Subject: Reckless Kelly's 'Sunset Motel' Debuts at #8 on the Billboard Americana Chart - On Tour Now

Reckless Kelly's Sunset Motel Debuts at #8 on the Billboard Americana/Folk
Albums Chart, #12 on the Country Chart

Currently #9 on the AMA Americana Radio Chart

New Album Embraced By Billboard, Rolling Stone Country, Taste of Country, Team Coco and More

On September 23, Reckless Kelly celebrated their 20th anniversary as a band with the release of Sunset Motel, their first album with Thirty Tigers and follow up to their Grammy Award winning (Best Recording Package) 2013 release, Long Night Moon.

Sunset Motel debuted today at #8 on the Billboard Americana/Folk Albums Chart and #12 on the Billboard Country Albums Chart. Additionally, the band have entered the top 10 on the AMA Americana Radio Chart at #9.

Recently, Team Coco premiered Sunset Motel in its entirety.

Billboard spoke with frontman Willy Braun about the new album and premiered the single "Moment In The Sun." "We ended up writing about 30 or 50 songs and picking the best 20 or so and then recorded them and knocked it own to 13," Braun told Billboard's Gary Graff. "It just ended up being the best of the best. It was kind of a relief not to have to try too hard to go in any one direction or any kind of vibe."

Taste of Country premiered "Who's Gonna Be Your Baby Now," the second single to be released from the new collection. Sterling Whitaker wrote, "The Austin-based band were Americana before there really was such a term, combining roots, rock and country influences into an uncompromising musical approach that has earned the Grammy-winning group a very steadfast and loyal following."

Rolling Stone Country announced the album with a stream of "How Can You Love Him (You Don't Even Like Him)," the first single to be released from the album, and said "Sunset Motel finds the band in familiar musical territory — bounding fearlessly between the sounds of jangling heartland rock and scrappy, hardscrabble country, with stories that refuse to dumb themselves down for mass appeal."

Purchase Sunset Motel via Amazon or iTunes.

Subject: Nashville Scene is bringing Crafty Bastards to Nashville!

Good afternoon,

Nashville Scene's Crafty Bastards Arts and Crafts Fair is coming to Nashville on Saturday, November 5, 10 a.m. - 4 p.m. in the Gulch neighborhood at the intersection of 11th Ave S & Laurel Street. This is an outdoor art event featuring the handcrafted goods and art of approximately 100 vendors from across the US, carefully selected through a jury process. Best of all, admission is FREE for this day of family fun, food, drinks, live music and entertainment.

Crafty Bastards Arts and Crafts Fair is an exhibition and sale of handmade goods from independent artists that originated 13 years ago in Washington, D.C., presented by our sister publication, the Washington City Paper. We are very pleased to bring the stellar lineup of artists and craftspeople to our Nashville audience, just in time for the holiday season.

Subject: Satellite Interview 11.15: What are the Hottest Holiday Tech Gifts This Year? The Digital Answer Man Jim Barry has the download!

Hi,

I was wondering if you'd be interested in this new interview? The numbers don't lie; Americans are planning to give tech gifts this holiday season! But with so many gifts and gadgets to choose from, where do you start? In interviews on Tuesday, Nov. 15, Jim will cover everything from the most requested gadgets to the newest emerging tech.

Full release below. Please let me know if you'd like to book a slot or have questions.

Thank you!

Francisco

What are the Hottest Holiday Tech Gifts This Year?

The Digital Answer Man Jim Barry has the download on everything from most requested tech gifts to the top contenders on everyone's wish lists!

Satellite Interviews Available: Tuesday, November 15, 2016 from 7:00 AM-11:00 AM ET

The numbers don't lie; Americans are planning to give tech gifts this holiday season! But with so many gifts and gadgets to choose from, where do you start?

Whether you need a cool gift for your favorite tech-lover or a high-tech stocking stuffer for under $100, the Consumer Technology Association's (CTA)™ Digital Answer Man Jim Barry will show your viewers the hottest tech gifts for everyone on your list. In interviews on Tuesday, Nov. 15, Jim will cover everything from the most requested gadgets to the newest emerging tech.

According to CTA's 23rd Annual Consumer Technology Holiday Purchase Patterns Study:

- Almost 70 percent of shoppers – more than 170 million people – plan to buy tech gifts this season
- More consumers than ever will buy emerging tech gifts such as smartwatches, smart home devices and drones
- The gifts U.S. consumers most want to receive: laptops, TVs, smartphones, tablets and videogame consoles

Suggested Interview Questions:

- What's the most requested tech gift this holiday season?
- What about 'emerging tech' – what's popular on 2016 wish lists?
- We've heard so much about 'AR' and 'VR' this year – what can you show us?
- If you're on a tighter budget are there any tech gifts for under $100?
- Where can you go for more information?

About The Talent:

Every year, CTA's tech expert and Digital Answer Man Jim Barry visits national and local media outlets to help educate consumers on new products and trends in the technology industry. The Digital Answer Man Tour travels to more than 50 media markets each year, showcasing the latest and greatest products from CTA members. Jim has appeared on CNN, CNBC, Good Morning America, Fox News and countless local news programs across the nation.

