- 11P LOC/NEWS 1/17/14 1:20
Tonight a parent questions the policies of the Atherton School District. The district doesn't make it mandatory for an adult to be outside when the bus drops off a child. Earlier this week the woman's 5-year-old daughter was dropped off at the wrong home, and the little girl sat outside in the cold for at least an hour.
- 5P LOC/NEWS 1/24/14 1:20
The Flushing School District closed at noon today, due to a power outage. Frustrated parents had to then make arrangements to pick up their children. Parents were already surprised the district was in session today, as many schools closed because of weather.
- 11P LOC/NEWS 1/28/14 1:20
Today's school cancellations meant another day off for hundreds of local students, but not for all athletes. Saginaw Public Schools chose to still host sporting events, even after skipping class due to the cold. Parents didn't have a problem with the mixed decision. School administrators say the decision is based on the fact that the game is not a mandatory event, and children won't be forced to be outside for extended periods of time.
- 6P LOC/NEWS 2/4/14 1:33
Saginaw Public Schools presented a plan to close several buildings, including Saginaw High. The district may also lay off dozens of teachers and staff. Parents and community members say they are shocked by the potential changes coming to the district. The school district needs to eliminate its $5 million deficit. If the district fails to submit a plan to the state on how they eliminate the debt, they could lose their next state aid payment.
- 6P LOC/NEWS 2/17/14 1:30
After weeks of debate, the Saginaw school board voted on a new deficit elimination plan. Seven elementary schools will house all pre-k through 5th grade students. There will be only one middle school, and both Saginaw High and Arthur Hill High Schools remain open, housing students in 8th to 12th grades. The plan eliminates nearly $5 million from the district's $6 million deficit, and now goes to the state for approval.
- 11P LOC/NEWS 2/21/14 1:10
The Saginaw School Board submitted its deficit elimination plan to the state, trimming millions off next year's budget. State officials have now asked them to submit a plan for cutting costs over the next few years. Having student-athletes pay to play sports is one plan being considered.

Schirmer, the pastor of the Reeders United Methodist Church in Reeders Pennsylvania; and the eventual investigation to determine if the deaths of the pastor's previous wives were really accidental. Musante's sister, Rose Cobb, knew something wasn't right and pressed authorities to keep looking. Musante's daughter, Samantha, told police that she had discovered the affair between her mother and Schirmer and had told her father. In the course of the investigation, police determined that Musante's death was truly a suicide but this led to questions regarding the death of the pastor's second wife, Betty Schirmer, just three months earlier in an auto accident. Further investigation determined her death to be suspicious and police suspected Schirmer. Questions then arose about the death of Schirmer's first wife, Jewel. The cause of her death, from a fall, was initially classified as undetermined, but was now ruled a homicide. A.B. Schirmer was arrested and charged with the murder of his second wife, Betty. At first police took Parker's story at face value, but as the investigation continued, they discovered a co-worker (Capnerhurst) with financial problems who was demanding money he was owed from Parker, and a marriage not as solid as they were led to believe. Police determined that Capnerhurst was a victim, rather than a killer, and that the adulterous Parker had murdered his wife, in part to collect on a life insurance policy. 02/01/14

48 HOURS: “Over the Edge” (9:00-10:00p) – a report on the investigation into the 2009 disappearance of Dawn Viens, and why her husband, California chef David Viens, jumped off a cliff when he became a suspect in her disappearance. David Viens ran a successful restaurant in Lomita, California, working in the kitchen while Dawn was the hostess. After Dawn vanished, Viens promoted a young waitress, Kathy Galvan, to take Dawn’s spot at work and in his personal life. Dawn’s friends and family members turned to the police and a local newspaper reporter, Larry Altman (now a CBS News consultant) for help. Police worked methodically on the case, discovering that before moving to California, David was involved in the drug trade in Florida, and had helped authorities bust up a drug ring. After more than a year, as police were closing in, a frightened David Viens opened up to Kathy Galvan: he confessed that he killed Dawn, but claimed it was an accident. Then he recklessly drove on a California coastal highway, with Galvan in the car, to a scenic overlook, and jumped off a 200-foot-high cliff. Surprisingly, Viens survived the fall. His story was that Dawn had started using cocaine and crystal meth. They fought, and David Viens bound her (something he had done in the past), taping her mouth to keep her quiet, and went to sleep. He awoke and found her dead. While in the hospital he told police an incredible tale of disposing of Dawn’s body in the way