Issues: Law Enforcement, Affordable Housing

Program Title: At Issue

October 1st, 2023 – 6 a.m. – 29 minutes – KFDI’s George Lawson hosts an extended, long-form, in-depth news report featuring comments from a recent news conference about the Wichita Police Department. Mayor Brandon Whipple, City Auditor Kristina Rose, and Police Chief Joe Sullivan present the results of a year-long study of the property and evidence section of the Police Department. The study found that there was no missing evidence and there are some policies and practices that need to be revamped.

The second segment of the program is audio of a recent presentation to the Wichita City Council about an Affordable Housing Fund. The city has taken $5 million from American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA) funding to create this program, aimed at low-to-moderate-income families. There are comments from Sarah Gooding of the City’s Department of Housing and Community Services, along with Department Director Sally Stang and City Council Member Bryan Frye.
