Joining Joyce this morning is JOE CROSS, filmmaker, entrepreneur, author and wellness advocate. He directed, produced and was the subject of the award-winning documentary Fat, Sick & Nearly Dead. His website, www.rebootwithjoe.com, has become an integral meeting place for a community of more than one and a half million Rebooters worldwide.

>>Check out Joe's new film The Kids Menu

THE KIDS MENU is a feature documentary from the team that brought you "Fat, Sick & Nearly Dead." As filmmaker Joe Cross spent time traveling the world with his previous two films, he met thousands of people and one issue that came up again and again was what to do about the growing childhood obesity problem. In The Kids Menu, Joe meets with experts, parents, teachers and kids, coming to the realization that childhood obesity isn't the real issue, but rather a symptom of a bigger problem. The lack of knowledge of what healthy foods are. Lack of access to healthy and affordable options. And the influence of negative role models, whether a parent, teacher or even a celebrity. All of this together seems to be a lot to overcome, but when empowered, kids often make the surprising choice of the healthier path. In this inspiring and hopeful documentary, we see amazing programs in action, inspiring individuals paving the way for change, but most of all — Kids, taking the lead in getting healthier options on their own menu.

Author of "Surviving America's Depression Epidemic: How to Find Morale, Energy, and Community in a World Gone Crazy", BRUCE LEVINE, joins The Power Hour this morning to discuss how we can overcome low morale in today's society and find cheer in the day-to-day world. "The rate of depression in the U.S. has increased more than tenfold in the last fifty years. By not seriously confronting societal sources of despair, American mental health institutions have become part of the problem rather than the solution. The good news is that age-old wisdom and legitimate science -- uncorrupted by the profit-margin pressures of pharmaceutical and insurance corporations -- have much to inform us about revitalizing depressed people and a depressing culture.

Surviving America's Depression Epidemic is available at The Power Mall or by calling 877-817-9829

Surviving America's Depression Epidemic delves into the roots of depression and links our increasingly consumer based culture and standard-practice psychiatric treatments to worsening depression, instead of solving it.

To create this book, author Mike Adams built a state-of-the-art analytical laboratory with cutting edge scientific instruments for food composition analysis. In Food Forensics, he takes you on a journey of discovery by meticulously testing groceries, fast foods, dietary supplements, spices and protein powders for toxic heavy metals such as lead, cadmium, mercury and arsenic.

With scientific results of metals composition listed for over 800 different foods, Food Forensics is doing the job the FDA refuses to do: Test off-the-shelf foods and share the results with the public so that people can make informed decisions about what they consume or avoid.

the debate. debates don't tell you much about leadership, except with one issue, the Russian problem.

The Debate Most Important Issue: Hillary Declares War On Russia

Hillary, again and without any proof whatsoever, made the allegation that the Russians are hacking into our elections. How is that possible Hillary? This is the excuse to allow DHS and the UN to "oversee" our elections, I mean steal our elections. We will not have an election until November 8th, so who are the Russians hacking, Hillary?

This Russian hacking thing reminds me of the movie Wag the Dog in which a mythical President (aka Bill Clinton) is caught having sex with a girl scout. In order to deflect attention, he makes up allegations and starts a war with Albania based upon false allegations of terrorism. The Hollywood movie producer who facilitated the fraud for the President was murdered at the end to conceal the real truth. How very and uniquely Clinton is that ending to a movie that eerily represents the Clinton mentality?

Last night, Hillary Clinton frightened me. She did not frighten me because she is a witch according to her former insiders (e.g. Larry Nichols). She did not frighten me, too much, because she's a sociopathic criminal. She frightened me because she declared war on Russia. If she is elected, Putin will have no choice but to attack the United States.

Hillary stopped short of saying she would put ground troops in Syria. But she did say we would keep special forces and the Air Force in Syria and THAT SHE WOULD ENFORCE A NO-FLY ZONE. And of course if your Air Force is in a theater of war, your ground troops are next. These are acts of war. Mark my words, and we need to pray to Almighty God to stop Hillary. If Hillary Clinton is elected we will have a devastating world war in which billions will die. For every American who wants their children to live out normal life spans, Hillary's comments should disqualify her from serving.

