Issues/Programs List

April 1, 2019 through June 30, 2019

Suzanne Suel
17 July 2019

This report lists representative examples of reporting on local issues that aired in program segments reserved for local feature-length news reports, interviews and commentaries within Morning Edition, All Things Considered and Weekend Edition. It is not a comprehensive list but rather is illustrative of the total programming broadcast.

This local programming includes The Short List, typically broadcast on Fridays at 5:50 p.m. during All Things Considered, an eight-and-a-half minute roundtable discussion with a rotating panel of journalists and media professionals that analyzes the major issues in the news.

In addition to the feature-length reports listed here, local newscasts were broadcast immediately following national newscasts during Morning Edition, All Things Considered, and Weekend Edition.

Finally, many reports and discussions on the same and related subjects were also included in the broadcasts of such national news and information programs as Morning Edition, All Things Considered, Marketplace, Fresh Air, Weekend Edition and Living on Earth.

Arts & Culture	5/16/2019	7:45 am	3:51	MA	"Immersive art" puts you, the viewer, in the art. At a theater you're not just part of the audience watching a show on stage. You might be "on the stage" interacting with actors. Immersive art at a gallery or a
Arts & Culture	5/29/2019	6:45 am 8:45 am	5:09	ME	The sea chantey, once the soundtrack of the golden age of sail, has gone the way of other traditional work songs---relegated to folk festivals and history museums. But in midcoast Maine, chanteys that have sat in the archives for nearly 100 years are getting a new life, and being put back to work on Penobscot Bay.
Arts & Culture	6/14/2019	7:50 am	8:05	MA	We conclude our Spring Music Series this morning with a multimedia project by saxophonist Felipe Salles on a subject very much in the news. His latest work is called "The New Immigrant Experience." Funded by a Guggenheim Fellowship, it's inspired by conversations he videotaped with people brought to this country as children, and currently protected from deportation under DACA, the Deferred Action For Childhood Arrivals program.
Arts & Culture	6/25/2019	6:35 am 8:35 am	6:02	MA	The movie 'Diane' shows the mundane and extremely generous measures a woman takes to help her friends and family. The film is set in the city of Pittsfield, Massachusetts, where writer and director Kent Jones grew up.
Community Voices	4/2/2019	6:45 am 8:45 am	4:29	MA	Six Flags New England in Agawam, Massachusetts, opens this weekend. And like that other large amusement park in Florida, a day at the park is not just about the thrill rides. There's a lot of live entertainment. And that means the park needs employees who can sing, dance---and possibly ride a unicycle. museum is similar.

Community Voices	4/9/2019	7:45 am	4:25	MA	The Boston Red Sox play their home opener against the Toronto Blue Jays this afternoon at Fenway Park. Fans are hoping the return to home turf can help the struggling team get back on track. But the toughest job at Fenway today might not belong to a player or coach. It's arguably the job Donnie Gardiner has. He's the Fenway facilities superintendent who has to keep everything at the oldest major league park standing and running.
Community Voices	4/15/2019	7:51 am	7:35	MA	Today, Des Linden returns to the Boston Marathon course to defend her title. It was one year ago she became the first American woman champion in more than three decades. She was 34 years old, a 2-time Olympian with an impressive resume. But she almost didn't make it to the starting line of the 2018 Boston Marathon because of something that happened 10 months earlier, in a race on the other side of the world.
Community Voices	4/26/2019	7:50 am	2:23	MA	We're just a few weeks away from the return of camping season in Massachusetts. Our commentator on all things hiking, Susan Johnson, also enjoys camping---but that wasn't always so.
Community Voices	5/1/2019	6:33 am 8:33 am	2:32	MA	Seventy-five years ago today---May 1, 1944---a group of American soldiers left the United States for Italy. The 442nd Regimental Combat Team, comprised of Japanese-Americans, would become the most decorated unit in US military history. But, says commentator Andrew Lam, our country treated them like the enemy.
Community Voices	5/7/2019	4:20pm 6:20 pm	8:14	MA	Frances Crowe, the longtime peace activist and anti-nuclear campaigner, recently celebrated a milestone. She turned 100 years of age in mid-March, and although physical ailments have slowed her down and left her largely wheelchair-bound, she shows no sign of quitting her activism.
Community Voices	5/8/2019	6:45 am 8:45 am	2:44	MA	Jerrie Cobb died this spring in Florida ta age 88. You may not have heard of her, but back in the early 1960s, Cobb tested to become the first woman in space. Commentator Martha Ackmann knew Jerrie Cobb and offers this reflection.

