest or farmland. Tune in to hear how PACE is working with individual towns and cities in Connecticut to develop plans to reach the state's goal of 100% renewable energy. The process includes identifying already-used land, such as parking lots, that can have solar canopies put over them.	04/15/2023 6:00 am 1 hour

	Eco-Logic	NATURE 4 ALL. a.k.a. BIRDING WHILE BLACK. Saturday morning's Eco-Logic, June 3rd, is going to be a lot of fun. This is part of our ongoing Celebration of Nature series. We bring you our interview with Christian Cooper and J. Drew Lanham whose enthusiasm for birds and nature is infectious. Their stories are entertaining and often thought-provoking. Nature is for everyone! Chris now has a show on the National Geographic channel, but he's been on Eco-Logic quite a few times, going back to 2002, not long after Eco-Logic started. Chris Cooper's name might be familiar to you because of the viral video of the now famous incident in Central Park when a woman walking her dog off-leash made a 911 call full of lies, seeming to try to get Chris beaten up - or worse - by the police. The video went viral after being published by his sister. It was probably Chris' honesty, grace, charisma and nice-guy presence that landed him his current National Geographic show	06/03/2023 6:00 am 1 hour
	Eco-Logic	SUPREME COURT vs. CLEAN WATER ACT. We have good news about the restoration of bison to tribal lands, a scent-sniffing dog helping to gather data to protect orcas, a lawsuit against a banana company, and restoration of Sea Otters and their effect on an ecosystem. On the not-good-news front, we are disturbed to be proven right about climate crisis coming directly into our lives. People in the Western US and Canada have been experiencing this each summer for years. The wildfires in Canada are sending smoke hundreds of miles, to where NYC was deemed the WORST air quality in the whole planet this week. Many news outlets are saying "see we told you climate crisis is real". It's Eco-Logic that has been telling you this for the longest.	06/10/2023 6:00 am 1 hour

Peace and Justice
	Lopate at Large	What should we do about the police? We're swimming in proposals for reform, but most do not tackle the aggressive culture of the profession, which prioritizes locking up bad guys at any cost, loyalty to other cops, and not taking flak from anyone on the street. Walk the Walk brings readers deep inside three unusual departments—in Stockton, California; Longmont, Colorado; and LaGrange, Georgia—whose chiefs signed on to replace that aggressive culture with something better: with models focused on equity before the law, social responsibility, racial reconciliation, and the preservation of life. Informed by research, unflinching and by turns gripping, tragic, and inspirational, this book follows the chiefs—and their officers and detectives—as they conjured a new spirit of policing.	4/07/2023 1:00 pm 1 hour

	Housing Notebook	RENT IS (STILL) TOO DAMN HIGH! The Rent Guidelines Board (RGB) is looking at the highest rent increases in years, Albany failed to address affordable housing and tenant protections in the State Budget, and Washington is talking about budget cuts. What next?! Scept Sommer talked with RGB Tenant Representative Adán Soltren about the latest developments on the RGB.	5/15/2023 8:00 pm 1 hour
	Lopate at Large	In Plunder, Brendan Ballou explains how private equity has reshaped American business by raising prices, reducing quality, cutting jobs, and shifting resources from productive to unproductive parts of the economy. Ballou vividly illustrates how many private equity firms buy up retailers, medical practices, prison services, nursing-home chains, and mobile-home parks, among other businesses, using little of their own money to do it and avoiding debt and liability for their actions. Join us when Ballou explains how companies forced to take on huge debts and pay extractive fees, companies purchased by private equity firms are often left bankrupt, or shells of their former selves, with consequences to communities that long depended on them, on this installment of Leonard Lopate at Large.	5/16/2023 1:00 pm 1 hour
	Lopate at Large	Founded in 1905, the IWW offered to the millions of workers aggrieved by industrial capitalism the promise of a better world. But its growth, coinciding with World War I and the Russian Revolution and driven by uncompromising militancy, was seen by powerful capitalists and government officials as an existential threat that had to be eliminated.	5/17/2023 1:00 pm 1 hour
	Lopate at Large	Join us when government policy expert Don Kettl examines the hidden crisis brought on by the end of Title 42. A professor emeritus and former dean in the School of Public Policy at the University of Maryland, shares his perspectives and why isn't more being done to help the people streaming across the border? The answers lie in the end of the public health barrier that Title 42 created—and in the role of nongovernmental partners who create public value.	5/18/2023 1:00 pm 1 hour
	What's Going On - Labor Monday	The importance of workers' voices: Host Bob Hennelly of Stuck Nation speaks with Marianne Pizzitola, President of FTNY and EMS Retirees Association and the NYC Organization of Public Service Retirees. He also speaks with Arne Arnesen, a leading voice for progressive voices. And TWU International President John Samuelsen. Bob also shares sound from a recent Nurses Rally in Trenton, where the Nurses Union and NJ AFCIO pressed their case for better staffing levels and improved worker safety and infection control.	5/22/2023 7:00 am 1 hour
	Building Bridges	Audio from an April 2023 rally in New York City with homecare workers and their supporters protesting 24-hour shifts paid for only 13 hours, sometimes for days in a row. City Council (now majority women and minority) promised to end this abuse and didn't. They are also getting screwed on a promised wage increase by the state. Speakers in various languages, with translation, include workers, organizers, feminists, former officials, and a tech worker with a similar problem.	5/22/2023 7:00 pm 1 hour
	Housing Notebook	GOOD CAUSE RACES THE ALBANY CLOCK. Legislators are planning to leave Albany for the summer this week. Will they pass Good Cause Eviction protections? 	Housing Notebook	NYC RGB GETS IT WRONG - KINGSTON RGB GETS IT RIGHT. On the same night, the Rent Guidelines Boards in NYC and Kingston, NY went in opposite directions: one understood the burden of tenants, the other did not. Scott Sommer talked with tenant representatives from both Boards to find out what happened.	6/26/2023 8:00 pm 1 hour
	Lopate at Large	Rooted in the metapsychology of Jean Laplanche and in conversation with bold work in queer and trans studies, Avgi Saketopoulou and Ann Pellegrini jettison "core gender identity" to propose, instead, that gender is something all subjects acquire -- and that trauma sometimes has a share in that acquisition. Conceptualizing trauma alongside diverse genders and sexualities is thus not about invalidating transness and queerness, but about illuminating their textures to enable their flourishing. Written for readers both in and outside psychoanalysis, Gender Without Identity argues for the ethical urgency of recognizing that wounding experiences and traumatic legacies may be spun into gender.	6/29/2023 8:00 pm 1 hour
Economics
	Economic Update	Prof. Wolff presents updates on the failures of GOP and Democrats to face or solve major crises; layoffs and stock buybacks by US hi-tech companies; a new study of "food insecurity" in LA county. The second half of the show is dedicated to a discussion of how US history of the 1920s and 1930s shows the possibility of a progressive political shift and upsurge in the US today.	04/05/2023 6:30 pm 1/2 hour
	Economic Update	In this week's show, Prof. Wolff discusses US deaths from Covid, poverty in the US labor force, US and Canada cooperate against immigrants, US warfare vs China's peacemaking, Amazon profits from cutting back on "free" shipping. In the second half of the show, Wolff interviews Dr. William Bronston, advocate for single-payer health care in the US.	04/12/2023 6:30 pm 1/2 hour

