"The president has announced that this will happen this week. I have no reason to think otherwise," Ross said. "The markets started recovering on Friday as it began to adjust to the realities that this is not the end of the world," when asked if the decision will hold on Monday should the markets continue to be affected.

The secretary also addressed the timing of the announcement: "It wasn't sudden," he said, adding: "With a whole year of preparation, I don't know why anybody should've been so shocked."

Contrary to White House trade adviser Peter Navarro confirming "there will be no country exclusions," Ross told Chuck: "We'll see. The president makes the decisions." Watch the full interview.

Sen. Angus King (I-Maine), in an exclusive interview, addressed the tariff announcement: "You can't make a change of this significance and assume that nothing else is going to happen as a result." He added: "There is a concern. This is a very, very important decision and it's one that could have long-term ramifications. And it was announced in this kind of shorthand way."

On the Senate Intelligence Committee's Russia investigation, King said it's "worlds apart" from the House's investigation and the "hardest part and the most contentious part, frankly, is the final piece, which is ... to talk about connections between the Trump campaign and officials surrounding the president with, with foreign entities leading up to the election and after." Watch the full interview.

In an exclusive interview, Denis McDonough, White House chief of staff to President Barack Obama, told Todd, "yes," the administration's response to Russia's election interference "was watered down on the insistence of Mitch McConnell." McDonough also said that he believes he "sounded the alarm enough" on Russia. Watch the full interview.

The broadcast also aired an excerpt from NBC News' Megyn Kelly's exclusive sit-down interview in Russia with President Putin, in which he does not deny that Russians and Russian companies were involved in 2016 election interference but says there was no Russian government involvement. "I know that they do not represent the Russian state, the Russian authorities. What they did specifically, I have no idea. I do not know what they were guided by," said Putin. When asked if he would extradite the 13 indicted Russian nationals to the United States, Putin told Kelly: "Never, never. Russia does not extradite its citizens to anyone, just like the United States." Watch the exchange. More of the interview to come in the days ahead.

NBC News' Tom Brokaw and Katy Tur, Republican strategist Al Cardenas and presidential historian Doris Kearns Goodwin joined this morning's roundtable to discuss the week in politics, with Tur noting that "the Mueller headlines this week alone were staggering."

MTP EXCLUSIVE: MNUCHIN SAYS NORTH KOREA MEETING 'ISN'T ABOUT ELEVATING ANYBODY,' DEFENDS TRUMP'S RALLY COMMENTS: 'A LOT OF FUNNY MOMENTS'

EXCLUSIVE: Treasury Secretary Mnuchin on Trump Rally Attacks: "These Are Campaign Rally Issues"

EXCLUSIVE: Arizona Sen. Flake (R) on Trump's Attacks on Free Press: "I Don't Think It's a Responsible Thing to Do"

PLUS: Massachusetts Sen. Warren (D) on Trump Meeting with North Koreans: "Worried That They're Going to Take Advantage of Him"

MARCH 11, 2018 – In an exclusive interview with "Meet the Press" moderator Chuck Todd, Treasury Secretary Steven Mnuchin says President Donald Trump meeting with North Korean leader Kim Jong-Un "isn't about elevating anybody" and "a major reason of why they're having this meeting is because the economic sanctions have had – have – a very big impact on both their economy, and their ability to get pieces of material and other things they need for their weapons programs."

Denuclearization of the Korean peninsula is "absolutely" still American policy, and "the logistics haven't been figured out yet" on the meeting location, shared Mnuchin.

When asked about the president's attacks last night in his Pennsylvania rally, including about Todd himself, Mnuchin told Todd: "These are campaign rally issues... He's using these vulgarities in the context of a campaign rally and obviously there were a lot of funny moments on that rally." Watch the full interview.

Sen. Jeff Flake (R-Ariz.) also addressed Trump's speech last night and his attacks on the press in an exclusive interview: "I don't think it's a responsible thing to do... We should never normalize this kind of behavior, particularly from the president of the United States." On the president's decision to meet with North Korea, Flake said: "It looks as if North Korea has come to a point where they believe that they can be treated as a nuclear power."

