All -

You may have seen the article in this morning's Inside Radio, regarding the order the FCC issued yesterday relating to political file paperwork. The order primarily just clarified the FCC's October 2019 order on political file no confusion on what yesterday's order said. In short, in the FCC's October order they stated that for issue ads, (1) in relation to the requirement that stations disclose the officers and directors of the entity purchasing the ad listed by the purchaser in its paperwork, stations are required to inquire to the purchaser at least once to confirm there are no additional officers or directors, and (2) stations must list all issues mentioned and all elections to federal office mentioned. The FCC's order from yesterday just clarifies that their October order only applies to issue ads and does not apply to candidate ads. Our FCC counsel did a right after the October order was released, and their summary of the order in the attached presentation was correct (on pages 31 and 32), so hopefully folks have been following the correct requirements. Those interested, I've copied our FCC counsel's longer summary of yesterday's order below. Let me know any questions.