Trump on the other hand said he wants to work with Russia. My self-preservation instinct prefers negotiation to genocide. Please pray in unison that this lunatic and witch, Hillary Clinton, is never elected to Presidency. May God help us all.

Remember, Donald Trump is not accused of raping anybody. Bill Clinton has been accused of sexual assault by his victims (e.g. Gennifer Flowers, Paula Jones, et al) multiple times and each time Hillary defended him and according to the victims, she has threatened them with reprisal for their allegations. Which is worse America? Take that Anderson Cooper.

Other Peripheral Issues

The candidates talked about a couple of meaningful issues:

1. Hillary's private and public stances. It has been documented by Wikileaks that Hillary told Wall Street in paid speeches in which she would not release the transcripts. In these meetings with Wall Street Clinton supported the TPP, despite her public claims to the contrary. She tried to excuse the public/private differential responses by saying she was referring to Abe Lincoln in a movie. It was good that I had my feet up on the couch because it was getting deep in every living room in America at that point.
3. Hillary defended the disaster that was Obamacare. Trump destroyed her on this point and stated that she will throw good money after bad to save this disaster of a health care plan.
- 4.
5. Hillary was taken to task for her attacks on the Second Amendment.

I was very disappointed that the selling of uranium issue to the Russians, reported by the NY Times, and the Clinton Foundation arms deals and money laundering operations were not exposed. What are you waiting for Donald? The other issues were largely banter and a series of one-liner zingers, "Hillary is a liar" and "Donald doesn't have the temperament to serve". However, the line of the night belonged to Trump.

Hillary: "... it is a good thing that people like Donald Trump are not running our legal system.."
Trump interrupted and said "You are right because you would be in jail".

To that, the crowd exploded in laughter and applause. Anderson Cooper, the omnipresent defender of the establishment, went ballistic on the crowd who stuttered and stammered as he realized that he had lost control of the narrative.

In the finality of the debate, Clinton's criminal behavior was on display for all to see. In fact, Clinton and Trump traded roles. Trump's inappropriate locker room talk slid right off the debate stage while Hillary's criminal behavior stuck. However, these one-liners were not the real issue at

A Discovery for Diabetics: Insulin Can Be Deadly, Turmeric Extract Passes Test

Submitted by Austin Broer on Fri, 10/07/2016 - 16:14

In this world of throwing drugs at symptoms and hoping for the best, there is a growing number of health experts who are shouting, "There's a better way!" Even if the medical community won't listen, I'm hoping you will. You see, the problem with many drugs is the harmful side effects that accompany them. You treat one problem and create three others.

That's definitely the case when it comes to treating type-2 diabetes with insulin. If I were to tell you that treating type-2 diabetes with insulin is more dangerous than not treating it all, would you believe me? Sometimes the cure can be worse than the actual disease.

In a study that involved 84,622 primary care patients with type-2 diabetes, researchers divided the patients into three groups: sulfonylurea therapy only, insulin therapy only and insulin plus Metformin. Then, the researchers followed these patients to see which events happened first or at all—a cardiac event, cancer or death. They also monitored for microvascular disease.

Here's what they discovered. The group that used insulin suffered more heart mortality, more stroke morbidity, more renal complications and neuropathy and more cancer!

Bottom line, insulin is the hormone of aging and death. So, why use it when there are healthier alternatives? Many type-2 diabetics are able to eradicate diabetes with a healthy diet, lifestyle and supplements—no drugs at all. And, instead of having negative side effects like insulin, the healthier way of living also fixes their high cholesterol, triglycerides, hypertension and many more health issues.

Turmeric Extract Proves Helpful for Pre-Diabetic Patients

Here's some good news. The Journal of the American Diabetes Association recently declared that turmeric extract is 100 percent successful at preventing pre-diabetic patients from becoming full-blown diabetic patients over the course of a nine-month turmeric intervention. The study's primary focus was to assess the effectiveness of Curcumin in Turmeric Extract as a type of delaying agent of type 2 diabetes mellitus (T2DM).

