CIVIC ISSUES:

7/07/13 8:00AM 00:28:42

MIAMI VALLEY VOICES: Linda Raterman of the Miami Soil & Water Conservation District talks about the "Clean Sweep" event to clean debris from the Great Miami River. MIAMI SOIL & WATER CONSERVATION DISTRICT 1330 N County Rd. 25A; Ste. C Troy, Ohio 45373 937-335-7645 website: www.miamiswcd.org/

VIEW POINTS: SEGMENT 1: One of the most popular literary and film genres is the spy thriller. What's more exciting than reading about Jack Ryan or Nick Carter taking on America's enemies in a cat-and-mouse game of espionage? But is working overseas for the CIA really like that? Do Americans "spy" or do they get others to do it for them? We talk to two veteran CIA officers about their jobs working in clandestine services overseas, how they recruited foreign nationals to work for them, and find out why these foreigners would turn against their country to work for the CIA. Host: Christopher Michael. Guests: Jason Matthews, 33-year veteran of the CIA (ret.), author of the spy thriller, "Red Sparrow"; Ambassador Henry Crumpton, 24-year veteran of the CIA (ret.), former coordinator for counterterrorism at the State Dept., author of the memoir, "The Art of Intelligence: Lessons from a Life in the CIA's Clandestine Service." COMPLIANCE ISSUES COVERED: war, culture, government, international diplomacy

7/07/13 9:00AM 00:11:24

VIEW POINTS: SEGMENT 2: We've had a lot of very extreme and dangerous weather this year, and forecasting has kept many people out of harm's way by warning them of dangerous storms, floods and extreme heat. But weather forecasters have their share of errors too. Just how do they create their forecasts? And how accurate can they get? We talk to two forecasters about how meteorologists put a forecast together, the technology they rely on, why they can't get it right every time. Host: Marty Peterson. Guests: Derick Fabert, meteorologist at WCIA 3 TV, Champaign, IL (www.illinoishomepage.net/weather); Eric Snodgrass, Dir. of Undergraduate Studies for the Department of Atmospheric Sciences, University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign (www.illinois.edu). COMPLIANCE ISSUES COVERED: science, technology, public safety, education, environment

7/14/13 8:30AM 00:24:30

WHIO REPORTS: This edition of WHIO Reports focuses on the pros and cons of plans to bring a wind farm to Champaign County. Mike Speerschneider, Senior Director of the company behind the project, talks about the importance of the "Buckeye Wind Farm" to the region and people in the area. He says about 600 homes will be powered by each turbine each year. Speerschneider says it will have a trickle down impact on the economy, generating taxes for the community. Tom Stacy talks about why he opposes the new wind farm. He says turbines do not operate on their own and fossil fuels are still needed when wind is not available to generate power. Also touches on zoning, taxes, and the public's right to safe housing. Stacy says property values will drop. Guests: Mike Speerschneider/Senior Director, EverPower;

RADIO HEALTH JOURNAL: SEGMENT 1: The National Transportation Safety Board has recommended lowering the DUI threshold from .08 BAC to .05 as a means of reducing drunk driving. Advocates are divided on whether such a reduction would have much effect, and the legislative fight would drag on for years. Experts discuss this and other moves that might have larger and more immediate impact. Host: Reed Pence. Guests: Deborah Hersman, Chairman, National Transportation Safety Board; Jan Withers, National President, MADD (Mothers Against Drunk Driving); Ray Peck, head of R.C. Peck & Assoc. and Project Chief Research Scientist, Pacific Institute of Research & Evaluation; Gary Biller, President, National Motorists Assn. COMPLIANCY ISSUES COVERED: drunk driving; highway safety; public safety; government and regulation; legal issues

