NETWORK/NATIONAL

The Note's Must-Reads 4/3/14 are a round-up of today's political headlines and stories from ABC News www.abcnews.com.

FORT HOOD SHOOTING

ABC News' Devin Dwyer: "President Obama: Shooting 'Reopens Pain' at Fort Hood" Breaking from an evening of Democratic fundraising in Chicago, President Obama tonight offered prayers for the victims of the latest Fort Hood shooting and vowed to "get to the bottom of what happened." "Obviously, this reopens the pain of what happened at Fort Hood five years ago," Obama said during an impromptu appearance before reporters inside the Chicago Cut Steakhouse. "We know these families."

AFFORDABLE CARE ACT

ABC News' Alexander Mallin: "Obamacare Supporters Troll Ted Cruz on Facebook" It appeared Sen. Ted Cruz, R-Tex., expected something entirely different from Facebook when he asked whether his Facebook followers were better off with Obamacare than they were four years ago, suggesting they "Comment with YES or NO!" Comment they did. By late Wednesday afternoon, the status update had more than 55,000 replies.

GOP

ABC News' Alexander Mallin: "Boehner's GOP Challenger Charges 'Electile Dysfunction' In Video" A new parody video out this week from one of John Boehner's Republican primary opponents is accusing the House Speaker of "electile dysfunction." In a not-so subtle spin of Boehner's last name, Tea Party candidate J.D. Winteregg recruited a team of actors to stage a Cialis-style commercial that takes jabs at everything from Boehner's smoking habits to his skin color.
