Two Minute Sports Drill in 10:00pm News

July 30

Hello and welcome to the 2 minute drill, i'm gardner royce.
With fall sports just a few weeks away, i'll be doing team previews and storylines to watch this upcoming season. We get going with a team that has a lot to prove in 2015 It's 7 am and members of thomas marione prep monarch football team are already hard at work. Pushups, sprints and conditioning are all part of coach john montgomery's plan to forget last year's 0-9 season.
It hasn't been easy for the monarchs who've gone 4-23 over the last three seasons. But the team is taking a new approach by going back to the basics.
While it may sound simple, players say the conditioning and emphasis on fundamentals has already paid off. The morning ends with a group yoga and stretch session, a chance to unwind and move past last season's struggle.

Welcome to the 2 minute drill, i'm gardner royce
In today's team preview, i visit a program that needs very little introduction.
After going 13-0 and winning the 8 man division one state championship, central plains players and coaches know this season won't be easy.
Taking it one game at a time worked well for the oilers who capped off an undefeated season with a 42-30 victory over hanover. Yet after a handful of key seniors graduated, central plains knows they'll have to work to get back to the top.
Inside the hot weight room, players go through a grueling workout meant to test the limits of their physical abilities
With expectations sky high, players say the pressure to succeed comes from within.
Last season the oilers found success on both sides of the ball, establishing an identity they plan to continue.
The oilers open their season against division ii state champions victoria in a rematch of last years game that central plains won 42-24

For a football team, losing your head coach can be one of the hardest things to handle, tack on graduating your starting quarterback and you've got quite the challenge. That's the situation at Hays where new head coach Randall Rath takes over a team that returned only two starters. One year after going 7-2 and winning the Western Athletic Conference, the Hays Indians have a whole new look. After graduating star QB Alex Delton, the Indians turn to junior Kohlton Meyers to lead the team. The team also has their third head coach in as many years, in Randall Rath, who has brought changes to conditioning and practice. But it hasn't been easy, with extremely low player turnout. Despite the challenges, players say they've come together and are excited for the season.

Welcome to the two minute drill, I'm Gardner Royce.

For most high school football players, winning a state championship would qualify as a complete season,

But for members of the Victoria Knights team, last year's championship had a slight blemish.

One loss on an otherwise perfect record.

Players are up before the sun, sprinting through drills and exercises to start their day.

Motivated by revenge, they push themselves to the breaking point. They still believe they have unfinished business.

Last year's showdown between Central Plains and Victoria ended in a blowout win for Central Plains, and dashed the Knights hope for a perfect season. Both teams went on to win the 8-man division one and two state championships respectively

It turned into the team's new slogan, a motto for the offseason.

Going through a brutal circuit workout, the players are constantly moving, lifting, squatting to get ready for week one. It's a familiar foe and one none of them can get out of their minds.

Welcome to the 2 minute drill, I'm Gardner Royce...

With official practice less than 2 weeks away, most teams are wrapping up their conditioning, putting behind them a successful summer of workouts.

But for the Osborne Bulldogs, this summer has been anything but easy.

After last year's 10-2 record, players were surprised when Bulldogs head coach Steve Tiernan announced he was leaving Osborne for Solomon

The Bulldogs also lost their starting quarterback Jake Tiernan who also transferred to Solomon. After finding out the news, the team wasn't sure what to expect.

Three weeks of getting to know their new coach John Scarborough, players seem to be getting used to the idea of a new team Players say Scarborough brings an excitement and energy to every practice, leading the team on a four mile run before calling it a day.

Welcome to the 2 minute drill, I'm Gardner Royce.

It's been a busy summer for area football teams, with Osborne, Hays and Ness City all hiring new coaches.

Another new man at the helm is Grant Stephenson who takes over for Joe Simon at Plainville.