8/04/13 9:00AM 00:10:15

VIEW POINTS: SEGMENT 1: With all of the films, books and tributes to the brave men and women who fought in World War II, no one has addressed the topic of the thousands of Allied soldiers who deserted during that war. Why did they leave their units? Where did they go? What happened to them if they were caught? We talk to an author who brings the stories of the deserters to light, and discusses how these men were most often not cowards, but brave combat fighters who were mentally drained after months or years in combat. Host: Christopher Michael. Guests: Charles Glass, author of "The Deserters: A hidden history of World War II," (www.charlesglass.net). COMPLIANCY ISSUES COVERED: war, mental health, prisons, the military, government, crime

8/04/13 9:30AM 00:12:09

RADIO HEALTH JOURNAL: SEGMENT 1: It turns out that day in and day out, refuse workers have the most dangerous municipal job, with more injuries than police or firefighters. Two experts discuss the massive job of hauling our garbage away.

Host: Reed Pence. Guests: Robin Nagle, Clinical prof. of Anthropology and Urban Studies, New York Univ., anthropologist in residence, New York Sanitation Dept., and author, Picking Up: On the Streets and Behind the Trucks with the Sanitation Workers of New York City; Sam Shick, franchise operator, 1-800-GOT-JUNK. COMPLIANCY ISSUES COVERED: local and municipal government; worker safety; environment

WHIO REPORTS: This show talked about the Dayton unit of the NAACP. The goal of the organization is to fulfill the dream of the Civic Rights Act of 1964. Every month issues are discussed such as gun control, the right to work law and unknown career opportunities in the healthcare industry. The organization Investigated 178 cases last year regarding civil rights. The Trayvon Martin case was also discussed. The NAACP gathered more than 1 million signatures within a week of the verdict to file civil and human rights charges to the U.S. Department of Justice against George Zimmerman. Other political issues facing the NAACP is a stance against capital punishment and fighting voter suppression. The NAACP also engages with municipalities to assist with job opportunities and the local economy. Guests: Derrick Foward, President, NAAACP; Tom Roberts, Chair of Political Action Committee; Christopher Shaw, Head of Economic Development, NAACP. VIEW POINTS: SEGMENT 1: The roads, bridges and other infrastructure in the U.S. are in a sad state with bridges collapsing and roads crumbling under our feet. What needs to be done to fix them? And why can’t we seem to light a fire under the government to get the job done? We talk to two infrastructure specialists about the situation and hear their opinions on how to deal with the problem. Host: Christopher Michael. Guests: Donald MacDonald, architect and co-author of the book, “Bay Bridge: History and design of a new icon,” (www.donaldmacdonaldarchitects.com); Joe Schwieterman, professor in DePaul University’s Graduate School of Public Service, and Director of the Chaddick Institute for Metropolitan Development (las.depaul.edu/chaddick). COMPLIANCY ISSUES COVERED: urban and rural infrastructure, government, public safety, transportation, economy

VIEW POINTS: SEGMENT 1: When someone asks “who’s your favorite president?” most people say Lincoln or Washington or Jefferson or Reagan or Clinton, or some other famous commander-in-chief. The name John Quincy Adams rarely makes anyone’s top 3 list. But that’s because what he did as president pales in comparison to what he did before and after he had the top job. We talk to John Quincy’s biographer about the triumphs of liberty, equality, peace and justice our sixth president won not as president, but as a true patriot outside the

