Issues/Programing

2nd Quarter – 2014

Quarterly Issues Program List

WFXD

Compiled by: Luke Noordyk, Station Manager

The following is a listing of some of the significant issues responded to WFXD, MARQUETTE, MI along with the most significant programming treatment of those issues. The listing is by no means exhaustive, and additional air time not noted was devoted to serving our community. The order in which the issues appear does not reflect any priority or significance. All times are Eastern.

WFXD for 2014 Second Quarter

Issue aired at: 08:00:00 AM on 04/04/14 and was discussed for 15 Minutes

Morning Show: Gun Free Military Bases Now Being Debated

Coverage:

Gun-Control Marquette, MI - April 4, 2014 - How Prophetic Am I? Yesterday's rant discussed the policy started in 1993 of disarming our military on base. Today, everyone is talking about it. As predicted, the gun control nuts are already looking for money from those dim enough to believe their propaganda. Prior to the disarmament order I find no record of any mass shootings on ANY military base. Since the order there have been plenty. Another perfect government solution: implement a rule that has the opposite effect of what was intended. This time however, it isn't just money that was wasted... the cost is counted in the lives of innocent victims. This 20-year experiment needs to end now! Fortunately there are clear-thinking legislators who are proposing just that. The question is... are there enough of them? Dan Adamini - In the Right Mind

Morning Show: Minimum Wage Part 1

Coverage:

Dan Adamini - In The Right Mind - Featured - Rant Marquette, MI - April 7, 2014 - The President Pushes for an Increase in the minimum wage. President Obama was in Michigan last week continuing to reinforce the conclusion that he has no business sense whatsoever. Now it isn't just HIS fault. The entire democrat population seems to NOT understand economics. Perhaps if more of them had ever signed the Front of a paycheck instead of only the Back of a paycheck... we wouldn't need to have this same discussion every few years. Many Studies have shown that when the minimum wage increases, those earning that wage actually go backward. The increased cost of things purchased by those at the bottom outweighs the increased income earned. Even Ben Franklin in 1768 warned against the concept - I guess there were liberal nuts back then too! Finally, have you noticed that the president always makes his speech from a place that pays more than the minimum wage? If his supporters weren't so dim, they'd see he invalidates his own argument. These places pay more because their employees are worth it, and have proven themselves so. Minimum wage is a starting wage. Very few stay there. Here endeth the lesson (at least part 1) Dan Adamini - In The Right Mind

Issue aired at: 08:00:00 AM on 04/08/14 and was discussed for 15 Minutes

Morning Show: Pay Equality Day?

Coverage:

Marquette, MI - April 8, 2014 - Do Those Calling for Equal Pay Really Mean It? equal pay The President and many others are out and about calling attention to the fact that on average (depending on how you define average) Women make less than men. The common slogan is "women make 77 cents for every dollar a man makes". This implies that women doing the same work as a man are not rewarded comparably. That is what the slogan wants you to believe. As I have said on many occasions... if you have to lie to make your point, your point doesn't deserve to be made. The "77 cent number" comes from taking total women's pay and dividing by the number of working women... and doing the same for men. There is no consideration of the type of work, or the number of hours worked, or the years of experience in the calculation. Using that same criteria... President Obama's white house only pays women 88 cents for every dollar a man in the white house earns. This from the president who will be breaking his own executive order to pay people equally. I don't point this out only to show democrat hypocrisy (that's just a nice bonus). I also use the facts to show how willing left-leaners are to lie to make their points. Honest people expect the same criteria be used when calculating statistics for both sides. If the real numbers were used, there may still be a problem... but those who blindly follow slogans will never know. Not because they CAN'T understand.. but because they don't WANT to. Here's a good place for the president to start... if the people flipping burgers on military bases are earning $10 hourly (due to his executive order)... how about giving a raise to those entering the military so those eating the burgers also earn at least that much? Current rate is FAR below that - and that assumes a 40 hour week (far less than they actually work). All I ask is consistency and Honesty... Fact Equality may lead to Pay Equality... Don't look left for that! Dan Adamini - In The Right Mind

Issue aired at: 08:00:00 AM on 04/09/14 and was discussed for 15 Minutes

Morning Show: Hate Crime... or Just Crime?