Flake ended the interview by saying he believes Trump needs to be challenged in 2020 by someone in the GOP who espouses his views: "It would be a tough go in a Republican primary. The Republican Party is the Trump party right now. But that's not to say it will stay that way." Watch the full interview.

Sen. Elizabeth Warren (D-Mass.), when asked multiple times to pledge serving a six-year term upon reelection this year, told Todd repeatedly: "I am not running for president."

"I am very worried that they're going to take advantage of him," said Warren in reference to the North Koreans meeting with Trump. The senator also responded to The Berkshire Eagle editorial calling for her to take a DNA test: "I know who I am. And never used it for anything. Never got any benefit from it anywhere." Watch the full interview.

Joining this morning's roundtable for insight and analysis were Matt Bai of Yahoo! News, Andrea Mitchell of NBC News, Peggy Noonan of The Wall Street Journal and Eugene Robinson of The Washington Post. Mitchell offered analysis of the week's North Korea developments, telling Todd: "They've had a victory by setting the terms and by having the meeting itself, as you were pointing out. This is what all North Korean leaders have wanted. Three generations have wanted a meeting, legitimacy from an American president." Watch the discussion.

Rubio told Todd that the Senate Intelligence Committee should "potentially" call McCabe back to testify and addressed the damage the firing does to the FBI and the Justice Department: "We need to be very careful about taking these very important entities and smearing everybody in them with a broad stroke."

When asked if he believes Facebook has told the Senate Intelligence Committee the extent of everything that was done with their users, Rubio replied, "I don't, and I think we've learned that the hard way. Every time that we've spoken to them it's kind of rolled out as more coming out.... I'm disturbed by that." Watch the full interview.

Rep. Michael Conaway (R-Texas) of the House Intelligence Committee joined the broadcast in an exclusive interview this morning, sharing that "our committee doesn't – was not charged with answering the collusion idea. So we really weren't focused on that direction." He then said: "We investigated, was there collusion between the Trump campaign and the Russians or was there collusion between the Clinton campaign and the Russians?"

When asked if he would potentially want to reopen the committee's investigation because of the blockbuster story about Facebook and Cambridge Analytica, Conaway replied, "No, it's a different issue." Watch the full interview.

Sen. Sherrod Brown (D-Ohio), who also joined the show in an exclusive interview, told Chuck Todd: "I hear so many Republican senators grumble about his [Trump's] ethics, about his name-calling. ... At some point Republican enablers in the House and Senate are going to say publicly what they've been saying privately. And that's when things change and we see a president back off this kind of name-calling, not telling the truth, sending out these tweets, all that." Watch the full interview.

"I have not been subpoenaed," Lewandowski said of the Mueller probe. "I can say that during my tenure, Chuck, which is all I can speak to, I saw no Russians."

Addressing NBC News' exclusive reporting that Trump has considered firing his chief of staff this month and not naming a successor, Lewandowski shared: "I don't believe it's General Kelly's job to manage the president. APRIL 1, 2018 – In an interview with "Meet the Press" moderator Chuck Todd, fired Veteran Affairs Secretary David Shulkin says he did not resign and was not asked to submit a letter of resignation, contrary to a White House statement that he had "resigned from his position."

"General Kelly gave me a call very shortly before the tweet came out," Shulkin told Todd, referring to White House Chief of Staff John Kelly and President Donald Trump's tweet naming Admiral Ronny Jackson to his position. Shulkin said he and the president had spoken "just a few hours before," and "we had set up a meeting for the very next day." "This was somewhat of a surprise," he added. Watch the full interview.

Sen. Ron Johnson (R-Wis.) reacted to Trump's firing of Shulkin on Twitter in an exclusive interview: "It's not the way I'd do it. ... The president needs to understand the effect it has on attracting other people."

