News: financial, consumer affairs & various	90.9 KWRB Consumer News	1-19-2023 1:40PM	60 Seconds	The Wall Street Journal reports consumers are doing their part to tame inflation by leading a rebellion against rising prices, passing up products whose prices have risen sharply. That's caused some manufacturers to rethink their price hikes because sales have fallen sharply. Some dating app users are getting added help in keeping bad guys where they belong. The Match Group – the parent company of Tinder, Match, Hinge, and Plenty of Fish – is now pushing alerts to its users to tip them off to the common behaviors that could help to identify potential scams. The parking ticket scam is picking up momentum across the country. Scammers, equipped with hand-held printers, are producing authentic-looking parking tickets and placing them on legally-parked cars. The fake tickets demand a big fine and a lot of personal information.

Clifton was the only person in the plane at the time of the crash. Lord we pray you comfort his family and friends and we pray you raise up more church planters to enter the mission field. It has been over two months since American missionary pilot Ryan Koher was thrown into a high security prison in Mozambique. Ryan is a pilot with Mission Aviation Fellowship, known in Mozambique as Ambassador Aviation. He was arrested along with two South African men by airport police on accusations that quickly escalated to “supporting terrorism.” Ryan was transferring orphanage supplies in a routine flight that Ambassador Aviation has flown many times. Lord we pray for freedom for Ryan.

After Nik's passing, Lisa and David found a way to use one of their son's greatest passions to spread love to other children. "Nik loved Matchbox cars, so we started thinking, what could we do to honor his memory with a Matchbox car? So, we got the cars and we bought the little cards to put on them. And we started by putting them in all of the places that Nik loved to go," Lisa said. The card comes with a simple request: if you find a car, take a photo and post it to a Facebook page called "In Loving Memory of Nikolas Wypa- Touched by Nik." "Now his Facebook page has over 6,500 likes. The cars have been on every continent, and also to the Great Wall of China. I know he's looking down with a big smile," Lisa said. The Wypas have received messages from people who say finding a car made a bad day better. Some say they give their child an extra hug at night because of it. Some even share their own grief over the loss of a child.

The Reidland United Methodist Men Ramp Ministry, based in Paducah, built the

				1,000th ramp last week, having built ramps for people in need in the western Kentucky area since they launched in 1995. They didn't really start out thinking ramp building would be an ongoing ministry but it turned out there was a big need for ramps. The first year they completed five ramps, the following year they built 10, and by the eighth or so years after, they were averaging as many as 50 ramps built annually. The wife and mom whose story inspired the new faith-based movie 5000 Blankets says she wants the film to inspire Christians worldwide to "get out of the church" and live "like Jesus." Two decades ago, Cyndi Bunch and her young son began collecting blankets for the homeless community of Fort Worth, Texas, after her husband – who suffers from mental illness – went missing on the city's streets. Their random act of kindness caught the attention of local media and helped launch a homeless charity, Phillip's Wish. It also caught the eye of a screenwriter who wanted to turn their story into a movie. That film, 5000 Blankets, is now streaming on Pure Flix.

Sales at retailers rose far more than expected in January as consumers persevered despite rising inflation pressures. Advanced retail sales for the month increased 3%...a third higher than expected. Ford has halted production...at least temporarily...of the top selling electric pickup in America...the F-150 Lightning. The reason is a possible battery problem. Ford says the potential issue was discovered during the company's pre-delivery vehicle inspections. Is your home being invaded by digital burglars? Cybersecurity experts warn that the rapid growth of smart devices in homes can pose a threat because they are all connected to the internet. The experts say each device in your home needs a strong password and regular system updates.

With more than 5,800 deaths in Syria alone, there are many factors impeding the delivery of aid to those in need there. Limited border access and non-regime held areas of Syria have stood in the way. Lord we pray the barriers will be broke down and aid will reach those in need. Congressional Republicans are demanding answers after the FBI's Richmond office circulated a document classifying "radical-traditionalist Catholic ideology" as a potential national security threat. Congressmen say it appears the FBI is targeting certain people because of their religious beliefs and it is a "serious misuse of federal law enforcement resources" for "apparent political purposes." Lord we pray for an end to this type of behavior by the FBI.