Coverage:

Dan Adamini - In The Right Mind - Featured - RantMarquette, MI - April 9, 2014 - Does it really matter WHY a mob beats someone into a coma? A downstate man is in the hospital and 4 people who put him there are in jail for putting him there...beating him almost to death. A child ran out into the street and was hit by a car. The result to the 14 year old... a broken leg. The result to the driver... a coma. The driver got out of his truck to see if the boy was hurt, and a group of 10-12 thugs beat him into a coma. No sign of Jesse Jackson or Al Sharpton yet... probably because the beating victim was white and the attackers were black. I'm sure those two will show up when the criminals are put on trial. If race was an added reason for the crime, the press will not pursue it... it doesn't fit the narrative properly. However, if the truck was painted white, we could get back to a racial story, and we may yet see the dynamic duo. Dan Adamini - In The Right Mind

Morning Show: Union Bullies

Coverage:

UFCW vs WalmartMarquette, MI - April 10, 2014 - Why Would Anyone Join This Union? Oh Yeah.... so they don't get beat up! Remember when Labor Unions represented their members to create a better workplace? Remember when union dues were spent wisely for the benefit of those in the union? I hear those were good days... but they are clearly gone! Behavior of the United Food & Commercial Workers Union was so bad last November that even Barak Obama's National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) had to stop turning a blind eye toward its behavior. Two officials with the United Food and Commercial Workers union allegedly stormed into a Dearborn store's electronics department with "50 to 80 unknown individuals" and interfered with shoppers and intimidated employees. Eight other protesters, including one man, then barged into the women's rest room and "coercively interrogated an employee regarding her wages, hours and working conditions," according to the NLRB complaint released on March 29."The NLRB ordered the United Food and Commercial Workers union and OUR Walmart-a worker center the union funds-to cease and desist from "restraining and coercing employees" during protests. Don't you find it odd that union leaders need a court order to behave properly? If I were paying dues to this group, I'd want my money back... or at least a good explanation of how this behavior is supposed to help me! Dan Adamini - IN THE RIGHT MIND

Mid Day Show: Car Shopping This Weekend!

Coverage:

My wife - I love her! She is the best CEO that I know. For months, she has been saying that she wants to go car shopping for another Toyota. We currently own a 2005 Toyota Matrix, which at the time we bought it, the dealer told us the Matrix is a hatchback version of the Corolla. With a sunroof, the Matrix has been a fun car to drive and has been very reliable. So, since I was told NOT to plan anything on the 12th, I have a car shopping date tomorrow. I've had my eye on the Corolla Sport model, so I hope I find something that will be appealing to us both! Stay tuned!!

Coverage:

Republic - April 11, 2014 - Wow! Obama has run the deficit to all new levels. It was way lower when Bush was in office. It is sky rocking and out of control. Watch this VIRAL & factual video on where the US deficit is today? Post by Senior Airman Brian Kolfage.

Morning Show: Trucks Taking the Long Way?

Coverage:

Dan Adamini - In The Right Mind - Featured - RantMarquette, MI - April 11, 2014 - Trucks to Presque

Isle Power Plant Take the Long Way
With the lake iced up longer than usual, shipping is a few weeks behind schedule. The power plant at Presque Isle is lower on coal than they would like, so coal will be trucked from the City Power Plant at south beach to the plant at Presque Isle. Trucks, however will drive on the highway up to target, then down wright street, then to sugarloaf drive then to county road 550 and THEN to the power plant at Presque Isle. This is a very short-term issue and it seems that even with lighter loads, the straight path along the lakeshore would make more sense. Less traffic to content with AND saving gas. I suppose those who designed the route could have been using some medical MJ when they drew up the plans... but in any case... it seems a waste.