After going 3-6 and missing out on last year's playoffs, the Plainville Cardinals brought in Grant Stephenson to help right the ship. Though it's been only a few weeks, players say he's already changed the dynamic of the team. Stephenson says players have learned quickly but are still getting used to certain changes. These quick and intense workouts have the team focused and prepared. Players are also confident in Stephenson's knowledge and ability to use the available talent. It's the last week of summer, for some area athletes that means a chance to relax and rest up before next week's official practices start. But for some teams, this week is another chance to grind and prepare for the season. After a 4-5 year which they barely missed the playoffs, the Ellis railers aren't taking any time off. With a large number of returning starters, there's a confident air inside the lockerroom. Missing the playoffs not only dampened last year, it gave them a clear goal for the offseason. The motivation has paid off as players say they've grown stronger and faster each week. The railers also have a new head coach in Craig Amrein, a longtime member of the Ellis staff, Amrein's raised the level of competition in the weight room. Along with intensity, Coach Amrein has the players studying tape and learning new plays. With high expectations, the team wants to leave it all out on the field this season....

Aug 12

Welcome to the 2 minute drill, I'm Gardner Royce.

Experience is something that you really can't teach or coach, you just have to do it...

For the Otis Bison Cougars, last year's team was short on experience and it showed on the field...

This year...they're hoping those lessons will carry over. Everything was pretty much new to them.

While last season's young team finished with a 4-5 record, it may be for the better. Most of them are gonna have to start...most of them have. With school and official practices starting next week, the Cougars feel confident they are ready. The Cougars open their season against Macksville, who they dismantled last year 56-6. Something that hasn't gone unnoticed by players. Everyone's excited to play. Finally, with new state rules on practices and contact, the team has made the adjustments without a problem. As always, if you have any questions, concerns or suggestions get in touch with me! At groyce@kwch.com or 785-650-9530

Welcome to the 2 minute drill I'm Gardner Royce

With school starting next week, students will be introduced to new teachers, lesson plans and updated lunch menus. A handful of those teachers are also coaches and over the next few weeks, we'll introduce some of the new faces in Western Kansas sports. We'll start with a coach who's making his head coaching debut. Following a 3-6 record, the Plainville Cardinals were looking for new leadership and they found it in Grant Stephenson...A former graduate assistant at Fort Hays State and Texas Christian University, Stephenson has made the transition without struggle. With his easygoing nature comes a disciplined commitment to practice and learning. For the Cardinals, the order and rules are already showing positive results. Yet beneath the strict orders, is a coach who cares deeply about his players and community.

Welcome to the two minute drill, I'm Gardner Royce.

It's almost the weekend but for the Fort Hays Tigers, their work is just starting. Today the Tigers had their first practice in their brand new jerseys and did not disappoint. On the heels of last year's 7-4 record, the Tigers have their eyes set on the first playoff appearance since the team joined the MIAA in 2006.

With a large team this year, players say there's a new motto in the locker room. A member of the tough MIAA conference, competition is the only way to succeed. If last year's success was an appetizer, coaches and players want the full course meal. One positive for the team is they are returning a handful of starters in key positions. Yet between the drills, sprints and conditioning, the team finds time to enjoy each other and playing football.

Welcome to the 2 minute drill I'm gardner royce.

It's finally here. Official football practices and the countdown to september 4th. Over the past few weeks we've been introducing you to teams and coaches across western kansas and today's coach has a lot on his plate. Just one year removed from a 7-2 record and the western athletic conference title, the hays indians found out they were getting another new head coach....Before joining hays this year, randall rath spent last year at cimarron after spending nearly two decades at oakley high school and he says he's going to keep it simple. While not easy, the team is getting used to rath and the new plays. While slightly different, rath isn't worried. Despite losing star quarterback alex delton and other key members, long time hays assistant coach steve sedbrook says this is just part of football. The indians need junior quarterback kohilton meyers to be a leader and he's already seen the impact rath has.

It's been a busy off-season for fort hays football alumni, as two former players were signed by nfl teams this summer. But back in hays, the tigers have been playing with a few extra eyes on the sidelines...

Coming off an impressive 7-4 record last year, the tigers have their full attention on making the miaa playoffs. Yet while the season approaches, there's been some added incentive to play well...

With former tigers wide receiver ed williams playing his first nfl preseason game with the green bay packers, the tigers have hosted multiple nfl scouts this offseason, yet it hasn't changed the players outlook... The added attention gives players an opportunity to showcase their skills, something coaches feel they should be ready for....It's a dream many of them have had since they were little kids, and they don't plan on letting it slip away...Exciting for current players, it's also positive for the program as a whole.