It was Five men who helped pull the driver, Thomas Lee, and his dog from the vehicle. 17-year old Joseph Salmon was ice-fishing with his mom when he saw the Jeep crash through the ice and into the water. "As I was running, I called 911 [and] ran over there. Another person also ran to the shoreline and Salmon says he said the driver looked like he was in shock and like he "didn't really know what to do. He just kind of sitting there." Salmon broke through the back window and tried getting Lee out, but the man's foot was trapped. "So I went all the way into the Jeep, into the front of it, pulled his leg out, pushed on the bottom of it to push him up." Then he had the challenge of trying to get the elderly man up over the back of the seat and toward the back window to escape as the front end of the jeep was sinking in the water. After a lot of struggling he got Lee out of the vehicle. Lee was transported to Lakes Regional Healthcare and "is doing well", the Dickinson County Sheriff's Office said in a statement. The dog was dried out and is also doing well. Salmon was treated for minor cuts from the broken glass. If he hadn't been there and jumped into action to help the man would have drowned in the icy water.

Crews honored his wife, Rebecca, while walking the red carpet at the popular awards show, which highlights faith and family-centered entertainment. "She's a praying woman," the "America Got Talent" host gushed in an interview with The Christian Post. The couple has been outspoken about their struggles and Crews' past addiction that infiltrated his life when he was just 9 years old. He kept it a secret from his wife for almost 20 years, nearly destroying their marriage. Her prayer life has made them "tighter" as a couple. "It makes us better," he added. "It's just an incredible feeling." Filmmaking brothers Alex and Stephen Kendrick are gearing up for the release of a new faith-based film hitting theaters August next year. The project, which is scheduled to begin this summer with a wide North American theatrical release on Aug. 23, 2024, is a partnership between The Kendrick Brothers and AFFIRM Films, a Sony Pictures Entertainment company. The title and plot are being kept under wraps for now.
News: financial, consumer affairs & various	90.9 KWRB Consumer News	3-15-2023 1:40PM	60 Seconds	Most pandemic-era supply chain issues have been resolved and inventory levels have risen, but many new car dealers continue to sell cars and trucks for thousands of dollars above the sticker price. A study by iSeeCars.com found the average vehicle is priced 8.8 percent above the sticker price. The tax-filing deadline is about a month away and the IRS has reminded taxpayers they can file for an extension if they don't think they can complete their return in time. But the agency also points out that even if you postpone filing, you still have to pay what you think you owe by April 18. Paradise Grilling Systems is recalling about 18 thousand Paradise Grills first generation outdoor kitchens. Liquid propane gas can accumulate inside the closed lid and cabinets, causing an explosion when the user relights the grill, posing fire and burn hazards. That's happened at least twice.

Nearly 90,000 customers lost power in New York State and over 3,000 flights have been delayed. California is being hit with yet another bout of bad weather after being pummelled by 11 atmospheric rivers since the beginning of the year. Lord we pray for protection for everyone on each coast facing these storms. Malawi has declared a state of disaster from Cyclone Freddy, which has killed at least 219 people in Malawi and Mozambique since Saturday night, and displaced 11,000. The disaster declaration is a part of an appeal for national and international assistance for the victims of the cyclone. So far, several organizations have started responding to the call. Lord we pray that you meet the physical and spiritual needs of the people impacted by the Cyclone.

A 2-year-old girl was found face-down in an above-ground swimming pool while a family member was reportedly watching several children for their mother. That family member jumped in the pool and pulled the toddler out. She immediately called 911 for help, telling the dispatcher no one on scene had any CPR training. While sending units to the scene, Telecommunicator Supervisor Thomas Eggers began giving CPR instructions over the phone. "Okay. Put the baby flat on her back on a hard surface. I want you to take one hand and place it on the center of her chest ... and to press to a depth of one inch. Okay? We're going to do 30 compressions," Eggers can be heard saying. The first unit on scene, Deputy Kaelin Darcy, took over CPR, then picked up the child and ran her to a Fire Rescue crew that arrived moments later. Soon, the child was responsive and crying. She was transported to a hospital in serious condition for further treatment but she is expected to make a full recovery. Her life may have been saved by the dispatcher giving CPR instructions over the phone.

Kennedy, represented by First Liberty Institute, won his Supreme Court case last year in a 6-3 decision that said his post-game 50-yard-line prayers were protected by the Constitution. Kennedy will be an assistant football coach for Bremerton High School for the 2023 season. At 98, North Carolina preacher Roy Jernigan is still excited about sharing the Gospel. Even after serving as a missionary on Indian reservations across the country for 52 years, Jernigan won't stop preaching because his life is his ministry, and he wants people to see Jesus when they see him. After resigning from full-time duties as a pastor in Texas just over a year ago to live with his daughter Linda Williams in La Grange, Jernigan has continued preaching to hundreds of people weekly through his Facebook ministry, Preacher Roy Ministries. And he remains energized to keep himself available for the Lord's service by taking care of his body physically and spiritually. Had it not been for age-related macular degeneration — an eye disease that blurs central vision — Jernigan would still be leading his church in Texas.
