St. Louis & Me

STLME105 St. Louis & Me Humans of St. Louis 01/07/24 7:30 am (Sun)

Lindy Drew and Yetunde Ogunifodo (Referred to as Tunde) are not native to Saint Louis, but that did not stop them from falling in love with the City they migrated to. They both came for college and when both of them arrived here, they were told stories about the division that existed, and what others deemed the "nice parts of town." People told them not to go to this neighborhood, or that neighborhood, and one day, they both asked the simple question of, "What happens if you do?"

Both of them ignored the warnings from others, and explored the city talking to random strangers everywhere they went. In doing so, they fell in love with Saint Louis. With a background in social work, and passion for photography, Lindy took this concept of going to where people told her she shouldn't and took it upon herself to start the Saint Louis Chapter of the "Humans Of" Organization.

Humans of Saint Louis is a non-profit aimed at storytelling. Through the power of storytelling and hyper local storytelling they hope to break down the barriers and perceptions that they were once told about. Lindy and her team go out into whichever neighborhood they feel like strolling through that day, and simply talk to random strangers. Lindy then takes their photograph and posts their story on their social media platforms. The range of subjects that can be talked about are vast and range from deeply personal experiences to everyday neighborhood conversations.

Despite everything being online, Lindy wanted to memorialize the stories that she captured over the years into something physical that the people could hold. She decided to get a team together and create a book. The book is simply titled, Humans of Saint Louis, and chronicles stories captured for well over 5 years' time. Lindy and Tende hoped to create a narrative of Saint Louis through the voices of the people of Saint Louis.

STLME106 St. Louis & Me A.R.C. Angels Foundation 01/14/24 7:30 am (Sun) and 01/21/24 7:30 am (Sun)

The A.R.C Angels Foundation helmed it's name from the initials of Rick Cantors daughter, Avery Reine Cantor. Avery was a straight-A student who sadly mixed some drugs one day and took her own life. Ricks Father then started the organization in her honor.

The organization aims to teach teens the risk factor as well as the protective factors, and warning signs that are involved with suicide, and suicide prevention. The foundation goes to schools and hosts other events to spread awareness on the topic. David Hoffman was a friend of Rick's who wanted to help out and started by hosting a Trivia Night. At that trivia night he took note of the overwhelming number of young teens who came up to him afterwards to discuss their problems they were struggling with. As the organization grew he brought along former teacher, Joy Klebolt.

The most important piece of information that you can know is that if you feel like you are at risk of self-harm, the crisis prevention hotline is 988. You may also text Home to 741741.

Each individual person is unique, but most of the time if someone is considering self-harm it is due to a feeling of helplessness or despair. Somehow that individual has gotten it in their heads that the world would be a better place without them. David and Joy say that part of the problem is that the teenage brain is not fully developed yet. This causes teens to feel their emotions very strongly and that everything that happens to them is felt very strongly. They do not develop the skill to compartmentalize the setbacks of life until later in life. To help aid in positive messaging, at their events they always make sure to hand out bracelets that say, "You Matter."

STLME107 St. Louis & Me Cystic Fibrosis Foundation (Gateway Chapter) 01/28/24 7:30 am (Sun) and 02/04/24 7:30 am (Sun)

Guest: Cystic Fibrosis Foundation Gateway Chapter Executive Director Jenny Pagel-Guile

The Cystic Fibrosis Foundation is a organization that is committed to finding a cure for those suffering from the Cystic Fibrosis disease. It is a national organization however they do have local chapters all around the nation. The Gateway Chapter serves the Missouri area, including the metro Illinois side, but excludes Kansas City. Cystic Fibrosis is a disease that affects the mucus, sweat and digestive juices that the body produces. This affects the body in a myriad of ways, for instance those suffering from the disease need to take additional enzymes in order to digest their food. Some individuals have to take 30-60 pills a day. There is also a huge infection risk for those affected as bacteria can build up in the lungs due to improper drainage. These infection risks can then lead to antibacterial resistance and lung transplants.

The Gateway Chapter is a fundraising office, so they are always hosting events for people to come out and engage in the community, and hopefully donate to the cause. One of their bigger events is the Great Strides event which is a 5k fundraising walk for all to enjoy with plenty of games and other family friendly festivities to enjoy. The Great Strides walk actually features a member of the Cystic Fibrosis Community to come out and be recognized as a "CF Fighter." These fighters are designated with a purple shirt.

STLME108 St. Louis & Me STL Teachers Recycle Center Board Revised 02/11/24 7:30 am (Sun) and 02/18/24 7:30 am (Sun)

The Saint Louis Teachers Recycle Center is multifaceted program whose main focus is environmental and educational. The Recycle Center itself is primarily a shop for teachers to buy donated items for their classrooms, another faction however, is the Play Your Art Out classes. During these classes kids are brought in to simply play with recyclable materials. The board of the Saint Louis Teachers Recycle Center believe that "play time" is vitally important to the growth of children, as it is a time to explore their own imaginations and be free and in the process help figure out who they are. Traditional education and play are often online and structured or goal based. When working towards a goal, the kids are not able to be free to create what they want, and that is what Play Your Art Out is all about. They give the kids freedom to explore their own imaginations and create something that is unique to them. In Susan's words, "There needs to be places in this world where kids can go and not be wrong."

Without structure or goals, the children are free to lean into themselves and figure out what they want to create, and what speaks to them.

The other environmental aspect to the program is woven into the program via recycle materials, such as perfume caps, and hanger rings. The board believes that this can spark the imagination of young minds to get them to look at material that they commonly see around in specific context's in a new light. Additionally, there is the innate environmental benefit that these materials are being recycled instead of thrown away.

STLME109 St. Louis & Me Duodogs 02/25/24 7:30 am (Sun) and 03/03/24 7:30 am (Sun)

Duodogs is an organization that has a nationwide scope but is based here in Saint Louis. DuoDogs, commonly referred to as "Duo," trains service animals for a variety of applications. Duo is most commonly known for their Touch Therapy Dogs, however they train dogs for other types of services as well, such as support dogs for the hearing and visually impaired. Another type of support dog that they train is the Facility Dog. This dog offers support on a larger scale, as it not only helps one individual, but an entire business or facility. The process for breeding a service animal is a strenuous and long process. It takes two years at a minimum for the dogs to get trained to perform the work that they do. As a puppy they do not have the mental maturity to handle the tasks needed, so they spend that time training to perform the tasks that they need to do. All of the dogs also need to be trained as puppies, because once they get past that two year mark, it can be very hard for them to get out of their developed habits and learn to behave as needed. Additionally, they only serve on the Duo team for 8 years. After the 8 years they are retired and are free to live peacefully with their owners.

STLME110 St. Louis & Me Alive- Part One 03/10/24 7:30 am (Sun) and 03/17/24 7:30 am (Sun)

If you are anyone you know is in danger from a domestic violence situation you can call their 24 hour Crisis line at 314-993-2777.

Alive is an organization committed to helping victims of domestic violence. Maggie Menefee and Tirsia Woodson explain that domestic violence is a very prevalent problem in the Saint Louis area, and nationally.

One of the major things that Alive is doing to help those victims is their Nights of Safety Program, which will provide transportation and housing for those in need. Housing is typically capped at 3 months. The long stay can be helpful for some as they try to arrange another situation for themselves, but this can be a double edge sword as this can also lead to shelters often times being full. To help alleviate that stress, Alive does partner with other motels and will provide bus fare to get victims out of state if they have a relative that can offer safe housing for them.
