DATE	TIME	SHOW #	TOPIC
1/7/2020	30:00	1642	Renowned astrophysicist Neil deGrasse Tyson is the author of the New York Times best-selling book, "Astrophysics for People in a Hurry." His new book, "Letters From An Astrophysicist," shares his correspondence with people who have sought his perspective on questions about science, faith, philosophy and, of course, Pluto.
1/14/2020	30:00	1643	In the pages of his new book, "Medallion Status," John Hodgman explores the strangeness of his career, speaking plainly of fame, especially at the weird, marginal level he enjoyed it. He says he was a "famous minor television personality." His essays offer a thoughtful examination of status, fame and identity.
1/21/2020	30:00	1644	Archer Mayor is the author of the critically-acclaimed series of police novels feature Lt. Joe Gunther of the Brattleboro, Vermont, police department. In Mayor's latest Joe Gunther novel "Bomber's Moon," the murder of a small-time drug dealer snowballs into the most complex case ever faced by Joe Gunther and his Vermont Bureau of Investigation team.
1/28/2020	30:00	1645	T.C. Boyle's novel, "Outside Looking In," takes readers back to the 1960s and to the early days of LSD.  The book tells the story of Harvard Ph.D. students whose lives veer out of control after they are drawn into the orbit of renowned psychologist and LSD enthusiast Timothy Leary.
2/4/2020	30:00	1646	Lydia Davis is a writer whose originality, influence, and wit are beyond compare. Best known for her masterful short stories and translations, Davis's gifts extend equally to her nonfiction. In "Essays One" Davis has, for the first time, gathered a selection of essays, commentaries, and lectures composed over the past five decades.
2/11/2020	30:00	1647	In Gish Jen's latest "The Resisters," we meet Gwen who has a Golden Arm and her teens find her happily playing in an underground baseball league. The novel is the story of an America that seems ever more possible. It is also the story of one family struggling to maintain its humanity and normalcy in circumstances that threaten their every value as well as their very existence.
2/18/2020	30:00	1648	In the new book, "The Founding Fortunes," historian Tom Shachtman reveals the ways in which a dozen notable Revolutionaries deeply affected the finances and birth of the new country while making and losing their fortunes.
2/25/2020	30:00	1649	Erik Larson is known for expertly transporting readers to past worlds; even stories we think we know come to life in a different way in his hands.  His latest, "The Splendid and the Vile: A Saga of Churchill, Family, and Defiance During the Blitz," takes us into the heart of war-torn England for the period of May 10, 1940, through May 10, 1941, which was Winston Churchill's first year as prime minister.
3/3/2020	30:00	1650	Renowned radio host Diane Rehm joins us this week to discuss her new book, "When My Time Comes," which addresses the urgent, hotly contested cause of the Right-to-Die movement, of which she is one of the most inspiring champions.
3/10/2020	30:00	1651	Patrick Radden Keefe, a staff writer for the New Yorker, is the author the best-selling: "Say Nothing: A True Story of Murder and Memory in Northern Ireland."

KMAK-FM, ORANGE COVE, CA
