Elvis All-Star Tribute February 17, 2019 8:00PM-10:00PM

Celebrating one of the greatest musical events in television history, NBC honors a true legend when it airs "Elvis All-Star Tribute," a look back at the network's iconic 1968 special that put Elvis Presley back on the map. From Ken Ehrlich, veteran executive producer of the Grammy Awards and a multi-E Emmy Award nominee, the two-hour special will feature an all-star group of music superstars who will pay tribute to Elvis, recreating the spectacle - even the staging - of that legendary night. Elvis' December 3, 1968 special was his first live television performance since 1961 and a monumental television event. Dressed in a black leather jumpsuit and playing with a full band in front of an intimate audience, the telecast was hugely popular and was, in fact, the No. 1-rated show on NBC that season. In addition to musical performances, the special will showcase rare Elvis footage, outtakes and interviews from those involved in the special, including Director Steve Binder. Whether you're a lifelong fan or just getting to know Elvis, this is an event not to be missed. "Elvis All-Star Tribute" is executive produced by Ken Ehrlich and produced by Ken Ehrlich Productions.

NBC Special Report: Michael Cohen Testimony February 27, 2019 4:45AM-9:45AM

Watch live coverage as Michael Cohen, President Trump's former attorney, testifies before members of the House Oversight and Reform Committee. In a much anticipated hearing, Cohen will be questioned about his work as Trump's longtime aide, as well as the decision to make hush money payments to women who claimed they had affairs with Trump during the 2016 presidential campaign.

KHNL Local Specials

Various Times and Lengths

During the quarter, KHNL aired a number of specials covering issues of interest and importance to the community. Specials aired included focused on key state and federal political speeches as well as cultural issues in Hawaii.

Trail of Hope: The Journey to Equality February 10, 2019 4:00PM-5:00PM

The journey toward civil rights for all Americans winds its way through rural courthouses and bus stations, southern schools and jail cells, and churches that organized a courageous movement that ended segregation. Some of these important landmarks still exist and form the basis for Trail of Hope. Many of the communities served by Raycom Media television stations were ground zero for the civil rights struggles of the 1950's and 60's. TV journalists were on the front lines of change, filming the protests and the violence, and hearing the voices that cried out for equality. More than a half-century later, this important American story is told through the first-hand accounts of the people who took those brave first steps to all-white lunch counters and public buses, and children who walked past hate-filled crowds through the front doors of segregated schools. This is a story of tragedy and triumph in the South that redefined America.

The Rosa Parks Story February 17, 2019 3:00PM-5:00PM

Behind the Movement is a unique and fast-paced retelling of how Rosa Parks' refusal to give up her seat launched the history-making Montgomery Bus Boycott. The film will reveal the untold story of how a group of everyday people decided this incident was the right time to take a stand for their civil rights and demand equal treatment.

Comeback Dad February 24, 2019 3:00PM-5:00PM

Nima, an accomplished pianist who runs her own music school, seems to have it all. She cannot admit that she has never recovered from her alcoholic father's abandonment, and when he returns trying to make amends, Nima begins an eye-opening journey.

Trail of Hope: The Struggle for Equality March 3, 2019 4:00PM-5:00PM

The struggle for equality in America traces its roots to the founding of the nation and the epic battle over slavery. The Emancipation Proclamation, the Civil War and the eventual passage of the Fourteenth Amendment fueled racism in the form of violent groups like the Ku Klux Klan. Lynching became widespread and massacres in places like Tulsa, Oklahoma created an atmosphere of fear in the African American community. Returning to the American south from World War II, African Americans were routinely humiliated as they were forced into separate railcars, bathrooms and lunch counters. The Struggle for Equality took the form of political protests that turned into civil disobedience at the lunch counters of North Carolina to the bus stations of Alabama and Mississippi. Children marched in Alabama and walked into schools across the country. This is the story of those times and the first-hand accounts of the people who defined the Struggle for Equality.