a chef knows best, by cooking her. He boiled her body in a pot for four days, broke down what would not boil down, and threw it away in the trash. Nineteen months after his leap, a wheelchair-bound Viens was in court to face murder charges. The defense said that Dawn’s death was an accident -- manslaughter, not murder -- and that he did not cook her. After a two-week trial, David Viens was found guilty of murder. On-screen text graphic: Dawn Viens’ body has never been found. David Viens is eligible for parole in 2023. Interviewed: Kathy Galvan, girlfriend/employee; David Papin, brother of Dawn Viens; Larry Altman, reporter, The Daily Breeze / CBS News Consultant; Joe Cacace, local businessman/friend; DEA agent Derek Pollock; Randy Barnett, Manatee County (FL) Detective; Richard Garcia, L.A. County Sheriff’s Detective; Jackie Viens, daughter of David Viens, Sandy Viens, mother of David Viens; and David Viens. (C: Richard Schlesinger – P: Paul LaRosa, Sue McHugh) (OAD: 05/04/13)

02/01/14

48 HOURS: "Death at Soho House" (10:00-11:00p) - a report into the death of swimsuit designer Sylvie Cachay and her ties to the son of an Oscar-winning songwriter. Sylvie Cachay was a rising swimsuit designer, working with top companies like Victoria's Secret, before launching her own line of swimwear. In 2010, she was found dead and partially clothed in an overflowing tub at the Soho House in New York City. Police learned Cachay had checked into the hotel with her boyfriend, Nicholas Brooks, the son of troubled Academy Award-winning songwriter Joseph Brooks. Although there was an empty bottle of prescription pills nearby, the on-scene medical examiner found marks on Sylvie's neck that suggested strangulation and the investigation quickly turned to Brooks. He was arrested. At trial, Brooks was found guilty of second degree murder. Through interviews with Cachay's family and friends, a picture of a successful woman with everything to live for is revealed, but one who was also having second thoughts about her much younger boyfriend. Nicholas Brooks' sister, Amanda Brooks, discusses their childhood, how their family was torn apart by divorce and how their father's famous name and his own troubled life brought nothing but notoriety to the case. On-screen text graphic: Nick Brooks is appealing his conviction arguing the jury should have heard his "rough sex" allegation. 48 HOURS: "The Country Club Murders" - a report on professional poker player Ernie Scherer III, the chief suspect in the 2008 murders of his parents, Charlene and Ernest, in their Castlewood Country Club home in Pleasanton, California. Ernie's motive was financial gain: he was to receive over $2 million if his parents died. He was facing financial pressure from his gambling debts and the loan he was paying back to his parents for the condo he lived in with his wife and young son. During the course of the investigation, police discovered that Ernie was involved with various other women, and always spent lavishly. At the scene, police discovered an odd clue: bloody footprints intentionally left as part of a staged crime scene. Police questioned Ernie, but with no forensic evidence to tie him to the crime, they were unable to arrest him. Later, when new evidence came to light, Ernie had vanished. After a cross country spree of nearly one year, police, with the help of Ernie's wife, were able to apprehend and arrest him for the murder of his parents. His trial in January 2011, ended in a guilty verdict. On-screen text graphic: Ernie Scherer is serving two consecutive life sentences. Catherine Scherer has set up a scholarship in her mother's name at Cal State East Bay. 02/22/14 48 HOURS: "Pain and Gain" - a report about the crimes of the Sun Gym gang, a group of Miami, Florida drifters, petty thieves, and bodybuilders who kidnapped and killed wealthy people to fuel their lifestyle, which provided the inspiration for the recently released black comedy motion picture "Pain and Gain". The story began with the disappearances of Frank Griga and his girlfriend Krisztina Furton in 1995. Police investigation led detectives to a connection to the Sun Gym, a Miami health club, and its manager Danny Lugo and his protégé Adrian Doorbal. Police would discover that they were at the center of a complicated and deadly plot which involved kidnapping, money, and murder. Lugo's girlfriend Sabina Petrescu played a crucial role as police gathered evidence connecting Lugo and Doorbal to the disappearance of Griga and Furton. In a bizarre twist, detectives in another Metro-Dade police department were also looking into Lugo and Doorbal in the kidnapping case of another Miami millionaire, Marc Schiller. Schiller told police that he had been grabbed by a gang and held for more than a month. Schiller also worked out at the Sun Gym, which provided the connection to Lugo and Doorbal. The plan was to kidnap Marc Schiller - a man who had many shady dealings -- have him write his own ransom note, and then kill him. There were several stupid attempts involving costumes, comic book code names, and a staged accident - all of which provided Hollywood with inspiration for the movie. While imprisoned, Schiller was forced to sign over his assets to the gang. They