About Consumer Technology Association:

Consumer Technology Association (CTA)™, is the trade association representing the $287 billion U.S. consumer technology industry. More than 2,200 companies – 80 percent are small businesses and startups; others are among the world's best known brands – enjoy the benefits of CTA membership including policy advocacy, market research, technical education, industry promotion, standards development and the fostering of business and strategic relationships. The Consumer Technology Association also owns and produces CES® – the world's gathering place for all who thrive on the business of consumer technologies. Profits from CES are reinvested into CTA's industry services.

TIRE RACK® STREET SURVIVAL® teen driver safety is coming to Bowling Green to stop the #1 killer of teens

WHAT: Tire Rack Street Survival® Teen Driving School

WHERE: NCM Motorsport Park, 350 Corvette Dr, Bowling Green, KY 42101

WHEN: Saturday, November 5th, 2016; 8:30am – 4:30pm

HOSTS: Bluegrass Bimmers Chapter BMW CCA and the National Corvette Museum

DETAILS

Car crashes are the leading killer of American teens from ages 15 – 20, with more than 5,000 teens involved in a fatal crash each year and an additional 196,000 injured.

Simple driving errors, avoidable but common among inexperienced teens, cause the majority of fatal accidents.

- Tire Rack Street Survival® is a 501c3 organization and is the largest active non-profit national driver education program that teaches teens the skills they need to stay alive behind the wheel. Unlike traditional driver's education programs based on classroom theory and simple maneuvers, the Tire Rack Street Survival® program improves driver competence through hands-on experiences in real-world driving situations.
- Students will receive a valuable classroom session and then will learn, hands-on, how to manage everyday driving hazards, obstacles and challenges in a controlled environment on an advanced driving course to ultimately 'arrive alive.'
- Students learn emergency braking and skid control, how to control proper braking, and how to avoid accidents entirely. In select schools, in addition to spending time in the driver's seat of parked 18-wheeler to fully comprehend its massive blind spots, teenagers witness the violent detonation of an air bag, which reinforces proper hand placement on the steering wheel.
- Students are taught in their own cars, not specially prepared program vehicles, so the skills they learn can be directly translated to their daily driving experiences. Tire Rack Street Survival® challenges teenagers to understand how to control a vehicle, rather than just operate one.

Tire Rack Street Survival® is open to licensed and permitted drivers ages 15 – 21. Forms, schedules and more information can be found online at www.streetsurvival.org. The cost is $75 per student and some insurance companies offer premium discounts to graduates.

The program is in its 14th year having trained some 20,000 new drivers. 100 schools were completed in 2015 and the goal for 2016 is over 125 nationally.

For the 7th year, Michelin North America is supporting the Street Survival program by providing funding for pavement rental for each school throughout the United States. That is no small task, given that this year the Tire Rack Street Survival schools plan to offer its training to teens all across the U.S.

U.S. Trade Rep Visits Tennessee Distilleries; Touts Benefits of Trade to Spirits Sector

NASHVILLE, Tenn. – Distillers from across Tennessee gathered today in Nashville to discuss with United States Trade Representative Michael Froman the positive impact of international trade and the Trans-Pacific Partnership (TPP) Agreement on the U.S. distilled spirits sector and tour Nelson's Greenbrier Distillery.

Tennessee is the leading state for U.S. spirits exports, accounting for nearly 44 percent of total U.S. spirits exports in 2015 and 64 percent of total whiskey exports. In 2015, whiskeys exported from Tennessee were valued at $691 million, ranking whiskey as the second largest agricultural export from the state.

"As the home of Jack Daniel's, George Dickel and several other rapidly growing brands, Tennessee is well positioned to benefit from the opportunities offered by the Trans Pacific Partnership," said Distilled Spirits Council President & CEO Kraig R. Naasz. "Given the presence of so many well-established and new distilleries opening across the state, increasing exports of Bourbon and Tennessee Whiskey will lead to more jobs and be good for Tennessee's economy."

In 2015, U.S. distilled spirits exports reached almost $1.56 billion, which marks the ninth consecutive year U.S. spirits exports surpassed one billion dollars and the sixth consecutive year of record export growth. Comprising almost 70 percent of total U.S. spirits exports, whiskey is the key growth driver of U.S. exports. In 2015, the value of U.S. whiskey exports totaled $1.01 billion, marking the fourth consecutive year in which American Whiskey exports surpassed the $1 billion mark.

The Distilled Spirits Council strongly supports TPP because it will open markets for U.S. distilled spirits products. The trade agreement includes Australia, Brunei, Canada, Chile, Japan, Malaysia, Mexico, New Zealand, Peru, Singapore, the United States and Vietnam.

NASHVILLE GETS ONE STEP CLOSER TO PET PARADISE

Mars Petcare and Nashville Civic Design Center Team Up to Improve Pet-Friendly Policies, Practices, Partners

Nashville, Tenn., – November 3, 2016 -- Nashville is about to get a little friendlier for residents with wagging tails and four paws. Two local leaders today announced their shared commitment to making Nashville a more pet-friendly city through design, development, and transformational partnerships. Franklin-based Mars Petcare and the Nashville Civic Design Center (NCDC) convened at NCDC's annual luncheon, a gathering of more than 550 civic, government and design leaders to discuss and showcase issues of urban design and civic engagement.

One of the announcements at today's event focused on identifying ways to form a model for what a truly pet-friendly city should look like, the primary objective of the Mars Petcare-NCDC partnership. With families having fewer children and more dual career households, increased urbanization, and rising negative perceptions of pets as noisy or aggressive, the safety and security of keeping families and communities pet-friendly is at risk. This partnership sets out to address these issues by developing a model for change that can ultimately be adopted by business, design, development, government, nonprofit, education, neighborhood and retail partners.