An attempted murder investigation is underway after a military service member was shot overnight during alleged bar brawl in Waipahu. According to Honolulu Police, the victim was reportedly arguing with a "group of local men" at a bar off of Waipahu Street and the confrontation spilled out into the parking lot where it began to escalate. Police say that's when the victim and two others jumped into an SUV and were attempting to drive away when shots were fired at them. Detectives say at least one bullet struck the victim. He has not been identified, but police on the scene say he was immediately driven to Queen's West in critical condition. Hawaii News Now has learned his injuries are not life-threatening. Detectives found 9mm casings on the ground and it appears several parked cars were hit by stray bullets. HPD is still interviewing witnesses and searching for suspects. So far no one has been arrested.	0:01:31

2/21/2019	New Sunrise 7am KGMB K5	Manoa Fire	Manoa Fire. This morning, authorities are investigating what caused a 3-alarm house fire in Manoa. The fire broke out around 9-30 last night on Kumu-koa Street at a 2-story, multi-family home. Officials say no one inside at the time. But just about 2 hours before the fire began, a woman says she finished moving out of the downstairs unit. Lakota Sorensen tells us she lived in the home with her daughter and boyfriend for about a month. She says she finished cleaning her unit around 7-45 last night and settled into her new home nearby. She says there was nothing left in her old unit to start the fire and suspects it may have started from a cellphone antenna. HFD confirms 14 units and 53 firefighters were dispatched to battle the blaze which was brought under control in about an hour and fully extinguished before 11 PM The fire is under investigation and the cause has yet to be determined. Fire damage estimates are not available	0:01:38

2/22/2019	NEW Sunrise 5am KHNL	Officer Involved Shooting	Officer Involved Shooting. Officers fired on the suspect when he allegedly pulled a gun on them here at an apartment complex on Lumina Street in Waialeale -- ending a manhunt that started 15 miles away in Kaka'ako earlier in the day. Police were called to that scene about 3 p.m., after the suspect went to a business near Kawaiahaeo Church looking for his estranged wife. He didn't find her there, but got into an argument with the owner of the auto collision repair center and fired a shot into the ceiling. Officials say he also started a fire at the business before taking off. HFD says the flames caused about 170-thousand dollars in damage. That's when police issued an all points bulletin for the man, who was found in a truck at his residence in Waialeale hours later. Honolulu Police Chief Susan Ballard said plainclothes officers ordered the man to get out of the truck and raise his hands, and at first he appeared to be complying.	0:01:54
2/22/2019	NEW Sunrise 5am KHNL	Harbor Lights Indictment	Harbor Lights Indictment. New this morning. A man who barricaded himself inside Wailuku condos last week - forcing the partial lockdown of UH Maui College - has been indicted. The Maui News reports that 49-year-old Michael Soriano pleaded not guilty to charges including sexual assault, kidnapping and abuse. Police say he sexually and physically assaulted a woman at one of the units in the harbor lights complex. On February 11th, she called police for help as she tried to get her personal belongings from the apartment. When officers tried to enter, Soriano blocked the door leading to a standoff which lasted about 12 hours from February 11th into February 12th. Police were eventually able to talk him out. The Maui News reports that Soriano was previously sentenced to 20-years in prison for sexual assault.	0:00:48