Golf is a game of patience and repetition, just the tiniest tweak in your swing can be the difference between a bogey or a below par round...Golf also makes you consider your environment, with each course posing new challenges and traits...For the tmp monarch girls golf team, last year's state championship was an eye opener...The monarchs dropped down to 3a this season but they've made it a goal to qualify for state again...Due to school staff reductions, the team also has a new head coach, jake befort who was an assistant coach last year....While difficult, the transition wasn't as hard as it could have been...After a long day of practice, befort takes the stress away from practice...Tune in tomorrow night for the first catchitkansas show of the season! Also check out catchitkansas.com for more stories and scores...

Welcome to the 2 minute drill... With temperatures reaching 100 degrees today, it was toasty one all around, But a few dozen area golfers braved the heat for the annual hays invitational golf tournament...

With fall sports starting this week, the hays invitational signaled the beginning of another girls golf season... Generally the first tournament of the year, it's a shortened 9 hole course to accommodate players rust and fatigue...Yet the players showed their skills early on as tmp's kari dinkel continued her stellar play, shooting 40 on the day...The monarchs weren't the only team who showed excitement as the hays indians are trying to follow up last year's state championship... After losing key players from last season, senior taylor deboer and junior katie brungardt had solid days, battling each other to finish tied with 39..

The teammates tied for first place and deboer won the first hole playoff to claim the gold medal... The indians finished third as a team, behind garden city and tmp who finished first... It was a good day for the monarchs who's off season training paid off...After finishing 6th at last year's state championship, dinkel and the players are ready for more victories...

Sept 1

Welcome to the two minute drill and welcome to september... Along with the new month comes the start of high school soccer. The western athletic conference kicked off its competition with garden city and hays....Ranked fifth in the 6a preseason polls, the buffaloes came into hays excited to see how their team offseason training would pay off...Garden city dominated the game, controlling the ball for most of the first half and scoring with ease... Something hays head coach jim maska knows something about...It was clear that it was the first game of the season as both teams struggled with communication and execution of their plans..While hesitant, padilla was impressed with what he saw...For hays, 2015 will be a challenging year as the team is extremely young and inexperienced... Despite the large score difference, the indians are focusing on the positives to get ready for the next game...

Sept 2

Welcome to the 2 minute drill...People always talk about the comradere and chemistry that playing on a team builds...You sometimes know your teammates better than they do and it helps during games or practices...For the hays girls volleyball team, their chemistry is at an all time high, and so are the expectations...If it sounds blunt, it's because it is. The indians enter 2015 coming off of their first winning record since 2004...largely due to a core of girls who've been teammates for years...Along with the expectations comes a committment to hard work as the girls don't plan on wasting their opportunity... Schafer and brown lead a stocked indians team that is looking to win its first wac title since 1994.despite the lofty goals, the players aren't anxious or stressed...With three seniors who've played varsity since their freshman year, 2015 is a year many people have been looking forward to for a long time...

Sept 8

Welcome to the 2 minute drill...Friday night lights are finally back... And what a weekend it was..

Most of kansas kicked off high school football on friday, starting the march to state championships...)

We get going in norton where the bluejays took on the ellis railers and their new head coach craig amrien...It wasn't much of a game as the bluejays dominated from the start...Here the defense stifling the railers...but today belonged to senior gavin lively who put on a show! He finished with 360 all purpose yards and four touchdowns for the bluejays...but was quick to share the victory with his teammates...

To college we go where the fort hays state tigers won a wild game against central oklahoma...Here qb traveon albert finds shaquille cooper for a beautiful short touchdown pass...the game came down to a last second field goal and drew obrien found gold on his 19 yard fg to win the game 30-29 as time expired!

Coming up this friday, hays hosts rival garden city on friday... On saturday, 2012 garden city graduate tyler uselton will take the field for memphis as they battle the kansas jayhawks...

Sept 9

Welcome to the 2 minute drill...The fort hays state tigers opened up their 2015 season with a wild come from behind victory over central oklahoma...We caught up with the tigers this week as they digest the win and prepare for their home opener....This was on full display thursday when starting running back malik thomas went down with a knee injury. Enter sophomore shaquille cooper who put on a show with 195-all purpose yards and three tds, most notably a 79 yard blazing run...With expectations high in hays, the week one road victory was crucial for the team's journey... But this time, the tigers do have something to show....With the football team's gradual improvement and success, fans are starting to rally around the tiger team..