"Creating a Better World for Pets® is what drives us every day at Mars Petcare, and we want to make it even easier for people and pets to thrive in our city," said Jam Stewart, Director of Corporate Communications, Mars Petcare. "NCDC's expertise in urban planning will be integral in helping us design a true model to define how cities like Nashville can operate in a world where we're seeing more and more pets in cities – truly bringing our vision to life."

Mars Petcare and Nashville Civic Design Center, with support from the City of Nashville, will leverage their expertise to help the city meet its broader animal welfare goals, bringing their collective team of partners and volunteers to help bring the vision of a pet-friendly city to life as part of Mars Petcare's commitment to creating BETTER CITIES FOR PETS™.

"Nashville Civic Design Center's focus on creating healthier, more livable communities for all fits perfectly with Mars Petcare BETTER CITIES FOR PETS™ initiative," said Gary Gaston, Executive Director, NCDC. "We are thrilled to be in partnership with Mars Petcare in shaping healthy communities for people and pets in Nashville and beyond."

This partnership builds on years of commitment by Mars Petcare to the Nashville area, including long-standing support of local animal shelters. From dedicating Associates' time volunteering to supporting adoption events throughout the year, Mars Petcare supports these partners who work tirelessly to place as many pets in loving homes as possible in Middle Tennessee. Butch Walker To Appear on Jimmy Kimmel Live! Tonight

Critically Acclaimed Eighth Studio Album
Stay Gold Out Now

Tune in tonight or set your DVRs as Grammy nominated guitar-slinger, troublemaker, raconteur, producer, and Georgia boy Butch Walker will appear on Jimmy Kimmel Live! in support of his new critically acclaimed eighth studio album Stay Gold.

Walker will sit in with the Kimmel house band Cleto and the Cletones throughout the entire episode playing a variety of songs, including many of his new tunes from Stay Gold. Visit www.jimmykimmellive.com for more information.

Released on August 26th via Dangerbird Records, Stay Gold debuted at #2 on the Billboard Heatseekers Chart as well as #10 on the Rock Chart, #40 on Top Current Albums, and #143 on the Billboard Top 200. It's received broad critical acclaim, including praises from Rolling Stone, Billboard, Wall Street Journal, The FADER, Consequence of Sound, Paste, American Songwriter, AV Club, and Esquire among many others.

As a writer of dozens of songs with hooks that stick in your head, Walker has penned choruses you want to sing (or shout) along to from acts including Frank Turner, Brian Fallon, Taylor Swift, and many more. He is a teller of authentic stories of exploits and predicaments and romance that are filled with optimism; builder of albums with no boundaries - rock, pop, Americana, singer-songwriter...or, as he says, "I think it's all just rock & roll."

"Walker's upcoming album returns the charismatic singer-songwriter to his rock roots."

- Rolling Stone

"A jubilant, celebratory record that savors nostalgia and snapshots of fearless exuberance."

- Esquire

"Butch Walker makes really great rock songs. That's kind of all there is to it."

- USA Today

"Imagine Patrick Swayze's character from Dirty Dancing held you by the hand and you zoomed into the sunset together on his dusty old motorcycle - that's what 'Wilder In The Heart' sounds like"

- The FADER

"Stay Gold is classic, earnest rock 'n' roll, the kind of songwriter-driven pop that really doesn't have a home anymore that sits nicely beside Alejandro Escovedo, Old 97's, and Uncle Tupelo."

- Consequence of Sound

Subject: (MEDIA ALERT) Yonder Mountain String Band Hits the Road with G. Love & Special Sauce and The Railsplitters!

Hi,

Yonder Mountain String Band doesn't miss a beat as they follow up their latest Fall Tour 2016 with an official announcement of a Winter Tour 2017 featuring select co-headlining shows with G. Love & Special Sauce (Feb. 8 - 18) and a slew of additional dates with special guests The Railsplitters (Jan. 19 - Feb. 4). Two short weeks after celebrating New Year's Eve at the Boulder Theater (Dec. 30 & 31), Yonder Mountain hits the road for shows throughout the Midwest and Southeast. YMSB tours in support of their newest full-length album, Black Sheep, and the band recently released a music video for a new song "Alison" that'll be featured on their upcoming studio album due out in the first quarter of 2017. Rolling Stone Country premiered the video for "Alison"; please feel free to post the video via this YouTube link.

Would you be interested in interviewing Yonder Mountain String Band?

YMSB's new band member line-up features Adam Aijala (guitar, vocals), Dave Johnston (banjo, vocals), Ben Kaufmann (bass, vocals), Allie Kral (violin, vocals), and Jacob Jolliff (mandolin, vocals). For hi-res photos of the new line-up, please visit YMSB's online press kit (please delete previous publicity photos from your archives): yondermountain.com/press (password: YMSBpressaccess).

For additional information regarding Yonder Mountain String Band and their Winter Tour 2017, please see the press release below. Review copies and download links to access YMSB's latest album, Black Sheep, are available upon request. Let me know if you have any questions.