Mid Day Show: Car Shoppin' Saturday Was a Great Date Day!

Coverage:

Amid light snow flurries during the late morning hours, my wife and I went down to Iron Mountain for our long awaited car shopping date. Bergeron Motors of Iron Mountain sold us our 2005 Toyota Matrix and we had been viewing their used car inventory online and found several deals that caught our eye. By the time we arrived in Iron Mountain, the highways were slightly damp and the flurries had stopped so we were ready to drive. Our salesman, Adrian was very helpful providing a rundown of the cars we chose to drive, pointing out main features of each model and financing information. Our first drive was in a 2013 Corolla LE with low mileage, black exterior, beige interior, bucket seats. This was a really sweet car, handled great, tight turning radius, great acceleration; we both liked this car. Next was a 2013 Corolla Sport - practically new with only 5,000 miles; grey exterior, dark interior. In my earlier searching for car prospects, I had my eye on the Corolla Sport but Debbie thought the sport exterior trim was unnecessary and she didn't want to have anything to do with a car model labeled "sport". Her attitude did a screeching 180 as soon as she sat inside. WOW - I Like This! (I just smiled and said, "it's pretty nice, isn't it?") I drove the Sport model for about 20 minutes, pulled over in a parking lot, looked it over then headed back to the lot; saying to myself, "Looks like we'll be getting this one!" This week, we will be working out the financial details and hopefully getting this new ride soon!

Morning Show: Thank Goodnes for Global Warming!

Coverage:

winter storm April 2014Marquette, MI - April 4, 2014 - Imagine How bad this Blizzard would have been WITHOUT Global Warming!Winter Storm Zelda hit Upper Michigan today with blizzard-like winds and wet & heavy snow that is still coming down. Just imagine how bad it would be if it weren't for the blessing of "man made global warming"! More than the simple annoyance of a spring snowstorm, I am amazed at how quickly people have forgotten to drive in the snow. Our LAST snowstorm was less than 2 weeks ago, but after only a week of bare roads... fools are driving like it's the first snow of the year. Cars in ditches are being passed by lines of sensible cars driving slowly with their lights on - lines that go as far as the eye can see. In case you're wondering... YES, I STILL THINK IT'S PRETTY! Could it be that I'm not in my right mind after all? Dan Adamini - In The Right Mind

Morning Show: Happy Tax Day!

Coverage:

Tax DayMarquette, MI - April 15, 2014 - Send Your Money In Today! Yes, today is the deadline for filing your taxes if you have to send even MORE money to the government so they can pay for things we can't afford. To the 47% who pay no income taxes, let me take this opportunity to say "you're welcome". And If you're part of the 53%, thank you. Just because you're not getting a refund, that doesn't mean you didn't pay taxes... you probably paid plenty. If you are due a refund, the government will be pleased if you don't send in a return at all and we ALL thank you. When you add up all the state and federal taxes we pay when we buy anything... even people at the bottom of the economic ladder pay between 25% and 50% in hidden (and "not-so-hidden") taxes. Add in the extra costs we pay for everything because of regulations, and it's shocking that the government STILL can't live on the money it receives. So ... if you can... do what the democrats say you should do... send a little extra. They won't do it, but they think you should! Dan Adamini - In The Right Mind

Morning Show: Fewer IRS Audits This Year?

