Dakota Life

Greetings from Murdo

The county seat of Jones County, Murdo is a familiar landmark at the crossroads of Interstate 90 and U.S. Highway 83.

Meghan Newsam Community Celebration

The first-ever Meghan Newsam Community Celebration took place in Murdo August 2021. The goal was to share the laughter and joy that Newsam brought to the community. Family and friends plan to continue celebrating life and bringing opportunities to Murdo. SDPB visits with family and friends who created the celebration and finds out how they are working to make it an annual event.

The Fort Pierre National Grassland

The Fort Pierre National Grassland is federal land and covers 116,000 acres south of Fort Pierre, north of Interstate 90, and west of the Lower Brule Indian Reservation. The topography ranges from flat to gently rolling hills to relatively steep slopes and creeks that flow toward the Bad River and the Missouri River. Numerous drainage areas have been dammed to create small to medium-sized ponds that provide water for wildlife and livestock. Many ponds are important for waterfowl habitat and popular fisheries. The Fort Pierre National Grassland is a primarily mixed grass prairie vegetation and home to many species of wildlife.

Pioneer Auto Museum

The Geisler family of Murdo knows cars. Since 1954, the Pioneer Auto Show and Museum has revved up interest of car lovers everywhere. Five years ago, the History Channel even made a trip to visit South Dakota's largest collection of Americana as part of their American Pickers show. Today's museum consists of classic cars, vintage tractors, and other collectable and antique items from the roadways of the Mt. Rushmore state.

Jones County Sportsman Club

Murdo and the surrounding area are known for fine hunting opportunities, and a keen interest in the shooting sports and archery has been part of life there for generations. Local residents gather at the Sportsman's club for all kinds of civic and social activities, including competitive shooting events inside and outside the clubhouse. There's a special emphasis on hunter education for area youngsters. We'll show you how the community supports this and other opportunities for area young people, all in an effort to engage kids in positive activities and foster good memories of growing up in Murdo.🐾

An all new episode of Dakota Life premieres Thursday, Jan. 6, at 8pm (7 MT) and rebroadcasts Sunday, Jan. 9, at 1pm (noon MT) on SDPB1 and SDPB.org

"We had a plan, a dream, and together we were moving forward."

Clockwise starting top right: Nikita Eagleman;
Kathleen WoodenKnife & Tashina Red Hawk

Veterinarian services can be difficult to access in remote and rural areas, which is often where the buffalo – and dogs, cats, horses and other animals – roam. Kathleen WoodenKnife of Soldier Creek on the Rosebud Indian Reservation has worked for years to help provide affordable animal care to her community. She has organized numerous low-cost/no-cost pop-up clinics in Mission, enlisting veterinarians and volunteers to deliver wellness checks, vaccinations, spaying/neutering, food and medicine that serve hundreds of animals for the Sicangu Lakota Oyate.

WoodenKnife dreamed of building a permanent animal clinic in Mission where “tribal communities can access affordable pet health care.” For the last six years, she partnered closely with Dr. Eric Jayne and Sovereign Nations Veterinary (SNV) to connect tribal members with animal care. Jayne, a veterinarian based out of Des Moines, Iowa, founded SNV with the mission of providing training and funding for tribes to build and maintain their own self-sustaining clinics locally.

Combining their determination, resources, and love for the four-leggeds, WoodenKnife, Jayne and SNV partner Dr. Lori Gossard established, with grants and private donations, Wamakaskan Wawokiye Oti, a veterinary hospital in Mission. The Lakota name translates to “Helping Animal Center.” The hospital is located in an existing building in Mission that WoodenKnife and volunteers are remodeling into a clinical facility.

As manager of Wamakaskan Wawokiye Oti, WoodenKnife has helped over 1,500 dogs, horses, cats, and rabbits receive affordable care in 2021 alone. For her, the clinics have always been a labor of love, but perhaps never more so than recently. In July 2021, Dr. Jayne was killed in a traffic accident near Grand Forks, North Dakota. “He believed in and was so excited to bring this clinic to our reservation,” WoodenKnife posted on Facebook. “He brought many fellow veterinarians and groups to our homeland to help build this clinic.”

