

MINNESOTA PUBLIC RADIO NEWS AND INFORMATION SERVICE
FCC QUARTERLY PROGRAMMING REPORT OF APRIL — JUNE, 2020

KNCM~KNSE~KNBJ~KBPN~WIRN~WSCN~KNSR~KLNI~WIRC~ KNWF~WLSN~KGRP
WINH~WGGL~KITF~ KXLC~KNOW~KCCD~KRFI~KZSE~KRXW~KAUR~KNGA~KNTN~KNSW

Start Time	Duration min: sec	Issue Addressed	Title and Narrative
WEDNESDAY APRIL 1 2020
9:06	49:08	Mental Health	MPR News with Kerri Miller: Mental health among medical professionals on the front lines of COVID-19. Are we prepared to treat the mental health of our health care workers? Wednesday on MPR News with Kerri Miller, we talked with a psychologist and a physician. And we want to hear from you. If you are a doctor, nurse or other medical professional: What do we need to know about what you're doing? And what would make a significant difference for next time? Guests: Dr. Talee Vang, behavioral health psychologist at Hennepin Healthcare Dr. Ishani Ganguli, internist at Brigham and Women's Hospital and a health policy researcher and assistant professor of medicine at Harvard Medical School
12:06	47:52	Health/ Medicine	MPR News with Angela Davis: What to expect when you're expecting during a pandemic. A midwife and OB-GYN joined the program and examined what precautions should be taken during this time. Guests: Rebecca Polston is the owner and director of Roots Community Birth Center. Dr. Regan Theiler is the obstetrics chair at Mayo Clinic. Audrey Dorelien is an assistant professor at the University of Minnesota Humphrey School and has conducted research in how the flu affects pregnant people. She is also 37 weeks pregnant.
THURSDAY APRIL 2, 2020
9:06	48:41	Science	MPR News with Kerri Miller: Journalist Ed Yong on pandemic response, future of new coronavirus. On Thursday, host Kerri Miller spoke with Yong about his reporting on pandemic preparedness, how a lack of testing continues to affect U.S. efforts to curb the virus and what researchers will be looking for after the pandemic ends. Guest: Ed Yong is a staff writer for The Atlantic, where he covers science.
12:06	47:34	Labor	MPR News with Angela Davis: Minnesota's head of employment answers your unemployment questions. Minnesota Department of Employment and Economic Development Commissioner Steve Grove and two economists joined host Angela Davis to talk about the phenomenon and answer listener questions about their own unemployment situations. Guests: Steve Grove is the commissioner of the Minnesota Department of Employment and Economic Development. Bruce Corrie is an economist and an associate vice president at Concordia University in St. Paul. Aaron Sojourner is a labor economist, associate professor at the University of Minnesota and a former senior economist on the U.S. President's Council of Economic Advisers.
FRIDAY APRIL 3, 2020
9:06	51:13	Law/ Gender	MPR News with Kerri Miller: Journalist Gloria Steinem on activism, patriarchy and political power. During the wide-ranging conversation as part of the University of Minnesota's Humphrey School of Public Affairs' Distinguished Carlson Lecture, Steinem explored the history of women and activism; the current conversation surrounding the Equal Rights Amendment; the #MeToo movement; and what it would take for a woman to become

			president of the United States. Guest: Gloria Steinem is a writer, lecturer, political activist and feminist organizer. Her latest book is “The Truth Will Set You Free, But First It Will Piss You Off! Thoughts on Life, Love and Rebellion.”
12:06	49:49	Politics	MPR News with Angela Davis: Politics Friday: Reps. Phillips and Stauber on federal coronavirus aid. MPR News political editor Mike Mulcahy checked in on the federal response to the pandemic with two members of Minnesota's congressional delegation. Guests: Rep. Dean Phillips is a Democrat who represents Minnesota’s 3rd Congressional District. Rep. Pete Stauber is a Republican who represents Minnesota’s 8th Congressional District.
MONDAY APRIL 6, 2020
9:06	48:28	Science	MPR News with Kerri Miller: What we know now about the novel coronavirus. MPR News host Kerri Miller talked with two researchers about what we know now and the questions that still remain about COVID-19. Guest: Dr. Stanley Perlman is a professor of microbiology and immunology at the University of Iowa who studies coronaviruses. Ilhem Messaoudi Powers is a virologist and associate professor of molecular biology and biochemistry at the University of California-Irvine.
11:06	12:20	Education	MPR News with Angela Davis: Progress report: How is distance learning going? MPR News education reporter Elizabeth Shockman describes how the first week of distance learning went for Minnesota students and teachers.
11:20	37:10	Economics	MPR News with Angela Davis: Monday Economic Report: Don’t spend that tax refund just yet. On this edition of the Monday Economic Report, MPR’s senior economics contributor Chris Farrell talks about the growing unemployment rate, what to do with your tax refund, and other money matters.
12:06	54:00	History	MPR News Presents: 'Days of Infamy': Recordings of ordinary Americans reacting to Pearl Harbor and 9/11. On Sunday, U.S. Surgeon General Jerome Adams said the coming week "is going to be our Pearl Harbor moment, our 9/11 moment. Only, it’s not going to be localized, it’s going to be happening all over the country." For the return of MPR News Presents, we’ll hear a 2002 documentary from APM Reports and the Center for Documentary Studies called "Days of Infamy: December 7 and 9/11." It's hosted by Deborah Amos. Within the living memory of Americans are two deadly surprise attacks against the United States: Japan's assault on Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7, 1941, and the terrorist attacks of Sept. 11, 2001. Both times, the Library of Congress sent people out to record the voices of ordinary Americans as they reacted to a changed world.
TUESDAY APRIL 7, 2020
9:06	48:36	Science/ Social Issues	MPR News with Kerri Miller: The science behind how we behave in a pandemic. MPR News host Kerri Miller talked to an anthropologist and a psychologist on how living through a global pandemic changes our behavior. Guests: Regan Gurung is the director of the general psychology program at Oregon State University. Augustin Fuentes is the chair of the department of anthropology at the University of Notre Dame.
11:06	10:26	Race/ Social Issues	MPR News with Angela Davis: North Minneapolis leaders respond to the COVID-19 pandemic. In some cities, like Detroit, African Americans are overwhelmingly represented in COVID-19 statistics. Black leaders in north Minneapolis have come together to form the Northside Community Response Team and strategize on how to keep their community safe during the current health crisis. Louis King, president and CEO of Summit Academy OIC vocational school and one of the leaders of the response team, joined Angela to talk about the community's challenges in tackling the pandemic.

11:20	37:57	Family Life	MPR News with Angela Davis: Love experts on marriage and dating during a pandemic. Are you feeling overwhelmed by being stuck at home with your spouse and kids? Or maybe you're feeling lonely as a single person who lives alone. (Netflix Party dates, anyone?) Two relationship experts share how you can build and strengthen relationships, even in a challenging time of isolation. Guests: Ben Hoogland is a licensed marriage and family therapist in Eden Prairie who works with couples and individuals on their relationships. He is offering free relationship webinars this month. Alex Merritt is a Minneapolis-based dating coach who leads relationship workshops and does one-on-one advising on how to find love.
12:06	54:00	Science	MPR News Presents: Neuroscientist shares his tips for getting more sleep. Many people are not getting enough sleep, especially during the coronavirus pandemic. Lack of sleep is affecting both our physical and mental health, says neuroscientist Matthew Walker. Our brains need good quality sleep to function. Walker is a professor of neuroscience and psychology at the University of California, Berkeley and the director of the Sleep and Neuroimaging Laboratory. Previously he was a sleep researcher and professor at Harvard University and the founder of the Center for Human Sleep Science. He spoke Oct. 26, 2017, at the Commonwealth Club of California. The moderator is Alison van Diggelen of the BBC.
WEDNESDAY APRIL 8, 2020
9:06	48:27	Medicine	MPR News with Kerri Miller: Medical modeling: Trying to predict the future of a pandemic. On Wednesday, MPR News' Kerri Miller spoke with two experts about what medical modeling can tell us — and what it can't. Guests: Eva Enns, associate professor at the University of Minnesota School of Public Health Maggie Koerth, senior science writer at FiveThirtyEight
11:06	49:01	Education	MPR News with Angela Davis: In a pandemic, college students major in uncertainty. MPR News host Angela Davis talks with three experts on how the health crisis is affecting students and the institutions themselves. Guests: Mai Nhia Xiong-Chan is vice president of enrollment management at Hamline University in St. Paul. Jenny Moore is the coordinator of the Career Pathways program at White Bear Lake Area High School. Katy Briggs is a University of Minnesota student and the communications director for the Minnesota Students Association.
12:06	54:00	Social Issues	MPR News Presents: StoryCorps founder David Isay on the importance of human connection. StoryCorps founder David Isay says it's important to give people a chance to be listened to. It's not always optimal to "meet in the middle," said poet Elizabeth Alexander, who spoke with Isay at the Aspen Ideas Festival on June 27, 2017. But even if it's not easy it could be the first step in bridging some of the gaps in our polarized political environment.
THURSDAY APRIL 9, 2020
9:06	49:27	Religion	MPR News with Kerri Miller: The loss of ritual. Thursday on MPR News with Kerri Miller, we spoke with two spiritual leaders and thinkers about what it means — and how we can still sustain each other — when we can't come together. Guests: Stephanie Williams O'Brien, pastor of Mill City Church in Minneapolis and author of "Stay Curious" Eboo Patel, founder and president of Interfaith Youth Core

11:06	49:25	Health/ Labor	MPR News with Angela Davis: Checking in with Minnesota's health care workers. Minnesota's health care workers are on the front lines of the coronavirus pandemic. For many doctors and nurses, that means working long hours, worrying about their own health and fearing they'll expose their loved ones. What challenges are they facing? How are they taking care of themselves? Guests: Dr. Doug Brunette is the senior medical director for emergency and trauma services, and emergency department physician at Hennepin Healthcare in downtown Minneapolis. Dr. Laalitha Surapaneni is an assistant professor at the University of Minnesota Medical School. She currently practices and teaches hospital medicine at the M Health Fairview University of Minnesota Medical Center - East Bank Hospital, but in March she volunteered to serve at M Health Fairview Bethesda Hospital, the state's first dedicated COVID-19 care facility. Debra Howze is a home care worker in the metro area. She sits on the Governor's Council on an Age-Friendly Minnesota and is a board member of SEIU Healthcare Minnesota.
12:06	54:00	Politics	MPR News Presents: Norm Ornstein on the congressional and presidential response to the pandemic. Minnesota native and nationally renowned congressional scholar Norm Ornstein told a University of Minnesota audience that he hopes a 9/11-type commission will be appointed to analyze how Congress and the Trump administration handled the pandemic and the economic shutdown.
FRIDAY APRIL 10, 2020
9:06	49:15	Arts and Culture	MPR News with Kerri Miller: Renovation during isolation. Wondering how to get started? Need some advice on how to make your bathroom feel like the salon you miss? Want a man-cave, now more than ever? Friday, Brad and Heather Fox from HGTV's "Stay or Sell?" joined us to answer your questions. Guests: Brad and Heather Fox, owners of Fox Homes and hosts of HGTV's "Stay or Sell?"
11:06	38:11	Arts and Culture	MPR News with Angela Davis: What are you watching in quarantine? Social distancing can be lonely, but television and movies can help. What are you watching to help get you through the coronavirus crisis? Guests: Emily VanDerWerff is the Critic at Large for Vox. Before that, she was the TV Editor for The A.V. Club. Chris Hewitt is a theater critic at the Star Tribune. He previously worked at the Pioneer Press in St. Paul, where he covered movies and then theater.
MONDAY APRIL 13, 2020
9:06	49:05	Health/ Science	MPR News with Kerri Miller: The latest on the science of the novel coronavirus. At 9 a.m. Monday, MPR News host Kerri Miller spoke with two researchers about the latest on the novel coronavirus. Guests: -Vineet Menachery is an assistant professor in the Department of Microbiology and Immunology at the University of Texas Medical Branch. -Lisa Gralinski is an assistant professor in the Department of Epidemiology at the University of North Carolina.
11:06	9:50	Economics	MPR News with Angela Davis: Local nonprofits get COVID-19 financial support. US Bank is funding nonprofits around the country to the tune of $30 million so the organizations can continue to pay their operating costs. And the company isn't the only one stepping up to make sure nonprofits and smaller businesses stay afloat. MPR News host Angela Davis talked with Reba Dominski, head of corporate social responsibility at US Bank, and John Wilgers, president and CEO of Greater Twin Cities United Way, about efforts to support national and local nonprofits during the pandemic-induced economic downturn.
	14:50	Ethics/ Economics	MPR News with Angela Davis: Is it ethical to shop during a pandemic? We are buying almost everything online right now. And stores are encouraging this – to slow the spread of COVID-19. But they're also offering sales and discounts in hopes that we buy more. Is it ethical to take advantage, knowing that workers packaging up your recent purchases in warehouses and people delivering those items to your home could be at risk of getting sick? Guest: Katherina Pattit is an associate professor of ethics and business law at the University of St. Thomas.

