Operation Healing Forces -Bizarre Bazaar

Anthony F. Markel

Markel Corporation
OHF Founder & Vice Chair

THE BIZARRE BAZAAR, one of the top gift shows in America, has joined with Operation Healing Forces to create a special opening night shopping event, Operation Bizarre Bazaar. The 1,500+ expected attendees will enjoy refreshments and have first access to over 300 fantastic exhibitors from all over the country, all while helping our amazing American heroes. Richmond International Speedway
Richmond, VA

Operation Bizarre Bazaar

Our Concept is Simple: Strengthen human bonds.

OHF provides a suite of programs for the SOF community to aid operators and their families given decades of perpetual combat operations, increased suicides, and an alarming divorce rate. Even though SOF make-up roughly less than 5% of the DoD and are comprised of the US military's most elite, SOF has the highest casualty, divorce, and illness rates amongst all services.

OHF's programs are specifically designed and tailored to enable these war-torn men and women to break through the silence to openly discuss their battlefield and personal hardships and provide needed support. A safe, protected atmosphere with an OHF staff that's comprised of former operators, SOF spouses, and personnel who have worked serving the SOF community over a decade creates trust allowing our participants to let their guard down and share. Realizing they are not alone, participants discover it is appropriate — and not a stigma — to seek a hand up, help, support, and guidance when needed for SOF professionals and their families. And once an operator or SOF family becomes a part of our OHF alumni family—we maintain bonds and are always here if ever needed.

Our staff serves 24/7 just like the SOF community we support.

Old Dominion EMS Alliance

Heidi Hooker - Executive Director

The Old Dominion EMS Alliance (ODEMSA) is excited to announce the inaugural Siren Slam Cornhole Tournament for Heroes, taking place on November 18th, 2023, at the NES Cornhole Lounge (NESCornholeLounge.com) in Glen Allen, VA. This event promises a day of friendly competition, exciting games, and plenty of fun for participants of all ages.

Event check-in and registration starts at 10:00 AM and tournament play begins at 11:00 AM. Located at 2443 Old Brick Road, Glen Allen, VA, NES Cornhole Lounge will serve as the battleground for this exciting double-elimination cornhole tournament with blind draw for team pairings.

The primary goal of the Siren Slam Cornhole Tournament for Heroes is to raise funds for the Old Dominion EMS Alliance (ODEMSA), a vital organization that supports EMS services throughout the ODEMSA Region, which encompasses a 9,000-square-mile area in Virginia. All proceeds from this event will directly benefit ODEMSA, contributing to the enhancement of EMS programs, services, planning, and committees.

This event is more than just a cornhole tournament; it's a day of community and celebration. There will be food, beer, games, and raffles to enjoy. For those who want to test their cornhole skills, the tournament offers cash prizes for the top three teams. If you prefer not to compete, you can still have a blast with unique specialty games and open play for all ages.

The unique specialty games promise excitement and laughter for everyone. The "Gurney Games" provide a unique twist on cornhole, as contestants lie on an ambulance stretcher and take their shot at victory. "Trauma Toss Turmoil" is a thrilling challenge where contestants are blindfolded and spun around before attempting to toss bean bags onto a cornhole board.

Registration is open for tournament players, and you can register in advance at odemsa.net/throw or at the door for $40 per player. There's also a $25 cover fee for those not participating in the tournament, granting access to all other events except the main competition.

ODEMSA invites potential sponsors to be a part of this exciting event. You can support the cause by sponsoring a lane or a game or becoming a general event sponsor. For more information on sponsorship opportunities, visit odemsa.net/email-us. A special thanks to FESCO Emergency Sales for sponsoring the Code Brew Hops for Heroes!

"We are thrilled to have the first-ever Siren Slam Cornhole Tournament for Heroes at the NES Cornhole Lounge," said Heidi Hooker, ODEMSA's Executive Director. "This event is not just about fun and competition; it's an opportunity for our community to come together and show our appreciation for the EMS providers who serve their community. We invite everyone to join us for a day of family-friendly fun while supporting a cause that truly matters."