went through the money in about five months and decided to find a new target: Frank Griga. Almost four years after Marc Schiller was left for dead, he faced the Sun Gym gang in court, as Danny Lugo and Adrian Doorbal went on trial for the murders of Frank Griga and Krisztina Furton. They were found guilty of first-degree murder. However, Marc Schiller's ordeal was not over. He was arrested by the FBI on charges involving Medicare fraud. In another twist, the trial judge, Alex Ferrer (now a TV personality), described how important Schiller's testimony was in bringing down the Sun Gym gang. In a plea deal, he ended up serving two years in federal prison and paying $137,000 in restitution. On screen text graphics: Lugo and Doorbal remain on death row. Lugo and Doorbal have appealed their convictions multiple times over the past 15 years. Once their appeals have been exhausted, Florida's governor will sign a death warrant and they will be executed by lethal injection. Updated Text Graphic for 02/22/14 rebroadcast: Lugo and Doorbal continue to appeal their death penalty convictions. Frank Griga's sister and their mother inherited his multi-million dollar estate. Interviewed: Zsuzsanna Griga, Frank Griga's sister; retired homicide detectives/CBS News consultants Sam Garafalo and Felix Jimenez; Patty Barrientos, co-worker of Danny Lugo; Marc Schiller, victim; Miami-Dade prosecutor Gail Levine; Judge Alex Ferrer; private investigator Ed DuBois; State Attorney of Miami-Dade County Katherine Fernandez-Rundle. 48 HOURS: "The Last Confession" - a report on the investigation into the 1960 murder of Irena Garza, in McAllen, Texas, and the efforts family members and police have taken to bring the suspect, a Roman Catholic priest to trial for the crime. The night before Easter, Irene Garza went to church and disappeared. Five days later she was found dead in a canal. Police said she was sexually assaulted and suffocated. There was one immediate suspect, Father John Feit, the priest who admitted to hearing Garza's confession that night, but who has denied any involvement in the murder. Noemi Ponce Sigler, the original investigator's daughter, says her father was told to step away from the case because a deal had been made between the Church and the police regarding Feit. In 2002, the McAllen Police Department asked the Texas Rangers Cold Case unit to re-examine the murder. The investigation took a dramatic turn when a former monk, Dale Tacheny, told police that Feit admitted to killing a young woman while Tacheny was a counselor at a monastery. Joseph O'Brien, an assistant pastor at the church in 1960 also told investigators that Feit told him that he did it. Despite these new findings, Hidalgo County District Attorney Rene Guerra doesn't believe the case is strong enough to take to court, though he would have prosecuted Feit in 1962 on the charges. Members of the Garza family have pinned their hopes on Ricardo Rodriguez, a candidate for Hidalgo County District Attorney, who has said he would look into the case. On-screen text graphic: The primary election for Hidalgo County District Attorney is Tuesday. Interviewed: family members Noemi Ponce Sigler and Lynda De La Vana; journalist/48 HOURS consultant Pamela Colloff; Texas Ranger Rudy Jarmillo; McAllen Police Chief Victor Rodriguez; former monk Dale Tacheny; San Antonio Police Detective George Saidler; Hidalgo County District Attorney Rene Guerra. 48 HOURS: "The Blue River Murder" - a report on the investigation into the 2010 death of Stephanie Roller, a Colorado mother of three who allegedly went for a walk during a blizzard and was later found dead in a nearby river. According to Roller's husband, Dale Bruner, she packed up her laptop and headed out for a walk during a blizzard. He waited 11 hours before calling police to report her missing. Friends, as well as the police, found the story strange. Three days later, she was found dead in the Blue River, the victim of a brutal murder: she had been badly beaten and was still alive when thrown into the water. The police investigation uncovered: a marriage on the brink of collapse, Stephanie's emotional affair with Ron Holthaus, and her concerns for her safety and that of her children. Police had three suspects - the jilted husband, the married boyfriend and the boyfriend's jealous wife. Ultimately, the focus turned to Dale Bruner as the chief suspect when information was discovered regarding his dark, violent side, and eight months later he was arrested for the murder of his wife. In 2012, he was convicted at trial. On-screen text graphic: Dale Bruner will be eligible for parole in 2072. He would be 110 years old. 48 HOURS: "Fateful Connection" - a report on the investigation led by a determined detective to solve a 30-year-old cold case involving two young women who went missing in Florida, in 1982. Amy Hurst and Wendy Huggy did not know each other. Hurst and her new husband, Bill Hurst, had recently moved to Pasco County, Florida, leaving her two young children in the care of relatives in Michigan. Then she just disappeared. Sixteen-year-old Wendy Huggy lived with her grandparents in Pasco County, and went to a party - she never returned home. A fisherman found a body floating