Morning Show: Learning About Livestock - Pig-A-Palooza 2014

Coverage:

July 1, 2014 - Marquette, MI - Welcome to Pig-A-Palooza. Held at the Marquette County Fairgrounds, the expo is open to youth between the ages of 9 and 19 and runs for three days. Listening to presentations by livestock health and show specialists, the kids picked up quick tips on keeping their livestock healthy and preparing them for the show arena. After a studying all morning, the kids were hungry and ready for pizza. First, they had to answer a question! When the last question had been answered, the kids flowed into the next building to munch on the stack of pizza waiting for them and hope their names were called for a door prize. Pig-A-Palooza helped 65 kids get their livestock ready for the fair this fall. Thanks to all the volunteers who pitched in to make this event possible! This presenter traveled from MSU to talk to the kids. Participants had a great time, even during the serious talks. And we have a question! The presenter helped him solve a problem with his hog. Apparently, pigs can jump too! Who's going to answer this question? Looks like we have some takers. From one building to the next... This stack of 25 pizzas were waiting for the participants. Add a side of fruit to your lunch. Lunch break! Hmm... Can he finish this peice? All ages attended this event. The instructors recieved a big thank you for coming to teach. Up next: the door prizes. Livestock was trailered in for the expo to use in the classes. Livestock was trailered in for the expo to use in the classes. Livestock was trailered in for the expo to use in the classes.

Afternoon Show: 5th Grade Girls on the Move at Gwinn Schools

Coverage:

GoToGwinn Gwinn Girls on The Move 2014 Gwinn, MI - July 7, 2014 - Every day the media blasts our young girls with images that teach them that in order to be accepted, they have to be perfect: Perfect hair, perfect figure, perfect skin. For young girls, that can lead to a range of body and self-esteem issues. Many girls, middle-school age and younger, suffer from poor self-esteem, depression, and eating disorders. To help counter that, Connie Sather at Gwinn Schools created Girls on the Move for 5th graders who will be entering middle school. The program aims to help girls build up their self image and help teach them healthy habits before they leave elementary school. Each month, the group meets to focus on a lesson and an activity. The lessons cover anything from airbrushed models in magazines, to drug abuse, to peer pressure, the importance of exercise, and healthy eating habits. Every lesson is followed by an activity. This year the Girls on the Move participated in yoga, power walking, cross country skiing, snowshoeing, swimming, archery, Zumba, and kayaking. See more photos here!

Mid Day Show: Heating Your Home is Expensive. We Can Help With That!

Coverage:

Energy Saving Windows For Your Budget Marquette, MI - July 8, 2014 - Energy bills are expensive, especially when the weather cools off. Fortunately, there are things you can do to reduce how much you spend on heating (and cooling!) your home. Take a look at your windows. Are they letting air out? Do you use draft blockers? Do they only have one pane of thin glass? Old, leaky windows are a huge problem when it comes to keeping your home warm and your heating bills down. There's no summer break either. Keeping your house cool is still expensive if you've got leaky windows letting all the cold air out. Replace them with new windows that have been designed to keep your heating and cooling costs down. Know your U-Factor! The type of windows you'll want depend on the climate you live in. The U-Factor is a number that indicates the amount of heat the window lets through. Those of us who live in colder climates like the U.P. will want windows with a lower U-Factor to prevent too much heat from escaping your home. All windows should be Energy-Star approved for efficiency. Most modern windows are made with multiple glass panes, separated by a space filled with either air or gas to act as a barrier that prevents precious heat from leaving the home. Newer glass has also been specially treated to make sure that your home holds heat when it's cold outside and cool air when it's warm. They also filter out UV rays while still drawing in lots of natural light. Old metal frames that tended to pull heat out in the winter have been replaced by vinyl, fiberglass, and wood. Stop wasting money on energy bills. Keep your house warm in the winter and cool in the summer with new windows from Budget Windows today!

Mrs. Sather's third graders took a hands on approach when it came to learning about mining. Each student was given a chocolate chip cookie to "mine." Each student mapped their cookie, making notes on how many "surface" chips they found. As they dig, they discover more chips, and are given an idea of what mining is like. Afternoon Show: The First Time in Copper Harbor in 6 Years

Coverage:

The drive up Brockway Mountain looking down at Copper Harbor, Michigan. 8/5/2014 Copper Harbor, Michigan. It's been about 6 years since I've been to the top of Michigan... Copper Harbor... the end of U.S. 41... the end of the Earth! Well, not really. This past weekend I spent time up in the Copper Country with a friend of mine. The weather couldn't have been better for a drive all the way up to Copper Harbor on Saturday. Highs in Copper Harbor were around 80 degrees. My friend and I decided to stop at a rest stop to do some sight seeing before we hit Copper Harbor. We ended up stopping at a small rest stop around Lac La Belle. This was the first time I've EVER been around Lac La Belle and Bette Gris. It was a very scenic drive. Once we arrived in Copper Harbor we made a stop at Fort Wilkins State Park. This park is absolutely beautiful! I haven't been to Fort Wilkins since 1999. The scenery and history that surrounds this park is absolutely amazing. My friend recently adopted a dog from the local Animal Shelter. The dog ended up taking a ride with us to Copper Harbor. There was plenty of trails around Fort Wilkins State Park to let the dog run around, on a leash of course. To top off the trip to Copper Harbor, we ended up driving right up Brockway Mountain near Copper Harbor. Years ago this was always a tradition. All in all this was an excellent mini vacation to the Keweenaw and Copper Harbor. Plug in Copper Harbor on your GPS for your next destination... you won't be disappointed! -Eric Scott