WHIO REPORTS: This edition of WHIO Reports focused on the new Dangerous Wild Animal Act in effect in Ohio. A 2011 incident in which a Zainesville wild animal owner released all of his animals before committing suicide was the catalyst for this legislature although the problem has been around for quite some time. The law set down rules and regulations for ownership through the use of permits and microchips. Owners can be fined and animals taken from owners now. Lions, tigers, and bears are a given but the Ohio Department of Agriculture has a full listing of the applicable animals. Guests discussed that any that animal controllers are not trained to handle would be categorized as dangerous wild animals. A wide variety of people are purchasing them. Wild pets are much more easily accessible than some may think and are in fact given away depending on the breeding. But these animals are not naturally meant to be in captivity and harm usually comes to the owner or the animal. If owners don't have a permit by January 1, 2014, animals can be taken. People should call the Humane Society and/or the police if they know of anyone that owns a dangerous pet that is not permitted to assist with future incidents involving the death of the pets or owners. Guests: Tim Harrison, Director, Outreach for Animals; Brian Weltge, President and CEO, Humane Society of Greater Dayton; Steven Matthews, Reporter, DDN. VIEW POINTS: SEGMENT 2: Everyone has told a lie, but not everyone can get away with it -- especially if they come up against a group of CIA officers who have spent their careers ferreting out the truth. We talk to one former CIA lie detector about the verbal and non-verbal signs of lying, how to spot someone who might be lying, and why it's so difficult for the vast majority of people to lie and get away with it. Host: Marty Peterson. Guests: Phillip Houston, former CIA officer specializing in lie detection, co-author with Michael Floyd and Susan Carnicero of "Spy the Lie: Former CIA officers teach you how to detect deception," (www.amazon.com) (www.twitter.com/spythelie). COMPLIANCY ISSUES COVERED: psychology, crime, politics, transportation, public safety & security

VIEW POINTS: SEGMENT 2: As summer winds down, the days of leisure at the beach reading a book are numbered. Many people take their “guilty pleasure” books – the ones they hide under a plain cover – to read on vacation or just sitting around on a warm day. But what makes a book a good “beach read”? We talk to four best-selling authors of fiction about how they create their books to hook the reader from the beginning chapter to the final word, and keep them coming back for more. Host: Marty Peterson. Guests: Philippa Gregory, best-selling author of “The White Princess,” (www.philippagregory.com); Matt Hilton, best-selling author of “Blood and Ashes,” from the Joe Hunter series (www.matthiltonbooks.com); Bella Andre, best-selling author of the Sullivan Series of romance novels, including “The Look of Love,” and “From This Moment On,” (www.bellaandre.com); Lisa Renée Jones, best-selling author of the Inside Out Trilogy, including “If I Were You,” (www.lisareneejones.com). COMPLIANCY ISSUES COVERED: recreation and leisure, literature, history, popular culture

VIEW POINTS: SEGMENT 1: Anyone who saw the movie, “Schindler’s List,” can’t help but be moved by the heroism of Oskar Schindler, the factory owner and war profiteer who saved scores of Jews from certain death in the Nazi concentration camps of World War II. We talk to the son of one of the survivors of the real Schindler’s List, about his father’s time in the camp and factory, and his life in America after the war. Host: Christopher Michael. Guests: Daniel Leyson, son of Leon Leyson, author of “The Boy on the Wooden Box: How the impossible became possible on Schindler’s List,” (www.kids.simonandschuster.com). COMPLIANCY ISSUES COVERED: the Holocaust, manufacturing, war, education, poverty

9/29/13 9:00AM 00:11:43

VIEW POINTS: SEGMENT 2: Robots seem to be doing everything these days, from vacuuming floors to building cars to dispensing pills in a pharmacy. In the movies they regularly try to take over the world, but ultimately fail. Just how far can robots go? And what’s in store in fiction and the real world for them in the future? We talk to two roboticists – one who’s a sci-fi novelist – about ‘bots in real life and in fantasy. Host:

7/14/13 9:00AM 00:10:44

VIEW POINTS: SEGMENT 1: Millions of baby boomers are either in retirement or planning to retire relatively soon. However, many of them would like to work longer – at least part time. What are their options with regard to Social Security, Medicare and their retirement nest eggs? We talk to a retirement expert about how to estimate retirement finances; when the best time is to collect Social Security and continue working full- or part-time, and how Medicare works with an employer's health plan. We also talk to an anthropologist about a factory that welcomes seniors into their workforce – even those 100 years old – and how they and the workers benefit from the experience. Host: Christopher Michael. Guests: Susan B. Garland, editor, "Kiplinger's Retirement Report," (www.kiplingers.com); Caitrin Lynch, Assoc. Prof. of Anthropology, Olin College of Engineering, Needham, MA, author of "Retirement on the Line: Age, work and value in an American factory," (www.retirementontheline.net). COMPLIANCY ISSUES COVERED: labor, senior citizens, personal finance, business, government