	Economic Update	Four key changes drive a new world economy emerging from the old. First is capitalism's transition from neoliberal, globalizing to nationalistic capitalism. This includes the shift of capitalism's center from western Europe and the US to Asia and the global south and also includes the deepening economic inequality inside most nations. Second is the end of the stale, old debate between private and state capitalism (misnamed as capitalism vs socialism) in favor of private + state capitalism hybrids. Third is the post-peak decline of the US empire. Fourth is the urgent question of what comes next: a new empire, a multipolar world, or a new post-capitalist system that replaces employer-employee workplace organizations (private and public) with democratically run worker cooperative organizations.	04/19/2023 6:30 pm 1/2 hour
	Economic Update	Yanis Varoufakis, elected member Greek parliament, joins the program and offers his original, critical perspectives on (1) the banking crisis, (2) the decline of the US empire and US capitalism, (3) the mass uprisings of the French and Greek working classes in Europe, (4) the collapse of Europe's efforts to shape an independent (from the US and China) economic position, and (5) class struggle inside China.	04/26/2023 6:30 pm 1/2 hour
	Economic Update	We will talk about the banking and railroad disasters, layoff in high-tech industries, and food insecurity, the latest euphemism for hunger in America. How American history gives us the hope of a political and economic surge to the left.	05/03/2023 6:30 pm 1/2 hour

	Economic Update	Economic Update will focus on the Corporation, the basic unit that organizes and delivers goods. How they work, how they function, and conclude that this way of organizing production is fundamentally unjust, and undemocratic.	06/14/2023 6:30 pm 1/2 hour
	Economic Update	Focus on three important topics: Real cost of living. A report in NYC called Overlook and Undercounting - The true cost of living. Debt ceiling debate. Cronyism at the highest level of government. Wendel Porter on Medicare.	06/21/2023 6:30 pm 1/2 hour
	Lopate at Large	In 1913, an unlikely friendship blossomed between Henry Ford and famed naturalist John Burroughs. When their mutual interest in Ralph Waldo Emerson led them to set out in one of Ford's Model Ts to explore the Transcendentalist's New England, the trip would prove to be the first of many excursions that would take Ford and Burroughs, together with an enthusiastic Thomas Edison, across America.	06/22/2023 1:00 pm 1 hour
	Economic Update	This week's updates focus on the ridiculously low ranking of the U.S. among OECD nations, why & how mega-corps get richer faster than we do, the palpable solidarity between the Labor Unions and the writers' strike in the U.S., the UPS teamsters 97% vote to strike beginning on Aug 1, and how Pfizer fails to maintain supplies of penicillin? The major topics of discussion include why global inequality among nations is now falling, and why the phrase "socialism does not work" is flat-out wrong.	06/28/2023 6:30 pm 1/2 hour
