For the past 40 years, Jewish Family Services of Greater Orlando (JFS Orlando) has given relief to individuals and families in crisis. One of the ways they do this is with emergency food assistance. JFS Orlando's Pearlman Emergency Pantry served more than 67,000 meals to hungry families last year. With school out for the summer, children who rely on free school breakfast and lunch put an additional demand on the pantry. That is why JFS Orlando is holding a summer food drive during the month of July with a goal of collecting 40,000 pounds of food.

Rosie Miller and Sara Martinez talked about JFS Orlando's summer food drive on SUNNY Across Central Florida.