Johnson shared he's "pleased with the appointment of John Huber," the U.S. attorney investigating claims of FBI misconduct, and that "it's the best case for the time being" that Attorney General Jeff Sessions did not appoint a special counsel. MTP EXCLUSIVE: W.H. TRADE DIRECTOR: CHINESE TARIFFS ARE 'BOTH' A SERIOUS ISSUE & NEGOTIATING TACTIC, CALLS REPORT ON CHIEF OF STAFF KELLY 'FAKE NEWS'

EXCLUSIVE: Navarro: "We're Moving Forward on a Measured Way With Tariffs"

EXCLUSIVE: Sen. Mike Rounds (R-S.D.): Trump "Should Act Decisively" on Syria, "He Will Make it Very Clear that He Believes that Russia is Also Responsible" for Chemical Attack

PLUS: Rounds Defends EPA Admin. Pruitt: "He's Executing What the President Wants Him to Execute"

ALSO: Cambridge Analytica Co-Founder Says Number "Could Be Higher" Than 87 Million in Facebook Data Breach

APRIL 8, 2018 – “It’s both,” said Peter Navarro, director for the Office of Trade and Manufacturing Policy, when asked by “Meet the Press” moderator Chuck Todd if the administration wants to have it both ways, telling the Chinese, “We’re serious about tariffs,” but then telling the public, “It’s a negotiating tactic.”

Navarro then said, “I don’t believe if you played back what I said just a minute ago that I said was a negotiating tactic, it’s not. We’re listening to the Chinese.” He added: “We’re moving forward on a measured way with tariffs, with investment restrictions ... What we want from China is very clear: We want fair and reciprocal trade. We want them to stop stealing our stuff.”

Navarro addressed a recent report from The Washington Post on White House Chief of Staff John Kelly threatening to resign on multiple occasions: “He has the confidence of the president, and he’s getting the job done. When you read stuff in The Washington Post, frankly, that’s fake news most of the time.” Todd replied, “That’s a cheap shot. The term “fake news” is not exactly a way to hold up the First Amendment.” Watch the interview.

Sen. Mike Rounds (R-S.D.) joined the show in an exclusive interview, telling Todd that, on the chemical weapons attack, President Trump “should act decisively, and I think he will hold not just Syria, but I think he will make it very clear that he believes that Russia is also responsible.” Chuck noted: “The Russian Foreign Ministry is saying, “this is fake news,” this idea that there even was a chemical weapons attack [in Syria].”

Rounds also said EPA Administrator Scott Pruitt should remain in his position “because he’s following through with the policies that the president said he wanted to implement.” He added: “We’ll nitpick little things. He has too many people on his security detail. It may add up to more than what the previous guy did. ... We said we had to have regulatory reform. We’ve got it. Scott Pruitt is a big part of that. He’s executing what the president wants him to execute.” Watch the full interview.

Christopher Wylie, co-founder of Cambridge Analytica, told Todd the number “could be higher” than 87 million whose personal Facebook data was misused by Cambridge Analytica, and the data “could be stored in various parts of the world, including Russia.”

He asked, “Why is it that Mark Zuckerberg won’t actually bother to come and attend a Parliamentary inquiry here in the U.K., as everyone else is?” Wylie also shared he’s been contacted and is cooperating with congressional investigations and also law enforcement and the Department of Justice. Watch the full interview.

Charlie Cook of The Cook Political Report, Helene Cooper of The New York Times, presidential historian Doris Kearns Goodwin and Rich Lowry of National Review joined the broadcast’s roundtable for insight and analysis, including on Facebook CEO Mark Zuckerberg testifying on the Hill this week. “If he had immediately gone up to Congress, it would have been bad. 'DOES NEED TO WORK WITH CONGRESS'

PLUS: Former CIA Director Brennan Supports Trump's "Appropriate" Actions on Syria

NEW NBC News/WSJ Poll: Democrats Have Midterm Intensity Advantage, But No 'Knockout' Yet

APRIL 14, 2018 – In an exclusive interview this morning on "Meet the Press," Sen. Joni Ernst (R-Iowa) addresses Friday's airstrikes in Syria, telling moderator Chuck Todd if President Trump "wishes to go any further, he does need to work with Congress."

"I am uncomfortable going forward if he [Trump] wishes to commit ground troops in the area," said Ernst. "The president does need to come to Congress," adding, "We need to have these discussions because we don't see that Bashar al-Assad will all of a sudden become a real nice guy."

Ernst also addressed upcoming legislation from Sen. Chuck Grassley (R-Iowa) on protecting Special Counsel Robert Mueller from being fired, noting she'd like to "see the final text of that before I state whether I would support it or not." "I don't believe that the president will fire Mueller," she said. Watch the full interview.