Yonder Mountain String Band
Winter Tour 2017
with G. Love & Special Sauce and The Railsplitters

"[Black Sheep is] a new version of their sound that indulges their steely punk roots and fuses them with die-hard Appalachian rituals." -Rolling Stone Country

"...Introducing a high-energy and modernistic form of bluegrass to a younger generation of thrill-seekers." -NPR

"Gospel meets punk rock in a bluegrass package on Yonder Mountain String Band's new song 'Black Sheep.'" -Wall Street Journal, Speakeasy

"Ultimately, Black Sheep is the start of the band's second act and quickly proves that the reconfigured Yonder Mountain String Band are well poised for the future." -Relix

Boulder, CO -- Monday, November 14, 2016 -- For 18 years, Yonder Mountain String Band has redefined bluegrass music, expanding the traditional acoustic genre beyond its previously established boundaries by steadily pushing the envelope into the realms of rock n' roll and improvisation. YMSB has always played music of their own design, in the process attracting a devout coterie of fans that often resembles a tight knit family on an epic musical journey as Yonder traverses the country with an ever-rigorous tour schedule. Yonder is a quintessential ensemble honing its craft night after night on the road, and the fans are there to experience it in real time. The result is music that doesn't stand still, it's always progressing and breaking unprecedented ground.

With their latest album, Black Sheep (Frog Pad Records: June 16, 2015), Yonder Mountain String Band -- Adam Aijala (guitar, vocals), Dave Johnston (banjo, vocals), Ben Kaufmann (bass, vocals), Allie Kral (violin, vocals), and Jacob Jolliff (Mandolin, vocals) -- begins a new era. The first YMSB release produced by the band itself, Black Sheep is, by any measure, a triumph, perhaps the most mesmeric of their career. The result, says Kaufmann, is that, "This record sounds more like Yonder than any record we've ever done. I'm hoping that when people are finished listening to it, they'll just hit play and listen to it again."

Throughout January and February 2017 in support of Black Sheep, YMSB performs at venerable venues in Midwest and Southeast markets with The Railsplitters (January 19 - February 4) and select co-headlining shows with G. Love & Special Sauce (February 8 - 18). YMSB first closes out 2016 with a 2-night New Year's Eve run at Boulder Theater (Boulder, CO: Dec. 30 & 31), and then heads out on their Winter Tour 2017 with performances at The Bluebird (Bloomington, IN: Jan. 19), The Pageant (St. Louis, MO: Jan. 20), Orpheum Theater (Madison, WI: Jan. 21), Blue Moose Tap House (Iowa City, IA: Jan. 22), The State Theatre (State College, PA: Jan. 25), Cat's Cradle (Carrboro, NC: Jan. 26), The Music Farm (Charleston, SC: Jan. 27 & 28), 3rd and Lindsley (Nashville, TN: Jan. 29), Bijou Theatre (Knoxville, TN: Feb. 1), Madison Theatre (Covington, KY: Feb. 2), The Orange Peel (Asheville, NC: Feb. 3 & 4), The Plaza Live (Orlando, FL: Feb. 8), Culture Room (Fort Lauderdale, FL: Feb. 9), Jannus Live (St. Petersburg, FL: Feb. 10), The Tabernacle (Atlanta, GA: Feb. 11), The Joy Theater (New Orleans, LA: Feb. 16), Stubb's Bar-B-Q (Austin, TX: Feb. 17), House of Blues (Dallas, TX: Feb. 18), and George's Majestic (Fayetteville, AR: Feb. 19).

YMSB hosts pre-show soundcheck hangouts at select venues along the Winter Tour 2017. The exclusive pre-game hangouts will take place at the following shows: The Plaza Live (Orlando, FL: Feb. 8), Jannus Live (St. Petersburg, FL: Feb. 10), The Tabernacle (Atlanta, GA: Feb. 11), The Joy Theater (New Orleans, LA: Feb. 16), Stubb's Bar-B-Q (Austin, TX: Feb. 17), and House of Blues (Dallas, TX: Feb. 18). The VIP ticket will include attendance to Yonder's soundcheck, a meet & greet plus a photo opportunity with the band, a limited edition signed poster, along with early entry to the show and VIP seating (varies between venues). Additional details are available

Since the release of Black Sheep, YMSB has garnered a slew of accolades: glowing national press reviews, the album hit #3 on the Billboard Bluegrass Charts, #22 on the Americana Airplay Chart (Black Sheep was on the charts for 10 weeks), and its acquired 25 adds at AAA radio.

Black Sheep marks the first time in Yonder's history that they're actually utilizing, throughout an entire record, the conventional five-piece instrumental arsenal of bluegrass introduced in the 1940s: guitar, mandolin, banjo, fiddle and bass. With the exception of the album's sole cover tune, "Ever Fallen In Love," originally by the late '70s British punk-rock band the Buzzcocks, each of the album's new tracks were written by the YMSB members during the past couple of years. Three of the new songs -- "Annalee," "Landfall" and the title track -- have already been road-tested on tour; others will be added to the band's live repertoire following the album's release. The majority of Black Sheep was recorded at Coupe Studios in Boulder, Colorado, with Adam handling much of the engineering at his home studio and while on the road; the first time a band member has taken on that task.

Even on first listen, it becomes instantaneously apparent that Black Sheep is the work of a new Yonder Mountain String Band, one with a strong commitment to re-exhibiting itself, broadening its parameters following the departure of a founding member. While it's immediately recognizable as YMSB music, there's undeniably a raw aesthetic to the studio tracks -- a sense of daring is embedded in both the instrumental interaction between these five singular players and in the lyrical content of each song.

The compositions cover a wide topical swath. "Insult and Elbow," the album's opening track, is on its surface about escapism and substance abuse; "Landfall" addresses the touring life of a modern band; "Around You," explains Kaufmann, is "about the moment when you realize that you are the only common denominator in every problem you've ever had and that there is no one else that can take responsibility for anything that happens to you." The title track, centered on a wannabe renegade, suggests that nothing is really free, that even the fakes and the phonies demand a price.

"New Dusty Miller" reinterprets an old fiddle tune and was inspired by the late folk and bluegrass singer-songwriter John Hartford's efforts at taking old fiddle music and adding a contemporary spin. Other new tunes, among them "Love Before You Can't," "I'm Lost" and "Drawing a Melody," probe the ups and downs of relationships informing various points of view. With these songs, as with so much of YMSB's previous material, layers can be peeled away to reveal multiple realities harbored within. As has always been the case, ardent lead vocals and tight harmonies deliver Yonder's newest set of words.

For many longtime aficionados of this band, of course, it's the instrumental prowess that draws them in and continues to wow fans at live shows and on recordings. With its new five piece lineup, the band is able to go places that were simply inaccessible before. "The traditional bluegrass lineup allows us to rethink things on different levels," says Johnston, "but at the heart of it all is the same energy and drive and a freewheeling spirit. It's an exciting time for us because we have an invigorating sense of the future. At the end of the day, Yonder is a band with almost two decades of music under its belt, but we're always a bit restless. We want to move the music forward to new places, which keeps us on our musical toes."

Yonder has its roots in the year 1998, when the original quartet came together in Colorado. Through steadfast gigging in all manner of venues from small clubs to massive outdoor festivals, Yonder Mountain String Band quickly built a robust fanbase while continually experimenting to define its sound. Some of the most fervent audiences were at jam band shows and festivals, where fans took readily to YMSB's potent mix of the traditional bluegrass of Bill Monroe, the Stanley Brothers and Doc Watson and the improvisational sensibilities of the Grateful Dead and Phish. Also deeply ingrained in the band, albeit more subtly, was a fierce love for punk, which provided the members with seminal influences while they were growing up. "We didn't even hear bluegrass until our 20s," says Aijala. "Falling in love with the sound of bluegrass instruments, while also having all of these outside influences that had nothing to do with bluegrass -- well, what comes out isn't what we envisioned."

With the band celebrating its 18th anniversary this year, and an extensive tour schedule hitting venerable venues in all corners of the country, a revitalized Yonder Mountain takes delight in the fact that they are still reaching new fans while simultaneously retaining the characteristics that brought their greater community together in the first place. The loss of one member and the subsequent invitation for some of today's top pickers to help shape their evolving sound brings intriguing opportunities to the table; ones that set YMSB on its newfangled path. Black Sheep is a bold statement, meant to passionately get fans up on their feet and ecstatically dancing, but it's also about embracing the moment. Essential changes are a healthy step in keeping the music alive and well.

"We've been growing over the years and I feel like we really don't have any limitations," says Aijala. "It doesn't feel like work when you get to hang out with people that you care about and play music."

Adds Kaufmann, "It's not just bluegrass -- it's progressive. Everything Yonder has ever tried to do, we're doing in this record. It's gonna take some time for fans to get acquainted with the new Yonder. When you make a big change like we did, it's a huge thing. But the band is a force, and the album is such a perfect example of our new direction."

Says Johnston in conclusion, "Yonder Mountain String Band is as durable as bluegrass itself. It changes and morphs and has an open-endedness that makes anything possible."

About Children's Miracle Network Hospitals

Children's Miracle Network Hospitals® raises funds and awareness for 170 children's hospitals across the United States and Canada, which, in turn, use the money where it's needed the most. When a donation is given it stays in the community, helping local kids. Since 1983, Children's Miracle Network Hospitals® has raised more than $5 billion, most of it $1 at a time. These donations have gone to support research and training, purchase equipment, and pay for uncompensated care, all in support of the mission to save and improve the lives of as many children as possible. Monroe Carell Jr. Children's Hospital at Vanderbilt was one of the 20 founding hospitals. Find out why children's hospitals need community support, and learn about our local CMNHospital, at CMNHospitals.org and facebook.com/CMNHospitals. Learn more at www.CMNHospitals.org.

About Monroe Carell Jr. Children's Hospital at Vanderbilt

Monroe Carell Jr. Children's Hospital at Vanderbilt is a nationally recognized provider of pediatric health care services, currently with ten specialty programs ranked by U.S. News & World Report magazine in its Best Children's Hospitals issue. The hospital is also ranked 13th in the nation by Parents magazine.

With more than 400 physicians trained in 30 pediatric and surgical specialties, the 267-bed facility provides the highest level of pediatric health care services and is also a top-tier teaching and research facility.

The hospital features Centers of Excellence for the treatment of diabetes and congenital heart disorders, and also offers comprehensive services for other childhood diseases such as cancer, organ and bone marrow transplants, Level 1 pediatric trauma, sickle cell disease, developmental disorders and is home to a Level IV neonatal intensive care unit, the highest designated level of neonatal care.

Children's Hospital opened in 2004, expanded its physical space in 2012, and is readying for additional growth that will add four floors and 160,000 total sq. ft. through its "Growing to New Heights" campaign. The new expansion will help advance the size and scope of the hospital's mission.

PEGI YOUNG
Steps Out With THE SURVIVORS

Announces New Album Raw Due 2/17/17

New Single "Too Little Too Late" premieres today with Rolling Stone

Credit: Jay Blakesburg

(New York, NY — November 17, 2016) Pegi Young is preparing for the launch of her fifth album, aptly titled Raw. The collection will be available February 17th via Baltimore Thrush Records. In advance of the album's release, the first single, "Too Little Too Late," will have its worldwide premiere on RollingStone.com today. Pegi along with her band The Survivors plan to tour extensively kicking off Spring 2017.

Pegi Young's compelling and personal new album Raw is a mix of original songs written with Spooner Oldham and artfully executed covers. The album gets right to the point with the opening cut "Why?" The track kicks off with Young's impassioned alto, demanding, "Why'd you have to ruin my life? Why'd you have to be so mean?" Over the soulful Americana rock of her band the Survivors – led by legendary keyboardist/songwriter Spooner Oldham – Young taps into a surprisingly primal force.

There's a reason for that. Young wrote most of Raw in the wake of her 2014 separation and divorce from Neil Young, to whom she'd been married thirty-six years. "Writing [Raw] was very cathartic for me," Young says. "What happened was real, but I also look at this record as having a universal quality to it. I'm certainly not the only one to go through a late-in-life divorce, and I'm not going to be the last."

The songs aren't all expressions of anger. The first track to be released from the album is Too Little Too Late, a raw and poetic psalm of regret, the truth-tellin' Gave My Best to You and a rockin' update on These Boots are Made for Walkin' convey resilience and sass. A gorgeous, stripped-down version of Don Henley's The Heart of the Matter explores the grace of forgiveness. As a whole, the album is a journey from shock, to rage, to sadness, to strength, but not necessarily in that order.

Young says, "I've begun to look at this record as a soundtrack to the seven stages of grief. We all have our inside voice and our outside voice and I chose to let more of my inside voice out on this record," she says. "And each song could be sung by either party."

Raw features Oldham and several more recent Survivors, including Muscle Shoals-based guitarist Kelvin Holly, a veteran of Little Richard's band; drummer Phil Jones; and the newest "Survivor" Shonna Tucker (Drive-By Truckers), who've added soulful muscle to the sonic texture.

Excited about the prospect of sharing her new music and playing out live, the singer/songwriter/philanthropist/environmentalist and new Grandmother jokes "I just might be eligible to win a nomination for 'Oldest Best New Artist Award' this time out."

Peter Harnik to Discuss "A Park System Like No Other"

Nashville, Tenn., December 12, 2016 -

- Nashville hosts lauded director of The Trust for Public Land's Center for City Park Excellence, noted author and educator, Peter Harnik. Harnik will be speaking in Nashville on Monday, December 12th at a free NCDC Urban Design Forum held at Frist Center for the Arts Auditorium. This event is the last in the co-sponsored, 2016 Future of Parks series designed to educate the public and design professionals on best practices and issues related to developing world-class park systems.

Harnik will be discussing, "A Park System Like No Other" and what it takes to integrate innovative city park systems within growing, vibrant communities. Harnik is the nation's leading voice on best practices in parks and has dedicated his career to sharing these good ideas. As an advisor on Metro Parks' Plan to Play master planning process, Harnik will discuss strategies key to a park and greenway system that is world class and uniquely Nashville.

Attendees are welcome to purchase lunch at Frist Cafe to enjoy during the presentation. RSVP's are requested by visiting Nashville Civic Design Center's event page here.

This event is sponsored by Metro Parks Nashville, Nashville Civic Design Center, The Trust for Public Land and Tennessee Chapter of American Society of Landscape Architects.

About Peter Harnik:

Peter Harnik, director of the Trust for Public Land's Center for City Park Excellence, will challenge Nashville to take its "It City" status into the realm of parks. Harnik is the nation's leading voice on best practices in parks and has dedicated his career to sharing these good ideas. As an advisor on Metro Parks' Plan to Play master planning process, Harnik will discuss strategies key to a park and greenway system that is world class and uniquely Nashville.

Harnik originated ParkScore, a system for comprehensively measuring how well U.S. cities are meeting the need for parks. His groundbreaking publications include Urban Green: Innovative Parks for Resurgent Cities (named one of the five best books of 2010 by the American Society of Landscape Architects), The Excellent City Park System: What Makes It Great and How to Get There (2006); Measuring the Economic Value of a City Park System (2009); From Fitness Zones to the Medical Mile: How Urban Park Systems Can Best Promote Health and Wellness (2011); and Public Spaces/Private Money: The Triumphs and Pitfalls of Urban Park Conservancies (2015). Recent projects include a strategic plan for the park system of Memphis and a report on the benefits and costs of constructing a highway deck park in Denver.

Harnik joined the Trust for Public Land since 2001. He was previously co-founder and vice president of the Rails-to-Trails Conservancy, coordinator of Environmental Action, Inc., and a co-founder of the Coalition for the Capital Crescent Trail. A longtime board member of the City Parks Alliance, the Washington Area Bicyclist Association, and Smart Growth America, he has also served on the Arlington (VA) Bicycle/Pedestrian Advisory Committee. He is a graduate of Johns Hopkins University.

Tomorrow: Healthcare Advocates in Tennessee Will Host a Press Conference To Highlight the Many Threats of Repealing the Affordable Care Act

(Chattanooga, TN)—Tomorrow, Thursday, December 15th health care advocates will come together to fight the Republican promise of repealing the Affordable Care Act (ACA). Concerned citizens and advocates in Tennessee are determined to defend the ACA's key provisions which have expanded health-care coverage to Americans with pre-existing conditions, allowed those under the age of 26 to stay on their parents' plan, eliminated lifetime and yearly coverage caps, and has covered millions of working families and children in states that have expanded Medicaid.

At Thursday's press conference, advocates will outline what's at stake for Tennessee families if the Republicans were to succeed at repealing the ACA without replacing it – and share stories of how Tennesseans will be affected. For millions of Americans there is much uncertainty in a world without the Affordable Care Act, and there is even more uncertainty if the ACA is repealed without a plan to replace the law with something else.

Nashville, Tenn.,— December 15, 2016 -
- Take a ride on the FREE Jolly Trolley, an easy way to get around the Green Hills Mall and surrounding stores! This Saturday, December 17th from 10:00 a.m. – 4:00 p.m. shoppers can park at the Woodmont Christian Church Parking lot (3601 Hillsboro Pike), and then ride to stores along Hillsboro Pike. Riders get exclusive access to one-day-only offers from Green Hills retailers. Fun, festive, easy - a great way to enjoy holiday shopping, and a trolley will arrive at each stop every 10 minutes.

The goal of the shuttle is to allow shoppers to avoid Hillsboro Pike holiday shopping congestion with a "park once" strategy. Parking once encourages people to walk, shop and hop on the festive trolley to get their shopping done! Taking the trolley will help decrease emissions to improve air quality, encourage walking to improve health, and bring awareness to the need for more transit riders in Nashville! The shuttle hopes to make Green Hills a more walkable, bikable, and safer place for pedestrians.

The Jolly Trolleys will stop at five major shopping destinations within Green Hills: The Mall At Green Hills, Bandywood Drive, The Hill Center, Greenbriar Village (Donut Den, Parnassus), and The Glendale (Pier One).

Don't waste time hunting for a parking spot and driving between shopping centers - take the trolley! Signs will be placed at each stop with a map of the route.

To learn more-visit the Jolly Trolley Facebook Event page here. Individuals interested in volunteering for Jolly Trolley or future events click here.

Jolly Trolley Sponsors include: Alliance For Green Hills, Nashville Civic Design Center, the Hill Center, Transit Now Nashville, Freebirds World Burrito Food Truck, Grace's Plaza, Cumberland Gallery, 4004 Hillsboro Road and more.

SOUTHERN CHRISTIAN LEADERS DELIVER A CHRISTMAS MESSAGE TO SENATOR ALEXANDER AND SENATOR CORKER:

"This Christmas commit to upholding Christian values, Oppose Repeal of the Affordable Care Act Without a Replacement, or Millions Will Lose Health Care" Tennessee -- Today at 10am CT / 11am ET, faith leaders across Tennessee held a press call as the Southern Christian Coalition and discussed the Christmas message they are delivering to Senator Alexander and Senator Corker, urging them to "uphold Christian values by opposing repeal of the Affordable Care Act without a plan for replacement because of the health and moral consequences of millions of Americans losing health care."

Pastor Matt Steinhauer (download audio clip), Faith Lutheran Church in Lebanon, TN said: "If you're a Christian it's a priority you turn toward those that God has turned toward. And those are the sick, poor, the widow, orphan and the refugee. Those are the people on the top of God's legislative agenda. I pray for and call on Senator Alexander, Senator Corker, and President-elect Trump and the other Congress folk that will be acting on this issue to just please remember the story of the Good Samaritan and Jesus' challenge to care for the vulnerable. Don't take health care from millions of Americans of people across our nation by repealing the Affordable Care Act without a replacement."

Rev. Sherry Cothran (download audio clip), Pastor, St. John's West UMC of Nashville added: "I'm joining with our faith leaders, praying for our elected officials and President-elect Trump to listen to the faith community and work together to make the ACA better, not hurt our communities by repealing it without a plan. Our concerns are neither political nor ideological. Our concerns are based on Christian values and moral responsibility and vision of healthcare that offers health, wholeness, and human dignity for all. We would see millions of people who may be harmed by repeal without a replacement because they are currently experiencing the benefits of recent health reforms."

Kristina McLean (download audio clip), a mother and cancer survivor currently benefiting from provisions of the Affordable Care Act in Knoxville shared her story: "There's 56 million people that have pre-existing conditions in this country. I have had cancer. That's one of the big pre-existing conditions. I will never be able to get insurance again if we don't have the Affordable Care Act and if they repeal it without a replacement.

Even after going through all of this [cancer], and a getting a diagnosis of infertility, last January I had a baby girl, Madeline. But, I'm worried for her too.

Women need to have access to good prenatal care. I had gestational diabetes, preeclampsia and ObamaCare is why my daughter is alive. It's why I could get the health care that I needed to take care of myself and take care of her. The plan that we're on is wonderful. It's not cheap but it gives us all the coverage we need. I don't have to worry when something happens, what am I going to do? How am I going to get that fixed? I lived with that for a long time.

My family and I are praying very hard for health, wisdom and compassion. And that Senator Corker and Senator Alexander will vote NOT to repeal the Affordable Care Act without first having a good plan to the place of it. I'm a cancer survivor, I have a baby girl and we cannot afford to lose our health care.

And there are millions and millions of other people out there who cannot afford to lose their health care either."

Bishop Kevin L. Adams Sr. (download audio clip), Senior Pastor, Olivet

Baptist Church in Chattanooga said: "We need our elected officials to understand that when decisions like this are made, the uneasiness it causes in our community. Christmas is certainly a time when the bible says that angels came and the message was "Peace. Joy" it was not a time of anxiety and worry over health care. People are anxious and worried so we are coming together and praying that this won't be repealed without anything in place."

Rev. Brian Merritt (download audio clip), Renaissance Presbyterian Church of Chattanooga closed with: "Faith is at the core of this issue... It is not a political issue. It is not just a poor issue. We have to do justice for our people," said Merritt. "Will people die because of lack of healthcare? Yes. People will die. Senator Alexander, Senator Corker and President-Elect Trump all claim to be Presbyterians. And I am a Presbyterian Minister. Of all the reformation faiths, the reformed faiths was the one took the most seriously health. We don't have an excuse to repeal something that is so essential to people's lives with nothing that's going to be a good replacement."

For people in our communities, politics just isn't as important as the life or death matter of access to affordable healthcare. We see millions of people who may be harmed by repeal without a replacement because they are currently experiencing the benefits of recent health reforms like:

- Children with pre-existing conditions who can no longer be excluded from coverage on their parents' health insurance
- Young adults who now have coverage on their parents' policies
- Senior adults who have received rebates for prescription drugs that had to be purchased once they reached the coverage gap; and senior adults who are now receiving annual preventive care check-ups with no out-of-pocket expenses
- Women who can no longer be charged higher premiums because of their gender, and who are receiving mammograms and pap smears with no out of pocket expenses.
- People with cancer and other serious medical conditions who will no longer be denied coverage by insurers; and who can no longer be dropped from coverage when they get sick
- free, preventative care like ◦ Blood pressure, diabetes, and cholesterol tests

- Many cancer screenings, including mammograms and colonoscopies
- Counseling on such topics as quitting smoking, losing weight, eating healthfully, treating depression, and reducing alcohol use
- Regular well-baby and well-child visits, from birth to age 21
- Routine vaccinations against diseases such as measles, polio, or meningitis
- Counseling, screening, and vaccines to ensure healthy pregnancies
- Flu and pneumonia shots
- Ban on yearly/lifetime caps which protect people from going bankrupt

If repealed without a replacement all these protections and much more go away. As people of faith and Christians who believe health care is a moral obligation we are speaking up for the values of our faith.

Repealing the ACA without a replacement plan would not bring us closer to our Christian values, but would instead endanger the health and life of millions of American people.

We are calling on Senator Alexander, and Senator Corker this Christmas to pledge support for Christian values, and to oppose repealing the Affordable Care Act until there is first a replacement that ensures health, wholeness and human dignity for all.

Keep Holiday Food Safe with These Four Safety Steps

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23, 2016 – Christmas, Kwanzaa, and Hanukkah all fall within three days of each other this year. As friends and families gather together this season, the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) Food Safety Inspection Service has four food safety tips to ensure a healthy and safe holiday.

Even on Holidays, Always Follow the Four Steps to Food Safety

Clean hands before food preparation by following these simple steps: wet hands, lather with soap, scrub for at least 20 seconds, rinse with clean warm water and dry hands with a clean towel. Always serve food on clean plates and avoid reusing plates that previously held raw meat and poultry.

Separate raw and cooked foods to avoid cross contamination, which is transferring bacteria from raw food onto ready-to-eat food. For example, when preparing a roast and raw veggies for a dip platter, keep the raw meat from coming into contact with the vegetables, or food that does not require further cooking such as sliced, cooked meat and cheese.

Cook using a food thermometer to make sure food reaches a safe minimum internal temperature. Cook all raw beef, pork, lamb and veal steaks, chops, and roasts to a minimum internal temperature of 145 °F as measured with a food thermometer before removing meat from the heat source. For safety and quality reasons, allow meat to rest for at least three minutes before carving or consuming.

Cook all raw ground beef, pork, lamb, and veal to an internal temperature of 160 °F as measured with a food thermometer. Cook all poultry to a safe minimum internal temperature of 165 °F as measured with a food thermometer. When transporting hot, cooked food from one location to another, keep it hot by carrying it in an insulated container. For more information about food thermometers, visit FoodSafety.gov

Chill leftovers within two hours of cooking. Keep track of how long items have been sitting on the buffet table and discard anything out longer than two hours. Never leave perishable foods, such as meat, poultry, eggs and casseroles in the "Danger Zone" over two hours. The danger zone is between 40 and 140 °F where bacteria multiply rapidly. After two hours, enough bacteria may have grown to make partygoers sick. Exceptions to the danger zone include ready-to-eat items like cookies, crackers, bread and whole fruit.

With more than 100,000 downloads on both the Android and iOS smartphones, the FoodKeeper application is quickly establishing itself as the quick reference go-to guide for safe food storage. Available in English, Portuguese, and Spanish, the FoodKeeper has information on safe storage of leftovers and 400+ different food and drink items.