The study was designed as a randomized, double-blinded, placebo-controlled trial of 240 people who were considered prediabetics according to the criteria set by the American Diabetic Association. All subjects were randomly given either 250 mg of curcuminoid or placebo capsules for nine months. Throughout those nine months, the researchers assessed the type 2 diabetes progression by measuring: changes in the insulin-producing cells within the pancreas, insulin resistance, and the anti-inflammatory cytokine known as adiponectin. These measurements were taken at the beginning, after three months, after six months and after nine months. Here's what they discovered: "After 9 months of treatment, 16.4 percent of subjects in the placebo group were diagnosed with T2DM, whereas none were diagnosed with T2DM in the curcumin-treated group. In addition, the curcumin-treated group showed a better overall function of β -cells, with higher HO MA - β (61.58 vs. 48.72; $P < 0.01$) and lower C-peptide (1.7 vs. 2.17; $P < 0.05$). The curcumin-treated group showed a lower level of HO MA -IR (3.22 vs. 4.04; $P < 0.001$) and higher adiponectin (22.46 vs. 18.45; $P < 0.05$) when compared with the placebo group."

Their conclusion? "A 9-month curcumin intervention in a prediabetic population significantly lowered the number of prediabetic individuals who eventually developed T2DM. In addition, the curcumin treatment appeared to improve overall function of β -cells, with very minor adverse effects. Therefore, this study demonstrated that the curcumin intervention in a prediabetic population may be beneficial."

(The full study can be seen for free on the American Diabetic Association's Diabetes Care website: <http://care.diabetesjournals.org/content/35/11/2121.full> online.)

This is big news since at least 40 percent of the US population between the ages of 40 and 74 is believed to be prediabetic, according to CDC statistics. What's even better is that our Turmeric Extract is affordable, safe, Organic and easy to buy right off Healthmasters.com. And, at last count, there are more than 600 potential health benefits of Turmeric/Curcumin, which you can read more about at the National Library of Medicine's open access database.

Hopefully, those who are prediabetic or battling full-blown diabetes will take hold of this turmeric teaching and do their bodies a favor.

Terminally ill mom denied treatment coverage— but gets suicide drug approved

Published October 24, 2016

New York Post

Stephanie Packer wants to be the face of a Right to Live movement — for as long as she draws breath.

"I just want to spend every last second with my kids," Packer, a terminally ill married mother of four kids, ages 7 through 13, tells me.

Nearly two years ago, Brittany Maynard, at just 29 years old, became the face of the Right to Die movement now sweeping across the United States. In Oregon, surrounded by loved ones, she took her own life, legally, before a brain tumor could do it for her, with a self-administered overdose of physician-prescribed barbiturates. I supported her choice to end her agony.

More on this...

Brittany Maynard's widower fights back after mother-in-law releases memoir
Terminally ill woman who intends to end her life posts new video about her condition
Wisconsin teen dies after ending care for incurable disease
Terminally ill California woman holds farewell party before doctor-assisted suicide
But at what cost?

Packer struggles to open her eyes each blessed morning. And the cultural landscape to which she wakes has shifted dramatically of late into one of pro-death. In June, her home state of California enacted a law permitting doctor-assisted suicide. And something terrible happened.

Scleroderma Overview

Scleroderma is an autoimmune disorder which causes patches of thick skin and lines of scar tissue to form on the skin. Scarring usually appears on the face and limbs. In some cases other organs are affected, too.

GRAPHIQ

Premature passing away with medical help is now widely seen as preferable to painful, prolonged living, Packer says. But she'll fight to live with every last labored gasp drawn from her oxygen tube before ultimately accepting a natural end.

"I want my kids to see that death is a part of life," she says.

CDC Vaccine Science Covers Up Giant Conflict of Interest

The CDC is both a PR agency for, and a buyer from, Big Pharma

Jon Rappoport | Infowars.com - October 24, 2016 39 Comments

If you wanted to buy a product, and the main source of research on the product was the company selling it, would you automatically assume the product was safe and effective?