Former CIA Director and NBC News Senior National Security and Intelligence Analyst John Brennan told Todd he has not been interviewed by the Special Counsel and reacted to a report that Mr. Trump's personal attorney, Michael Cohen, was in Prague during the 2016 campaign despite his well-known denials: "If these allegations are true, they are explosive from the standpoint of this provides the basis for conspiracy. Because you have to conspire with a foreign government in order for these charges to stick."

On Syria, Brennan said, "This administration's actions against Syria were appropriate. And I tend to be a critic of this administration, but I think the way they handled this was exactly right." He also addressed his criticism of the president on Twitter: "I believe that I have a responsibility as an American citizen to speak up when I see some wrongdoings, and I have taken issue with a lot of things that Donald Trump has done. I'll continue to do that." Watch the full interview.

House Speaker Paul Ryan, who announced this week he would not seek re-election, spoke with Todd in an exclusive interview on Capitol Hill Friday, endorsing House Majority Leader Kevin McCarthy (R-Calif.) as his successor. On the Russia probe, Ryan said, "I don't think he's [Trump] going to fire Mueller," adding, "I don't think he should be fired. I think he should be left to do his job." He says that former FBI Director James Comey is a man of integrity "as far as I know." Watch the full interview.

New NBC News/Wall Street Journal poll numbers debuted on the broadcast, revealing that an advantage in intensity — against Trump and for voting in November — is fueling Democrats ahead of the midterm elections that take place more than six months from now. Read more on the poll's findings.

Republican strategist Al Cardenas, NBC News' Carol Lee and Kristen Welker, and Mark Leibovich of The New York Times Magazine joined the show for insight and analysis on the week in politics, including a discussion on the FBI's raid of Cohen's office. "When the news came out on the court filing that Michael Cohen's been under surveillance for months, it is notable the president spoke with Michael Cohen on Friday," said Todd, to which Welker replied, "The White House was asked if the president continues to be in constant contact with Michael Cohen. They dodged that question."

APRIL 22, 2018 – In an exclusive interview this morning on "Meet the Press," Sen. Susan Collins (R-Maine), referring to former FBI Director James Comey's book tour, told moderator Chuck Todd that Comey "should have waited to do his memoir," adding: "I cannot imagine why an FBI director would seek to essentially cash in on a book when the investigation is very much alive."

"I am going to vote to confirm" Mike Pompeo as the next Secretary of State, the Maine senator said but added that she hasn't made a decision yet on President Trump's nominee to lead the CIA, Gina Haspel: "We still have a lot of questions to ask of her." Watch the full interview.

Marc Short, legislative affairs director for the White House, also joined the program exclusively, telling Todd: "As far as I know, the president has no intention of firing" Deputy Attorney General Rosenstein or Special Counsel Mueller but "you don't know how far off this investigation is going to veer."

We "have cautious optimism" about North Korea, said Short. "We're going to keep up maximum pressure. We're not going to stop that until they denuclearize." Watch the full interview.

Tom Perez, chair of the Democratic National Committee, addressed the DNC lawsuit against Russia, Wikileaks, and the Trump campaign, telling Todd: "I don't know the amount of money that it will take, but I will tell you, it's hard to put a price tag on preserving democracy," adding: "That's why I concluded that it would be irresponsible of me not to do this." Watch the full interview.

MTP EXCLUSIVE: COMEY SAYS HOUSE INTEL REPORT IS 'POLITICAL DOCUMENT,' 'NOT MY UNDERSTANDING OF WHAT THE FACTS WERE BEFORE I LEFT THE FBI'

PLUS: Comey: "I Don't Believe" AG Lynch Was Compromised, Can't "Talk About What Contact Was Made with the Leadership of Justice on That"

EXCLUSIVE: Sen. Roy Blunt (R-Mo.) Refuses to Call for Gov. Eric Greitens to Resign Despite Report He Initiated Unwanted Sex Acts: "Voters Voted for Him"

APRIL 29, 2018 – In an exclusive live Sunday interview this morning, former FBI Director James Comey tells "Meet the Press" moderator Chuck Todd the House Intelligence Committee report released Friday on its controversial investigation into Russian interference in the 2016 election, which led Republicans to conclude there was no evidence of collusion with the Trump campaign, is "a political document" and "not my understanding of what the facts were before I left the FBI," adding the investigation is "just a wreck."