Coverage:

IRS AuditMarquette, MI - April 16, 2014 - Enforcing Obamacare Outranks Auditing Tax Evaders IRS budget cuts may result in fewer audits this year.The IRS says it may only audit 1% of returns this year. That should make tax cheats happy... and republicans scared... because if the IRS has to be more selective, you can bet ONLY people who donate to republican causes will be audited (Much like during the 2012 election year).The budget cut from over 12 billion to just over 11 billion is not the only reason for the lower audit level. The staff required to enforce Obamacare will shift workers away from investigating tax evaders... and punishing those who can't afford the democrat health plan.It must be fun to be a liberal... If I ever find the time to have that lobotomy, I'll find out!Dan Adamini - In the Right Mind (for now)

Morning Show: Obamacare - The Gift That Keeps On Taking

Coverage:

obamacare hurtsMarquette, MI - April 17, 2014 - No Health Insurance for YOU! If you didn't buy health care during the open enrollment period... you are pretty much out of luck until next October. In their quest to ruin the lives of the most people possible,the DEMOCRAT plan known as OBAMACARE prohibits you from buying health insurance if you haven't already done so.If you have a "qualifying event" you may be able to purchase health insurance... so if you really need it... get married, get divorced, quit your job... or kick one of your kids out of the house... when you add or lose a dependent the window opens again!Wasn't this scam sold under the premise that it would be easier to buy insurance? And that it would be MORE affordable? Of course it was, but nobody in their RIGHT MIND believed the democrat lies. Sadly, that is a growing population, and many of the low IQ crowd still think it's a good thing... and they vote (usually more than once).Dan Adamini - In the Right Mind

Morning Show: Emergency Funds Coming to Marquette

Coverage:

sink hole in MarquetteMarquette, MI - April 18, 2014 - Governor Snyder Declares Emergency for Marquette County Governor Snyder has declared that Marquette County is indeed in a state of emergency. The damage done, and the costs associated with it can now be paid for by someone else. With costs associated with the winter exceeding a million dollars, the money is welcome, and very much needed.My main question is this... What happened between last month's decision that the problems do NOT qualify... to the recent decision that they do? Don't get me wrong... I'm not complaining... but it does seem like a logical question. What are the criteria for a state of emergency? It seems that it is simply when enough elected officials complain?Regardless of that... I want to make sure everyone reading understands how hard people are working to restore lost services. When water lines freeze & break due to the deep frost, those who fix the problems work tirelessly. And they are often under-appreciated... so Here is my big "thank you" to all of them - on behalf of everyone who may have forgotten.Dan Adamini - In the Right Mind

Morning Show: NRA Meeting Brings Out The Worst In Liberal Nuts

Coverage:

NRA Meeting Marquette, MI - April 28, 2014 - Annual Meeting of NRA Makes Liberals Angry Enough To Shoot Somebody! Some of the more interesting statements coming out of the NRA annual Meeting confirm the assessment that not only are liberals unable to understand anything beyond talking points... but they also have no sense of humor. They certainly can't understand how humor and rhetoric is used to make a point. They see blunt comments as the true motives of people who make the statements - rather than the effort to make people think. I guess that's because if a liberal says someone should be killed, the liberal really means it. Comments by Sarah Palin are being spread across liberal blogs like democrats to a free buffet. In commenting that we seem to be "coddling" our enemies she said if she were in charge she would "baptize terrorist by waterboarding". She also commented on liberals who say "gun stores are an accomplice to crime" by equating the statement "that fork made me fat! Miwaukee county sheriff David Clarke reminded folks that self defense is a "natural right" that can't be taken away. The crowd liked his comment regarding a former supreme court justice's recent statement that the 2nd amendment should be changed by adding the words "while serving in a militia". The sheriff suggested adding instead... 'Keep your hands off my guns dammit'. He also said that self defense "should NOT be a political issue"... his fellow democrats have made it one. Some of the nuttier claims are found in stories by "so-called" journalists who lack understanding (and apparently a sense of humor) but are always eager to repeat liberal narratives that gun owners hate everyone who looks different. According to Sara Morrison from Yahoo News the theme of the convention was FEAR everyone and everything. The only thing most gun owners fear are nuts like Sara. The liberal "Daily Beast" headline says it all... "preparing for War in Indianapolis: Inside the NRA plot to terrify America" The message is clear... nobody needs a gun to protect themselves because there is no crime in America... and anyone who does want a gun must be a battle-hungry-hater. Liberals... they are funny to watch, and sometimes funny to read - until you realize they are serious! This is a good time to revisit the song Johnny Hide Your Gun! Dan Adamini - In The Right Mind Some of the nuttier claims are found in stories by "so-called" journalists who lack understanding (and apparently a sense of humor) but are always eager to repeat liberal narratives that gun owners hate everyone who looks different. Morning Show: Property Tax Decision on "Dark Stores" Perplexes Me