2/26/2019	NEW Sunrise 6am KHNL	HART Audit Findings	HART Audit Findings. Three audits on the project were released last month. Two came from the state auditor. One came from the city. They looked at why the cost of the project ballooned from an estimated 5-point-1 billion in 2012, to about 9-point-2 billion in 2018. The first state audit says HART officials gave inaccurate cost and timeline estimates, which quote "obscured the extent of the Project's financial problems, and eroded public confidence." The second state audit took a critical look at the organizational structure of HART, saying there were "gray areas" when it came to HART management and the HART board. It found that the CEO has "considerable discretion" over what information is shared with the board which means board members don't have the information they need to properly assess the project's budgeting process or to hold the CEO accountable.	0:01:10
2/26/2019	NEW Sunrise 6am KHNL	HART Operating Timeline	HART Operating Timeline. The timeline of the project continues to be pushed back, as well. 2/28/2019	NEW Sunrise 6am KHNL	Southwest Airlines	Southwest Airlines has decisions to make and announcements to prepare, after finally winning federal regulatory permission to run revenue service to Hawaii. The Federal Aviation Administration notified Southwest Wednesday it has got ETOPS authority for extended twin-engine flights over water. ETOPS, a necessary precursor to flights to Hawaii, involves special training for flight crews and a more intensive schedule of parts replacement. It's already followed by Hawaiian, Alaska, United, Delta and American Airlines. Southwest flew a number of proving flights to Hawaii with FAA observers on board, and ran pilots through desktop exercises, to win this. No further regulatory hurdles remain. But Southwest now has to review its circumstances and determine how soon it wants to launch and to where. The airline is deliberately avoiding comment until it has its ducks in a row. Hawaii County lawmakers voted in favor of increasing the GET to a half-cent. It's currently a quarter of a cent. Mayor Harry Kim says the higher tax will bring in 50 million dollars a year. That's double what the county collects now. The money is only supposed to be used on infrastructure. But Kim tells West Hawaii Today that bills at the state legislature will allow more flexibility with the funds. The new law goes into effect in January.	0:00:50
3/18/2019	NEW Sunrise 5am KHNL	Howard's Business Report.	Howard's Business Report. Roy Yamaguchi confirms his Eating House 1849 at Kapolei Commons will close at the end of this month. Roy's plan now is to develop another restaurant on the west side of Oahu. It is a hard time to open a new restaurant, partly because many others have opened, but mainly because it's hard to recruit restaurant workers when unemployment is low. Demolition begins in a couple weeks at the now-closed King's Village in central Waikiki. King's Village was one of the earlier developments of Chris Hemmeter, who went on to build some of the state's biggest resort hotels. He also developed Eaton Square, a similar-looking collection of spaces on the west side of Waikiki. The New York Times reports the Ethiopian and Indonesian MAX-8s both came without two safety features that were optional and cost extra. Regulators didn't require them and the airlines didn't buy them. Boeing now plans to make one standard. Two sensors outside the plane measure the direction of oncoming air, to get a sense of whether the plane is ascending too sharply and might stall. One of the safety features actually shows the readings. The other is called a disagree light and shows when the two sensors don't show the same thing.	0:01:36
3/23/2019	5pm HNN Sat Wknd	BLNR Seawater AC	BLNR Seawater AC. The Board of Land and Natural Resources has approved a proposal to air condition several downtown Honolulu buildings using seawater. Crews towed the carcass away from Sand Island twice this month. State officials are urging the public to stay away from it. The decomposing carcass has attracted sharks as well as people suspected of trying to take the whale's teeth. Volunteers from UH are studying the rotting remains.	0:00:24
1/30/2019	NEW Sunrise 6am KHNL	Whale Carcass Update	Whale Carcass Update. The large sperm whale carcass that's been towed offshore and washed back twice... will be left to decompose off Campbell Industrial Park. Scientists will study the process which could take years. The public is warned that removing any whale parts is illegal. "This animal requires a high degree of respect both culturally spiritually and legally. Its gonna require in some ways a change in thinking in some people... that instead of trying to collect something respecting it from a distance The state is still investigating this incident... in which two men were seen trying to take teeth. DLNR says many teeth and the entire lower jaw were later cut out with a chainsaw.	0:00:46
2/1/2019	New Sunrise 8am KFVE	Humpback Whale Birth	Humpback Whale Birth. U-H researchers got up close to a newborn humpback whale and its mother in waters between Maui and Lanai. The video was taken about 20 minutes after the calf was born. Researchers were studying the effects of climate change and human impact on whales and dolphins when this happened.	0:00:11

