The Best of Our Knowledge

DATE	TIME	SHOW #	TOPIC
7/2/2021	30:00	1606	Many states have either passed or proposed bans on teaching Critical Race Theory in schools. The bills seem to have less to do with education and more to do with political culture wars. But what exactly is Critical Race Theory. Instead of asking a politician, we went to an educator.
7/9/2021	30:00	1607	What's your dream job? Chances are that over the years the answer to that question has changed, probably quite a bit. Those are the questions that Dr. Kevin Hoff tries to answer in his new research paper in the Journal of Career Assessment called "Dream Jobs and Employment Realities: How Adolescents' Career Aspirations Compare to Labor Demands and Automation Risks". Today on the Best of Our Knowledge, this new study looks at the job you want verses the job you get.
7/16/2021	30:00	1608	When Apollo 11 landing on the moon they indeed stepped where no man has gone before. But once they got there, they didn't go far. Today on the Best of Our Knowledge, we'll learn about the development of the lunar rover, and how that opened up the later Apollo missions with lunar road trips.
7/23/2021	30:00	1609	With young students spending a massive amount of time in front of screens, media literacy is becoming important at a young age. Today on the Best of Our Knowledge, a new children's book takes on media literacy.
7/30/2021	30:00	1610	Since the Supreme Court ended its session in June, all eyes are on Justice Stephen Breyer. If he were to retire, it would give President Joe Biden a chance to fulfill one of his major campaign promises: to appoint a woman of color to the bench. In the history of the United States, there have been 114 justices to sit on the Supreme Court, that's counting the 9 that are up there now. Only 4 have been women. But those four haven't been the only ones considered for the court. Today on The Best Of Our Knowledge, we'll open up history class and talk again about the women shortlisted for the bench.
8/6/2021	30:00	1611	We hear a lot today about lots of job openings and not enough workers, but many companies are blocking a good chunk of the country from even applying: people without college degrees.
8/13/2021	30:00	1612	The numbers of ways educators were able to do their jobs and serve their students during the COVID-19 pandemic is probably equal to the number of educators that exist. Just about every teacher has a personal story to tell. Today, we are going to hear the stories of two.
8/20/2021	30:00	1613	Today on the Best of Our Knowledge, we'll talk about how colleges are teaching degree programs in the supply chain.
8/27/2021	30:00	1614	Education technology has come a long way from the very first attempts a century ago. This week, we'll explore the history of teaching machines.