Established in 1978, the Old Dominion EMS Alliance (ODEMSA) is a nonprofit organization dedicated to enhancing EMS services in the region. The ODEMSA Region covers 26 hospitals, nearly 100 EMS agencies, over 6,200 EMS providers and serves 1.48 million residents.

Don't miss your chance to be part of our first-ever fundraising event. Join us on November 18th, 2023, at the NES Cornhole Lounge for a day of fun, competition, and support for our EMS heroes. Visit odemsa.net/throw for more information and to register in advance. Your participation can make a real difference in the lives of those who work tirelessly to keep our community safe.

C. Cancer Patient Support

Focus Richmond

VPFW- Virginia Physicians for Woman / Breast Cancer Awareness Month

Nicole Kelleher, M.D.

What is the difference between a screening mammogram and a diagnostic mammogram? A screening mammogram is done on a woman without any symptoms or concerns. Screening mammograms are a way for breast cancer to be detected in its earliest stages of development, before symptoms may be present.

A diagnostic mammogram is done on a woman who has noticed a change in her breast, such as a “lump” or thickening, focal and/or persistent pain, nipple changes, spontaneous nipple discharge, etc., or if the referring clinician has a concern on a patient’s clinical breast exam. While a screening mammogram usually takes about 15 minutes, a diagnostic mammogram may take a little longer if the tech needs to take more images and/or focus on a specific area of interest.

What is a radiologist looking for on a mammogram?

When reading a mammogram, a radiologist is looking for the presence of a new mass, a grouping of calcifications, an asymmetry, architectural distortion, skin thickening, nipple changes, lymph node enlargement, and more. The radiologist will compare your most recent mammogram with your prior mammograms to detect any changes. Each of these descriptors can be benign (non-cancerous) or malignant (cancerous). As a result, if any of them appears on your mammogram, you may get called back for extra mammogram views and possibly an ultrasound.

If you’re called back, please don’t worry until we tell you to worry. Most patients who are brought back for additional views and/or an ultrasound do not have cancer.

How should women best prepare for a mammogram? It’s best to be as relaxed as possible and not wear deodorant the day of your mammogram. If possible, make sure your provider has access to your prior mammograms. Learn more about how to prepare for your screening mammogram at VPFW.

Why can’t you wear deodorant to a mammogram?

Deodorants and antiperspirants have tiny aluminum particles that help prevent sweat from coming to the surface of the skin. These tiny particles can affect how accurately your mammogram can be read by a radiologist. On a mammogram, the particles show up as tiny white dots that can look like calcifications. There are many different causes for calcifications, most of which are benign; but sometimes calcifications can be an early sign of breast cancer. If these white dots appear on your mammogram, your radiologist will likely order more tests to determine their source.

StoryCorps – One Small Step

Dave Isay

Founder and President

Our nation is at a crossroads, confronting an epidemic of invisibility and loneliness that is testing the very foundations of our communities. We're fractured by fear and rage, isolation and misunderstanding. We need to intervene.

Created by StoryCorps, One Small Step is an effort to remind the country of the humanity in all of us, even those with whom we disagree. The initiative brings strangers with different political views together to record a 50-minute conversation—not to debate politics, but to learn who we are as people. Audio recordings of each interview are archived at the Library of Congress.

Kindness, courage, and decency can help heal these wounds.

When people connect with StoryCorps, whether as listeners or participants, they are restoring faith in each other, reminding us that everyone has a story and that every story matters. At its core, One Small Step, one of our groundbreaking initiatives, is about making sure that everyone feels seen and that everyone's story is heard, regardless of their political beliefs. It's based on a simple yet profound idea: it's hard to hate up close.