Sept 15

Welcome to the 2 minute drill....The nfl is back, which officially means thursday through sunday are all designated for football...I couldn't be happier and this weekend was jam packed with highlights and wild finishes...We start in hays, where the fort hays state tigers had to endure a 2 hour rain delay before finally taking the field...northeastern state struck first but this game belonged to the tigers... Shaquille cooper continued his stellar season, breaking this one for a long touchdown. He was named the miaa co player of the week... But the team wasn't satisfied with their offense..Now to high school where the hays indians hosted great bend... It was a back and forth game, with hays getting huge help from running back hunter brown... Brown finished with 170 yards on the ground..But a crucial fourth down play in the final quarter sealed the win for the panthers...Finally saturday, in hutchinson a top ten juco rivalry between butler and hutch. The blue dragons entered the game ranked 3rd, grizzlies 8th, it took only two plays for the blue dragons to score but that was about it...Grizzlies completely overpowering the blue dragon team, getting everything they wanted offensively and stonewalling the hutch offense.. But players didn't seem to care about the pregame rankings...Tough news out of norton where senior gavin lively told me his mri results showed a tear in his knee, sidelining him for 2 months...

Sept 16

Welcome to the 2 minute drill...With homecoming just a few days away, students and athletes at thomas more prep marian are getting ready for their big weekend...But there's someone else who circles this weekend on his calendar... For tmp groundskeeper steve werth, the idea came to him while he was mowing...Using left over paint from the football field , werth created a massive logo on the schools front lawn... At first he did it without permission but his work quickly caught on and left a lasting impression... The logo was an instant hit, and made werth a local celebrity for his art..something he finds amusing... Not your typical modern artist, werth shocked himself with his first attempt..Since then, the logo's have become a staple of tmp's homecoming week, planned out and included in the budget..it's a way to pay tribute to the school's long history...For werth, creating the logos has become something he looks forward to all year, a connection between him and the school...

Sept 23

For many high school athletes, senior year is one of their last chances to play the sport they love....

Yet for the few special individuals talented enough, the game continues long after prom night...

For ness city senior regan stiwalt, volleyball has been part of her life since fourth grade... A talented basketball player and track star, she was hooked after her first big hit...Despite her love for volleyball, stiwalt played basketball up until last year, when she joined a club volleyball team in the winter... Don't worry, she's sort of addicted to the sport...A ferocious hitter, stiwalt is one of the hardest workers on the team, constantly practicing and working out...A team trip to wichita two summers ago changed everything for stiwalt... The tall, athletic player caught the eye of wichita state coaches who approached her... Stiwalt verbally committed to the shockers program, a lifelong dream fulfilled. With college on the horizon, she still has unfinished business back in nass, the team is 8-2 and hungry for a trip to the state championship... For now, the high school senior has a simple life...

Sept 24

Welcome to the 2 minute drill... To be successful in sports, you have to be able to react quickly... whether it's a blitzing linebacker, or elusive striker, making decisions on the fly is crucial to winning and staying ahead.. One of the hardest things to adjust to is injury... something the victoria knights know far too much about... Coming off of last year's state championship, the knights returned ten seniors and were poised to repeat.. and then disaster struck... Following their week one game, quarterback brady dinkle was rushed to the hospital for an undisclosed injury... Doctors found a small cut in his liver and pancreas problems... Dinkle remained in the hospital for a week before returning home.. It's unclear exactly what the injury is, dinkle has further tests in a few weeks. But for now, the team must move forward, with senior joe dortland under center... Unfinished business is still the motto of the knights, a reminder of last year's single loss to rival central plains.. For now, they're adapting and continuing the tradition of victoria football...

Sept 30

Welcome to the 2 minute drill... The fort hays state volleyball team is in the midst of a solid 9-6 season...

A huge win over washburn this weekend and overall positive mentality has the tigers excited and optimistic... Coming off of last year, the team brought in a handful of new faces, raising some eyebrows with the decision. For head coach kurt kohler, the transformation has spoken for itself... Kohler got an extra dose of inspiration over the weekend as the tigers took down #7 washburn, beating them for the first time in 19 matches... Play the rest of the season.. An energetic and motivated team, this year is shaping up to be a memorable one at fort hays...