	33:26	Economics	MPR News with Angela Davis: Monday Economic Report: Is a depression looming? On this edition of the Monday Economic Report, MPR senior economics contributor Chris Farrell talks about the difficulty in filing for unemployment, small businesses and the pandemic's impact on real estate.
12:06	54:00	Literature/ History	MPR News Presents: Humankind documentary: 'Libraries Reimagined'. This is the first of a new two-part documentary from the Humankind series, "Libraries Reimagined." It's about the ways libraries are evolving, and the role they play in educating, informing and entertaining people as well as protecting our democracy. Libraries have been carried along by the tide of technology that has transformed so much of our modern life, and are offering a wide range of new services.
TUESDAY APRIL 14, 2020
9:06	11:28	Politics	MPR News with Kerri Miller: Takeaways from Wisconsin's primary election during a pandemic. Kerri Miller talked with a Wisconsin Public Radio reporter about the results, takeaways from the vote and what to watch when it comes to future elections during the pandemic. Guest: Shawn Johnson is Wisconsin Public Radio's Capitol Bureau chief and a host of the WPR Politics podcast.
	37:37	Science	MPR News with Kerri Miller: How to be a science communicator during a pandemic. Kerri Miller talked with a science communicator about how to discuss complicated science, debunk disinformation, cut through fear and help people learn. Guest: Liz Neeley is the executive director of The Story Collider and a lecturer at Yale University.
11:06	12:22	Mental Health/ Literature	MPR News with Angela Davis: A mom's book about autism changed her daughter's life. Minnesota podcaster and comedian Sheletta Brundidge noticed her daughter, Cameron, wasn't getting invited to play with the other kids. The then-kindergartener struggled to feel connected with her classmates. They didn't think she was nice, because she didn't talk at school, and she never made eye contact with them. They didn't know it's because Cameron has autism. Brundidge realized that, just as much as adults do, children need help understanding what autism looks like in other children. The local podcaster and comedian co-authored a new children's book, "Cameron Goes to School," to teach neurotypical children about their autistic classmates. Brundidge joins MPR News host Angela Davis to talk about the new book and her daughter's autism journey.
	36:42	Mental Health	MPR News with Angela Davis: In a mess of COVID-19 feelings, don't overlook grief. MPR News host Angela Davis dives into what this particular type of grief looks like, and how we can lessen it during a difficult time. Guests: David Kessler is a Los Angeles-based grief expert who has written six books on the topic, including "Finding Meaning: The Sixth Stage of Grief," his most recent. Joel Jueckstock is manager of spiritual care and pastoral education for Allina Health's north region. He has been a chaplain for a decade and wrote his Ph.D. thesis on grief. He works at Mercy Hospital in Coon Rapids.
12:06	54:00	Education	MPR News Presents: APM Reports documentary: 'Under a Watchful Eye'. The APM Reports documentary by Sasha Aslanian and Jill Barshay is called "Under a Watchful Eye: How Colleges are Tracking Students to Boost Graduation." It's hosted by Stephen Smith. The documentary was awarded a first place national Headliners Award.
WEDNESDAY APRIL 15, 2020
9:06	51:36	Economics	MPR News with Kerri Miller: COVID-19: Hard questions, real answers on credit cards, unemployment and your finances. The global coronavirus pandemic has hit close to home, raising questions for Americans about the status of their pocketbooks. During a recent national conversation co-produced by MPR News and Marketplace, host Kerri Miller talked with Michelle Singletary, a personal finance columnist at The Washington Post, and Marketplace correspondent Kimberly Adams. Listeners called in to share what the pandemic has meant for their lives and what personal finance questions are keeping them up at night.

11:06	48:22	Agriculture	MPR News with Angela Davis: How are Minnesota’s growers and grocers keeping food safe and in supply. MPR News host Angela Davis checked in with those keeping our food safe and in good supply. Guests: Adam Belz is the agriculture reporter at the Star Tribune. Bryan Klabunde is the vice president of the Minnesota Farmers Union. Jamie Pfuhl is the president of the Minnesota Grocers Association.
12:06	54:00	History/Politics	MPR News Presents: History Forum: Some historical perspective on the role of government. History professor Steve Conn of Miami University in Ohio spoke at the Minnesota Historical Society's History Forum on Feb. 22, 2020.
THURSDAY APRIL 16, 2020
9:06	51:39	Economy	MPR News with Kerri Miller: Experts on reopening the economy: ‘There’s so much uncertainty’. Neel Kashkari, president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis talked with MPR News host Kerri Miller and Marketplace’s Sabri Ben-Achour during a national call-in special about COVID-19’s effects on the global economy.
11:06	46:32	Race/ Health	MPR News with Angela Davis: Counter Stories: COVID-19 is hitting communities of color hard. Whether it's the illness itself, the racism that comes with it, or the unsafe conditions for workers now deemed essential, the coronavirus is exacerbating racial injustices. Today’s hosts are: Hlee Lee, Owner of The Other Media Group Anthony Galloway, Executive Director of Arts-US Luz Maria Frias, Equity Coach and Founder of The Savvy Coach Marianne Combs, Correspondent, MPR News
12:06	54:00	Social Issues	MPR News Presents: Intelligence Squared Discourse Disrupters series: How to fight an infodemic. John Donovan hosts a discussion on how to be discerning communicators and consumers during a time of crisis. Angie Drobnic Holan is a journalist and editor-in-chief of PolitiFact. She says: “When we are in an extremely high-profile news event, people are just hungry for new information.” Kate Starbird is a computer scientist and associate professor of Human Centered Design and Engineering at the University of Washington. Starbird says: “The misinformation becomes dangerous when it hits the influencers.”
FRIDAY APRIL 17, 2020
9:06	49:24	Arts and Culture	MPR News with Kerri Miller: The power of music during challenging times. Kerri Miller talked with The Current’s Jim McGuinn Friday about the power of music, especially in challenging times, and about the music people are turning to right now.
11:06	47:59	Health	MPR News with Angela Davis: A primer on protective masks. Listen to a conversation about who’s making masks and how they are being used. Guests: Denise Rutherford, 3M senior vice president Helen Strike, president of Allina Health’s Regina Hospital (in Hastings) and River Falls Area Hospital, and COVID-19 Allina Health System incident commander Beth Curtin, a furloughed tailor in Rochester who has been making masks and selling them on Etsy. Linsey Griffin, professor in the University of Minnesota's College of Design
MONDAY APRIL 20, 2020
9:06	49:08	Science/ Health	MPR News with Kerri Miller: The latest on the science of the novel coronavirus. Guests: Dr. Megan Culler Freeman is an infectious disease fellow at the University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine.

			Angela Rasmussen is a virologist and associate research scientist at Columbia University's Mailman School of Public Health.
11:06	40:04	Economics	MPR News with Angela Davis: The COVID economy. Nearly 500,000 people have filed for unemployment in Minnesota over the last five weeks. What is the government doing to help people who are struggling financially? What are the long term impacts on the economy? Are we headed into a recession or depression? MPR's senior economics contributor Chris Farrell answers questions about how the restrictions imposed because of the COVID-19 pandemic are affecting the economy.
	10:48	People and Places	MPR News with Angela Davis: Life of an essential worker: Environmental service employee at Methodist Hospital. As part of an occasional series, MPR News host Angela Davis interviews an essential worker on the front lines of the coronavirus pandemic. On Monday, Davis spoke with Joann Palmer, an environmental service worker at Methodist Hospital in St. Louis Park. She's been cleaning that hospital for more than 30 years.
12:06	54:00	History/ Literature	MPR News Presents: On National Library Week: A Humankind documentary 'Libraries Reimagined' For National Library Week, part two of the Humankind documentary about the evolution of libraries, called, "The New Literacy."
TUESDAY APRIL 21, 2020
9:06	48:59	Politics	MPR News with Kerri Miller: Voting in the age of COVID-19. Tuesday, we launched the first of two conversations about voting in 2020. First up: How will voting change to accommodate the pandemic? And will those changes encourage or discourage voter involvement? Guest: Ari Berman, journalist and author of "Give Us the Ballot"
11:06	49:24	Social Relationships	MPR News with Angela Davis: During quarantine, keep your friends close – from afar. MPR News host Angela Davis explores what close friendship looks like during a stressful health crisis. Guests: Lydia Denworth is a science journalist and the author of "Friendship: The Evolution, Biology, And Extraordinary Power Of Life's Fundamental Bond," a book on the science of friendship. Kirsten Lind Seal is a Minneapolis-based licensed marriage and family therapist who works with individuals, couples and families on their relationships.
12:06	54:00	History	MPR News Presents: On Holocaust Remembrance Day: BBC documentary 'The Children of Belsen'. Hetty Verolme is the author of two books, "Hetty: A True Story," and "The Children's House of Belsen." She grew up in Amsterdam and now lives in Australia.
WEDNESDAY APRIL 22 2020
9:06	54:00	Health/ Labor	MPR News with Kerri Miller: Coming up: A doctor's view of the coronavirus pandemic and the medical field. Every day, medical staff treat patients in hospitals around the country for a variety of conditions. However, the novel coronavirus pandemic is changing the routine as the focus shifts to caring for patients with COVID-19 and trying to prevent the spread of infection. Dr. Danielle Ofri, a physician at Bellevue Hospital in New York City, recently wrote about her experience testing patients for COVID-19 and her frustration at the role of politics in this public health crisis. "We want rational policy, not meaningless fluff," she said. "We don't have time for this." Kerri Miller will talk with Ofri about her experience during the pandemic, the role of public health and her latest book, "When We Do Harm."
11:06	49:49	Environment	MPR News with Angela Davis: Bird watching in your backyard: What to listen for. Expert birder and author Sharon Stiteler, aka the "Birdchick," talked with MPR News host Angela Davis about how to identify birds commonly seen and heard right now in Minnesota. They also discussed how to attract new birds to household feeders and what, if anything, can be done to keep the squirrels away.

