KGOU Radio (KGOU, KROU, KOUA, KWOU, KQOU & related Translators) Problems/Programs List
Covering the Period: April 1, 2018 to June 30, 2018

KGOU Radio (including KGOU, KROU, KOUA, KWOU, KQOU and related translators) attempts to meet the needs and interests of its listeners through a variety of programming selections. Below are listed the problems identified by the station and only some of the specific program presentations aired in meetings its obligations to the listeners.

These needs were identified through a combination of efforts that ascertained the issues of concern to both community leaders and the general population of our service area. These efforts included management staff interaction with a variety of community leaders; input from the general population through conversation with station staff; the monitoring of other media news coverage, and judgments made by the KGOU news and management staff about the selection of both network, syndicated and local materials for broadcast.

Local Programming

These programs are regular presentations of KGOU Radio.

Oklahoma Update: Weekdays at 6:20am, 6:43am, 7:20am, 7:43am, 8:20am, 8:43am, 12:04pm, 12:19pm, 12:39pm, 1:04pm (M-Th), 1:19pm (M-Th), 1:39pm (M-Thu), 3:33pm, 4:04pm, 4:32pm, 5:04pm, 5:32pm, and 6:04pm. These one minute to two minute local newscasts include local news headlines in the public radio tradition, sports, weather and traffic reports. The newscasts run as local segments within Morning Edition, Here & Now, and All Things Considered.

Calendars: Hourly, daily. Each hour of local programming, and as often as possible during network programming, KGOU airs one minute local events calendars to promote items of civic and cultural interest.

Oklahoma In-Depth/StateImpact Oklahoma/Business Intelligence Report/Capitol Insider: These four to five minute features are locally produced, as resources allow, and are typically broadcast twice in both Morning Edition, once during Here & Now, and once or twice during All Things Considered.

During this time period, the following local issues were presented:

Local Banks Say They Won't Follow Suit After Citibank Restricts Requirements On Guns

National banking giant Citibank announced on March 21 that it would require retail clients to no longer sell firearms to customers under the age of 21. The bank is also requiring clients to no longer sell bump stocks and high-capacity magazines. The bank also condemned gun violence and what the financial institution considers a lack of action by lawmakers. Journal Record editor Ted Streuli discusses with KGOU's Jacob McClelland.

State Impact: Oklahoma prisons overflow as inmates say 'no' to parole

Unlike some surrounding states, