|--------------------------------------|----------|-----|------------|--------------|------|--|
| LOCAL & NATIONAL POLITICS/GOVERNMENT | 1/5/2021 | 6pm | 9 minutes  | PBS NewsHour | News | It is a transition like no other with President Trump denying election results and defying the democratic process. In Washington D.C., hundreds met outside the U.S. Capitol in support of the president -- a preview of what's expected to be a much larger protest Wednesday as Congress begins certifying election results. Lisa Desjardins reports, and Sen. Amy Klobuchar joins Judy Woodruff to discuss. |
| EDUCATION                            | 1/5/2021 | 6pm | 7 minutes  | PBS NewsHour | News | More than 397,000 people at American colleges and universities have contracted the coronavirus since March. As campuses nationwide look to start the third pandemic semester in coming weeks, the grim toll on higher education is mounting with the basic survival of entire institutions also on the line. Hari sreenivasan reports as part of our series, "Rethinking College."                             |
| LOCAL & NATIONAL POLITICS/GOVERNMENT | 1/6/2021 | 6pm | 11 minutes | PBS NewsHour | News | As protesters stormed the U.S. Capitol Wednesday, the newest senator-elect was watching from his home in Georgia, just hours after being declared the winner in Tuesday's runoff election. Raphael Warnock is also the pastor of the historic Ebenezer Baptist Church in Atlanta where Martin Luther King Jr. once preached. He joins Judy Woodruff to discuss his victory.                                    |
| LOCAL & NATIONAL POLITICS/GOVERNMENT | 1/6/2021 | 6pm | 11 minutes | PBS NewsHour | News | Even for veterans of Capitol Hill Wednesday was a day like no other. As an angry mob broke into the Capitol Democrats in Georgia captured both runoff elections, creating a 50-50 split in the Senate. Mississippi Republican Trent Lott and South Dakota Democrat Tom Daschle shared power for their respective parties the last time the body had a 50-50 split in 2001. They join Judy Woodruff to discuss. |

|---------------------------------------|-----------|-----|-----------|--------------|------|---|
| LOCAL & NATIONAL POLITICS/GOVERNMENT  | 1/12/2021 | 6pm | 7 minutes | PBS NewsHour | News | Democrats are nearly unanimous in their decision to impeach President Trump a second time, while Republicans are split about the path forward. Republican Rep. Tom Reed of New York says the House should censure the president but not pursue impeachment at this time. Reed is also the co-chair of the Problem Solvers Caucus, and he joins Judy Woodruff to discuss.                                    |
| ENVIRONMENT/SCIENCE/HEALTH/HEALTHCARE | 1/12/2021 | 6pm | 6 minutes | PBS NewsHour | News | Operation Warp Speed may have produced effective COVID vaccines in record time, but administering them has been another matter. Just 9 million of the more than 25 million doses distributed have been given out, according to the CDC. But the Trump administration on Tuesday made big changes to the program. Jennifer Nuzzo, an epidemiologist at Johns Hopkins University, joins John Yang to discuss. |
| EDUCATION                             | 1/12/2021 | 6pm | 6 minutes | PBS NewsHour | News | Typically during a recession, community college enrollment goes up as unemployed workers start looking for new skills. But that's not happening this time around, signaling trouble for the economy and individual families going forward, particularly for lower-income students and students of color. Hari Sreenivasan reports as part of our ongoing series, "Rethinking College."                      |
| LOCAL & NATIONAL POLITICS/GOVERNMENT  | 1/13/2021 | 6pm | 6 minutes | PBS NewsHour | News | A week after a violent riot engulfed the Capitol, the U.S. House of Representatives impeached President Trump with a charge of instigating the assault. Lisa Desjardins reports.  |
| ENVIRONMENT/SCIENCE/HEALTH/HEALTHCARE | 1/13/2021 | 6pm | 8 minutes | PBS NewsHour | News | They've become known as "long haulers" -- people who've been infected with COVID-19 but can't seem to rid their bodies of its effects months later. Their symptoms run the gamut, from shortness of breath to heart palpitations to extreme fatigue. And this mystery has the medical community scrambling. Stephanie Sy reports.   |

|                                       |           |        |            |                      |                             |  |
|---------------------------------------|-----------|--------|------------|----------------------|-----------------------------|--|
| ENVIRONMENT/SCIENCE/HEALTH/HEALTHCARE | 1/13/2021 | 7:30pm | 30 minutes | Focus on Coronavirus | Interview/Discussion/Review | Host Tom Campbell and Dr. Mandy Cohen, Secretary of the NC Dept. of Health and Human Services, discusses the week's COVID-19 statistics and policies in this special on-going series.  |
| LOCAL & NATIONAL POLITICS/GOVERNMENT  | 1/14/2021 | 6pm    | 6 minutes  | PBS NewsHour         | News                        | As the days dwindle in the Trump administration, they are still issuing rules and regulations, sanctions and designations that could have impacts both abroad and at home, beyond the end of the administration. William Brangham and Nick Schifrin discuss Trump's orders and how some of them might hamstring the Biden administration.  |
| LOCAL & NATIONAL POLITICS/GOVERNMENT  | 1/14/2021 | 6pm    | 8 minutes  | PBS NewsHour         | News                        | The events at the Capitol, beginning with a violent mob and ending with the second impeachment of President Trump, have exposed deep rifts in the Republican Party. With Trump set to leave office, we discuss the GOP's future with Lanhee Chen, a Hoover Institution fellow who's advised several Republican presidential candidates, and Gary Abernathy, a contributing columnist to The Washington Post. |
| ENVIRONMENT/SCIENCE/HEALTH/HEALTHCARE | 1/15/2021 | 6pm    | 6 minutes  | PBS NewsHour         | News                        | Editor's Note: In our interview, the guest, Dr. Peter Hotez, misspoke and said the U.S. could be facing 400,000 deaths a day by Inauguration Day. Dr. Hotez meant to say the total death toll in the U.S. since the pandemic began is expected to reach 400,000 by then. Experts agree with that general projection.   |
| LOCAL & NATIONAL POLITICS/GOVERNMENT  | 1/15/2021 | 6pm    | 56 minutes | PBS NewsHour         | News                        | Following the aftermath of the Jan. 6, 2021 attack on the U.S. Capitol, "American Reckoning – A PBS NewsHour Special Report" looks at the economic and racial history that led to a political divide between Americans, the impact of President Donald Trump's rhetoric throughout his presidency and the next steps for the nation to heal from the recent attack on American democracy.                    |

|---------------------------------------|-----------|-----|-----------|--------------|------|---|
| LOCAL & NATIONAL POLITICS/GOVERNMENT  | 1/15/2021 | 6pm | 9 minutes | PBS NewsHour | News | President-elect Joe Biden on Thursday unveiled a major legislative package to address the twin health and economic crises now facing his administration. The $1.9 trillion plan would bolster funding for states, schools and small business, among other proposals. Heather Boushey, an incoming member of the Biden administration's White House Council of Economic Advisers, joins Judy Woodruff to discuss. |
| ENVIRONMENT/SCIENCE/HEALTH/HEALTHCARE | 1/18/2021 | 6pm | 9 minutes | PBS NewsHour | News | Each day the U.S. is averaging more than 130,000 hospitalizations and more than 3,000 deaths. States reported more than 23,000 deaths over last week alone. That's about 25 percent higher than at any point in the pandemic. Vaccinations remain a key hope, but distribution is slow and disorganized in many places. Colorado Gov. Jared Polis, a critic of the rollout, joins William Brangham to discuss.    |
| LOCAL & NATIONAL POLITICS/GOVERNMENT  | 1/19/2021 | 6pm | 8 minutes | PBS NewsHour | News | As President Trump leaves office, a new PBS NewsHour/NPR/Marist poll shows that just 38 percent of Americans approve of his presidency, while 57 percent disapprove of his job performance. Peter Wehner, a senior fellow at the Ethics and Public Policy Center who served in the last three Republican administrations, joins Judy Woodruff for a bigger look at Trump's four years in the White House.         |
| ENVIRONMENT/SCIENCE/HEALTH/HEALTHCARE | 1/19/2021 | 6pm | 7 minutes | PBS NewsHour | News | College students have long been prone to stress, anxiety and depression. And three out of four Americans between the ages of 18 and 24 report poor mental health tied to the pandemic, according to the CDC. Hari Sreenivasan reports as part of our ongoing series, "Rethinking College."  |

