GRAMMY® NOMINATED GOSPEL SINGER & ENTREPRENEUR
TROY SNEED

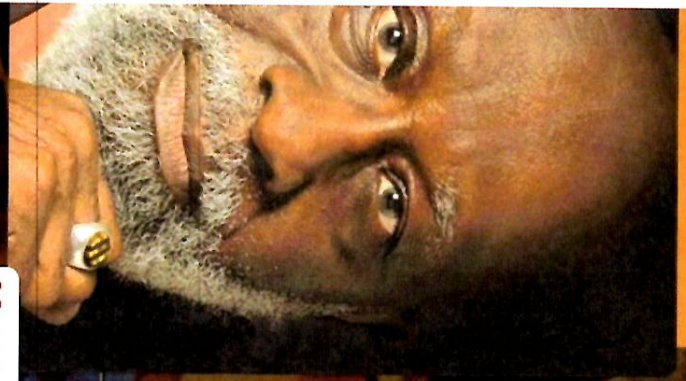

HAS PASSED AWAY OF COVID-19 COMPLICATIONS AT 52

Troy Sneed, the Grammy® Award nominated music entrepreneur known for Top 5 Billboard Magazine gospel radio hits such as "My Heart Says Yes" and "Worked It Out," passed away on Monday, April 27th of complications of COVID-19 at a Jacksonville, FL hospital. He was 52 years old. "Troy was like a brother to me," says Mike Chandler, CEO of Rejoice! Musical Soul Food radio network. "He was a businessman. He was a husband; he was a father. He was an industry leader so it's not just my loss it's a loss to the whole industry. He was one of the most talented men in our industry but more importantly Troy was a good person and he did a lot of good work. The world is going to miss him."

Sneed was born December 14, 1967 in Perry, FL. Throughout high school, he played football and had a dream of becoming a professional NFL star. However, three separate injuries in his junior and senior years, cut his dream short and doctors advised him to give up the game. After graduating from high school, he enrolled at Florida A&M University (FAMU) as an education major with a minor in music. He joined the university choir and became active in gospel music. The school's gospel choir advisor, Prince J.D. Olds, recognized Sneed's leadership and musical qualities almost immediately and appointed him the Minister of Music for the choir. During that period, Sneed traveled around the United States with the choir as they performed with gospel luminaries such as James Moore, Lashun Pace, Dorothy Norwood, and the Rev. James Cleveland.

Guidance on the Essential Critical Infrastructure Workforce: Ensuring Community and National Resilience in COVID-19 Response

Version 1.0 (March 19, 2020)

THE IMPORTANCE OF ESSENTIAL CRITICAL INFRASTRUCTURE WORKERS

Functioning critical infrastructure is imperative during the response to the COVID-19 emergency for both public health and safety as well as community well-being. Certain critical infrastructure industries have a special responsibility in these times to continue operations.

This guidance and accompanying list are intended to support State, Local, and industry partners in identifying the critical infrastructure sectors and the essential workers needed to maintain the services and functions Americans depend on daily and that need to be able to operate resiliently during the COVID-19 pandemic response.

This document gives guidance to State, local, tribal, and territorial jurisdictions and the private sector on defining essential critical infrastructure workers. Promoting the ability of such workers to continue to work during periods of community restriction, access management, social distancing, or closure orders/directives is crucial to community resilience and continuity of essential functions.

CONSIDERATIONS FOR GOVERNMENT AND BUSINESS

This list was developed in consultation with federal agency partners, industry experts, and State and local officials, and is based on several key principles:

1. Response efforts to the COVID-19 pandemic are locally executed, State managed, and federally supported
2. Everyone should follow guidance from the CDC, as well as State and local government officials, regarding strategies to limit disease spread.
3. Workers should be encouraged to work remotely when possible and focus on core business activities. In-person, non-mandatory activities should be delayed until the resumption of normal operations.
4. When continuous remote work is not possible, businesses should enlist strategies to reduce the likelihood of spreading the disease. This includes, but is not necessarily limited to, separating staff by off-setting shift hours or days and/or social distancing. These steps can preserve the workforce and allow operations to continue.