WHIO REPORTS: This edition of WHIO Reports focuses on the new Racino coming to Dayton. The guests talked about the economic impact of the Racetrack and Casino, including 1,000 new, full-time jobs and the additional development it's expected to spark in the Miami Valley. Bob Tenenbaum explained the hiring process and the construction schedule. He expects the doors to open in the second half of next year. Scott Anderson focused on concerns of additional gambling opportunities in Ohio and the financial impact to the City of Dayton with the additional people seeking problem gambling options. He said there are more slot machines than ATMs in Ohio. Shelley Dickstein talked about how the site is being prepared for construction, how her office will be involved throughout the process, and the environmental benefit of getting the site cleaned up. Guests: Bob Tenenbaum/Spokesman, Penn National Gaming; Shelley Dickstein/Dayton Assistant City

WHIO REPORTS: This edition of WHIO Reports focuses on manufacturing and the economy in the Miami Valley. After the close of the General Motors plant, many thought that manufacturing jobs would no longer be a large and vital part of the local economy. However, the industry is still flourishing and is amongst the best chances for economic recovery with employees annual payroll amounting to billions of dollars. The guests discussed myths and careers available in manufacturing. Job opportunities are available but there is a lack of skilled employees interested in filling those roles. Manufacturing has become more high-tech and is not just automotive driven anymore. Guests also discussed a program called Xtreme Bots that allows high school students to get involved in robotics to learn hands on STEM skills and drive interest early in careers in manufacturing. Through the program, kids can learn and enhance their problem solving skills and the ability to work together as a team. There are a lot of opportunities for youth to find success in careers in manufacturing in the foreseeable future, many without the requirement of a college degree. WHIO REPORTS: WHIO Reports focused on the Women in Business Networking and their upcoming professional development conference. The president and founder of Women in Business Networking, Jeanne Porter, spoke on the beginnings of the organization as well as the enormous growth in the five years since inception. Lori Ward, Superintendent of Dayton Public Schools discussed the importance of female leaders and mentorship in the community. Youth need to be exposed to strong leadership to set an example and help retention for future jobs and businesses in the area. The conference will provide an outstanding opportunity for women to grow personally and professionally and develop key networking and business leadership skills. The mentorships that can be developed are very important and beneficial as they help individuals with vital career decisions. WHIO REPORTS: This edition of WHIO Reports focuses on the issue of pay to play in school athletics. The superintendent of Centerville, Tom Henderson, discussed the issue and how it came about in the district. DDN Reporter Steven Matthews also spoke on the issue and the widespread fees in the community with many school districts being affected such as Huber Heights with the highest pay to play fees of $428. Levies and operating budgets are a big factor in the decision to implement pay to play and the set cost. Extracurriculars are very beneficial to students and enhance the high school experience which makes the affordability of the fees of concern to parents. Tom Henderson hopes to not have to raise fees in his district and expand that financial burden to the parents and students. Guests: Tom Henderson/Superintendent, Centerville City Schools; Steven Matthews/Reporter, Dayton Daily News. WHIO REPORTS: This edition of WHIO Reports focused on leadership training opportunities in the region. Guests discussed strong leadership and the big difference it makes in the workforce. Vision and passion are key for effectiveness. The strength of the community also depends on the strength of leadership. Providing direction and support to reach a shared goal/goals is the job of a leader. UD, Parity, Inc and Troy Chamber of Commerce all have leadership training programs that provide guidance and improvement for those seeking it. Leaders are therefore not necessarily born, but can be made. Mentorship and networking are a key part of the learning and development process.