Even in the aftermath of this devastating loss, the care continued. Then in early December, WoodenKnife’s husband of many years, Verdell, made his journey after battling cancer and a stroke. WoodenKnife balanced her husband’s palliative care with the needs of the animals. “Working with the animals is my therapy while this experience changes my life, my future,” says WoodenKnife.

Clinics By and For the People

Nikita Eagleman, 29, lives in Antelope Community. Growing up with cats and dogs, she dreamed of becoming a vet since she was 6-years old. On her first day volunteering at Wamakaskan Wawokiye Oti, Eagleman was cleaning cages and mopping the floor when Dr. Jayne, short-staffed for post-op recovery, requested her assistance. “Ever since that day, Dr. Jayne was always extremely happy and relieved to see me coming back to volunteer,” says Eagleman. Eagleman routinely assists with vaccinations and recovery and is entering a GED/Vet Tech program with support from the SNV Dr. Eric Jayne Scholarship. “I really love helping out at Kathleen’s clinic. It makes me feel useful. I hope to use my experience to support the clinic and help save injured animals faster, and to help my people out, educate on proper animal care, and hopefully encourage them to see vet tech as a future career.”

“Get It Done Now, Freak Out Later”

Tashina Red Hawk likes to say she’s been riding horses “since the womb.” The 18-year-old grew up on a ranch in Ring Thunder. Red Hawk, who is Sicangu Lakota, was raised with horses. Like many Lakota, she considers horses to be relatives. “I refer to them as my family members. Culturally, they are very important to us. I was raised to take care of them, learn about their nutrition, doctor their wounds.”

Red Hawk recalls two experiences in her youth formative to the woman she is today. Years ago, when her chestnut Appaloosa Aguyapi Skua (Sweet Bread) went missing, the Red Hawk family met with a medicine man, who directed them to a lone tree on their 160 acres. Aguyapi Skua had died. “He was just laying perfectly laid out under this beautiful tree, on the other side of a barbed wire fence, which was not broken or disturbed,” says Red Hawk. “The medicine man informed us that sickness was coming to our home, but the horse chose to take the illness upon himself, so we could be happy and healthy. This is the power of the horse.”

Years later when she was 10, Red Hawk and her father found their horse Wakeya Wi (Lightning Girl) severely wounded.

Hannibal, one of history's most famous generals, achieved what the Romans thought to be impossible. With a vast army of 30,000 troops, 15,000 horses and 37 war elephants, he crossed the mighty Alps in only 16 days to launch an attack on Rome from the north. For more than 2,000 years, nobody has been able to prove which of the four possible routes Hannibal took across the Alps, and no physical evidence of Hannibal's army has ever been found. Unlock the secret on Secrets of the Dead Hannibal in the Alps.

Wish You Were Here!

Bison-based songwriter and musician Eliza Blue hosts the second season of the warm-hearted and all-rural traveling music series. Wish You Were Here works as a visual ethnographic almanac, following the ecology and seasonality of raising food on the high plains, interspersed with original stories, an appreciation of nature and art, and songs about life on the prairie.

This month Blue takes us to Bohemian Hall in Mandan, North Dakota. A clapboard-sided, gabled lodge, Bohemian Hall has hosted social, political, and community gatherings since 1907. Farmer and folk musician Chuck Suchy, North Dakota's official state troubadour, and Blue share songs they perform in the rural gathering place. "He's a really amazing guy and beautiful songwriter," says Blue.

Rachmaninoff / Symphony No. 2

Rachmaninoff's Second Symphony is not only one of the most popular works of its kind ever written, it is a triumph of the human spirit. Shattered by the disastrous premiere of his First Symphony ("the most agonizing hour of my life"), Rachmaninoff fell into a deep depression and struggled daily to write a page of music worth keeping. With the help of hypnosis, Rachmaninoff eventually recovered to write his best-loved works for piano and a symphony for the ages.