12:06	54:00	Climate Change	MPR News Presents: Climate One: The different response to two global threats, COVID-19 and climate change. From the Commonwealth Club's Climate One series, "COVID-19 and Climate: Human Response" is hosted by Greg Dalton. His guests are: Peter Atwater, adjunct economics professor, College of William and Mary Susan Clayton Whitmore-Williams, professor of psychology, College of Wooster Robert Frank, professor of management, Cornell SC Johnson College of Business
THURSDAY APRIL 23, 2020
9:06	30:08	Medicine	MPR News with Kerri Miller: Do our genes hold the answers to COVID-19's lethality? Kerri Miller spoke with a geneticist about the hopes and limitations of the latest research. Guest: Dr. Wendy Chung, clinical and molecular geneticist and physician at Columbia University Medical Center
9:37	20:17	Health	MPR News with Kerri Miller: How your grandmother's diet set the stage for your health today. MPR News host Kerri Miller spoke with Judith Finlayson, author of the new book, "You Are What Your Grandparents Ate," about this fascinating new research, and what we are learning about genetics and the lineage of chronic disease. Guest: Judith Finlayson, author of "You Are What Your Grandparents Ate"
11:06	45:56	Social Issues	MPR News with Angela Davis: How the pandemic is changing the ways we bury, cremate and mourn our dead. The way we mourn our loved ones has changed. There are now burials without a crowd. We grieve without hugs. And we celebrate the lives of our loved ones on video. Our rituals of loss are important to the families and friends left behind, but they have either stopped happening or become nearly unrecognizable. How has the funeral industry adapted? Guests: Margaret Brooks is a funeral director and co-owner of Brooks Funeral Home in St. Paul. Rabbi Marcia Zimmerman is the Senior Rabbi at Temple Israel in Minneapolis.
12:06	54:00	History/ Race	MPR News Presents: Learning from Lincoln: Leadership in a time of crisis. An Aspen Institute program about another president who led during a time of national crisis — Abraham Lincoln. Two historians discuss the leadership lessons we could learn from President Lincoln. The Aspen Institute, like many organizations, is trying to resurrect some of their programs using remote connections. Their "Socrates Program" featured a session on April 3, 2020, called "Learning from President Abraham Lincoln: Leadership in a Time of Crisis." Colleen Shogan of the White House Historical Association connected with Harvard University history professor John Stauffer. They talked about the lessons we might learn from President Lincoln, who took office with little political experience and an immediate major crisis, the Civil War. They say he recognized the fragility of democracy and knew that listening, trust, empathy and respect were important. Both conclude that Lincoln's words have considerable relevance to the crisis we face today, particularly his rhetoric in the Gettysburg Address and his second inaugural address. Colleen Shogan is senior vice president and director of the David M. Rubenstein National Center for White House History at the White House Historical Association, and is an adjunct professor of political science at Georgetown. John Stauffer is a professor of English, American Studies, and African American Studies at Harvard University. He writes and lectures on the Civil War era and is the author of "The Black Hearts of Men and other books on the Civil War era, including "Giants: The Parallel Lives of Frederick Douglass and Abraham Lincoln."
FRIDAY APRIL 24, 2020

9:06	48:36	Environment	MPR News with Kerri Miller: The gift of a garden in troubled times. Join Kerri Miller on Friday for a break from the news and some time in Rebecca's garden. Guest: Rebecca Winn, landscape designer, creator of Whimsical Gardens and author of the new book "One Hundred Daffodils: Finding Beauty, Grace and Meaning When Things Fall Apart"
11:06	40:59	Arts and Literature	MPR News with Angela Davis: Books for kids stuck at home. Two experts on children's books join MPR News host Angela Davis to tell us about new books for kids. They also talk about books that go along with activities families can do together, and books that help kids and parents understand the time we're living through. Guests: Holly Weinkauf, owner of the Red Balloon Bookshop in St. Paul Lisa Von Drasek, a librarian and curator of the Children's Research Collection at the University of Minnesota
MONDAY APRIL 27, 2020
9:06	46:22	International Politics	MPR News with Kerri Miller: What we know about the coronavirus as the country considers reopening. While research efforts continue, new information and new questions come up every day about COVID-19 and the virus that causes it. For our latest check-in on the science of the novel coronavirus, Kerri Miller talked with two doctors about what they're watching during the pandemic. Guests: Dr. Angela Hewlett is the medical director of the Nebraska Biocontainment Unit. She is also an associate professor in the Department of Internal Medicine and associate medical director of Infection Control and Epidemiology at the University of Nebraska Medical Center. Dr. Preeti Malani is chief health officer at the University of Michigan. She is also a professor of medicine in the Division of Infectious Diseases.
11:06	15:17	Labor	MPR News with Angela Davis: How to look for a job during lockdown. The key is knowing how to hunt for a job in this market. MPR News host Angela Davis talks with a longtime career counselor about what you should focus on if you're looking for work right now. Guest: Amy Lindgren is the owner of career consulting firm Prototype Career Service in St. Paul and a career columnist for the St. Paul Pioneer Press.
11:23	33:38	Economics	MPR News with Angela Davis: The latest on the economy with Chris Farrell. MPR Senior Economics Contributor Chris Farrell joins MPR News host Angela Davis to talk about the current state of the economy. Some businesses are beginning to reopen. Consumers, who have lost wages and are concerned about catching COVID-19, may be reluctant to return.
12:06	54:00	Politics	MPR News Presents: Intelligence Squared debate: Is the Defense Production Act being underutilized? John Donvan hosted two of the nation's leading experts on the DPA in the IQ2 first-ever "at-home debate." Historian of American production Margaret O'Mara and national security expert Thomas Spoehr took on the motion, "The Defense Production Act is being underutilized."
TUESDAY APRIL 28, 2020
9:06	50:02	Politics	MPR News with Kerri Miller: The role of young voters in 2020. Kerri Miller talked with a pollster and a political scientist about young voters; how a changing world affects their viewpoints; and what this election could look like for young voters of color. This is the second of two shows on voting during a pandemic. You can listen to our first conversation here. Guests: John Della Volpe is director of polling at the Harvard Kennedy School Institute of Politics.

			Stella M. Rouse is an associate professor in the Department of Government and Politics at the University of Maryland. Rouse is also the author of two books, including “The Politics of Millennials: Political Beliefs and Policy Preferences of America’s Most Diverse Generation.”
11:06	37:02	Family Life	MPR News with Angela Davis: It’s time for a quarantine declutter. People hire professional organizers when they struggle to get started on the things they want to do around the house. MPR News host Angela Davis speaks with two of them about their tips for getting started on decluttering during stay-at-home orders. The organizers also answer listener questions about how to make home a little more calming and a little less chaotic. Guests: Louise Kurzeka is a professional organizer and founder of Everything’s Together. Michele Vig is a professional organizer and founder of Neat Little Nest.
12:06	54:00	Politics	MPR News Presents: A University of Minnesota event: Fear and loathing across the party divide. Two nationally-renowned political observers share their views this hour — and conclude that the political attitudes of Americans are now characterized by a deep sense of ill will. With a global pandemic underway, some people thought — or hoped — that America's political polarization might simmer down. But there's not a lot of evidence of it. The University of Minnesota Humphrey School hosted an event titled, "Democrats and Republicans Don't Just Disagree — They Hate Each Other." Political science professor Larry Jacobs hosted the discussion, connecting up remotely last Thursday with Ramesh Ponnuru of the National Review and Shanto Iyengar of Stanford University.
WEDNESDAY APRIL 29, 2020
9:06	49:20	Literature	MPR News with Kerri Miller: Author Lawrence Wright on new novel, 'The End of October' Kerri Miller talked with Wright about how he developed “The End of October” and what he learned about pandemics as part of his research for the novel. Guest: Lawrence Wright is an author, screenwriter, playwright and a staff writer for The New Yorker magazine. His latest novel is “The End of October.”
11:06	9:37	Career Ethics	MPR News with Angela Davis: Life of an essential worker: Photojournalists. As part of our Life of an Essential Worker series, MPR News host Angela Davis chats with MPR News photojournalist Evan Frost about how his job has changed.
11:17	40:49	Environment	MPR News with Angela Davis: Challenges and delight of plant parenthood. We also talked about what we can do right now to get a head start on our outdoor gardens. Guests: Jessie Jacobson is the owner of Tonkadale Greenhouse in Minnetonka Julie Weisenhorn is a horticulturist and extension educator at the University of Minnesota
12:06	54:00	History	MPR News Presents: Thomas Edison: How the light bulb changed everything. He explores how and why the light bulb changed nearly everything about American life, economy, society, architecture, sports, entertainment and health. Ernest Freeberg spoke at the Minnesota Historical Society’s “History Forum” on Feb. 14, 2015.
THURSDAY APRIL 30, 2020
9:06	49:03	Gastronomy	MPR News with Kerri Miller: Chef Amy Thielen on cooking comfort food. Chef and author Amy Thielen talks with MPR host Kerri Miller about comfort food at 9 a.m. Thursday. One food that brings Thielen comfort is her Hot-and-Sauer Egg Drop Soup.
11:06	48:26	Race/ Health	MPR News with Angela Davis: Counter Stories: A personal journey of grief in the era of COVID-19. The Counter Stories co-hosts also talk about how the virus is preventing people both from mourning with their families and observing important cultural traditions. Hosts are :

			Donald Eubanks, associate professor at Metropolitan State University and cultural consultant Hlee Lee, owner of The Other Media Group Luz Maria Frias, equity coach and founder of The Savvy Coach Anthony Galloway, senior partner at Dendros Group Marianne Combs, correspondent for MPR News
12:06	54:00	War	MPR News Presents: Voices of Vietnam documentary: A Lost Homeland. A documentary about the Vietnamese refugees who fled their country after the Fall of Saigon on April 30, 1975. The documentary is called "A Lost Homeland." It was produced as part of With Good Reason Radio's "Voices of Vietnam" series, in Charlottesville, Va.
FRIDAY MAY 1, 2020
9:06	45:28	Health Care	MPR News with Kerri Miller: The road to reopening. Friday on MPR News with Kerri Miller, we spoke with two veterans of U.S. health care policy who have authored proposals for responsible reopening. Guests: Anne-Marie Slaughter, CEO of New America and co-author of the "Roadmap to Pandemic Resilience" from Harvard University's Safra Center for Ethics. Andy Slavitt, former administrator of the Center for Medicare and Medicaid Services and host of the pandemic podcast In the Bubble.
11:06	48:42	Education	MPR News with Angela Davis: How to decide your post-high school plans during a pandemic. How important is the college environment to you? Would you commit to a college or university you can't visit or physically attend in the fall? Are you deferring and taking a gap year instead? Guests: Phil Trout is a college counselor at Minnetonka High School Holly Evans is a school counselor at Mankato East High School and sits on the governing board of the Minnesota School Counselor Association. Geoff Wilson is the executive director of the Minnesota branch for College Possible, a national nonprofit focused on getting low-income students into college.
MONDAY MAY 4, 2020
9:06	45:38	Science	MPR News with Kerri Miller: A look at the science of coronavirus as the country loosens restrictions. A number of states have eased or ended stay-at-home orders, with other governors extending them. However, the threat of coronavirus is far from over. While cases are on the decline in some parts of the country, other cities are seeing the number of COVID-19 patients increase. Kerri Miller talked with two infectious disease specialists about the latest news regarding coronavirus science and where we stand on testing, contact tracing and research about treatments and vaccines. Guests: Michael Osterholm is regents professor and director of the Center for Infectious Disease Research and Policy at the University of Minnesota. Dr. Abigail Carlson is an assistant professor at Washington University School of Medicine in St Louis.
11:06	11:08	Religion	MPR News with Angela Davis: Ramadan at home. The monthlong observance of Ramadan began April 23. To maintain social distancing, Muslims have been forced to change the way they observe the ninth month of the Islamic calendar. People are not able to gather in mosques as usual and in one neighborhood the call to prayer is heard over a loudspeaker. A leader of Minnesota's Muslim community says it has been difficult, especially for older people who

			look forward to the social gatherings that are such a big part of the Ramadan traditions. Guest: Jaylani Hussein, executive director of the Minnesota chapter of the Council on American-Islamic Relations.
11:20	36:35	Economics	MPR News with Angela Davis: The pandemic economy. Unemployment numbers for April will be out this week. They are expected to show a jobless rate of over 16 percent, the highest level since 1948. Also in April, the stock market had its best month since 1987. Businesses, which closed to stop the spread of the novel coronavirus, are beginning to open up, but how quickly will consumers return? Businesses, households and governments are all racking up lots of debt. What does it all mean? Guest: MPR senior economics contributor Chris Farrell
12:06	54:00	Race/ History	MPR News Presents: Humankind documentary: 'Ida B. Wells' Battle to Uncover the Truth' Among those you will hear in this Humankind program: Nikole Hannah-Jones, New York Times correspondent who has led the 1619 Project, which marks the start of enslavement in the Americas. David Blight, Yale historian and winner of the Pulitzer Prize for his biography of Frederick Douglass, who was an associate of Ida B. Wells. Paula Giddings, who authored the principal biography of Wells, titled "Ida: A Sword Among Lions: Ida B. Wells and the Campaign Against Lynching." Bryan Stevenson, founder of the Equal Justice Initiative, which dedicated the first nationwide memorial to victims of lynching, in 2018. Written and produced by David Freudberg in association with WGBH/Boston.
TUESDAY MAY 5, 2020
9:06	45:10	Social Issues	MPR News with Kerri Miller: How the pandemic is changing us. How are we changing because of the COVID-19 pandemic? What are the stories you are already telling your family and friends? Tuesday on MPR News with Kerri Miller, we spoke with an anthropologist and a historian. Guests: Jose Santos, anthropologist at Metro State University Elizabeth Fenn, history professor at University of Colorado Boulder and author of "Pox Americana: The Great Smallpox Epidemic of 1775-82"
11:06	37:10	Parenting	MPR News with Angela Davis: Parenting during a pandemic. Two parenting experts joined the conversation and answered questions about everything from fighting to technology and how to set realistic expectations. Guests: Dave Walsh is a psychologist and parenting expert. Monica Potter is a licensed parent educator and an early childhood family education supervisor at St. Paul Public Schools.
11:45	10:16	Economics	MPR News with Angela Davis: Some Minnesota businesses are doing well during the pandemic. The stay-home orders to prevent the spread of the novel coronavirus have had a devastating effect on the economy. Many companies are struggling or have gone out of business, but some have adjusted to the change in consumer demand and are thriving. The editor of a publication about Minnesota business talks about what some companies are doing to attract customers during the pandemic. Breathe99 Proozy Omnia Fishing dpHUE Guest: Allison Kaplan, editor in chief of Twin Cities Business
12:06	54:00	Health/ Science	MPR News Presents: Intelligence Squared debate: Don't eat anything with a face. In this country, most of us are blessed with an abundance of food and food choices. So taking into account our health, the environment and ethical concerns, which diet is best? Are we or aren't we meant to be carnivores? Intelligence Squared debates are moderated by John Donovan.