Coverage:

Dark Stores TaxMarquette, MI - April 29, 2014 - "Dark Store" Property Tax Defies Logic I feel like I'm missing something... some piece of information... something to explain why two courts have made a decision which makes no sense to me. An appellate court upheld a previous ruling that occupied and operating retail stores must be valued as though they are vacant and for sale or so-called "dark stores," which have been converted to some other use. Now I am "all-in" for lower taxes... but I am not on board with pretending something is different than it actually is. A brand new building housing a store IS NOT THE SAME as an empty store in an abandoned lot. Yet two courts now have claimed that they are the same. What Am I missing?It is hard to keep a business alive in good times; and even harder in the Obama-conomy. I think all of our taxes are too high, and governments often waste too much of what they are given (rephrase that.. of what they TAKE). But no one in their right mind think that a brand new building built to house a business (or a family for that matter) has the same value as an old building that needs to be torn down. There must be more to the story because I can't believe courts have supported the "dark stores" concept twice now. Either way, enjoy the song on the topic by clicking here! Morning Show: Is Voter I.D. Racist? Or Just A Really Good idea?

Coverage:

Voter IDMarquette, MI - April 30, 2014 - Voter I.D.It's election season already, and those who want HONEST ELECTIONS are being attacked by those who want to CHEAT - you know... liberals. Although laws requiring registered voters to identify themselves make perfect sense, and have been upheld in many states, a nutty judge in Wisconsin said requiring voters to produce an ID violates the law by discriminating against minorities. What was that?A Picture ID is a hardship to minorities? How so, you may ask!Well, apparently the judge is a racist... just like all the people who oppose voter ID. Do they think minorities don't take good pictures? Do they think minorities aren't smart enough to follow their community organizer to a free ID supplier? Are they saying that the same ID card needed to buy an insurance policy, cash a check, or get into a democrat event is too HEAVY for minorities to carry? Or will they be honest and simply admit that using a voter ID makes it harder to cheat? If honest elections are held, how will liberals get elected in areas where people think for themselves? Believe me, I understand their anger. But what about those of us who want to have honest elections. We only vote once. Aren't WE disenfranchised when others are allowed to vote many times? How about this solution... we go to the system used in Afghanistan... Dip your thumb in paint that won't come off for a week. We'll use fluorescent orange so nobody can claim racism against any other color used. Morning Show: St Jude Needs Your Help

Coverage:

St Jude Children's Hospital Marquette, MI - May 1, 2014 - No Rant Today... Just A Request to Support the St Jude Radio-thon St Jude Hospital is a wonderful organization! The dream of Danny Thomas was to have a place where ALL children could receive the care they need regardless of their ability to pay. Their Mission... .. to find cures for children with cancer and other life-threatening diseases through research and treatment. And no family ever pays St. Jude for anything. St Jude helped pave the way for people of ALL races to be treated together, and for the families of those children to stay in the same hotels. No child was ever sent away because of their race... very unique in the days of its founding. Research is also an important part of St Jude's Mission. Much of the research has led to advances in survivability of tragic diseases; and even if your child does not go to St Jude... they may be benefitting from that very research at your local hospital. We are a giving people... and this is a VERY WORTHY CAUSE. Please support the St Jude Radio-thon by clicking here and donating what you can... no matter how small, you can make a big difference! Morning Show: Fracking Protest Not Well Attended

Coverage:

Fracking Protest Marquette, Michigan - May 5, 2014 - Lansing Protest Lacks Participants A Protest against "fracking" last week in Lansing caught my attention... for a couple reasons. First, because the topic has people blindly following popular slogans with little regard to facts (which is a very common practice with our friends on the left - Not only the environmental extremists). Second because so few people actually attended the protest. I haven't seen the actual numbers, but a local TV station said "over a dozen" people showed up. I guess once people educate themselves, they are less motivated to protest against things that make sense. Let's remember that fracking has been practiced since the 1860s... but entered a new "golden age" in 2003 when it could be done more safely - and it's getting safer every year. It began in Michigan in the 1950's. Claims about contaminated drinking water are misleading at best and flat out lies at worst. The one instance of ground contamination documented was not from fracking at all, but from a spill above ground which contaminated a local water supply. The spill is a concern, but it isn't a problem with fracking itself. The question we should be asking is this: Why are people on the left so eager to believe things that are NOT TRUE? I understand that it's easier to simply take someone's word for something you WANT to believe than to do a little research yourself; but it doesn't help your cause when you are repeatedly proven wrong. Fortunately it doesn't seem to hurt their credibility with other liberals - most of them are so embedded in their beliefs that no amount of actual science will sway them. It must be fun to be one of those people... but if it is, shouldn't they be happier? Maybe listening to this song (Let's Frack) will cheer them up... Probably Not! Dan Adamini - IN THE RIGHT MIND

Morning Show: Asian Carp is Now a RACIST Term in Minnesota?

Coverage:

Asian Carp Marquette, Michigan - May 6, 2014 - Calling an Asian Carp an Asian Carp is not Politically Correct A Legislator in Minnesota is worried that using the term "Asian Carp" to describe the fish known as the Asian Carp may be offensive to people of Asian Descent. I'm not sure who is MORE nuts in this story... the legislator himself or the clearly dimwitted voters who put him in office... (Guess what party he represents)! Yes... Democrat John Hoffman of Minnesota definitely needs to "SCALE BACK" the political correctness in the Land of 10,000 Lakes and even more Nutty Liberals. The DNR in Minnesota unilaterally changed the name of the fish to "Invasive Carp" and the senate also voted to change the name... and that seems to be a LOAD OF CARP! The state has passed some nutty laws in the past, but this time they are surely "GILL-TY" of losing their collective mind. They may need to go back to "SCHOOL". The Asian Carp is indeed an invasive species, but Asia is where the fish are from... there is nothing racist about the term... and if you think it is race & not geography... you are part of the problem. For those of you in your right mind... make your favorite fishy pun in the comment section of facebook.com/intherightmindmqt. I'll use some of them on the show this Saturday! Still trying to pick the source song for the matching parody... any suggestions there? Let's make you folks a bigger part of the show. Morning Show: Teacher Appreciation Week - Thank You!

Coverage:

Teacher Appreciation WeekMarquette, Michigan - May 7, 2014 - Take Time to Thank a TeacherNo matter how old you are, you probably have a teacher who affected your life. Did you have a teacher who inspired you to follow a certain path? Did you have a teacher who was simply supportive and helped you get through times that may have been difficult? Did you have a teacher who was so bad, you still laugh about it with friends? Teachers have a big impact on all of us, and it does seem appropriate to set aside time to thank them.Music has a special place in my life, and there are three music teachers I remember well. My first music teacher in elementary school in Arlington Heights, Illinois was Miss Ramsey. I can still picture her big blonde hair and the short mini-skirts she wore as she taught us to sing and why the notes were on the page. Fast forward to High School and Jerome F. Pugsley at Arlington High School had an impact. I was never one of the best students, but I did enjoy his style. And of course, my senior year in Marquette, Michigan with Ellen Clement as choral teacher. The music room was a refuge from all the other stresses of school.I also had one teacher so bad that I changed my major in college to avoid taking another class from him. He eventually became department head. Even he had an impact reminding me that life is NOT dependent on OTHERS nearly as much as it is on our own actions - a lesson we can all learn. Go to the Facebook page facebook.com/intherightmindmqt and say a public thank you to a teacher who affected you in a good way - keep the bad ones in your own memory - positive is best. Morning Show: Coal Ash Finally being Recycled!