Lori Walsh Recognized with Media Personality Distinguished Service Award

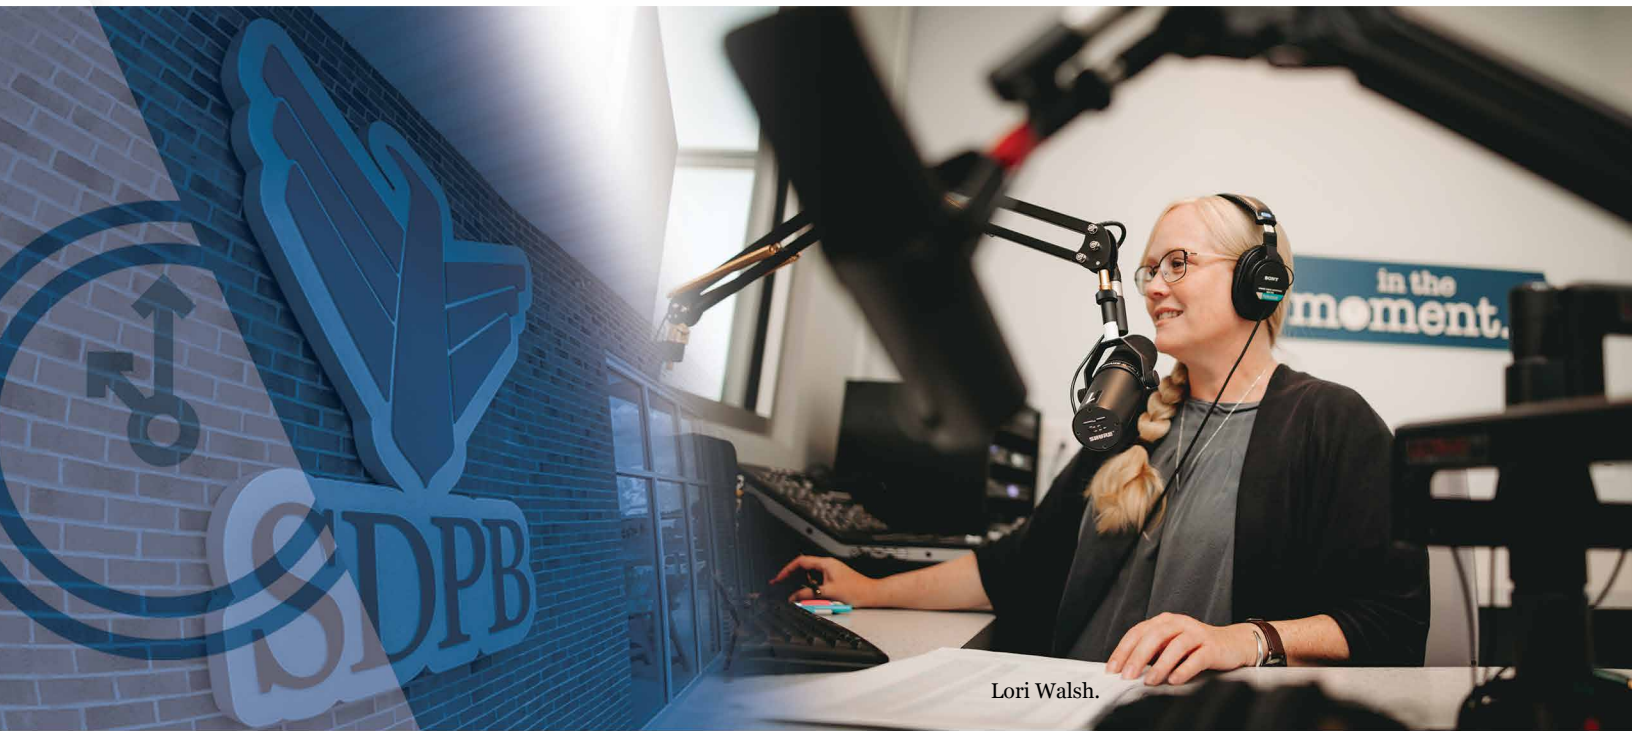

The South Dakota Association of Healthcare Organizations (SDAHO) has selected Lori Walsh, host and lead producer of SDPB's In the Moment, as the recipient of its 2021 Distinguished Service Award for Media Personality.

The SDAHO is recognizing Walsh, in collaboration with producers and contributors, for providing timely and accurate coverage of COVID-19 from the outset of the pandemic.