WEDNESDAY MAY 6, 2020
9:06	44:29	Health	MPR News with Kerri Miller: A check-in on Minnesota and its response to the coronavirus pandemic. On Wednesday, host Kerri Miller spoke with the Minnesota Department of Health’s director of infectious diseases and epidemiology and a doctor from Hennepin Healthcare about how the state has dealt with the pandemic so far and what may be down the road in addressing the state’s testing and treatment needs. Guests Kris Ehresmann is the Minnesota Department of Health infectious disease director. Dr. David Hilden is vice president of medical affairs at Hennepin Healthcare.
11:06	45:40	Health	MPR News with Angela Davis: What alcohol and drug use recovery is like during the pandemic. MPR News host Angela Davis talked with two people at the front lines of recovery about how programs have changed to accommodate the pandemic, and hears from listeners who share their own stories of recovery. If you need immediate mental health help, check out these resources. Guests: Joseph Lee is a psychiatrist and the medical director of Hazelden Betty Ford’s program for young people, Youth Continuum. Bill Jaap owns and operates Northeast Recovery Room in Minneapolis, a space that hosts daily 12-step meetings for substance use disorder recovery. The meetings are currently held online. He’s been in recovery since 1984.
12:06	54:00	Science	MPR News Presents: National Science Foundation documentary: Listening to the Arctic. This documentary takes you to the people and places where scientific research is being done to understand the Arctic and climate change and its impact on the rest of the world.
THURSDAY MAY 7, 2020
9:06	44:51	Health Care	MPR News with Kerri Miller: How COVID-19 will change the health care policy debate. MPR News host Kerri Miller spoke with a health economist and health policy researcher about what we’ve learned from COVID-19 and how it should inform future changes to our health care system. Guests Vivian Ho is a health economist for Rice University’s Baker Institute for Public Policy and the Baylor College School of Medicine. Dr. Karen Joynt Maddox is an assistant professor of medicine and co-director of the Center for Health Economics and Policy at Washington University in St. Louis.
11:06	46:29	Nature	MPR News with Angela Davis: Ask the vet: Quarantine edition. Hear what two veterinarians have to say about why your pet is behaving differently. Guests: Dr. Justine Lee is a veterinarian specializing in emergency, critical care and toxicology. She practices at Animal Emergency and Referral Center of Minnesota in Oakdale. Dr. Deborah Bryant is a veterinarian specializing in behavioral medicine. She practices at Veterinary Behavior Specialties of Minnesota in Minnetonka. Dr. Graham Brayshaw is a veterinarian and director of Animal Services at the Animal Humane Society in Golden Valley.
12:06	54:00	History	MPR News Presents: The First Family of Radio: Franklin and Eleanor Roosevelt's Historic Broadcasts. From the 1920s through Franklin D. Roosevelt’s fourth term, the president and first lady used this extraordinarily powerful new medium to win elections, combat the Great Depression and rally the nation to fight fascism. May 8, 2020 is the 75th anniversary V-E Day, the end of WWII in Europe. This American Public Media documentary was produced by Stephen Smith and Kate Ellis.

FRIDAY MAY 8, 2020
9:06	45:10	Arts and Culture	MPR News with Kerri Miller: We asked, you shared: Your favorite memories of watching movies on the big screen. Friday on MPR News with Kerri Miller, we asked two film buffs and our audience to call in and share memories from their favorite theater screenings. Guests Alissa Wilkinson, film critic and culture reporter for Vox Lily Percy Ruiz is host of the podcast “This Movie Changed Me” and executive producer at On Being Studios.
11:06	47:27	Race/ Gastronomy	MPR News with Angela Davis: A conversation with chef Yia Vang of Union Hmong Kitchen. Chef Yia Vang of Union Hmong Kitchen was supposed to open his first restaurant, but then the COVID-19 pandemic hit and put that on hold. How is he adapting during this time? We also talked about his childhood in a Thai refugee camp, his first English lesson, living in the Amish country of Pennsylvania and having his food on the cover of Bon Appetit magazine. Guest: Yia Vang is the chef and owner of Union Hmong Kitchen, a pop-up restaurant currently located outside Sociable Cider Werks in northeast Minneapolis.
MONDAY MAY 11, 2020
9:06	45:49	Science/ Public Policy	MPR News with Kerri Miller: Experts share latest knowledge about COVID-19 science and policy. On Mondays at 9 a.m., Kerri Miller explores the latest knowledge on the science of the coronavirus outbreak and how it’s driving policy decisions. An infectious disease doctor and a surgeon who also specializes in health policy research shared what they know and answered your questions. Guests Dr. William Schaffner is a professor in the Division of Infectious Diseases at Vanderbilt University. Dr. Thomas Tsai is a surgeon and health policy researcher at the Brigham and Women’s Hospital and the Department of Health Policy and Management at Harvard’s T.H. Chan School of Public Health.
11:06	24:02	Sports (and Leisure)	MPR News with Angela Davis: Will there be a baseball season this year? There are reports that Major League Baseball is getting ready to announce a plan for how games could resume this year. But there are many unanswered questions. How much of a season would there be? Where would games be played? How would players and other personnel be protected from catching the novel coronavirus? Would fans be allowed in to see the games?
11:32	24:39	Economics	MPR News with Angela Davis: The latest on the economy. The latest figures show that the economy lost more than 20.5 million jobs in April, sending the unemployment rate to 14.7 percent. This is the worst unemployment we have seen since the Great Depression. Some businesses that closed to slow the spread of the coronavirus are beginning to reopen. But how quickly will consumers feel it’s safe to return and spend? Guest: Chris Farrell, MPR senior economics correspondent
12:06	54:00	History	MPR News Presents: Aspen Ideas Festival: 'Correcting America's Historical Memory' Blight and Gordon-Reed spoke with John Dickerson of CBS’ 60 Minutes on June 29, 2019, at the Aspen Ideas Festival in Aspen, Colo.
TUESDAY MAY 12, 2020
9:06	45:16	Education	MPR News with Kerri Miller: Could the pandemic change college forever? Tuesday on MPR News with Kerri Miller, the first of two shows about the future of college. First up: How colleges might abruptly change how they educate students. Next week: Is college worth the financial risk at this moment? Guests: Angel Perez, vice president for enrollment and student Success at Trinity College and CEO-elect of the National Association for College Admissions Counseling

			Brian Rosenberg, president of Macalester College
11:06	46:16	Social Issues	MPR News with Angela Davis: When staying at home is dangerous. What can survivors do to get help during this time, and what can neighbors and friends do to help? Guests: Stephanie Revering is the chief of the Crystal Police Department. Pamela Maldonado is the victim advocacy program manager at Cornerstone, and former member of the planning committee to create Minnesota's first Victim Assistance Academy.
12:06	54:00	History/ Arts and Culture	MPR News Presents: Hearing America: A Century of Music on the Radio. Ray Suarez hosts APM Reports documentary: "Hearing America: A Century of Music on the Radio." On Christmas Eve in 1906, shipboard technicians listening for Morse code heard music. It's believed to be the first successful radio transmission of music and voice. Music has been the dominant sound on the radio ever since, and an engine for cultural and political change in America. Since the first broadcast, music on the radio in the United States has been a cultural battleground. It's been a place where people who wanted to shape the nation's society skirmished over what America should sound like, and should be like.
WEDNESDAY MAY 13, 2020
9:06	47:36	Economics	MPR News with Kerri Miller: How to manage your personal finances during a pandemic. Wednesday on MPR News with Kerri Miller, two finance experts took listener calls and questions on how to manage your money during a period of economic uncertainty. Guests: Jill Schlesinger is a business analyst for CBS News, a certified financial planner and the author of the book, "The Dumb Things Smart People Do With Their Money: Thirteen Ways to Right Your Financial Wrongs." Sandra Block is a senior editor for Kiplinger's Personal Finance.
11:06	12:18	Health Care	MPR News with Angela Davis: A doctor describes what it's like to treat COVID-19 patients. The 70 doctors who coordinate care for patients at Abbott Northwestern hospital in Minneapolis take turns treating patients who have COVID-19. A doctor whose turn came up two weeks ago describes the training he has been receiving about the disease and how not to catch it. He says it's difficult to treat people who have a disease with no known cure and are isolated from their families. Guest: Dr. Charles Pogemiller
11:22	36:03	Health	MPR News with Angela Davis: Why eating disorder recovery is more daunting during the pandemic. MPR News host Angela Davis talked to leaders in the eating disorder recovery community about the challenges the pandemic poses, and how to help yourself or a loved one in need of support. Guests: Claire Mysko is the CEO of the National Eating Disorders Association, the country's largest nonprofit supporting people with eating disorders and their families. Heather Gallivan is the clinical director at Melrose Center, an in- and out-patient treatment center for people with eating disorders, headquartered in St. Louis Park. Cat Polivoda is a body-positive activist, owner of Cake Plus-Size Resale in Minneapolis and co-host of the Matter of Fat podcast.
12:06	54:00	History	MPR News Presents: Two MPR documentaries: 'Sister Kenny and the Polio Epidemic' and 'No Jews Allowed'. In 1946, the Minnesota State Fair was canceled. The reason was polio. Health officials worried large gatherings helped spread the disease. Polio was crippling thousands and there was no known cure or prevention. Through the 1940s and early 50s, polio struck 15,000 Minnesotans — 900 died.
THURSDAY MAY 14, 2020