But you see, that's the just the beginning of the problem. Suppose the company's research was cited thousands of times in the press, as the authoritative standard of proof—and anyone who disputed that research was labeled a conspiracy theorist and a quack and a danger to the community and an anti-science lunatic.

Would you begin to suspect the company had some awesome media connections? Would you suspect some very powerful people were backing the company?

This is exactly the situation with the US Centers for Disease Control (CDC). Read these two quotes:

The government's Vaccine for Children Program (a CDC organization) purchases vaccines for about 50 percent of children in the U.S." (The Atlantic, February 10, 2015)

"The CDC currently spends over $4 billion purchasing vaccines [annually] from drug makers..." (Health Impact News, October 24, 2016)

However, the CDC is also the gold standard for research on the safety and efficacy of vaccines. It turns out an unending stream of studies on these subjects. And the results of those studies are dutifully reported in the mainstream press.

Do you think, under any circumstances, the CDC would publish data showing vaccines are ineffective and dangerous? They'd be cutting their own throats.

“Well, we spend $4 billion a year buying vaccines from drug companies, but guess what? These vaccines are often dangerous...”

Every time you read about a CDC study on vaccines, keep this obvious conflict of interest in mind.

When, in 2014, William Thompson, a long-time CDC researcher, publicly admitted he and his colleagues had buried data that would have shown the MMR vaccine increases the risk of autism, he was throwing a stick of dynamite into the whole CDC operation. He was also saying, in recorded phone conversations, that the CDC was lying about vaccine safety in other studies.

This is why major media refused to cover or investigate Thompson's claims. This is why they spread a blanket of silence over his revelations.

Thompson was threatening a $ 4-billion-a-year enterprise.

The CDC is both a PR agency for, and a buyer from, Big Pharma.

Speaking of PR, would you like to see an example of how the CDC promotes the yearly flu vaccine by lying egregiously about flu deaths in the United States?

In December of 2005, the British Medical Journal (online) published a shocking report by Peter Doshi, which created tremors through the halls of the Centers for Disease Control (CDC), where “the experts” used to tell the press that 36,000 people in the US die every year from the flu.

Here is a quote from Doshi's report, “Are US flu death figures more PR than science?” (BMJ 2005; 331:1412):

“[According to CDC statistics], ‘influenza and pneumonia’ took 62,034 lives in 2001—61,777 of which were attributable to pneumonia and 257 to flu, and in only 18 cases was the flu virus positively identified.”

Boom.

You see, the CDC has created one overall category that combines both flu and pneumonia deaths. Why do they do this? Because they disingenuously assume that the pneumonia deaths are complications stemming from the flu.

This is an absurd assumption. Pneumonia has a number of causes.

But even worse, in all the flu and pneumonia deaths, only 18 revealed the presence of an influenza virus.

Therefore, the CDC could not say, with assurance, that more than 18 people died of influenza in 2001. Not 36,000 deaths. 18 deaths.

Doshi continued his assessment of published CDC flu-death statistics: “Between 1979 and 2001, [CDC] data show an average of 1348 [flu] deaths per year (range 257 to 3006).” These figures refer to flu separated out from pneumonia.

This death toll is obviously far lower than the parroted 36,000 figure.

However, when you add the sensible condition that lab tests have to actually find the flu virus in patients, the numbers of flu deaths plummet even further.

In other words, it's all promotion and hype.

“Well, uh, we say that 36,000 people die from the flu every year in the US. But actually, it's closer to 20. However, we can't admit that, because if we did, we'd be exposing our gigantic psyop. The whole campaign to scare people into getting a flu shot would have about the same effect as warning people to carry iron umbrellas, in case toasters fall out of upper-story windows...and, by the way, we'd be put in prison for fraud.”

The CDC must turn out a steady stream of outrageous lies about the need for vaccines. If they didn't, they'd have no way to justify the billions of dollars they spend every year buying the vaccines from drug companies.

