7/31/20	9PM	VO	Arizona's primary is still 4 days away, but in Maricopa County - they're breaking records "We've got more ballots that have already been turned in, than have been turned in through the entirety of the 2016 primary." And this numbers are all what Maricopa county considers vote by mail. It's popularity in the state has steadily grown. 76% of Maricopa County voters signed up for the option - but it doesn't matter if you vote blue or red Adrian Fontes/Maricopa County Recorder "Even in counties just north of us, Yavapai county, they're pushing close to 82 83% right now of their voters and they're the reddest county in Arizona" President Donald Trump has made his thoughts on vote by mail clear over the past few days - even saying the election should be delayed "I don't want to see a crooked election. This election will be the most rigged election if it happens" As maricopa county gets ready for safe in person voting on the 4th Erika Flores/MARICOPA COUNTY ELECTIONS DEPARTMENT "When people come to the vote centers they should expect to see places that are large enough to be able to practice physical distancing" It remains to be seen how popular the mail in option will be in November. But Fontes says there will be no delays Fontes "This republic has to be protected and that means the system that perpetuates our this republic, our democracy, has to be protected. And we're going to move forward executing our duties as prescribed by law."
