Getting a phone that's a generation behind can give you almost as good of a user experience for around half the price. Consumers might also want to consider buying phones that are used but in good condition, or seek out carrier discounts.	2:00

Local citizens were also informally polled and their opinions were considered in the compilation of this list.

The issues in this report have been addressed in the programs listed as well as through our regularly scheduled programs, newscasts, and public service announcements. This report has been prepared by the staff of the Bible Broadcasting Network.

Program	Date	Time	Issue(s)	Summary	Length
Parent Minute	10/18/2021	2:02 PM	Life Issues	Most of us have communication filters. It's something in your head that prevents you from saying what's on your mind because you knew if you did, it wouldn't be good. You could offend somebody. It might be incorrect, requiring a little more thought.	1:00
My Money Life	10/19/2021	6:02 PM	Technology	Wallet Hub conducted an online iPhone survey of 800 respondents. They wanted to get an idea of what the public was thinking prior to the release of the newest iPhone. With so many Americans still not working, and credit card debt hovering around $900 billion, would people be willing to spend $1,000 on a new phone? 1 in 3 plan to get the new iPhone this year. 1 in 5 think it's worth going into debt for. 2 in 5 say their phone is their most important possession during the pandemic.	2:00
My Money Life	10/20/2021	6:02 PM	Marriage Finances	If you're an investor, you have to address how much risk you're willing to take, and if you're married, an equally important issue is how much risk your spouse can take. Chances are your opinions will be different. Spouses have personality differences that cause them to approach matters in separate ways, but differences can strengthen a marriage if they're accepted as beneficial to each other. When a husband and wife are able to listen to each other, cooperate and meet the other's needs, the differing viewpoints of their team contribute to a balanced life together. They'll learn how to complete, rather than compete.	2:00
Conference Pulpit	10/23/2021	9:00 PM	Finances Moral Issues	Art Ally from "Timothy Plan" was my guest as we talked about faith based investing. He elaborated on making investment choices through the grid of God's Word.	45:00
My Money Life	10/25/2021	6:02 PM	Finances	Benjamin Franklin knew what you save is just as important as what you earn. He said it this way, "If you would be wealthy, think of saving as well as getting." Long before he suggested this, the Bible offered the same advice, which is why Christians should lead the way in saving money on a regular basis. This even includes those who are in debt. This doesn't mean you save at the expense of creditors, but the habit of saving at regular intervals is wise. It helps prevent debt and prepares you for the future. Saving requires a surplus of money. Self-discipline will help you live on less than what you make. A budget can help you stay within bounds.	2:00
My Money Life	10/26/2021	6:02 PM	Technology	Americans spent a new record for gaming in 2020: $57 billion, much higher than what was spent in 2019. I can't help but question the time and money that could be spent in legacy building activities: things our forefathers valued, things that developed skills necessary to serve others. Just how intentional are Christian families in stewarding their time, let alone the money God has entrusted to them? Why are we ignoring the harm of excessive gaming? Gaming addiction is damaging and well-documented. Besides the effect on academics, addicted gamers isolate themselves leading to higher suicide rates. A Harvard report on the physical damage of gaming includes carpal tunnel syndrome, "Gamer's thumb," obesity, vision issues leading to headaches and poor concentration. It's associated with psychological problems including gaming preoccupation, loss of relationship, educational, or career opportunities. For many, it's an escape from anxiety, guilt, and a failure to control.	2:00
My Money Life	10/27/2021	6:02 PM	Health Issues	Cancer. It's a word every family fears. It means a change of lifestyle, uncertainty, pain, suffering, and sometimes—death. We fear it.	2:00
SRN News	10/28/2021	Top of Hour Newscast	Economy	President Biden is on his way to a financial summit.	0:30
My Money Life	10/29/2021	6:02 PM	Consumer Protection	Using a credit card can have it's advantages but it can also have unintended consequences.	2:00
Unshackled!	10/31/2021	11:00 PM	Alcoholism Addiction	When Jordan Northrup starting drinking, he discovered a newfound confidence and form of escape. The more he prioritized drinking, the more addicted he became.	28:00
My Money Life	11/1/2021	6:02 PM	Consumer Protection Cost of Living	Prices for used-cars are way up over the same time last year—some as high as 30%. In June, Bloomberg reported that higher prices for used cars contributed to the rise in U.S. inflation and were responsible for one third of the rise in consumer prices.	2:00
Parent Minute	11/2/2021	2:02 PM	Parenting	Five things to support our kids' creativity rather than squelching it by being realistic. 1. Looks for gifts and tap into them. 2. "Foster [their] interests." Find programs or books that can help them learn more about their interests. 3. "Offer inspiration." Go to museums, baseball games, or the theater. 4. "Provide encouragement" by complimenting them or posting their work. 5. "Get creative" yourself.	1:00
My Money Life	11/2/2021	6:02 PM	Streets & Hwys	Have you noticed limited supply and higher prices of certain products? Take cars for instance. When COVID hit, people fled cities to work remotely. Without the convenience of public transportation, they bought vehicles. When travel dropped, rental companies sold their inventories. Later, they purchased used vehicles to meet rising demand, but the primary factor affecting supply and prices is due to a semiconductor chip shortage. So some experts predict that vehicle inventory due to the chip shortage won't recover until 2023.	2:00
My Money Life	11/3/2021	6:02 PM	Economy	The key to investing in an inflationary economy is diversification. Diversification is the means by which wins can cover losses during inflationary times. Mixing different assets and investments limits your exposure to risk. It also provides a hedge against volatility.	2:00

One said to the other: "Better the rat race than the brat race." This says it all, doesn't it? Better to chase dollars than change diapers. Really? Better to shape corporate culture than your child's character? I know there are a lot of families where both parents have to work, or you're a single mom. My Money Life	11/9/2021	6:02 PM	Economy	Inflation could be here for a while. Inflation's the rate at which the value of a currency is falling while the cost for goods and services is rising. One positive is that when interest rates rise, savings accounts, money-market funds, and CDs will earn more money. Homeowners with a low fixed-mortgage rate will also benefit.	2:00

Parent Minute	12/20/2021	2:02 PM	Technology	$929. That's how much the average family is going to be spending on Christmas presents this year.1 Much of that money is going to be spent on mobile devices like tablets, iPhones, and more. You might be a parent buying one of these things. Have you figured out how long you're going to let your child be on these devices? Let's face it—it can be addicting. Be ready. According to the American Academy of Pediatrics, here's how long your child should spend on a mobile device.2 18 months and under: no time, unless it's video chatting. 18-24 months: limited use with you. 2-5 years: an hour a day. Remember, they'll be in the same situation with you before you know it.	1:00