Comey, author of "A Higher Loyalty," said he does not believe Attorney General Loretta Lynch was compromised and cannot discuss "what contact with made with the leadership of Justice" about speculation she had reassured the Clintons on the email scandal.

He also disputed a Washington Examiner report that he told lawmakers that "F.B.I. agents who interviewed Flynn did not believe that Flynn had lied to them or that any inaccuracies in his answers were intentional" during his tenure as director. "An example of how you can't believe everything you read in the media," he added. "Not true." Watch the full interview, including Comey on the Flynn plea deal, the Mueller probe and more.

Sen. Roy Blunt (R-Mo.) also joined the broadcast in an exclusive interview, refusing to call on his state's governor Eric Greitens (R) to resign amidst reporting he initiated unwanted sex acts: "We have to let the situation play out. ... Voters voted for him. There are two ways to deal with these issues. One is the legal process going on. The other is the legislative process. There's no reason not to have confidence in both of those."

Blunt also addressed the Iran nuclear deal, which President Trump has threatened to pull out of on May 12, the next deadline for the U.S. to recertify Iran's compliance: "If we stay in, I would be very much where President Macron, Prime Minister [of France] Macron was, where he said, "We ought to stay in the deal, but here are the three things that absolutely have to change."" On the Mueller protection bill that just passed the Senate Judiciary Committee this week, Blunt says "under no circumstances" is he inclined to support the bill. Watch the full interview.

MTP EXCLUSIVE: DERSHOWITZ SAYS GIULIANI SHOULDN'T BE PLAYING INTO PROSECUTORS' HANDS, HE'S 'ADMITTING TO ENOUGH THAT WARRANTS SCRUTINY'

PLUS: Dershowitz says Mueller subpoena could include "what happened before he [Trump] was president"

ALSO: Stormy Daniels' lawyer on relationship between Trump lawyer Michael Cohen and Daniels' ex-lawyer: "Not at arm's-length"

MAY 6, 2018 – "The approach last week of the Trump team plays into the hands of Mueller's tactic to try, at any cost, to find technical violations against lower ranking people," Harvard Law professor emeritus Alan Dershowitz told "Meet the Press" moderator Chuck Todd this morning in an exclusive interview.

"They're admitting to enough that warrants scrutiny," Dershowitz said, referring to the media interviews of Rudy Giuliani, former New York City mayor and new addition to the president's legal team. "This is the way prosecutors operate. But Giuliani knows it too, and he shouldn't be playing into their hands." He explained a subpoena from Special Counsel Robert Mueller could include "what happened before he was president," which could be fought "on Judge Ellis' grounds, that it has nothing to do with the mandate that was given to the special counsel. That's a high bar." Watch the full interview.

"I don't think there's any question that the relationship between Keith Davidson and Michael Cohen was not arm's length. ... We're still trying to get to the bottom of exactly what happened there," said Michael Avenatti, lawyer for adult film actress Stormy Daniels, expanding upon the relationship of Daniels' ex-lawyer with Trump's lawyer. While Avenatti would not disclose if Mueller's team has reached out to him or Daniels, he replied, "Suffice it to say that we are cooperating." Watch the full interview.

"It happens all the time," said former U.S. Ambassador to Russia Michael McFaul in reaction to news of former Secretary of State John Kerry engaging in behind-the-scenes diplomacy to preserve the Iran nuclear deal. EXCLUSIVE: Schiff Shares House Intel “Sought to Bring in George Nader” But Was Stopped by GOP Members

EXCLUSIVE: “Of Course Not,” Says Sen. Bernie Sanders (I-Vt.) When Asked If Senate Has Done Enough on Gun Violence

MAY 20, 2018 – In an exclusive interview, former Trump campaign adviser Roger Stone says he is “prepared” to be indicted by Special Counsel Robert Mueller, whose team “may seek to conjure up some extraneous crime, pertaining to my business, or maybe not even pertaining to the 2016 election.”