9:06	41:23	Ethics	MPR News with Kerri Miller: How do we decide? Ethics of the COVID-19 pandemic. Thursday on MPR News with Kerri Miller, spoke with two leading bioethicists to help us examine the tough decisions faced by doctors, government leaders and the public. Guests: Jeffrey Kahn is the Andreas C. Dracopoulos director of the Johns Hopkins Berman Institute of Bioethics and a professor of bioethics and public policy in the Department of Health Policy and Management of the Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health. Mildred Solomon is president of The Hastings Center and professor of global health and social science at Harvard, where she directs the school's Fellowship in Bioethics.
11:06	47:32	Arts and Culture	MPR News with Angela Davis: What will become of Minnesota's arts community? Members of Minnesota's arts community join MPR News host Angela Davis to talk about their new realities and what the future might hold. Guests: Laura Zabel is the executive director of Springboard for the Arts, an economic and community development organization for Minnesota's artists. Leah Cooper is the co-artistic director of Wonderlust Productions, a theater company based in St. Paul. Shantel Dow is the executive director of the Reif Performing Arts Center in Grand Rapids, Minn.
12:06	54:00	News Ethics	MPR News Presents: History Forum: The history of fake news in the U.S. Beginning with the partisan newspapers in the earliest days of the new country, she takes us through the sensationalized "yellow journalism" of the late 19th century on to the 20th century when journalists established their first code of ethics... and professor Nickerson concludes with the elusive search for "truth" and "facts" in today's cable news and social media landscape. Michelle Nickerson spoke at the Minnesota History Center on January 12, 2019.
FRIDAY MAY 15, 2020
9:06	54:00	Arts and Culture	MPR News with Kerri Miller: 'Janis' reveals the complicated woman behind the rock legend. Listen in as MPR News host Kerri Miller and author George-Warren discuss the influence — and listen to the music — of Janis Joplin. Correction (Oct. 29, 2019): The story has been updated to correct the date of Joplin's death. Guest: Holly George-Warren is a two-time Grammy nominee and the author of sixteen books. Her latest is the biography "Janis: Her Life and Music."
11:06	48:35	People and Places	MPR News with Angela Davis: Pioneer Press columnist Rubén Rosario retires after career of telling memorable stories. Rubén Rosario began his career as a reporter for the New York Daily News, covering some of that city's most notorious crimes. He was hired by the St. Paul Pioneer Press as an editor in 1991. He began writing his award-winning column in 1997. Over the years, he has told the stories of remarkable, but otherwise unknown, people and the issues that confront folks who live on the margins of society. Rosario says he's semi-retired. He recently took a buyout from the Pioneer Press. He is working on a book that compiles some of the most memorable stories he has told over the years. He plans to continue writing occasional columns for the Pioneer Press. Rosario talked to MPR News host Angela Davis about his career.
MONDAY MAY 18, 2020
9:06	49:17	Science/ Public Policy	MPR News with Kerri Miller: As the country re-opens, what happens next? Mondays on MPR News with Kerri Miller, we tackle the latest science and public health policy about the pandemic. This week: What do the various models project could happen this summer? And how can the public be both safe and smart as we emerge from a two-month period of isolation? Guests:

			Dr. Nahid Bhadelia, associate professor of medicine at Boston University School of Medicine and an infectious disease physician at Boston Medical Center Dr. Theo Vos, epidemiologist and professor at the Institute for Health Metrics and Evaluation (IHME) at the University of Washington
11:06	22:02	Economics	MPR News with Angela Davis: What's next for the economy? What does the future hold and how should consumers react? Guest: Chris Farrell, MPR senior economics contributor.
11:30	28:36	Economics	MPR News with Angela Davis: Will restaurants and retail be able to bounce back? MPR News host Angela Davis is joined by two experts on the restaurant and retail industries to talk about what's next for customers and business owners. Guests: Liz Rammer is the president and CEO of Hospitality Minnesota, a business association for lodging, restaurants, resorts and campgrounds. George John is the marketing chair and a professor at the University of Minnesota Carlson School of Management.
12:06	54:00	Economics/ Health	MPR News Presents: Listen: 2 national experts on the economic and health crisis in America. Two of the nation's most prominent experts on the COVID-19 pandemic's impact on the economy and our health spoke last Thursday at the Economic Club of Minnesota's webinar called "Our Economy and Health in Crisis." The speakers were Neel Kashkari, the president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis, and epidemiologist Michael Osterholm, the director of the Center for Infectious Disease Research and Policy at the University of Minnesota. The event was moderated by Margaret Brennan, the host of CBS News "Face the Nation" on May 14.
TUESDAY MAY 19, 2020
9:06	48:07	Education	MPR News with Kerri Miller: Should students gamble on college this fall? Tuesday on MPR News with Kerri Miller, we aired the second of two shows about college in the time of COVID-19. Previously, we talked about how colleges are strategizing new ways of education and community experience. For this show, we focused on the students. Is this the moment for students to reconsider how much they spend on a college education? Guests: Michelle Asha Cooper, president of the Institute for Higher Education Policy Caroline Hoxby, economist at Stanford University and director of the Economics of Education Program at the National Bureau of Economic Research
11:06	39:52	Economics	MPR News with Angela Davis: Combating food insecurity during the pandemic. How are food shelves and other programs across the state stepping up to help? What are the long-term concerns if these needs continue? Guests: Allison O'Toole is CEO of Second Harvest Heartland, which is Minnesota's largest food bank, serving more than 500,000 people each year. Sophia Lenarz-Coy is the executive director at The Food Group, a New Hope-based nonprofit focused on fighting hunger and nourishing the community with culturally relevant food. Oballa Oballa is the president of LeadMN, a statewide student association that advocates on behalf of about 180,000 community and technical college students.
12:06	54:00	Race	MPR News Presents: How to be an ally for Asian Americans facing racism amid COVID-19. MPR News reached out to a historian and community leaders and asked for their advice for non-Asian Americans to become allies to their peers during this difficult time. All four respondents were part of an MPR virtual town hall on racism during COVID-19, which you can watch here. Here are their written tips for being an ally.
WEDNESDAY MAY 20, 2020

9:06	47:09	Economics	MPR News with Kerri Miller: For millennials, COVID-19 brings another wave of financial woes. Two financial experts joined MPR News host Kerri Miller on Wednesday to share their advice. Guests: Kathy Hauer is a fee-only certified financial planner at Wilson David in South Carolina and author of the book “Financial Advice for Blue Collar America.” Sara Rathner is an author and credit cards expert at Nerd Wallet.
11:06	49:55	Mental Health	MPR News with Angela Davis: Mental health apps that can help during the pandemic. MPR News host Angela Davis is joined by a psychologist and two people in the mental health tech field to talk about how the intersection of mental health and digital tools can help people and support traditional treatment. Guests: Julie Erickson is a psychologist and associate clinical director of integrated behavioral health at Children’s Minnesota. In her work with patients she uses apps like Headspace and Mindshift. Melissa Kjolsing is the CEO of Recovree, an app that supports people recovering from substance use disorder. Grady Hannah is the CEO of NightWare, a smart watch app that helps people with PTSD.
12:06	54:00	Politics	MPR News Presents: Two views of an unpredictable 'pandemic presidential election' in 2020. Former Minnesota Republican Rep. Vin Weber and Democratic polling expert and political scientist Anna Greenberg think the conditions in the country over the next six months are extremely unpredictable, as is the "enthusiasm factor" for President Trump or presidential candidate and former Vice President Joe Biden.
THURSDAY MAY 21, 2020
9:06	51:55	Politics/ Literature	MPR News with Kerri Miller: Author Curtis Sittenfeld explores ‘what-if’ in ‘Rodham’ Kerri Miller and Sittenfeld had a lively conversation about the novel, writing in Hillary Clinton’s voice and what she thinks about creativity during a pandemic. Guest: Curtis Sittenfeld is a novelist and writer; her latest novel is “Rodham.”
11:06	52:40	Race	MPR News with Angela Davis: Counter Stories: Amid global pandemic, racism survives and thrives. We also begin a series of conversations with some of the most vulnerable communities in Minnesota. Luz Maris Frias talks to a DACA recipient about the impact of Covid 19 on unauthorized immigrants. Counter Stories is hosted by: Anthony Galloway, senior partner at Dendros Group Donald Eubanks, associate professor at Metropolitan State University and cultural consultant Luz Maria Frias, equity coach and founder of The Savvy Coach Hlee Lee, owner of The Other Media Group Marianne Combs, correspondent for MPR News
12:06	54:00	Economics	MPR News Presents: IQ2 debate: Was our financial system better prepared for pandemic than the 2008 crisis? John Donvan is joined by two IQ2 alumni – a top Obama administration economic advisor, Jason Furman, and chair of the editorial board and editor-at-large (U.S.) of the Financial Times, Gillian Tett — to debate whether the global financial system was better prepared for this pandemic after the 2008 financial crash.
FRIDAY MAY 22, 2020
9:06	49:37	Health Care	MPR News with Kerri Miller: What will care facilities look like after the pandemic? Guest host Chris Farrell had a thoughtful conversation about those questions and the future of caregiving in our country with a researcher and a gerontologist. Guests: Sheria Robinson-Lane is an assistant professor nursing and a gerontologist at the University of Michigan with expertise in palliative care, long-term care and nursing administration. Robyn Stone is co-director of the LeadingAge LTSS Center at the University of Massachusetts Boston and senior vice president of research at LeadingAge, a research and advocacy nonprofit.

11:06	10:49	Labor	MPR News with Angela Davis: Life of an essential worker: Bus drivers. Nearly 100 U.S. transit workers have died from the coronavirus, according to an investigation by the Guardian US. And that number could increase. Metro Transit drivers are spending hours in a confined space with strangers. And up until Monday, riders did not have to wear a face covering. Now, all riders must wear a mask. As part of our Life of an Essential Worker series, MPR News host Angela Davis chats with Metro Transit bus driver Kari Sachs about what it's like to work during the pandemic and how she worries for her colleagues. Guest: Kari Sachs is a Metro Transit bus driver and a member of the transit workers union, ATU Local 1005. She has been driving for more than 15 years.
			MONDAY MAY 25, 2020
11:06	51:16	People and Places	MPR News with Angela Davis: Remembering Minnesotans we've lost to COVID-19. More than 800 Minnesotans have died from COVID-19. This pandemic has changed the way we grieve and mourn. We can't hug our family and friends, and services have been postponed or streamed on video. On this special broadcast, MPR News wants to acknowledge Minnesotans who have died from COVID-19. You'll hear from their family members, and two grief experts will weigh in with advice on how to cope.
12:06	54:00	History/ War	MPR News Presents: 'Lest We Forget': The voices of WWII veterans. On the 2020 Memorial Day edition of MPR News Presents, you'll hear the voices of World War II veterans, as they were collected by the Veterans History Project at the Library of Congress. This year marks the 75th anniversary of the end of World War II. Vietnam veteran and former U.S. Sen. Max Cleland hosts our Memorial Day program, called "Lest We Forget."
			TUESDAY MAY 26, 2020
9:06	49:01	Medicine/ Science	MPR News with Kerri Miller: Infectious disease specialists weigh in on latest COVID-19 science. MPR News host Kerri Miller continued her weekly look at the latest science and news about the novel coronavirus with two infectious disease doctors on Tuesday. Guests: Dr. Susy Hota is the medical director of infection prevention and control at University Health Network. Dr. Nipunie Rajapakse is a pediatric infectious diseases physician with Mayo Clinic.
11:06	38:55	Health	MPR News with Angela Davis: Trouble sleeping? The coronavirus pandemic could be wreaking havoc on your sleep cycles. Dr. Roxanne Prichard, professor of neuroscience and psychology at the University of St. Thomas, says that when we are under more stress, we are more likely to remember our dreams because we wake up more often. Two experts discuss how our dreams and our sleep are being affected by the coronavirus pandemic. Guests: Dr. Roxanne Prichard is a professor of neuroscience and psychology at the University of St. Thomas. Her research focuses on adolescent sleep. Dr. Ranji Varghese is the medical director at the Minnesota Regional Sleep Disorders Center at Hennepin Healthcare. He is also a psychiatrist and an assistant professor at the University of Minnesota, where he treats sleep disorders.
12:06	54:00	Mental Health	MPR News Presents: The science of happiness. Spiritual practice is important for a lot of people, he added. Spirituality and religion are an additional source of connection. Dr. Dacher Keltner is the founding director of the Greater Good Science Center and a psychology professor at the University of California, Berkeley. Dr. Marina Tolou-Shams is a licensed clinical psychologist and a psychiatry professor at the University of California San Francisco.
			WEDNESDAY MAY 27, 2020