Coverage:

Coal AshMarquette, MI - May 9,2014 - Michigan House Votes To Re-Classify Coal AshAll four U.P. Representatives co-sponsored a bill to allow the use of coal ash (as many other states have done previously). A short list of waste products were re-classified to a less hazardous category so they can now be made useful, rather than simply go to landfills.Although some people are not happy (read that as the wackier environmentalists), most people agree that the use makes sense. Less waste in landfills and recycling should make the green folks happy, and those of us who consider ourselves environmentally friendly and also THINKERS see the benefits.Those who aren't happy will not become happy until coal is no longer used for anything - including your backyard barbeque. The question is: what will we call pot holes once the roads are made of ash?Dan Adamini - IN THE RIGHT MIND

Mid Day Show: Organic food and art co-op is Ishpeming's Best Kept Secret

Coverage:

Holistic health foods in my backyard!Ishpeming, MI - May 9, 2014 -Located at 200 E. Division St., Rare Earth Goods is Ishpeming's best kept secret. The best part for me is that it's right in my backyard!

The natural food store and art co-op is owned and operated by Pam Perkins. Rare Earth Goods spotlights an incredible selection of organic foods and a collection of art, which features the work of local artists. But that is really only the beginning... When I walked in on Wednesday, I was greeted by Pam right away. She was friendly and personable, but not overbearing- which I can completely appreciate. A friendly "If you need anything at all, or have any questions, just holler!", and I was on my way to discovering all the things that this little gem of a store had to offer. I was impressed by the wide variety of local brews housed in the store's cooler... everything from Stout, IPAs, and rich Ambers- the best thing is you can build your own six pack! I will surely remember that when I am planning my next family BBQ. No one ever wants the same kind of beer... Dad likes a good pale ale and my brother prefers a hearty stout. My brother-in-law never knows what he wants... but now I can keep all of them happy- and that is priceless! About twenty minutes after I entered the store, I realized that I could not possibly take everything in on just one visit. My attention was harnessed by all of the amazing artwork and crafts that are displayed in almost every nook and cranny. Pam passionately believes in supporting local artists. She described her mission in her own words, "I'm here to help the artists and help people eat healthier, better foods- without having to drive all over to find them." Rare Earth Goods offers a extremely affordable bulk food section. I picked up some chia seeds for my smoothies and steel cut groats for breakfast; restocked my spice cupboard with fresh bay leaves. I wandered over to the cooler and I couldn't bear to leave without some Maple Harvest Cheddar Cheese. It is amazing to serve with breakfast, and the sweet flavor always ensures my little girls finish their eggs. After throwing some Blue Chips and Sweet Onion Peach Salsa in the cart, I had to make a run for it. I wanted to bring the whole store home with me! Morning Show: Fountain of Youth... the Vampires Had It Right?

Coverage:

Mouse Research Marquette, Michigan - May 12, 2014 - Blood from Young Mice Rejuvenates Old Mice! Studies from Stanford University, the University of California (San Francisco), and Harvard Universities seem to indicate that blood transfusions from young mice rejuvenate old mice.

Researchers injected blood from younger mice into older mice to see if it helped brain function. The older mice seemed to show improved brain function. We are YEARS away from human trials, but it does seem promising that your blood and plasma donations may actually be the fountain of youth to those older than you. I wonder if this will be covered by Obamacare? It makes perfect sense.... take from those who have what you want (younger people with fresher blood) and give it to those you want to help (older people - as long as they vote Democrat). This would be perfectly consistent with the philosophy of the ACA and all things liberal... take from some, give to others. It will probably work too, because many liberals I meet have brain function similar to the average research mouse. And if we improve their brain function, they'll probably move to the right! Morning Show: Marquette County Fairgrounds Hosts an Open House!