|---------------------------------------|-----------|--------|------------|-----------------|-----------------------------|---|
| LOCAL & NATIONAL POLITICS/GOVERNMENT  | 1/20/2021 | 6pm    | 6 minutes  | PBS NewsHour    | News                        | An important glass ceiling was broken Wednesday when Kamala Harris became the country's first female vice president. Rep. Eleanor Holmes Norton is a longtime civil rights activist and she also represents the District of Columbia in Congress. She joins Judy Woodruff to discuss Harris' accomplishments, President Biden's agenda, and security in Washington.                                   |
| LOCAL & NATIONAL POLITICS/GOVERNMENT  | 1/20/2021 | 6pm    | 7 minutes  | PBS NewsHour    | News                        | In years past, the National Mall is normally filled with tens of thousands of people attending a presidential inauguration. But those crowds were missing for the swearing in of Joe Biden and Kamala Harris, amid the pandemic and a massive security apparatus in place after violent insurrectionists stormed the U.S. Capitol. Amna Nawaz and Nick Schifrin join Judy Woodruff to discuss.        |
| LOCAL & NATIONAL POLITICS/GOVERNMENT  | 1/20/2021 | 6pm    | 5 minutes  | PBS NewsHour    | News                        | This day has seen the inauguration of Joseph Robinette Biden, Jr. as the 46th president of the United States. He was sworn in Wednesday to lead the nation into the post-Trump era, facing deep political divisions and the worst public health crisis in a century. And Kamala Harris made history as the first woman and first person of color to be sworn in as vice president. John Yang reports. |
| ENVIRONMENT/SCIENCE/HEALTH/HEALTHCARE | 1/20/2021 | 7:30pm | 30 minutes | COVID Uncovered | Interview/Discussion/Review | PBS North Carolina meets North Carolinians affected by COVID-19 and learns from experts reining in the pandemic.  |

|---|-----------|-----|-----------|--------------|------|---|
| ENVIRONMENT/SCIENCE/HEALTH/HEALTHCARE               | 1/21/2021 | 6pm | 7 minutes | PBS NewsHour | News | The pace of vaccinations in the U.S. is failing to meet expectations, in part due to inadequate production and supply. But President Biden is planning to invoke the federal Defense Production Act in an effort to ensure companies, manufacturers and states get what they need. Miles O'Brien reports on what some companies are already doing to avoid a bottleneck in production and delivery.           |
| MINORITIES/CIVIL RIGHTS/CRIME/LEGAL/LAW ENFORCEMENT | 1/22/2021 | 6pm | 6 minutes | PBS NewsHour | News | The confirmation of Retired Gen. Lloyd Austin as the first Black secretary of defense is a milestone. Nick Schifrin reports on how it also spotlights the racial disparities at the highest level of the military ranks.  |
| ENVIRONMENT/SCIENCE/HEALTH/HEALTHCARE               | 1/26/2021 | 6pm | 6 minutes | PBS NewsHour | News | By one count nursing homes and assisted-living facilities account for about 6 percent of COVID cases but 40 percent of virus-related deaths. Now some state officials are worried vaccinations are moving on to other parts of the populations before long-term care residents and staff are inoculated. David Grabowski, health care policy professor at Harvard Medical School, joins John Yang to discuss. |
| LOCAL & NATIONAL POLITICS/GOVERNMENT                | 1/26/2021 | 6pm | 9 minutes | PBS NewsHour | News | In his first week in office, President Biden has made several moves to address equity in America. White House domestic policy adviser Susan Rice, who has echoed the president's commitment to expand opportunities for Americans, joins Judy Woodruff to discuss.  |
| EDUCATION   | 1/26/2021 | 6pm | 6 minutes | PBS NewsHour | News | It's been a brutal academic year for higher education, with enrollment down in the fall more than 560,000 undergraduate students compared to 2019. But there has been at least one area of growth at many schools: short-term programs that help students gain new skills for the workforce quickly. Hari Sreenivasan reports as part of our ongoing series, "Rethinking College."                            |