9:06	49:36	Economics	MPR News with Kerri Miller: How do we prevent another Great Depression? MPR News host Kerri Miller spoke with Thompson and an economist Wednesday about how the United States might escape a second Great Depression. Guests: Derek Thompson, staff writer at The Atlantic, where he frequently covers the economy Matthew Mitchell, director of the Equity Initiative at the Mercatus Center at George Mason University
11:06	20:31	Race	MPR News with Angela Davis: NAACP leader on George Floyd protests: ‘The anger is rightfully placed’ Hundreds of people gathered Tuesday night in south Minneapolis to protest the death of George Floyd, the 46-year-old black man who died in police custody. The protest started out somewhat peacefully, then escalated into chaos. MPR News senior reporter Jon Collins and Leslie Redmond, the president of the Minneapolis chapter of the NAACP, joined the program to share what they witnessed.
11:28	30:21	Mental Health	MPR News with Angela Davis: During the pandemic, don’t forget about kids’ mental health. We know parents and caregivers are stressed during the COVID-19 pandemic, but what about the children? MPR News host Angela Davis is joined by two experts in children’s mental health to talk about how adults can support the kids in their life during this anxiety-inducing time. Guests: Bobbi Wegner is a clinical psychologist and a lecturer in human development and psychology at Harvard University. She also writes about parenting. Anne Gearity is a clinical social worker who has worked with children and families for decades. She’s also an assistant professor in the department of psychiatry and behavioral sciences at the University of Minnesota.
12:06	54:00	Literature	MPR News Presents: Newly found historic lecture by Pulitzer Prize-winning writer N. Scott Momaday. The local American Indian media organization Migizi Communications recently rediscovered a treasure trove of Native American audio recordings and found a 1977 lecture by poet, novelist and essayist N. Scott Momaday. He won the Pulitzer Prize for fiction in 1969 for his book, "House Made of Dawn." Momaday is the author of more than a dozen books, and his most recent was published earlier this year, titled "The Death of Sitting Bear."
THURSDAY MAY 28, 2020
9:06	50:53	Race/ Law and Justice	MPR News with Kerri Miller: Reaction to protests in Minneapolis after death of George Floyd. MPR News host Kerri Miller talked about the crisis with a panel of journalists, officials and researchers who study the relationship between police and black communities. Guests: Tim Nelson is a general assignment reporter for MPR News. Brandt Williams is a reporter for MPR News. Nekima Levy Armstrong is a civil rights attorney and executive director of the Wayfinder Foundation. Seth Stoughton is a former police officer and professor of law at the University of South Carolina and co-author of the book “Evaluating Police Uses of Force.” Duane T. Loynes Sr. is an assistant professor of urban studies and Africana studies at Rhodes College. Jeremiah Ellison is a Minneapolis City Council member representing the 5th Ward.
11:06	54:00	Race/ Law and Justice	MPR News with Angela Davis: Making sense of the chaos in south Minneapolis Community leaders joined the program to help make sense of what’s happening in south Minneapolis. We also interrupted the broadcast to take a live press conference from Minneapolis city leaders. Guests: Evan Frost is a MPR News photojournalist. V.J. Smith is the president of the Minneapolis chapter of MAD DADS, an anti-violence program.

			The Rev. Runney Patterson is a pastor of New Hope Baptist Church, first vice president of the Minnesota State Baptist Convention. Gita Zeitler is co-founder of Urban Forage Winery and Cider House, a local business on Lake Street in Minneapolis that was vandalized Wednesday night.
12:06	54:00	Literature	MPR News Presents: Newly found historic lecture by Pulitzer Prize-winning writer N. Scott Momaday. The local American Indian media organization Migizi Communications recently rediscovered a treasure trove of Native American audio recordings and found a 1977 lecture by poet, novelist and essayist N. Scott Momaday. He won the Pulitzer Prize for fiction in 1969 for his book, "House Made of Dawn." Momaday is the author of more than a dozen books, and his most recent was published earlier this year, titled "The Death of Sitting Bear."
			FRIDAY MAY 29, 2020
9:06	54:00	Race/ Law and Justice	MPR News with Kerri Miller: What would meaningful police reform look like? MPR News host Kerri Miller spoke with former police officers and a former federal prosecutor about meaningful police reform and about building relationships between police and communities of color. Guests: Ronal Serpas is a former police officer and professor of practice, criminology and justice at Loyola University in New Orleans. Kami Chavis is a former federal prosecutor, a professor of law and director of the Criminal Justice Program at Wake Forest University School of Law. Ron Johnson the CEO and founder of Lodestone Solutions Group, retired captain for the Missouri Highway Patrol and author of "13 Days in Ferguson."
11:06	54:00	Race/ Law and Justice	MPR News with Angela Davis: Floyd protests: How did we get here? During the program, Hennepin County Attorney Mike Freeman announced at a news conference that former Minneapolis police officer Derek Chauvin was charged with third-degree murder and second-degree manslaughter in Floyd's death. MPR News reporters and experts also joined the program to talk about the legal angles in the case. Guests: Keith Mayes, professor of African American and African Studies at the University of Minnesota. Susan Gaertner, former Ramsey County Attorney and now principal attorney at Gray Plant Mooty. Ginger Charles, former police sergeant and now adjunct professor of psychology at Modesto Junior College. Brandt Williams, MPR News reporter. Tim Nelson, MPR News reporter.
			MONDAY JUNE 1, 2020
9:06	48:58	Race/ Law and Justice	MPR News with Kerri Miller: Former prosecutors weigh case against Minneapolis officers in Floyd killing. The Minneapolis police officer seen in a video kneeling on George Floyd's neck for more than eight minutes has been charged with third-degree murder and manslaughter. The other three officers who responded also could face charges. But those fighting for justice for Floyd say it's not enough. MPR News host Kerri Miller talked with two former prosecutors about what options prosecutors have in such cases. Guests: Tom Heffelfinger, former U.S. Attorney for Minnesota Susan Gaertner, former Ramsey County Attorney
11:06	29:25	Economics	MPR News with Angela Davis: How will the Lake Street economy recover? MPR News senior economics contributor Chris Farrell and Marcus Owens, executive director of the African American Leadership Forum, joined Angela to talk about the history of the business district along Lake Street in Minneapolis, the site of massive fires and destruction in the aftermath of George Floyd's killing.
12:06	54:00	Race/ Law and Justice	MPR News Presents: Breaking News

TUESDAY JUNE 2, 2020
9:06	35:22	Medicine/ Health	MPR News with Kerri Miller: Researchers discuss vaccine development, continued efforts on novel coronavirus. Join Kerri Miller on our weekly show focusing on the science of the novel coronavirus as she talks with two researchers about how the vaccine development process works and the speed of the science happening during a pandemic. We'll also answer your questions. Guests: Deborah Fuller is vaccine expert and professor of microbiology at the University of Washington School of Medicine. Angela Rasmussen is a virologist and associate research scientist at Columbia University's Mailman School of Public Health.
9:45	14:27	Religion/ Race	MPR News with Kerri Miller: One faith leader on moving forward after the killing of George Floyd. It's been a gut-wrenching week for the Twin Cities. How do we move forward? Tuesday on MPR News with Kerri Miller, a conversation with a community and spiritual leader from the faith-based advocacy group ISALAH. Guest: Brian Fullman, ISALAH organizer
11:06	48:28	Race/ Law and Justice	MPR News with Angela Davis: What do the George Floyd autopsies show? MPR News host Angela Davis debriefs with MPR News reporter Nina Moini, then dives into the discrepancies between the autopsy reports with a forensic anthropologist and a criminologist. To close, an expert on COVID-19 talks about how groups of protesters can stay safe in the pandemic. Guests: Nina Moini is a reporter for MPR News. Angelique Corthals is a biomedical and forensic anthropologist and associate professor at the John Jay College of Criminal Justice in New York. Philip Stinson is an associate professor in the criminal justice program at Bowling Green State University. Susan Kline is a professor of medicine in the Division of Infectious Diseases and International Medicine at the University of Minnesota Medical School.
12:06	54:00	Race/ Law and Justice	MPR News Presents: Newly found historic lecture by Pulitzer Prize-winning writer N. Scott Momaday. The local American Indian media organization Migizi Communications recently rediscovered a treasure trove of Native American audio recordings and found a 1977 lecture by poet, novelist and essayist N. Scott Momaday. He won the Pulitzer Prize for fiction in 1969 for his book, "House Made of Dawn."
WEDNESDAY JUNE 3, 2020

9:06	54:00	Health	MPR News with Kerri Miller: Minnesota health officials discuss state's response to COVID-19. MPR News host Kerri Miller checked in with Jan Malcolm, commissioner of the Minnesota Department of Health, and Kris Ehresmann, infectious disease director at the Minnesota Department of Health, about the state's response to the pandemic. Guests: Jan Malcolm is the commissioner of the Minnesota Department of Health. Kris Ehresmann is the Minnesota Department of Health infectious disease director.
11:06	54:00	Race/ Law and Justice	MPR News with Angela Davis: Community voices on the aftermath of George Floyd's killing. In a continuation of a conversation on Sunday, Combs welcomed a lineup of guests — people who have been working on racial equity for years and who have been in the streets supporting their communities in the past week — to talk racial injustice, police brutality and how we can move forward together. Guests: Joy Marsh Stephens is the director of the Division of Race and Equity for the City of Minneapolis. Tomme Beevas is the co-owner of Pimento Kitchen, a Jamaican restaurant in Minneapolis. Lissa Jones is the host of “Urban Agenda” on KMOJ. Anton Jones is the artistic director and CEO of Climb Theatre. Jeremiah Ellison is a Minneapolis City Council member who represents parts of the north side.
THURSDAY JUNE 4, 2020
9:06	52:03	Race/ Law and Justice	MPR News with Kerri Miller: What could a civil rights investigation uncover? Human Rights Commissioner Rebecca Lucero said the goal is systemwide change. But will that be the result? On Thursday, MPR News host Kerri Miller spoke with to a professor who studies civil rights complaints against police and a former St. Paul police chief about the obstacles and hopes of the investigation. Guests: Nikki Jones, professor in African American studies at the University of California, Berkeley Bill Finney, former St. Paul police chief and current Ramsey County Undersheriff
11:06	46:37	Race/ Law and Justice	MPR News with Angela Davis: Counter Stories: In the wake of George Floyd's death - grieving, healing and rebuilding. We talk about the best ways to lift up and sustain the efforts of black women and others who are leading the way forward. Counter Stories is hosted by:

			Anthony Galloway, senior partner at Dendros Group Donald Eubanks, associate professor at Metropolitan State University and cultural consultant Luz Maria Frias, equity coach and founder of The Savvy Coach Hlee Lee, owner of The Other Media Group Marianne Combs, correspondent for MPR News
12:06	54:00	Race/ Arts and Culture	MPR News Presents: Poet and activist Maya Angelou at the 1984 Westminster Town Hall Forum. Maya Angelou spoke at the Westminster Town Hall Forum, at Westminster Presbyterian Church in downtown Minneapolis, on September 20, 1984. The moderator at the time was senior pastor Donald Meisel, who founded the Forum in 1980.
			FRIDAY JUNE 5, 2020
9:06	44:07	Religion/ Race	MPR News with Kerri Miller: Faith leaders reflect on the killing of George Floyd. Friday, one day after Floyd's memorial in Minneapolis, we paused to hear from three spiritual leaders in the black community. How are they reflecting on this historic moment? Guests: Pastor Brian Herron, Zion Baptist Church in Minneapolis Pastor Stacey L. Smith, St James A.M.E. Church in St Paul and presiding elder of the St. Paul and Minneapolis district of African Methodist Episcopal Churches Imam Makram El-Amin, Masjid An-Nur in Minneapolis
11:06	54:00	Mental Health	MPR News with Angela Davis: Call To Mind: Spotlight on black trauma and policing. The killing of George Floyd has sparked peaceful demonstrations and destructive riots in the Twin Cities and across the country. In partnership with MPR's Call To Mind mental health initiative, MPR News host Angela Davis moderated a livestream virtual conversation about the most recent high-profile incident to become an example of historic racial injustice.
12:06	54:00	Mental Health	MPR News Presents: Child psychologists on helping children process pandemics and crises. The program was put together by the Aspen Institute, as part of the "Aspen Ideas Now" series — a remote substitute for the annual Aspen Ideas Festival, which is not happening this year because of the COVID-19 pandemic.
			MONDAY JUNE 8, 2020
9:06	41:49	Health	MPR News with Kerri Miller: How to assess risk during a global pandemic. Monday on MPR News with Kerri Miller, we talked with an epidemiologist and an expert on risk psychology about how to make decisions so you can enjoy your summer — even in the middle of a pandemic. Guests:

			Dr. William Miller, epidemiologist at Ohio State’s College of Public Health Ann Bostrom, professor at the Evans School of Public Policy and Governance at the University of Washington
11:06	52:26	Race	MPR News with Angela Davis: Having 'the talk' with kids about race. Two fathers joined the program to talk about why parents of color have long felt they must have this conversation with their children, and how parents can explain recent events to young people. Guests: Jason Sole is a criminal justice educator, professor at Hamline University, past president of the Minneapolis NAACP and co-founder of the Humanize My Hoodie Movement. Michael Walker is the director of Black Male Achievement for Minneapolis Public Schools.
TUESDAY JUNE 9, 2020
9:06	47:54	Race/ Law and Justice	MPR News with Kerri Miller: A closer look at police reform and what it means to defund the police. Over the weekend, nine members of the Minneapolis City Council declared their support to defund the Minneapolis Police Department. The council hasn’t taken an official vote yet, but when they do they’re likely to have a veto-proof majority. How would defunding the police department work? What other services would be added? And is it the best path forward? Three guests joined MPR News host Kerri Miller to share their views on the future of policing. Guests: Ginger Charles is a retired police sergeant and full time faculty at Cabrillo College in California where she teaches criminal justice. Mikki Kendall is an activist and author of “Hood Feminism: Notes From the Women That a Movement Left Behind.” Steve Fletcher is a member of the Minneapolis City Council representing Ward 3.
11:06	54:00		MPR News with Angela Davis: Special coverage of George Floyd’s funeral in Houston
12:06	54:00		MPR News Presents: Special coverage of George Floyd’s funeral in Houston
WEDNESDAY JUNE 10, 2020
9:06	54:00	Social Issues	MPR News with Kerri Miller: When ‘Minnesota Nice’ ... isn’t. On Wednesday, MPR News host Kerri Miller asked: Has Minnesota been coasting on its good reputation and refusing to take a hard look at its flaws? And if so, what now?