Since the sold-out major media won't connect these dots, I and others need to.

Popular Kids Magazine has Caved to the LGBTQ

Thursday, December 8, 2016

Dear Kelly,

Highlights, the nationally recognized magazine for kids, has decided to include same-sex families in their magazines. Babies and preschoolers will soon be introduced to homosexuality in the Highlights line of magazines. Sadly, children's publications are no longer off limits, even those designed specifically for toddlers and elementary age children.

Highlights had stated previously that they believe parents should decide when to bring up the topic of homosexuality. But after backlash from the LGBT community, Highlights committed to including same-sex families in future publications.

Highlights' Christine Cully said, "When we do show families in the magazines, we make it a point to include diversity. We strive to be diverse in every way...In the future, we will depict same-sex families in our magazines in a manner consistent to the way all diverse families are depicted."

Many parents and grandparents buy subscriptions to these magazines as gifts, especially at this time of year. They should be warned of the upcoming change of content in these kid's magazines. It is not Highlights' job to introduce so-called "social issues" to children. That is a parent's role.

TAKE ACTION

1. Sign our petition to Highlights, urging them to reverse their decision to promote homosexuality and same-sex families in the magazines.

2. Call Highlights at 1-888-372-6433 to make a live comment or cancel your child's subscription to Highlights magazine.

Sign the Petition NOW!

In Touch with Dr. Charles Stanley Monthly Promotional Info
November 2016

Hello Dear Friends,

Be Strong and Courageous!

We are pleased to announce that Dr. Stanley has a new book.

COURAGEOUS FAITH
MY STORY FROM A LIFE OF OBEDIENCE
By Charles F. Stanley

As Dr. Stanley looks back over his long life of ministry, he is now ready to share how his personal faith choices directed his every step. He shares how God walked with him through his most difficult days as a pastor when he faced internal conflict in a church he'd led for years. He gently shares painful family issues that brought him to his knees and taught him to look to God for answers when life wasn't simple and trite answers didn't work. Dr. Stanley reminds us that choosing to follow and obey God when life is hard can be both the toughest and best thing we'll ever do. As Dr. Stanley reflects on the biblical teachings that have led him through his difficulties and joys, he always comes back to this principle: Obey God and leave all the consequences to Him.

TUE, NOV 1 - Essentials of Effective Meditation - Part 1 (RI053)

Self-discipline is essential to meditating on God and His Word. Unless believers set aside time to simply be quiet and listen to Him, life's distractions will crowd Him out. Learn about the "Essentials of Effective Meditation" on "In Touch with Dr. Charles Stanley" ... Tuesday, at (__: __), here on (____).

WED, NOV 2 - Essentials of Effective Meditation - Part 2 (RI053)

Believers who are growing in their faith follow Christ's example and intentionally devote time to be alone with God. What are the "Essentials of Effective Meditation"? Find out, Wednesday at (__: __), on "In Touch with Dr. Charles Stanley," here on (____).

THU, NOV 3 - The Rewards of Meditation - Part 1 (RI123)

God's wisdom comes to believers who regularly study His Word and follow His direction through the guidance and strength of the Holy Spirit. Learn about "The Rewards of Meditation" on "In Touch with Dr. Charles Stanley" ... Thursday, at (__: __), here on (____).

FRI, NOV 4 - The Rewards of Meditation - Part 2 (RI123)

The believer who has a healthy perspective on life will spend time getting to know God. Pressure and stress begin to dissipate when we understand and believe that He loves us, and that He is who He says He is. Learn more of "The Rewards of Meditation," on "In Touch with Dr. Charles Stanley" ... Friday, at (__: __), here on (____).

SAT/SUN, NOV 5/6 - A Time for Courage - Part 1 (101003)

Believers don't have to be hindered by fear. In his message, "A Time for Courage," Dr. Stanley reminds us that God sent the Holy Spirit to enable us to do whatever He calls us to do. Listen to "In Touch with Dr. Charles Stanley" ... Saturday/Sunday, at (__: __), here on (____).