Community Voices	5/14/2019	6:45 am 8:45 am	2:49	MA	Commentator Shoshana Marchand is a psychiatric nurse-practitioner. She knows that worrying---especially worrying alone---doesn't make anything better.
Community Voices	5/15/2019	6:22 am 8:22 am	7:42	MA	A Northampton, Massachusetts resident recently published a thick history of a small river that winds down from the hilltowns of Hampshire County. Over the centuries, the Mill River has shaped the landscape and defined where people live.
Community Voices	5/21/2019	6:45 am 8:45 am	2:43	NH	There's a cliché in politics: who's the candidate voters would want to have a beer with? It's a euphemism for likeability. But this year, it's also a question New Hampshire voters might be able to answer. Breweries have joined diners and living rooms as go-to venues for presidential candidates.
Community Voices	5/31/2019	6:45 am 8:45 am	5:49	MA	At a certain point during mud season in New England, you can go to any number of restaurants and find 'fiddleheads' on the menu. That young, small, coiled edible plant is called the ostrich fern. Author and forester Lynn Levine cautions readers of her new fern identification book to not confuse the edible fern with two similar-looking types that don't taste good and could cause digestive distress.
Community Voices	6/6/2019	6:45 am 8:45 am	2:17	MA	As a retired teacher who misses the kids, commentator Toby Goodrich returned this spring to the classroom as a substitute. In one day, he had the occasion to observe how kids in three different grades responded to the same challenge.
Community Voices	6/14/2019	6:33 am 8:33 am	2:36	MA	It's Father's Day on Sunday. Commentator Tinky Weisblat's father this year would have turned 100. He's been dead for twenty years. Sometimes, Weisblat says, she forgets what it was like to be around him. Then a sight, a taste, or a sound brings him back.
Community Voices	6/27/2019	7:50 am	5:09	MA	More than 60 downhill skateboarders from as far away as Spain, Australia, and Mexico convened this month in Florida, Massachusetts, in northern Berkshire County. They came to the quiet town for one reason only: speed.

Economic Development	6/7/2019	7:45 am	3:19	ME	Maine is wading into the latest---but likely not the last---skirmish in a long-running conflict between Canada and the U-S over fishing rules in the Bay of Fundy. Maine lobstermen hauling traps in an internationally disputed section of the bay known as the Gray Zone will be allowed some extra hours working at sea this year, under a recent move by the Maine legislature.
Economic Development	6/11/2019	6:45 am 8:45 am	4:58	MA	The Hulu series 'Castle Rock' recently resumed filming in Orange and other central Massachusetts locations. Productions like this are drawn to the state in part because of a tax credit for film-makers. Like most tax issues, this credit has sparked a lot of debate and some criticism. A legislative committee today will hear testimony on whether to extend it permanently. It's currently scheduled to expire in 2023.
Education	4/10/2019	4:24 pm 5:54 pm	4:17	MA	How fluent are you in emojis, those smiles and icons used in texts and on social media? Little has been written on the subject, so recent Westfield State University graduate Alecka Camp and her psychology professor, Alex Daniel, made it the basis of a research project. Their findings were published recently in the journal 'Psychology Of Popular Media Culture,' a first for the school.
Education	4/17/2019	7:45 am	4:10	MA	It's hard for rural schools to get kids to and from class. Especially now---in muddy season--when the snow has melted and the rain begins.

Education	4/25/2019	6:45 am 8:45 am	5:03	MA	As Hampshire College continues to restructure and raise money, the institution is facing the possible loss of accreditation and has been asked to appear before the New England Commission Of Higher Education late next month. Interim college president Ken Rosenthal says he's confident the school will keep its accreditation.
Education	5/1/2019	7:45 am	3:42	MA	A new study from UMass-Amherst suggests that many reality shows about teen parenting do more harm than good, especially when it comes to stigma. Yet many teen parents themselves still like to watch the programs.
Education	5/8/2019	6:45 am 8:45 am	2:39	MA	Some colleges and universities across the country have taken a more egalitarian approach to admissions---removing a student's ability to pay from the decisions. But one college in central Massachusetts has inched back in that direction.
Education	5/17/2019	6:45 am 8:45 am	4:53	MA	Officials at Hampshire College in Amherst, Massachusetts, are preparing to defend the school's accreditation later this month. At the same time, seniors are wrapping up their studies---with commencement this weekend. The mood is upbeat but bittersweet, as this could be the final graduating class before drastic changes are made to the experimental school.
Education	5/20/2019	7:45 am	3:26	MA	Concern about the future of Hampshire College in Amherst isn't interfering with the celebrations of this year's graduates. Almost 300 students walked across a stage there to pick up their Bachelor Of Arts degrees. Reporter Carrie Jung checked out the mood at a school trying to address financial hardship.
Education	6/4/2019	7:34 am	5:34	MA	In recent weeks, two students, one in high school and one in college, died saving others after lunging at gunmen. Some teachers and older students in New England and across the country are being told to be ready to fight back.