			Guests: Michele Norris is a contributing columnist for the Washington Post and the founding director of The Race Card Project. Seena Hodges is founder and CEO of the Woke Coach. R.T. Rybak is a former mayor of Minneapolis and current CEO and president of The Minneapolis Foundation.
11:06	52:33	Race	MPR News with Angela Davis: How to be a white ally and practice anti-racism. Many white people have reacted strongly to George Floyd’s killing in Minneapolis, but what does a meaningful reaction look like in this moment? How does white privilege transform into becoming better allies for people of color? Being an ally isn’t about retweeting a hashtag or posting on social media. It’s about doing the work to foster real change. To continue learning, check out Your Black Friends Are Busy — a growing portal of anti-racism resources. Guests: Priska Neely is a reporter and producer at Reveal who recently published an essay called “Please stop ‘checking in on me to see if I’m OK.’” Sarah Bellamy is the artistic director at Penumbra Theatre Co. in St. Paul. She recently published an essay called “Performing Whiteness.” Debby Irving is a racial justice educator and author of "Waking Up White: And Finding Myself in the Story of Race." She also created the 21-day Racial Equity Habit Building Challenge.
12:06	54:00	Politics	MPR News Presents: Former Presidents Barack Obama and George W. Bush on 50th anniversary of Civil Rights Act. Former Presidents Barack Obama and George W. Bush gave the keynote addresses at a 2014 event held at the Lyndon B. Johnson Presidential Library to mark the 50th anniversary of the 1964 Civil Rights Act.
			THURSDAY JUNE 11, 2020
9:06	51:48	Race/ Literature	MPR News with Kerri Miller: Rebroadcast: Ibram X. Kendi on ‘How to Be an Antiracist’. In his new book, “How to Be an Antiracist,” author and historian Ibram X. Kendi looks at the unique relationship between racism and capitalism, which he writes, “will ultimately die together.” On Monday’s MPR News with Kerri Miller, Kendi talked about his belief that it’s not enough to be against racism – that purposeful antiracism is needed.
11:06	51:35	Race/ Health Care	MPR News with Angela Davis: Structural racism and health care. Inspired by a recent conversation on black trauma, MPR News host Angela Davis talks with experts in the medical field about racial health disparities and how to fix them.

			Guests: Rachel Hardeman is an associate professor in the Division of Health Policy & Management at the University of Minnesota School of Public Health. She studies racial disparities in health care. Nathan Chomilo is an adjunct assistant professor of pediatrics at the University of Minnesota Medical School, a founding board member of Minnesota Doctors for Health Equity, the Medicaid medical director for the Minnesota Department of Human Services and a practicing pediatrician and internist with Park Nicollet. LaShyra “Lash” Nolen is a student and class president at Harvard Medical School. She’s also a writer and activist.
12:06	54:00	Race	MPR News Presents: BBC special: America Beyond Black and White. In this discussion, Vaidyanathan brings together some of those people, to find out how much has changed, and how little; and to ask how Americans might come together to heal the wounds of racism. Vaidyanathan is joined by: Dr. Christina Greer, associate professor at Fordham University and author of “Black Ethnicities.” Ron Christie, a political consultant and former adviser to President George W. Bush, and author of “Blackwards.” Dr. Khalil Gibran Muhammad, professor of History, Race and Public Policy at Harvard University and author of “The Condemnation of Blackness.” Tracy K. Smith, former poet laureate of the United States who won the Pulitzer Prize, and author of “Ordinary Light.”
			FRIDAY JUNE 12, 2020
9:06	49:18	Arts and Culture	MPR News with Kerri Miller: The power of music in protest. On Friday MPR News host Kerri Miller lead a conversation about the ways in which music becomes the soundtrack of resistance and a catalyst for changing minds. Guests: Alisha Lola Jones, assistant professor of ethnomusicology at Indiana University and the author of “Flaming?: The Peculiar Theopolitics of Fire and Desire in Black Male Gospel Performance.” Zaheer Ali, music buff and oral historian who worked on Columbia University’s Malcolm X Project
11:06	50:51	Race/ Law and Justice	MPR News with Angela Davis: The Duluth lynching, 100 years later. MPR News host Angela Davis talks with the city's human rights officer and one of the people organizing virtual events this week to ensure the men aren't forgotten. Guests:

			Kim Green is the co-chair of the Clayton Jackson McGhie Memorial in Duluth. Carl Crawford is the human rights officer for the city of Duluth and a member of the Council for Minnesotans of African Heritage.
			MONDAY JUNE 15, 2020
9:06	47:40	Health	MPR News with Kerri Miller: Infectious disease doctors on the pandemic's latest. Monday at 9, MPR News host Kerri Miller turned to two infectious disease physicians to break down the latest information about the pandemic and what's on their radar in terms of disease projections and treatments. Guests: Dr. Manisha Juthani is an infectious disease physician at Yale School of Medicine. Dr. Emily Landon is an infectious disease doctor at University of Chicago Medicine.
11:06	49:29	Economics	MPR News with Angela Davis: Minnesota restaurants reopen with limits but economy is still hurting. And Minnesota restaurants, stores and gyms are open to customers, with limits. What safeguards are in place and how do consumers feel about it? Guests: Chris Farrell is senior economics contributor for MPR News. Stephanie March is food and dining editor at Mpls.St.Paul Magazine. John Blackshaw is president and chief operating officer at Tunheim, a communications firm in the Twin Cities that helps clients as they pivot their business models and reopen.
12:06	54:00	People and Places	MPR News Presents: Bryan Stevenson is hopeful for a more just society. A somber centennial commemorative event was planned long ago, and was expected to draw thousands to Duluth on Monday, to hear an address by Bryan Stevenson, the author of "Just Mercy" and the founder of the National Memorial for Peace and Justice, in Montgomery, Alabama. It's sometimes called "The Lynching Memorial."
			TUESDAY JUNE 16, 2020
9:06	54:00	Race	MPR News with Kerri Miller: When 'Minnesota Nice' ... isn't. On Wednesday, MPR News host Kerri Miller asked: Has Minnesota been coasting on its good reputation and refusing to take a hard look at its flaws? And if so, what now? Guests: Mike Griffin is a Minneapolis organizer with Community Change Action. Jose Santos is an anthropologist and professor at Metro State University. Taiyon Coleman is an assistant professor of English literature at St. Catherine University.

11:06	49:04	Leisure	MPR News with Angela Davis: How to get out and save summer in Minnesota. MPR News host Angela Davis talks with two experts on travel within Minnesota. She also checks in with a public health expert on what precautions people should take as they leave home and make summer memories. Guests: Lindsey Ranzau is a Minnesota travel writer who runs the blog “Look About Lindsey.” John Edman is the director of Explore Minnesota, the state’s tourism office. Susan Palchick is the public health director for Hennepin County.
12:06	54:00	Race	MPR News Presents: BBC special: America Beyond Black and White. In this discussion, Vaidyanathan brings together some of those people, to find out how much has changed, and how little; and to ask how Americans might come together to heal the wounds of racism. Vaidyanathan is joined by: Dr. Christina Greer, associate professor at Fordham University and author of “Black Ethnicities.” Ron Christie, a political consultant and former adviser to President George W. Bush, and author of “Blackwards.” Dr. Khalil Gibran Muhammad, professor of History, Race and Public Policy at Harvard University and author of “The Condemnation of Blackness.” Tracy K. Smith, former poet laureate of the United States who won the Pulitzer Prize, and author of “Ordinary Light.”
WEDNESDAY JUNE 17, 2020
9:06	43:54	Tourism	MPR News with Kerri Miller: The future of travel. What about you? Will you travel as soon as you can? How does your summer vacation look different this year? On Wednesday, we explored how travel will change during and after the pandemic. Guests: Kyle Potter, editor-in-chief for Thrifty Traveler Catharine Hamm, former travel editor for the Los Angeles Times Seth Kaplan, travel analyst for NPR and WBUR’s Here & Now
11:06	50:05	Parenting	MPR News with Angela Davis: Call to Mind: Spotlight on parenting during coronavirus. This is a recorded webinar MPR News host Angela Davis led recently with Call to Mind, MPR and APM’s initiative to foster new conversations about mental health. Guests:

			BraVada Garrett-Akinsanya, known as Dr. B., is a clinical psychologist who works with children, adolescents and adults. She is the president and founder of Brakins Consulting & Psychological Services and the executive director of African American Child Wellness Institute, Inc. Both are in Plymouth, Minn. Bobbi Wegner is a clinical psychologist treating children, parents and families at Boston Behavioral Medicine. She also teaches Human Development and Psychology at Harvard University's Graduate School of Education.
12:06	54:00	History	MPR News Presents: APM Reports documentary — Bridge to Somewhere: Lessons from the New Deal. APM Reports' documentary unit took a look at the impact of the jobs and public works programs in the 1930s. The documentary is called "Bridge to Somewhere: Lessons from the New Deal." It was produced in 2009 by Catherine Winter with Mary Beth Kirchner and Stephen Smith.
			THURSDAY JUNE 18, 2020
9:06	11:02	Race/ Law and Justice	MPR News with Kerri Miller: Decision on 'dreamers' brings relief to young people enrolled in DACA. Kerri Miller talked with two immigration experts immediately after the decision was released about their first impressions. The conversation was cut short by live NPR coverage of the ruling. Guests: Linda Chavez is chair of the Center for Equal Opportunity, a senior fellow at the Niskanen Center, and a former immigration adviser for both the Bush and Reagan administrations. Jennifer Piscopo is an associate professor of politics at Occidental College.
11:06	49:21	Race	MPR News with Angela Davis: Counter Stories: How to keep the movement moving. The Counter Stories team is joined by guest Acooa Lee Ellis, Senior Vice President of Community Impact at Greater Twin Cities United Way. Counter Stories is hosted by: Donald Eubanks, associate professor at Metropolitan State University and cultural consultant Luz Maria Frias, equity coach and founder of The Savvy Coach Hlee Lee, owner of The Other Media Group Marianne Combs, correspondent for MPR News
12:06	54:00	International Laws	MPR News Presents: IQ2 debate: Will coronavirus reshape the world order in China's favor? John Donvan moderates the debate. Motion: Coronavirus will reshape the world order in China's favor. For the motion: Kurt M. Campbell, CEO, The Asia Group, and former diplomat. Kishore Mahbubani, former president, UN Security Council, and author, "Has China Won?" Against the motion: Minxin Pei, scholar and author, "China's Crony Capitalism."

