WUSQ-FM Winchester, VA Quarterly Issues/Programs List First Quarter, 2017

WUSQ-FM Quarterly Issues/Programs List

WUSQ-FM provides its listeners with programming and public service announcements that address issues of concern to our local community. Among the issues determined to be of most concern to the community during the preceding calendar quarter were:

- Senior Care: With their parent agency making national headlines and causing concern, The Executive Director of our local Meals on Wheels program fielded our listeners' questions to help us understand how they are funded locally, what they do, who they serve and how potential budgets cuts will and won't affect them.
- Community Engagement: Executive Director Sharon Timberlake discussed an upcoming open house and the Historical tours provided on the anniversary of several major battles. She also explained how their recent purchase of 80 additional acres will impact what foundation can do for future generations of valley residents. Kate Routten from the Shenandoah Arts Council explained how the group is reaching out to parents in the community to get children involved in their new weekend arts program for all ages. The local chapter of the Red Cross is marks 100 years serving our community, and their executive director Leslie Caliva explained their historic role in responding local emergencies, from then to their current level of preparedness.
- Drug addiction prevention: With the explosive use of opioids in our region, Executive Director Marsha Taylor of Clean Incorporated came in to discuss how to prevent drug use in your home, answering questions, and explaining how parents can be proactive about preventing drug use in their teens in surprising ways. The Partnership for a Drug Free America explained how rapidly the opioid abuse is spreading in our schools, and how to recognize drug use in teens.
- Education: Volunteer Jeff Perkins discusses Blue Ridge Educational Center's New Day program, for adults, which gives older learners in our area access to multiple areas of study. Big Brothers/Big Sisters discussed their new program which pairs local police as tutors to local youth at risk, building trust and relationships while improving grades.
- Homelessness: Board President Dan Coig discusses the Watts program's success. WATTS stands for Winchester Area Temporary Thermal Shelter, which gives safe temporary shelter for our local homeless population during the winter months.
- Housing Assistance: Director Mat Peterson discusses our local Habitat for Humanity's ongoing projects, and about their partnership with local high schools, which is providing students with both architectural design, and building experience in the real world.
- Small Business Development: There is a wealth of free information available from the SBDC for anyone who wants to start a small business in the valley. Director of the Small Business Development Center shares the free market research they provide for area small business owners with the RISE project.

• Volunteering: Volunteer Coordinator Elise Stinedollar discusses an opportunity to volunteer with the United Way to help determine how best to distribute this year's Campaign Funds. Our listeners can serve on a panel and take part in deciding which non-profits will receive funds that were raised in this year's capitol campaign are directed.