Today, on Giving Tuesday, you can help us expand the space for kindness, courage, and decency to flourish when we need it most. Your support takes us one step closer to mending a country that is becoming more and more divided. Story Corp.org

Christmas Mother

Phyllis Taylor Poats

Chesterfield Colonial Heights Christmas Mother 2023

<https://cchchristmasmother.com/>

The Chesterfield-Colonial Heights Christmas Mother program is a nonprofit, charitable organization that was established in 1972 by Miss Lucy Corr, then superintendent of the Chesterfield County Welfare Department. The program has expanded over the years to include Chesterfield and Colonial Heights and is currently managed by a committee of volunteers. The program's purpose is to help families, elders, and foster children not be forgotten during the holiday season.

Work directly with the Chesterfield-Colonial Heights Department of Social Services, schools and churches to identify individuals and families in need. Encourage participation from local schools to provide gifts, donations and volunteers. Arrange sponsors who provide toys, clothing, books and food to families or elders. Accept gifts and donations of money, clothing, toys, books and food gift cards from those in the community who wish to share with others.

Operate the Christmas Center, distributing gifts to disadvantaged recipients.

American Red Cross Blood Shortage

Christy Carneal- Red Cross Spokesperson

The American Red Cross is in crisis mode. Its blood supply has hit a new low making it the worst shortage it has seen in a decade. Here in Virginia, there's been a 41% drop in new donors.

Last year, you saw a drop in 35% nationwide of people who are eligible to donate to do so, but in Virginia that has impacted us, even more, we're actually at a 41% drop in the past year of eligible donors.

Mercy Mall of Virginia Celebrating 12 Years

Lisa Apsey – Director

Mercy Mall of Virginia has been serving the community for a decade. Today, the ministry continues to grow, adding Mercy Mall on the Move, a box truck to transport resources to families in need.

Mercy Mall is a FREE clothing and housewares boutique for families experiencing crisis situations. The boutique stocks and distributes new and gently-used items that are critical to life and home stability. Our clients not only need “stuff,” but also the unconditional love of Christ,” the organization describes on its website. “We provide that through encouraging words, hugs, resources, and prayer. We have no qualifications or geographic borders, which allows us to assist families in emergency situations.

The Mercy Mall facility on Whitepine Road in Chesterfield is filled with clothing, toiletries and other resources.

There are three ways to give:

Friends of the James River

Josh Forrest

We know that many of you took the time to enjoy the Park this past year, and we appreciate your visits. Each year, the number of folks who visit the Park grows – from both locals and those visiting from out of town. To a large extent, you are our eyes and ears in the Park, and we’re thankful for your stewardship.

We’re also thankful for your generosity. We were blessed to receive crucial funding from a few government grants, but a large portion of our fiscal support comes from you, through the purchase of license plates, your attendance at our various fundraising events, and direct donations. Thanks to that support, we’ve been able to improve signage throughout the Park, purchase crucial equipment for Park staff, create accessible messaging on river safety, and more.

Importantly, we have several initiatives in the works for the coming months, including more signage, trail improvements, and even some land purchases that will help to grow the Park and increase Richmond’s access to green spaces.

For that, we ask for your financial support. This Giving Tuesday, we ask for you to consider donating to the Friends of the James River Park System, by either a one-time donation, a recurring donation, or by becoming a member. There are many ways to get involved, and a Park Membership makes a great stocking-stuffer! Remember, your donation to the FOJRP is tax-deductible.

American River Rangers

Chris Walton

The Rangers Program is a nationwide group of young people between the ages of 4-16. Boys and girls that assist American River Restoration in specific project missions to recover, prevent and educate about microplastic and plastic pollution.

This program encourages youth to learn about and participate in the cleanup movement. Starting with the seabird population, which is at the lowest level since the Audubon society started recording in 1831. This bird population is being wiped out because of single-use plastic, mainly bottle tops.

A.K.A. Bad Plastic Program - Our environmental education program combines plastic pollution prevention, education, and recovery all in one package. Corporations or individuals can support a school district. We provide each individual school with the tools necessary, (A.R.R. children's books/posters/drain markers/stickers, etc.), for further education on the harmful effects of single-use plastics that have a negative impact on our environment, our wildlife, and ourselves. Please help us, you can support one school or a thousand, but we must educate our youth about this poison that is destroying this planet.