2/1/2019	New Sunrise 8am KFVE	High Winds	High winds whipped across the state last night...toppling trees and knocking out power. And the heavy rain left the grounds saturated and our beaches dirty. Some places saw gusts of more than 50 miles per hour. In the McCully-Moilili area, a man was nearly crushed by a tree. "Soon as I came out, got hit with a gust of wind that threw me against the car and I heard creaking and I look over and the tree literally had a ripple coming down the middle of it and it just went boom and the tree is so big, it took part of the car over there, all the way over to here and as you can see it just creased the top of the car." And in Kahala...wer're hearing from the family of the 89-year-old man who was injured when powerful winds ripped the roof from his house. Kenji (Seh-oh) Seo was taken to the hospital in serious condition on Wednesday after he was hit by debris.	0:00:18
2/2/2019	10pm HNN News KHNL	Midway Atoll Seawall	Midway Atoll Seawall. The federal government is starting a 10-year-long project to replace a failing seawall at Midway Atoll. The U-S Fish and Wildlife Service has budgeted 8-million dollars to remove nearly 6-thousand feet of the wall, built in 1957. It'll be replaced with a rock barrier to protect the landing strip. Work will begin in late summer to avoid disrupting seabirds.	0:00:27
2/4/2019	10pm HNN News KHNL	DAIRY ENVIRONMEN TAL REGULATIONS	DAIRY ENVIRONMENTAL REGULATIONS. In November, the Big Island Dairy in Ookala announced it will stop operating and seek a buyer after multiple wastewater spills and fines. On Kauaia state judge revoked the Kauai dairy's permits last year before they got started ordering an environmental study on how it would handle waste from hundreds of cows. The Kauai Dairy's main investor, the Ulupono Initiative, killed the dairy plan yesterday saying the regulation made it impossible.	0:01:39

2/4/2019	New Sunrise 8am KFVE	GUY WEATHER	GUY WEATHER. Weather An upper level ridge moving over the Hawaii region will produce drier trade wind weather conditions through Tuesday. Another upper level disturbance rolls in from the northwest starting on Wednesday producing more rain shower activity and a variable wind regime through Thursday. Breezy northerly winds return from Friday on into the weekend with windward and mauka showers. Surf along north facing shores will remain up through the week as a series of overlapping moderate west-northwest (300 deg) swells continue. The swell that filled in Saturday night through the day today will steadily lower overnight into Monday. Guidance suggests a small reinforcement will fill in late tonight through the day Monday.	0:00:52
2/4/2019	New Sunrise 8am KFVE	Diamond Head Rockfall	Diamond Head Rockfall. Starting today: A more than 2 million dollar project to fight cliff erosion and rockslides in the Diamond Head area begins. Workers will remove boulders and other hazards as well as install mesh fencing. The city says they'll focus on two areas: the bottom of Beach Road and an area known as Kui-lei Cliffs. At Beach Road the city will restrict vehicle access to residents. Pedestrian access will remain open, but the public is being asked to use caution. And at Kuilei Cliffs they'll close one of the beach access areas. The showers will be open. Illegal campers have stayed in this area before. The city says service providers did reach out to those affected. The project is expected to wrap up in the Fall.	0:01:52
2/4/2019	New Sunrise 8am KFVE	Pali Highway Landslide	Pali Highway Landslide. The Kailua bound lanes of Pali Highway had to be closed for several hours yesterday morning due to a landslide. Debris came down on the roadway around 6-30 am. No word on what triggered the landslide but the wet, rainy weather may have been a factor.	0:00:08
2/6/2019	10pm HNN News KHNL	Diamond Head Rockfall	Diamond Head Rockfall. City crews have closed parts of Diamond Head as they begin a more than 2 million dollar project to fight cliff erosion. 3/5/2019	NEW Sunrise 5am KHNL	Coastal Retreat	Coastal Retreat. Each of Hawaii's shorelines are unique environments characterized by a number of natural hazards including but not limited to sea-level rise, tsunami, storm surge, high winds, and coastal erosion. Experts all agree that building on eroding coasts increases vulnerability to these hazards but finding a solution that everyone agrees on is much more challenging especially when you start talking about managed retreat. The concept of managed retreat is simple yet making it happen is anything but Managed retreat is one of three main adaptation strategies to sea level rise and other coastal hazards the other two are accommodation.	0:01:59
3/5/2019	NEW Sunrise 5am KHNL	Entangled Whales	Entangled Whales. NOAA says it's responding to 3 reports of entangled whales off Maui in just the last 3 days. The first whale was spotted off Kahana on Saturday. That one had a round, reflective buoy attached to the animal's right side. The 2nd was spotted in waters off the Kahului Airport on Sunday. The Pacific Whale Foundation reported that the humpback had a light-colored line attached to it. NOAA believes that this whale might have been the same one spotted off Oahu last Thursday. The third whale was spotted yesterday between Maui and Molokai. Blue Hawaiian Helicopters spotted it in the middle of the Pailolo channel. Trailing behind it was several hundred yards of line attached to a round orange buoy.	0:00:58
3/6/2019	NEW Sunrise 5am KHNL	Nuuanu Brown Water	Nuuanu Brown Water. Area residents say the stream is being polluted by millions of gallons of chocolate brown water from the Board of Water Supply's largest reservoir in Nuuanu. The Board of Water Supply confirms one of its outlet gates got stuck open about three weeks ago. Ever since then the dark water, filled with silt, has been flowing downstream into residential areas. Neighbors say the muck has filled their koi ponds, killing most of the fish. Some believe this could harm the stream's wildlife and plants for years. The dark runoff runs the entire length of the Nuuanu Stream from the boards Nuuanu Reservoir 4, along the Judd Trail and through the popular Jackass Ginger watering hole. It flows through residential areas and Chinatown before emptying into the ocean.	0:01:53

