KNBC and KVEA Internship Program

The KNBC and KVEA internship program offers our interns real world experience while becoming familiar with NBCU's organization and work style. Internships are the perfect way to gain real world experience while learning what a career at KNBC and KVEA in Los Angeles might hold in store for them. Interns have produced tangible results as they begin building their professional networks, and for many, the internship experience confirms their professional goals. We offer opportunities throughout the News, Creative Services, Local Integrated Media, Human Resources and Sales departments. Positions relate to sales, sales/research, creative services, news channel 4, news channel 52, digital media, and human resources, to name a few! We provide college students with the opportunity to showcase their many talents and allow KNBC and KVEA to identify high potential talent for future staff hiring as well as YOH associate employees and the NBC Page program. KNBC and KVEA look for students who are committed to a career in media/broadcasting through experiences in their major studies, college clubs/organizations, prior media based internships or prior media work experience. Grade point average, community service, and leadership experience are also an important part of the total assessment of student applicants. KNBC and KVEA work closely with local out of state colleges and universities to build an active internship training program. During the current Annual Reporting year, a total of 126 Interns have participated in the Internship program. The program is offered during the Spring/Summer and Fall semesters and is designed to accommodate a student's school schedule. Students receive college credit. Each internship period usually lasts two to three months.

Emma Bowen Foundation for Minority Interests in Media

KNBC and KVEA is a proud sponsor of the Emma Bowen Foundation. The Emma L. Bowen Foundation was established by the media industry to help increase access to permanent job opportunities for minority students. The Foundation's program is unlike other intern programs in that students work for a partner company during summers and school breaks from the end of their junior year in high school until they graduate from college. During that five-year period, students have an opportunity to learn many aspects of corporate operations and develop company-specific skills. Students in the program receive an hourly wage, as well as matching compensation to help pay for college tuition and expenses. Mentoring from selected staff in the sponsoring company is also a key element of the program. During the summer semesters, "Emma" students rotate in various KNBC and KVEA departments while gaining experience in every aspect in media. Number of interns during the reporting year: 3

Tec de Monterrey Internship Program

KVEA is a proud sponsor of the Tec de Monterrey Internship Program. The program encourages the development and evaluation of the student's competences with the following: Competence Model Internship Program. This program offers interns real world experience while becoming familiar with Telemundo's organization and work style. Through this internship students help to complete special projects, while they bring fresh perspective to Telemundo by showcasing their many talents. The Tec de Monterrey's program is unlike other intern programs in that students work for six months and receive an hourly wage. Students have an opportunity to learn many aspects of corporate operations and develop company-specific skills. Mentoring from Telemundo selected staff is also a key element of the program. Number of interns during the reporting year: 4

News Early Career Programs

KNBC participates in three programs for News graduates and early career professionals. First, the NBC Owned Television Stations News Associate Program has a curriculum designed to attract recent college graduates from diverse backgrounds to careers as producers, editors and writers. There was one News Associate assigned to KNBC and throughout the year, she was able to learn first-hand the different news room roles and responsibilities, acquire editorial judgment, develop story-telling skills and gain invaluable experience both in the field and studio. Additionally, KNBC partnered with AAJA-LA to offer an AAJA Fellowship. The fellowship is awarded to print or broadcast professionals with more than five years of experience in a fast-paced newsroom environment. This was an Online Media Training Fellowship, which was a rigorous three-month training program designed to affiliate experienced media professionals with a fast-paced professional online news environment. The fellow spent three months working at KNBC with the nbcla.com team. Finally, KNBC's Editorial Assistant program is for recent journalism graduates to work in the newsroom for a year. The Editorial Assistants work closely with the news producers and on air talent to assist in the seamless execution of all news products. Daily responsibilities include working with producers on scripts, supporting the nbcla.com team to provide broadcast content on the web, and pulling tape that reporters require for their daily news packages. Number of participants during the reporting year: 8