Stone confirms he and his lawyer have not had any contact with Mueller’s office. He also explains his comment last month about Trump’s lawyer Michael Cohen – “Donald goes out of his way to treat him like garbage” – telling “Meet the Press” moderator Chuck Todd: “I don’t think the president regarded him as a political genius or was open to his desires in that area. And he had a tendency to discount any political advice that Michael would give him.” Watch the full interview.

Rep. Adam Schiff (D-Calif.) reveals that the specifics of The New York Times’ report on Trump Jr. and other aides meeting with George Nader, a gulf emissary and Lebanese-American businessman who represents the Saudi Crown Prince and offered help to win the election, are “completely new” to the House Intelligence Committee. The Committee “sought to bring in George Nader, but the Republican members were unwilling to do so,” says Schiff in an exclusive interview. He adds he is “confident” the FBI acted appropriately in response to reports of the use of informants in the Russian interference investigation. Watch the full interview.

Sen. Bernie Sanders (I-Vt.) reacts to Friday’s Texas school shooting in an exclusive interview, telling Todd: “It is unspeakable, it really is, to see that kids all over this country, who go to a place where they should feel safe, where they can focus on learning, are now worrying about things that we’ve seen Texas or in Florida a few months ago.” When asked if there has been enough done in the Senate to prevent gun violence, the Vermont senator replies, “Of course not. ... It’s a three-letter word, it’s the N-R-A! And it’s Trump and the Republicans who don’t have the guts to stand up to these people, and that’s pretty pathetic.” Watch the full interview.

PBS’ Yamiche Alcindor, The New York Times’ David Brooks, MSNBC’s Hugh Hewitt and NBC News’ Hallie Jackson joined the broadcast’s roundtable this morning to discuss the week in politics, including Friday’s Texas school shooting. PENCE'S PRAISE OF ARPAIO IS 'UNFORTUNATE'

EXCLUSIVE: Sen. Jeff Flake (R-Ariz.) on North Korea: "A Freeze or Something Short of Denuclearization is Certainly Better Than the Situation We Have Right Now"

EXCLUSIVE: Flake Says He's With Sen. Marco Rubio (R-Fla.) in Opposing Any Deal That Gives ZTE Any New Access

MAY 27, 2018 – Sen. Jeff Flake (R-Ariz.) joined "Meet the Press" in an exclusive interview this morning, telling moderator Chuck Todd that he hasn't ruled out a possible 2020 presidential run: "It's not in my plans, but I have not ruled anything out. I do hope that somebody runs on the Republican side other than the president, if nothing else, simply to remind Republicans what conservatism is."

The retiring Arizona senator also responded to Vice President Mike Pence's praise for Arizona Sheriff Joe Arpaio as a "tireless champion of strong borders and the rule of law" earlier this month: "There aren't many people in Arizona who look to Joe Arpaio as a paragon of the rule of law or virtue in this sense. So, I think it was unfortunate. ... I just don't think that it's proper to refer to him in that way."

Flake shared that he's OK if denuclearization is more of a long-term goal for the Korean Peninsula: "A freeze or something short of total denuclearization is certainly better than the situation that we have right now, where we had an escalating situation." As the Trump administration reached a deal Friday to reduce sanctions on the Chinese telecom giant ZTE, Flake said, "I am with Senator Rubio" in opposing any deal that gives ZTE any new access to American vendors or the United States in any form. On a North Korea summit, "The issue that seems to be holding this up is frankly just logistics," said Victor Cha, former director for Asian affairs on the U.S. National Security Council. "In terms of the substance, the key issue is are they going to give up their nuclear weapons? And I think, unfortunately, the answer is no," Cha, an NBC News and MSNBC analyst, told Todd. EXCLUSIVE: Canadian PM Justin Trudeau Responds to Trump's Trade Tariffs: "The Idea That We Are Somehow a National Security Threat to the United States is Quite Frankly Insulting and Unacceptable"

JUNE 3, 2018 – President Trump pardoning himself “would lead to, probably, an immediate impeachment” as terminating Special Counsel Mueller’s Russia probe also “could lead to impeachment,” warned Rudy Giuliani, the president’s personal lawyer, this morning on NBC News’ “Meet the Press with Chuck Todd.”