3/18/2019	NEW Sunrise 5am KHNL	North Shore Swell	North Shore Swell. Coastal flooding and shoreline property damage are the biggest concerns today and that could significantly impact residents and visitors ability to move around the North Shore. A high surf warning is up for the north shore of Oahu until 6 p.m. today. Waves were forecast to peak overnight into this morning at giant levels of up to 35 to 50 feet for north-facing shores. Officials warns some coastal inundation will be possible, but it's not expected to be as severe as the extreme coastal wave wash that occurred during a high surf event on February 10th. A small craft advisory has been issued for all Hawaiian coastal waters due to the swell and strong north winds. The National Weather Service also said that mariners should exercise extra caution when entering or leaving harbors due to the possibility of large breaking waves near harbor entrances.	0:01:41

1/17/2019	10pm HNN News KHNL	LOCAL CONNECTION GREEN & HOMELESSNESS	LOCAL CONNECTION GREEN & HOMELESSNESS Hawaii News Now broadcast a refreshing picture last week something we hadn't seen much of in the first four years of the Ige Administration. Walking through tall grass on a vacant piece of state land in Waianae Lieutenant Governor Josh Green with state representative Cedric Gates and several supporters of the huge Waianae homeless camp. They were working together scouting out a possible site to relocate the camp. Lieutenant Governor Green is uniquely qualified to take on the issue of homelessness. Not only is he a medical doctor familiar with mental health and addiction issues he's been a state senator long enough to know where resources can be found in government and in the private sector.	0:01:01

2/22/2019	10pm HNN News KHNL	LOCAL CONNECTION KANESHIRO OFFICE	Local Connections Kaneshiro Office. Honolulu Prosecutor Keith Kaneshiro is defying a powerful consensus of law enforcement and political leaders by refusing to go on leave after receiving a target letter from federal investigators. His attorney argues that Kaneshiro should be presumed innocent and that there is no evidence his office is not functioning at a high level. On the first point, this is not about innocence or guilt —it’s about Kaneshiro's ability to serve the public while having to defend himself against potential criminal charges. On the second point, there is substantial evidence that's been made public in the Katherine Kealoha investigation that raises serious questions about how Kaneshiro managed his office. That's why the Mayor, the Attorney general and the police chief all say he needs to go on leave until he's able to clear up the doubt that now surrounds him.	0:01:13

Jeremy Dossetter and his instructor, Oliver Kirch were on board a Mauna Loa Helicopters' Robinson R-44 when it vanished in October 2017. The lawyer for Dossetter's relatives told the Star Advertiser that parts of the aircraft turned up about 10 days ago. The months-long recovery effort was privately-funded. It's not clear exactly where the wreckage was found. The two men were never found. Dossetter's parents plan to file a claim with the Federal Aviation Administration. They think an air traffic controller sent the helicopter into bad weather. Meantime Mauna Loa Helicopters' parent company agreed to pay a half million dollar settlement to the parents of Jeremy Dossetter.	0:00:27

3/11/2019	NEW Sunrise 5am KHNL	Southwest Failure	Southwest Failure. The Motley Fool has three primary concerns about Southwest Airlines stocks and whether its service to the islands will last. First: the investing analyst questions whether the airline has enough amenities for a 6 hour flight pointing out relatively little legroom on planes and no mid-flight meals. Second: competition is going to be tough, as other airlines have additional revenue streams, including first class tickets, seats with extra legroom, baggage fees, and more. Third: Southwest's companion pass program may become too costly. Customers who fly regularly enough can bring a companion on any flight for free. But still, the motley fool thinks that Southwest will quote: "carve out a nice niche for itself in Hawaii."	0:00:48