Education	6/12/2019	6:22 am 8:22 am	4:34	MA	Officials in Springfield say they're going all-in to reduce hunger and serve healthier meals to its 25-thousand public school pupils.
Energy & Environment	4/1/2019	7:45 am	3:26	MA	Some environmental groups say they're frustrated with the lack of progress on talks over the cleanup of the Housatonic River. The key dispute is where to dispose of river sediment containing toxic PCBs.
Energy & Environment	4/29/2019	6:33 am 8:33 am	5:04	MA	The Pilgrim nuclear power plant in Plymouth, Massachusetts, releases small amounts of radiation into the air and water. Pilgrim's owner says they fall within federal limits, but there have been few independent studies. With Pilgrim shutting down next month, some local residents worry what'll be left behind.
Energy & Environment	4/30/2019	6:22 am 8:22 am	6:36	MA	The Pilgrim nuclear power station in Plymouth, Massachusetts, has pumped about half a billion gallons of water out of Cape Cod Bay every day for 46 years. The plant uses the water to cool down, and then releases it back into the bay. This raises the water temperature near the plant and kills local marine life.
Energy & Environment	5/22/2019	6:45 am 8:45 am	4:00	VT	At the end of this month, New England will be down to its last two nuclear power plants---in Seabrook, New Hampshire, and at Millstone in Connecticut. Plymouth's Pilgrim nuclear plant will go offline soon and begin the process of decommissioning. The Vermont Yankee power plant in Vernon began that process about four and a half years ago.
Energy & Environment	5/31/2019	7:34 am	6:52	MA	Today, after 46 years of generating electricity, controversy, and community concerns over safety, the Pilgrim nuclear power plant in Plymouth, Massachusetts, is shutting down for good. While the precise time of the 'cold shutdown' is secret, Pilgrim has been planning this day for months. Operators of the nuclear plant have been training for the historic shutdown at a special off-site facility.

Energy & Environment	6/6/2019	6:45 am 8:45 am	2:18	CT	At its peak, the Hazardville section of Enfield, Connecticut, produced thousands of pounds of gunpowder each day. But about a hundred years ago the town's industry literally blew up.
Energy & Environment	6/25/2019	6:35 am 8:35 am	2:24	CT	Connecticut officials say there are still elevated levels of a toxic chemical present in the Farmington River. As Connecticut Public Radio's Patrick Skahill reports, the finding comes more than two weeks after an accident at a private aircraft hangar sent thousands of gallons of contaminated water into the river.
Justice, Law & Public Safety	4/9/2019	6:45 am 8:45 am	4:31	MA	A Massachusetts House investigation last month cleared a lawmaker of alleged sexual harassment of a member-elect. First Hampshire District representative Lindsay Sabadosa says Beacon Hill lawmakers and staffers need better protections in sexual misconduct cases, including a framework for impartial fact-finding.
Justice, Law & Public Safety	5/6/2019 5/7/2019	5:44 pm 7:45 am	3:23	MA	The Berkshire District Attorney's office said in March that it was investigating a decades-old child sexual assault case.
Justice, Law & Public Safety	6/14/2019	6:33 am 8:33 am	4:29	MA	The debate over how to deal with young criminal offenders continues in Massachusetts. There's a focus on what are called 'emerging adults'---people in their early twenties who might benefit from structured rehabilitation. Many European countries have already created different ways of handling this population.
Justice, Law & Public Safety	6/19/2019	7:35 am	10:48	MA	Since buying Northampton's Iron Horse Music Hall in 1995, Eric Suher has built a live-music enterprise in western Massachusetts. His five venues are known collectively as the Iron Horse Entertainment Group, or IHEG. Some of the big names who've crossed IHEG stages have publicly criticized conditions at Suher's venues. Public officials have also fought with Suher over liquor licenses he kept for years on vacant properties. Now, new complaints: former IHEG employees are coming forward with claims of wage theft and intimidation.

Politics & Public Policy	6/17/2019	6:45 am 8:45 am	5:45	MA	As some states move to tighten abortion laws or ban the procedure outright, there's a push in Massachusetts to remove some restrictions, and there's a hearing on Beacon Hill today on a bill known as the Roe Act---lots of impassioned testimony expected, so what's in this bill and what's your sense of the likelihood of passage? Gov. Baker may have some problems with it. ... On education funding, a group of parents from many communities including Springfield, Chicopee, and Orange sued the state saying their schools are chronically and unconstitutionally underfunded---will the lawsuit influence the debate as the governor and legislators look to make a deal on funding and other education policies? Finally, former House speaker Sal DiMasi is in a fight with Secretary of State Bill Galvin over whether DiMasi should be allowed to register as a lobbyist. DiMasi served federal time for steering state contracts to a software company in exchange for kickbacks and Galvin says this is disqualifying.