Giuliani distanced himself from the letter sent by the president’s lawyers to Mueller in January, telling Todd: “I didn’t make the argument, but I agree with most of it as any lawyer. I probably would’ve organized it differently. ... I agree with about 80 percent of what he [John Dowd] wrote.”

Todd asked the former New York City mayor if he expects to be named in the forthcoming Inspector General’s report as a recipient of leaked information from the F.B.I. “Absolutely not,” replied Giuliani. “Impossible. I didn’t get any leaked information from the F.B.I. ... I speculated based on the fact that I knew there was a lot of turmoil within the F.B.I.” He added, “I do security work all over the world and I use F.B.I. agents, and I consider them current people. People haven’t retired yet. And then I have retired people.” Watch the full interview.

Canadian Prime Minister Justin Trudeau sat down with Todd in an exclusive interview from the Parliament of Canada, responding to the White House’s claim that new tariffs on Canadian steel and aluminum are to protect national security interests: “Our soldiers who had fought and died together on the beaches of World War II...and the mountains of Afghanistan, and have stood shoulder to shoulder in some of the most difficult places in the world, that are always there for each other, somehow – this is insulting to that. ...The idea that we are somehow a national security threat to the United States is quite frankly insulting and unacceptable.”

PLUS: Sen. Lankford (R-Okla.) Doesn't Feel the White House Has Been Fully Transparent With the American Public About What They're Trying to Do About the Border Crisis

EXCLUSIVE: Sen. King (I-Maine): This is "More of an Asylum and Refugee" Crisis

EXCLUSIVE: King Opposes Abolishing ICE, But Says "Looking at It Makes a Hell of a Lot of Sense"

TUNE IN TONIGHT: "Dateline: The Dividing Line," a Special Hour on the Border Crisis at 7 p.m. ET With In-Depth Reporting from MSNBC's Jacob Soboroff

JUNE 24, 2018 – "We know where every single child is" and "the adult they came with," Sen. James Lankford (R-Okla.) tells "Meet the Press" moderator Chuck Todd of migrant families separated at the border in an exclusive interview.

When asked if he feels "the White House has been fully transparent with the American public about what they're trying to do" on the border crisis, Lankford replies, "I don't, actually. Now this has been one of the great frustrations. I think the White House has not been clear on how bad the Flores Settlement is. They tried to say it and say it and say it. The challenge is, you shouldn't just allow anyone to be able to come in at any time, to be able to view a spot where there are children present." Watch the full interview.

In an exclusive interview this morning, Sen. Angus King (I-Maine) tells Todd that this is "more of an asylum and refugee" crisis: "This is very different from the waves of illegal immigrants coming across the border 15, 20 years ago, mostly from Mexico, simply looking for jobs."

On calls for abolishing ICE, King says, "I don't know how you abolish an agency without abolishing the function, and I think the function is necessary. ... I don't know if I say abolish, I don't think that makes a lot of sense. But I do think looking at it makes a hell of a lot of sense." Watch the full interview.

The violence, drug cartels, gangs and poverty ravaging Central America, including countries like El Salvador, have been driving people to the United States for years. El Salvador "felt, in some ways, very much like a war zone," says NBC News chief foreign correspondent Richard Engel, after reporting from the country, which has one of the highest homicide rates in the world. "We went to a prison and we met some very hardcore gang members, and one of them bragged to us that he had killed 35 people, just himself. And when you have that number of dangerous people who feel that emboldened, it is not surprising that people want to leave the country and seek different opportunities and don't want their children to get sucked into the gang life and have them become the next generation of killers or victims." Watch Engel discuss his reporting from Central America with Todd.

The Resurgent's Erick Erickson, The Weekly Standard's Stephen Hayes, NBC News' Kasie Hunt and Demos' Heather McGhee join the broadcast for insight and analysis on the week in politics, including President Trump's retreat this week on separating families at the border. Hayes notes, "It was the public pressure. I mean, the president didn't do this easily. This is an ad hoc president with an ad hoc decision-making process, leaving his staff and congressional Republicans to scramble in his wake and try to make things right."