3/18/2019	New Sunrise 7am K5	Molokini Rules This Week	Molokini Rules This Week. A public meeting will be held this week on proposed rule changes for Molokini Island. The DLNR is recommending that no more than a dozen boats be allowed at one time at Molokini island. The tourist industry wants up to 20. There are two key concerns: Overcrowding and the wildlife there. The DLNR says 60 percent of visitors felt crowded in 2010, when there were about 300-thousand visitors per year. That number has since gone up to 360-thousand visitors annually. Meanwhile, a study found more than half the omilu fish - a key reef predator - leave the area when more than 12 boats are nearby. The meeting is set for Thursday at the Kihei Community Center.	0:00:43

The Star Advertiser reports the Canary Islands government is expected to approve the permits by the end of the month. Officials on the island say the construction could begin as soon as April. This comes as T-M-T officials continue working to meet the conditions of its conservation district use permit for Mauna Kea. They say Hawaii Island is still the preferred location for the telescope. Officials have not set a target date for construction on Mauna Kea.	0:00:29
3/26/2019	New Sunrise 7am K5	Coco Palms	Coco Palms. Plans to redevelop the former Coco Palms have fallen through. According to the Garden island - the two men behind the "Coco Palms Hui" are facing foreclosure. This, after they defaulted on 11-point-2 million dollars in financing they used to purchase the property five years ago. The two planned to revive the hotel as part of a 150 million dollar project. But they were only able to demolish it. Now, the property is being put on the market with the hope that a new developer can help complete the project. If that cannot be done, investors hope to turn it into a site that will benefit the community. The Coco Palms fell into disrepair, 27 years ago when Hurricane Iniki tore through Kauai.	0:00:44

The Garden Island reports in 2013, police took Cameron Raymond to the hospital for a psychological evaluation. Court documents say witnesses saw no violent or strange behavior but hospital staff injected him with antipsychotic drugs against his will. The incident left him incapacitated for months. The jury determined that hospital staff committed assault and recklessly inflicted emotional distress on the patient.	0:00:34
3/27/2019	New Sunrise 7am K5	Coco Palms Update	Coco Palms Update. The historic Coco Palms Resort on Kauai is up for sale again. The re-developed resort was supposed to open at the end of next year. But the Honolulu-based developers in charge of revitalizing the property over the last 7 years are facing foreclosure. What went wrong, according to project officials is the occupation of people claiming to have a right to the land. We're told the nearly two-year long issue added millions to costs and significantly pushed back the project's timeline. That issue is now resolved. And a Utah-based development company is taking over management of the resort in an effort to attract a new buyer.	0:00:46
3/27/2019	New Sunrise 7am K5	More on Shark Bite Victim	More on Shark Bite Victim. New details regarding the shark attack on the big island. West Hawaii today reports that the 75-year-old survivor was released from the hospital and is resting at home. The paper reports that the experienced waterman struck the 12-foot shark with his paddle when he was knocked off of his outrigger canoe. It happened off Waikoloa. Witnesses say the man had a six-inch laceration just above his calf. A doctor checked out the injury on the beach and then the man was driven to the hospital for treatment. A flyover will be conducted this morning to check for sharks in the area.	0:00:33

3/27/2019	New Sunrise 7am K5	Kilauea Report	Kilauea Report. It's been nearly a year since lava burst from the ground in lower puna. But now, scientists have set the volcano's alert level at "Normal." It's the lowest of four levels and signifies a return to a "non-eruptive state". The Hawaiian Volcano Observatory says - based on its observations over the past 8 months - the next Kilauea eruption could take place in the caldera within a few years. Researchers think the next eruption on one of the volcano's rift zones will be in a decade or longer. That's based on historical observations and eruptive patterns at Kilauea. But they also say it's possible that the volcano could quote "return to the dominantly explosive 300 years preceding the early 1800s."	0:01:17