in the Gulf of Mexico, wrapped in a homemade afghan, but identification proved difficult. There was no connection made to either woman, although Hurst's husband was immediately viewed as a suspect in her disappearance - but he too disappeared, and both cases languished for decades. Detective Lisa Schoneman, a member of the cold case unit, stepped in and a new investigation began. In 2009, Amy Hurst's son discovered significant evidence about the afghan, through the Doe Network, and a body in a Tampa, Florida potter's field once thought to be Wendy Huggy's was examined. In 2011, it was determined to be that of Amy Hurst. Investigation led to her husband, Bill Hurst, who was in Kentucky. Police were able to get Hurst into custody, and he was indicted on first degree murder charges -- he was found guilty. Detective Schoneman says she will keep trying to find Wendy Huggy. On-screen text graphic: William Hurst will be 85 when he becomes eligible for parole. - 03/22/14 48 HOURS: "aka Rockefeller" - a report about the mysterious life of Christian Gerhartsreiter, a con-man, who pretended, since he came to America from Germany, to be a bond trader, a TV producer, a baronet and even Clark Rockefeller, a member of the famous and wealthy Rockefeller family. In 2008, Gerhartsreiter, then claiming to be Clark Rockefeller, made headlines when he abducted his 7-year-old daughter. The Rockefeller family made it clear that he was not a part of their family. What he was, according to police, was a killer on the run. His arrest in the kidnapping case blew the lid off a 30-year con. All the other identities he had used came to light including the alias he was living under in 1982 in San Marino, California: Christopher Chichester, the 13th Baronet of Chichester. San Marino police believe he murdered John and Linda Sohus, who disappeared in 1985. Years later, the bones on John Sohus were found in the backyard of the house where they lived. At the time, Christopher Chichester lived in the guest house on the property. He went on trial for the murder of John Sohus and was found guilty. On-Screen text graphic for original and rebroadcast: "Rockefeller" fired his lawyers and filed his own petition for a new trial. - 03/29/14 48 HOURS: "ryanferguson@lifeafterten" (9:00-10:00p) - a followup to "Dream Killer" (OAD: 02/18/06), "The Lost Night" (OAD: 03/26/11), and "The Accuser (OAD: 02/23/13) , all dealing with the case of Ryan Ferguson, who was released from prison in November 2013, after nearly 10 years behind bars for the murder of Ken Heitholt, a Columbia Daily Tribune sports editor who was killed in 2001. Correspondent Erin Moriarty and the 48 HOURS team have been investigating the murder and the bizarre circumstances that put Ryan Ferguson in prison for the crime since 2006 and were with Ferguson when he was released from prison. Details of the case, which were presented in the original broadcasts, are interwoven into this report along with past interviews. Also included are new interviews with Ryan Ferguson; his parents, Bill and Leslie Ferguson; his attorney, Kathleen Zellner; his accuser, Charles "Chuck" Erickson; and his new girlfriend Myka Cain. Ultimately, Erickson, even after confessing, believes that he was not responsible for the crime and has a new attorney, the interest of the Midwest Innocence Project and the support of Ryan Ferguson. For now, Ferguson is concentrating on what he will do now: he is thinking about going back to college and may follow his father into the real estate business. On-screen text graphic: Ryan Ferguson has written a book that will be published in 2015. - 03/29/14 48 HOURS: "Last Chance" (10:00-11:00p) - an interview with Damon Thibodeaux, who was wrongfully convicted of the 1996 murder of his 14-year-old cousin Crystal Champagne and who spent 11 years in Louisiana's notorious Angola prison. Thibodeaux, a distant cousin who was staying with the Champagne family was immediately questioned by police after the girl disappeared. After nine hours of interrogation, he confessed to murdering - and raping - the girl. Thibodeaux says he confessed to police after an intense interrogation and because he was sure he would be cleared during trial. When he met with attorneys hours later, he denied having anything to do with the crime. At the 1997 trial, he was convicted and sentenced to death by lethal injection, even though none of the 84 pieces of physical evidence were ever tied to him. His case caught the eye of attorney Denny LeBeouf, who specializes in cases getting inmates off death row. LeBeouf sought the help of Minneapolis attorney Steve Kaplan. Their investigation revealed that Crystal Champagne had never been raped. Together, they came up with a risky plan to present their evidence to Jefferson Parish District Attorney Paul Connick. Connick agreed to re-examine the physical evidence and Thibodeaux was freed two years later. 48 HOURS interviewed various individuals to piece together what may have happened to Champagne. On-screen text graphic: After Thibodeaux was released he earned his GED. He now works for a commercial trucking company. Thibodeaux was invited to testify before Congress about conditions on death row. Last year he became a grandfather.