			Susan Thornton, senior fellow, Paul Tsai China Center at Yale University, and former diplomat.
			FRIDAY JUNE 19, 2020
11:06	40:16	History/ Race	MPR News with Angela Davis: The history of Juneteenth and how we should commemorate it today. MPR News host Angela Davis talks to two historians about the history and meaning of Juneteenth and how we should commemorate it today. Guests: Daina Ramey Berry is a professor of history and African and African diaspora studies at the University of Texas at Austin, and author of “A Black Woman’s History of the United States.” Jemar Tisby is president of The Witness: A Black Christian Collective and author of "The Color of Compromise: The Truth About the American Church's Complicity in Racism."
			MONDAY JUNE 22, 2020
9:06	47:14	Education	MPR News with Kerri Miller: The struggle to reopen schools. On Monday, MPR News host Kerri Miller spoke with a school administrator and a pediatrician about how they are approaching these decisions. Guests: Christine Tucci Osorio is the superintendent of ISD 622 (North St Paul-Maplewood-Oakdale schools). Dr. Jenna Wheeler is a pediatric critical care physician with Arnold Palmer Hospital for Children.
11:06	53:21	Economics	MPR News with Angela Davis: Minnesota's salons and barbershops have been open, but how's it going? Three weeks ago, hair salons and barbershops opened for the first time since mid-March. Some salons are experiencing long lines and hours-long waits. Others are having a hard time luring back their customers. Were you someone who made an appointment as soon as restrictions lifted? Or are you still maintaining your hair at home? Guests: Chris Farrell is MPR News senior economics contributor. Melissa Taylor is the owner of The Beauty Lounge Minneapolis. Bilal Saleem, also known as Mr. B, is the owner of B’s Barbershop in the St. Paul skyway.
12:06	54:00	Health	MPR News Presents: U of M epidemiologist Michael Osterholm on how to assess COVID-19 risks. Michael Osterholm is director of the Center for Infectious Disease Research and Policy at the University of Minnesota. He’s

			the author of “Deadliest Enemy: Our War Against Killer Germs.” He recorded this interview with Terry Gross on June 16, 2020.
			TUESDAY JUNE 23, 2020
9:06	47:31	Race/ Economics	MPR News with Kerri Miller: What it would take to close the racial housing gap. Tuesday at 9 a.m., two experts joined MPR News with Kerri Miller for a conversation about the history and consequences of housing disparities. Guests: MayKao Hang is the former CEO of the Wilder Foundation, she served on the Governor’s Housing Task Force, and was formerly a director with the St Paul Public Housing agency. She is currently vice-president and founding dean of the Morrison Family College of Health at the University of St. Thomas. Lance Freeman is professor of Urban Planning at Columbia Graduate School of Architecture, Planning and Preservation and author of the book ”A Haven and a Hell: The Ghetto in Black America.”
11:06	48:39	Education	MPR News with Angela Davis: The 'coronavirus slide' in education and what to do about it. MPR host Angela Davis discusses what researchers are already discovering about the disruption the pandemic has created when it comes to learning. Two Minnesota school leaders will also weigh in on what we can do about it. Guests: Jena Carlson is the director of curriculum and instruction for Brooklyn Center Community Schools. Tonya Allen is the principal of North Education Center, an alternative school in New Hope. Fumiko Hoeft is a neuroscientist, psychiatrist and professor of psychology at the University of Connecticut. She is currently studying pandemic-related learning loss.
12:06	54:00	Climate Change/ Economics	MPR News Presents: Facing climate change, pandemic and economic collapse: Is resilience possible? Dalton’s guests for this Commonwealth Club of California event: Kathleen Day is a finance lecturer at Johns Hopkins University and an author of a book, “Broken Bargain: Banks, Bailouts, and the Struggle to Tame Wall Street.” Amy Myers Jaffe is a director of Energy Security and Climate Change Program at the Council on Foreign Relations. Matt Rogers is a senior partner at McKinsey and Company.
			WEDNESDAY JUNE 24, 2020
9:06	17:09		MPR News with Kerri Miller: Political roundup with Mara Liasson. Wednesday on MPR News with Kerri Miller, we’ll talk politics with NPR’s national political correspondent Mara Liasson. Will revelations in John Bolton’s book affect Trump’s re-election chances? How does Dr. Anthony Fauci’s latest testimony before Congress play into

			the presidential race? Meanwhile, five states are holding primaries on Tuesday. We talked about how the results reflect what's happening in America at this moment. Guest: Mara Liasson is a national political correspondent for NPR.
9:27	32:03	Race/ Literature	MPR News with Kerri Miller: Ijeoma Oluo and 'So You Want to Talk About Race' Oluo writes in her book: "The concept of privilege violates everything we've been told about fairness and everything we've been told about the American Dream of hard work paying off and good things happening to good people." Guest: Ijeoma Oluo, the author of "So You Want to Talk About Race."
11:06	49:35	Health	MPR News with Angela Davis: COVID-19, or just allergies? Plus, how to stay safe this summer. She also talks with two doctors about staying healthy and safe while facing some of summer's hazards — sun, excessive heat, water and ticks. Guests: Dr. Pramod Kelkar is an allergist with Allina Health. Dr. Gigi Chawla is the chief of general pediatrics at Children's Minnesota. Dr. William Roberts is a family physician and a professor at the University of Minnesota's Department of Family Medicine and Community Health.
12:06	54:00	Politics	MPR News Presents: Rep. Tom Emmer on the 2020 election and the key issues facing America. Sixth District Minnesota U.S. Rep. Tom Emmer is chair of the National Republican Campaign Committee. He joined University of Minnesota political science professor Larry Jacobs to talk about the 2020 elections and the key issues facing the country.
			THURSDAY JUNE 25, 2020
9:06	47:37	Politics	MPR News with Kerri Miller: Is America in the middle of a political transformation? America's fault lines were visible long before the pandemic started and recent protests against police brutality took place in cities and small towns across the country. Lilliana Mason is a political scientist at the University of Maryland, where she researches the nation's stark ideological divide. Her book, "Uncivil Agreement: How Politics Became Our Identity," digs into the ways in which identity fosters deep divisions and feelings of distrust between Democrats and Republicans, even in instances where they might have similar policy goals or ideas. She's been thinking about those fault lines a lot in this moment and how public opinion is shifting. She joined MPR News host Kerri Miller Thursday.

11:06	52:33	Race/ Social Issues	MPR News with Angela Davis: How to be a white ally and practice anti-racism. Many white people have reacted strongly to George Floyd’s killing in Minneapolis, but what does a meaningful reaction look like in this moment? How does white privilege transform into becoming better allies for people of color? Being an ally isn’t about retweeting a hashtag or posting on social media. It’s about doing the work to foster real change. To continue learning, check out Your Black Friends Are Busy — a growing portal of anti-racism resources. Guests: Priska Neely is a reporter and producer at Reveal who recently published an essay called “Please stop ‘checking in on me to see if I’m OK.’” Sarah Bellamy is the artistic director at Penumbra Theatre Co. in St. Paul. She recently published an essay called “Performing Whiteness.” Debby Irving is a racial justice educator and author of "Waking Up White: And Finding Myself in the Story of Race." She also created the 21-day Racial Equity Habit Building Challenge.
12:06	54:00		MPR News Presents: PRX special: A Sudden Loss — A memorial to lives lost to COVID-19. Readers are Susan Stamberg, Noah Adams, Liane Hansen, Al Letson, Maria Martin, Neal Conan and Glynn Washington. Music accents include songs by Eddie Vedder, “The Long Road,” Robbie Robertson, “Fallen Angel,” Joni Mitchell, “Both Sides Now,” Bruce Springsteen, “Missing,” Aretha Franklin, “Amazing Grace,” John Prine, “Summer’s End / Boundless Love,” and U2, “Peace on Earth.”
			FRIDAY JUNE 26, 2020
9:06	51:04	Science	MPR News with Kerri Miller: Astrophysicist Mario Livio weighs in on science denial then and now. MPR News host Kerri Miller looked back in history with astrophysicist Mario Livio at Galilei’s life and at science denial then and now. Guest: Mario Livio is an astrophysicist and an author of several books about math and science. His latest book is “Galileo and the Science Deniers.”
11:06	48:15	Race/ Family Life	MPR News with Angela Davis: How interracial couples are navigating conversations about race. MPR News host Angela Davis talks with people in interracial relationships who share their experiences and how white people can best support partners who are people of color. She also talks with an advocate who is focused on shining a light on the diverse experiences of multiracial people and families. Guests: Alissa Paris is the executive director of MidWest Mixed who has led workshops for interracial couples.

			Velma Korbel is the civil rights director for the City of Minneapolis. She has been in an interracial marriage for 33 years. Ryan Virden is a Minneapolis-based educator, writer and racial equity consultant. He is raising a biracial daughter.
			MONDAY JUNE 29, 2020
9:06	48:40	Health	MPR News with Kerri Miller: Coronavirus facts and debunking myths. On Monday, MPR News host Kerri Miller talked with two doctors about the latest facts on science of the virus and about the challenges posed by misinformation and disinformation for medical professionals and researchers. They also tackled the spin and rumors listeners have heard. Guests: Dr. Angela Hewlett is the medical director of the Nebraska Biocontainment Unit and an associate professor in the Department of Internal Medicine at the University of Nebraska Medical Center. Dr. Krutika Kuppalli is an infectious disease doctor and vice-chair of the Infectious Diseases Society of America Global Health Committee
11:06	48:52	Economics	MPR News with Angela Davis: The Monday economic report and how it's going for fitness centers. MPR News host Angela Davis spoke with several owners and managers of fitness centers. She also checked in with MPR News senior economics contributor Chris Farrell on the latest economic news. Guests: Chris Farrell, MPR News senior economics contributor Ashley Wagner, general manager of Life Time Plymouth Jen Wilson, co-owner of True Grit Society gym in Minneapolis Pamela Hasselbring, owner of Pilates MN and Physical Therapy in Wayzata
12:06	54:00	Politics	MPR News Presents: Intelligence Squared debate: Has the Electoral College outlived its usefulness? The motion: The Electoral College has outlived its usefulness. For the motion: Jamelle Bouie, New York Times columnist. Kate Shaw, law professor at Yeshiva University and Supreme Court contributor to ABC News. Against the motion: Tara Ross, lawyer and author, "Why We Need the Electoral College" and "Enlightened Democracy: The Case for the Electoral College."

			Bradley A. Smith, law professor at Capital University Law School and former chairman of the Federal Election Commission.
			TUESDAY JUNE 30, 2020
9:06	46:51	Labor/ Gender Roles	MPR News with Kerri Miller: For moms striving for better work-life balance, COVID-19 upset the scales. What do these setbacks mean for the financial future of American women? On Tuesday MPR News host Kerri Miller spoke with two experts on workplace culture and economics about the effects of COVID-19 on working women. Guests: Haley Swenson, deputy director of the Better Life Lab at New America Sarah Jane Glynn who is a senior fellow at the Center for American Progress where she focuses on economics, women and work.
11:06	48:32	Economics	MPR News with Angela Davis: Rebuilding, reopening and returning to Minneapolis. MPR News host Angela Davis talks with community stakeholders about rebuilding, reopening and returning to Minneapolis. Guests: Allison Sharkey is executive director of the Lake Street Council and a member of the newly established Minneapolis Forward: Community Now Coalition. Kelly Drummer is president of MIGIZI, a nonprofit organization that trains Native youth in media skills. MIGIZI's building was totaled during the uprising. David Wellington is a commercial real estate developer. Some of his company's Lake Street properties were damaged and destroyed. Faatemah is the owner of the Suitespot Salonspa in Minneapolis' Lyn-Lake area who is spearheading a neighborhood beautification project.
12:06	54:00	People and Places	MPR News Presents: 2020 Aspen Ideas Festival: Dr. Anthony Fauci, David Byrne, Stacey Abrams. The first three speakers you'll hear this hour are: Dr. Anthony Fauci, who spoke about the COVID-19 pandemic; musician David Byrne, who spoke about the importance of the arts during a time of crisis; and former Georgia gubernatorial candidate Stacey Abrams speaking about the importance of voting and participating in the census.