Coverage:

The fairgrounds showed off each aspect of the fair including the go cart races. June 4th 2014, Marquette - The Marquette County Fairgrounds held their first annual open house to showcase the variety of events held at the Fairgrounds. Inside the fairgrounds, attendees could take part in a scavenger hunt while munching on the buffet. In a stroke of luck, my name was drawn for a door prize! Unfortunately, as the only underage name drawn, my prize (a beautifully wrapped bottle of wine) was turned into an extra Mothers Day gift. A huge success, the open house at the fairgrounds was the perfect way to end a warm summer day. Live music provided by, well... me! Adorable ponies and calves were led around the fairgrounds. Everyone eyed up the grand prize!

Afternoon Show: The Mosquitoes are Buzzin' Bright and Early in the Morning

Coverage:

Say NO to the Mosquito 6/6/2014 Ishpeming, Michigan What did I awake to this morning? A dirty filthy mosquito and another dirty filthy mosquito buzzin' in my ear. On top of that, the mosquitoes bit me on my arm, my leg and on my neck. They're everywhere this year and no matter where you go it seems like you can't escape the pesky things. When you're asleep these vampires could suck all the blood out of you. Well, not really. A few mosquitoes won't cause harm, but once you step outside on a warm Upper Peninsula evening be sure to watch your back (and your arm) as there is no stopping these bugs. So, make sure you keep your doors closed at night and make sure you have a small enough screen in your window so these pesky bugs can't get through. So far, this has been one of the worst years on record for mosquitoes. There's no getting away from them! So what do you use to repel mosquitoes? I try and keep bug spray close by me, especially when out and about in the evening...-Eric Scott

Afternoon Show: Wax On, Wax Off... My Joints are Killing Me

Coverage:

Sunday was a day spent outside waxing my car and leading to achy joints. 6/9/2014 Ishpeming, Michigan There was once a day when I used to exercise-A LOT! This past weekend proved to be a very rough weekend for my joints. I feel like I'm 60 years old right now! When in reality I'm about half that age. You see, it all started on Sunday. I ended up spending the day cleaning out my car-inside and out. I waxed the car's exterior and I cleaned the interior with a vacuum and some dash wipes (as I like to call them). I probably spent a total of 7 hours cleaning my car. Little did I realize that my joints would be in agony the next day! Wow, am I ever in serious pain right now. My back is achy, my joints are killing me and my neck is totally sore. I guess this is a sign that I need to get out and exercise more. Lisa Ravioli gave me a hard time about this in the 4pm hour today. So, before I do something like this again I'll make sure I go for a jog or a run! Lesson learned. -Eric Scott

Afternoon Show: Small Towns Across the Eastern U.P. You May Not Be Familiar With

Coverage:

The beauty of the Eastern Upper Peninsula. How familiar are you with these towns!?! 6/16/2014
Marquette, Michigan My travels over the weekend brought me to the Eastern Upper Peninsula. It's not very often I end up traveling in that direction so I often forget the names of towns and cities across the Eastern U.P. After I crossed the town of Seney I noted a few towns I've never heard of before. Here's a list of towns across the Eastern Upper Peninsula I've never heard of before. Have you heard (or been) to these towns before?! Racoon, Eckerman, Dafer, Strong, Germfask, Brimley, Soo Junction, Hulbert, Brevort, Moran, Rexton. Granted, most of the above towns are so small that they're not even on certain maps. I didn't drive through some of the above towns, but the few I did seemed very quiet and peaceful. These small towns make Marquette feel gigantic! Racoon, Michigan was so small that I noticed there were only about 2 homes along the stretch of M-28 that goes straight through the town. Have you heard or been through any of these towns before? Lisa Ravioli and myself will talk about my 'adventure' across the Eastern Upper Peninsula of Michigan in the 4pm hour today on 103-FXD! -Eric Scott