Marquette - August 9, 2014 - Livestock sale officials credit the The Great Lakes Radio Honor Credit Union Hiawathaland Farm Bureau "Win The MEAT" contest at the Marquette County Fair to help set record attendance for Saturday's livestock sale. Nearly 500 people watched the sale, enjoyed the fun, the action, the animals, the bids, the auctions, and the bid crew as some 19 steers and some 40 hogs, chickens, one goat, and turkeys were auctioned off during this year's 4-H Livestock sale at the Marquette County Fair. Fair president James Goriesky said, "The kids enjoyed record prices this year which helps their college funds. Every hog sold for over $3 a pound, and the sale exceeded $100,000 in sales for the first time ever. Plus some 500 people filled the stands and the overflow area creating a fun fast paced sale." And the winners are; Crystal Thomas from Gwinn, Danielle Sell of Negaunee, John McBride of Negaunee, Barbara Vincent of Marquette. The fair also set record overall attendance this year. Mid Day Show: Glad To See Progress on This New Business, BUT...!

Coverage:

Driving home after work the other day, I was really glad to see work progressing on the new Ojibwa Convenience Store. After a lengthy construction interruption thanks to the unnecessary intervention by Governor Snyder, work has continued. I understand from the recent news story reported by TV6, that the Keweenaw Bay Indian Community have not filed to place the land in trust with the Bureau of Indian Affairs. The trust filing became a source of contention with many of the area gas stations when they protested how this would allow the Ojibwa station to sell gas at a lower cost just like the Pines in Baraga. Local gas price gouging has been a topic none of these complainers have been able to justify in their arguments so - let's ask another question. Why has the new station construction suddenly been allowed to continue with the land trust not being filed? That been the intention of the tribe since the beginning. Since the TV6 report stated this can be done at a future - the future is NOW! File for the trust and get to completed before opening!

Mid Day Show: Solar Flare Observed By NOAA Yesterday

Coverage:

While we were sitting in the midst of an all day rain fall, things were heating up in outer space yesterday. Scientists with the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration say an "extreme" solar flare was detected, and geomagnetic storms remain in the forecast. The federal agency said the flare, near the center of the sun, happened at 1:45 p.m. Eastern Time Wednesday. "Impacts to is likely associated with this event, however, further analysis is underway at this time." Tom Berger of the Space Weather Prediction Center in Boulder, Colorado, told the Associated Press, "There's been a giant magnetic explosion on the sun... spewing plasma out from the sun, sending waves of energized and magnetized particles through space." The energy from these flares don't harm people directly, but it can create major complications with power infrastructure, from satellites and radio waves to energized power lines. The scientific community has been raising questions since 2012 that a solar flare of significant magnitude could cause disruption in electrical power grids around the globe. Should our government take precautionary steps to prevent such outages? I believe so, especially since we as citizens know what an inconvenience it can be when experiencing slight power outages. Could you survive if it was a week long outage? EMP (Coronal Mass Ejections)

Morning Show: Happy Birthday to the National Anthem

Coverage:

star spangled banner Marquette, MI - Monday September 15 2014 - Star Spangled Banner turns 200 I can't imagine there is anyone who has not heard our National Anthem "The Star Spangled Banner". Played before most sporting events, many have also sung the song. I hope when you hear the song, you join the chorus with hat removed and hand on your heart. Even if you know the words to the song, you may not know the story and meaning behind the words. Once understood, the 2nd, 3rd & 4th verses have much more meaning as well; but even the first verse will mean more once you recall the inspiration behind the song. Basically, the first verse of the song is a simple question... "is the flag still waving?" Why should that inspire us? The answer is simply those who asked the question in the first place. U.S. soldiers being held on a British prison ship were awaiting a prisoner exchange as the British were about to lay waste to Fort McHenry during the war of 1812. The British believed the bombardment would force those inside to surrender, and the country would soon be under British rule once again. If the flag was still waving, that meant the country was still fighting back - so the question "is the flag still flying" was very important. Please take the time to click here and watch this short video telling the story behind the song. Click here to read all 4 verses of the poem which inspired the song. And from this day forward... give the song the respect it deserves. Sing when it is played. Focus on the flag remembering those whose sacrifice inspired the poem. The story of the Star Spangled Banner

O say can you see by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming,
Whose broad stripes and bright stars through the perilous fight,
O'er the ramparts we watched, were so gallantly streaming?
And the rockets' red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof through the night that our flag was still there;
O say does that star-spangled banner yet wave,
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave?
On the shore dimly seen through the mists of the deep,
Where the foe's haughty host in dread silence reposes,
What is that which the breeze, o'er the towering steep,
As it fitfully blows, half conceals, half discloses?
Now it catches the gleam of the morning's first beam,
In full glory reflected now shines in the stream:
'Tis the star-spangled banner, O! long may it wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave.
And where is that band who so vauntingly swore
That the havoc of war and the battle's confusion,
A home and a country, should leave us no more?
Their blood has washed out their foul footsteps' pollution.
No refuge could save the hireling and slave
From the terror of flight, or the gloom of the grave:
And the star-spangled banner in triumph doth wave,
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave.
O thus be it ever, when freemen shall stand
Between their loved home and the war's desolation.
Blest with vict'ry and peace, may the Heav'n rescued land
Praise the Power that hath made and preserved us a nation!
Then conquer we must, when our cause it is just,
And this be our motto: "In God is our trust."
And the star-spangled banner in triumph shall wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave!