"Lori Walsh and SDPB Radio have made it a priority to have an expert from Sanford Health on their radio program to ensure listeners have the most accurate and up-to-date information about COVID-19," said Paul Heinert, Media Relations Manager for Sanford

Health. "These interviews were heard throughout the state to a wide audience. Lori's program is a go-to source. What we appreciate about Lori is that she is only interested in the correct information – not flashy headlines or spin. We always tell our doctors and leaders that doing an interview with Lori is the most useful 10-15 minutes of media they will do. She is a true professional, does her research about the healthcare topic and is respectful of our expert's time."

Chased by a stud, the 15.5 hand mare had gashed through barbed wire. "Her whole front quarter was hanging off, like a giant chunk of meat," says Red Hawk.

Veterinarian services, let alone emergency care, are over an hour away from the Mission area. Red Hawk and her father lifted the wounded animal into a trailer and went home to bind the wound in a butterfly bandage. "Every morning before I would go to school, I would take off all of her bandages, clean her wounds, bandage her back up, give her pain meds, go to school, come back from school and do that process all over again," says Red Hawk. "It's almost 100 miles round trip to get to the closest vet clinic. So, I was raised with having the common sense of, 'Okay, well, there's an emergency. Get it done now, freak out later.'"

Like Eagleman, Red Hawk was volunteering with Dr. Jayne and

Red Hawk – a champion barrel racer currently serving her second term as South Dakota State High School Rodeo Queen and who recently received the 2022 4-H Youth in Action Award for Agriculture – made herself useful. "We had like over 300 animals. It was like a tornado." Red Hawk will study Pre-Veterinary Medicine at SDSU this fall. When she is a licensed veterinarian, she plans to bring her skills back to the Sicangu Lakota Oyate. "Kathleen and Dr. Jayne started everything and got it to where it is today," says Red Hawk. "Kathleen is making the right connections to see out her dreams. My being able to volunteer right now is because of Kathleen's dream and realizing her goal of helping the animal nation."

"We had a plan, a dream and together we were moving forward," WoodenKnife wrote.

"This will be the first of its kind clinic model. We are excited to have our own tribal members be a part of caring for the 4-legged right here at home."🐾

SDPB SUPPORTER SPOTLIGHT

KEN & CATHY VOGEL, RAPID CITY

Ken Vogeles grew up in Aberdeen. His father, the son of Russian immigrants, served as doctor to the Germans from Russia who immigrated to the region. After attending medical school at the University of South Dakota, Ken completed his MD degree, specializing in gastroenterology, at the University of Nebraska Medical Center where he met Cathy who was head nurse on the OB floor. In 1975 they moved to Rapid City, where Ken practiced medicine and they raised daughter Gretchen and son Brendan. Early on, the Vogeles began collecting Native American arts and crafts, and Cathy opened the Sioux Trading Post in 1985. The Vogeles are currently donating their collection to the South Dakota Art Museum in Brookings.

Ken says the Vogeles were introduced to SDPB some 45 years ago, via Cathy's friendship with longtime Friends of SDPB President Murman Jensen. They are avid consumers of news, including PBS NewsHour, Morning Edition and All Things Considered. "Public broadcasting gives such an in-depth, balanced, and well-rounded news experience," says Ken.

More recently, the Vogeles enjoy watching news, nature documentaries and dramas on Passport because they can watch programs on their own timetable. "Our free time is at the end of the day, so with Passport we can watch whenever we want," says Ken. Because of Cathy's training as an OB nurse, Call the Midwife has been a favorite. They also enjoy All Creatures Great and Small and highly recommend Ken Burns' Muhammad Ali. "The broad range of programs allows South Dakotans in general a much broader and deeper understanding of what's happening in our world," says Ken.

The Vogeles like to honor friends and relatives with gifts to SDPB. "When people who are important in our lives pass on, Cathy and I like to donate money in their names to memorialize them. People naturally have different charity interests. Frequently, the person's obituary lists a charity or charities that they favor, but we may not feel an attachment to those. In that case, we donate to South Dakota Public Broadcasting in their memory. Unless you request otherwise, the fact of your gift and the name of the loved one you memorialized will be listed in a future SDPB Magazine."

"I think public broadcasting can be a force for good," says Ken. "It's informative in a way that is nonjudgmental and not controversial. The news and other programs are like Dragnet. 'Just the facts, ma'am.'"