|   |           |        |            |                 |                             |  |

| LOCAL & NATIONAL POLITICS/GOVERNMENT                | 1/26/2021 | 6pm    | 6 minutes  | PBS NewsHour    | News                        | President Biden is moving on new fronts in his latest spate of policy actions Tuesday that include boosting COVID vaccine supplies and addressing racial equity. Biden's actions come as the U.S. Senate gears up to put his predecessor on trial. Lisa Desjardins and Yamiche Alcindor report.  |
| MINORITIES/CIVIL RIGHTS/CRIME/LEGAL/LAW ENFORCEMENT | 1/27/2021 | 6pm    | 6 minutes  | PBS NewsHour    | News                        | A recent analysis by Kaiser Health News finds Black and Latino citizens are getting vaccines at significantly lower rates in many states. This is especially worrying given disparities in COVID-19 death rates, with Black, Indigenous and Latino people dying at much higher rates than white people. Dr. Mysheika Roberts, public health commissioner of Columbus, Ohio, joins Stephanie Sy to discuss. |
| ENVIRONMENT/SCIENCE/HEALTH/HEALTHCARE               | 1/27/2021 | 6pm    | 8 minutes  | PBS NewsHour    | News                        | As President Biden moves to address the issue of climate change, the task of combating the global crisis often starts with local leadership taking charge. Midland, Texas Mayor Patrick Payton and Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania Mayor William Peduto join Judy Woodruff to discuss their views on Biden's climate and energy policies.   |
| ENVIRONMENT/SCIENCE/HEALTH/HEALTHCARE               | 1/27/2021 | 6pm    | 8 minutes  | PBS NewsHour    | News                        | President Biden is doing a 180 from his predecessor's policies and is vowing to confront the issue of climate change head on. But most Republicans have pushed back on climate change efforts. White House national climate adviser and former head of the EPA, Gina McCarthy, joins Judy Woodruff to discuss.   |
| ENVIRONMENT/SCIENCE/HEALTH/HEALTHCARE               | 1/27/2021 | 7:30pm | 30 minutes | COVID Uncovered | Interview/Discussion/Review | PBS North Carolina meets North Carolinians affected by COVID-19 and learns from experts reining in the pandemic.   |

| ENVIRONMENT/SCIENCE/HEALTH/HEALTHCARE | 1/28/2021 | 6pm | 6 minutes | PBS NewsHour | News | A key part of one of the executive orders signed by President Biden Thursday will reopen enrollment for the Affordable Care Act. Biden's other executive action will revoke a policy that barred funding for groups overseas that performed abortions or offered information about them. Paige Winfield Cunningham, a Washington Post reporter covering health care policy, joins Amna Nawaz to discuss.        |
| ENVIRONMENT/SCIENCE/HEALTH/HEALTHCARE | 1/28/2021 | 6pm | 6 minutes | PBS NewsHour | News | There are now several troubling variants of the coronavirus circulating, and a few seem to make the virus more contagious. One variant, the United Kingdom strain, is also more likely to make people sick or to kill them. The CDC believes that strain will become dominant in the U.S. as soon as March. William Brangham reports on what experts say about avoiding exposure.                               |
| ECONOMY/BUSINESS                      | 1/28/2021 | 6pm | 7 minutes | PBS NewsHour | News | There's a shortage of skilled tradespeople throughout the American economy, and it is a persistent problem that started well before the pandemic. But what's behind that gap and what can be done? Paul Solman reports for our series, "Work Shift", which focuses on navigating the job market in a post-COVID economy.  |
| ENVIRONMENT/SCIENCE/HEALTH/HEALTHCARE | 1/29/2021 | 6pm | 8 minutes | PBS NewsHour | News | The Biden administration wants a $1.9 trillion COVID aid plan passed by Congress as a way to address issues related to vaccine distribution, and President Biden indicated Friday he's willing to move forward without bipartisan support. Brian Deese, Biden's lead negotiator with Congress on the COVID deal and the director of the White House National Economic Council, joins Judy Woodruff to discuss. |
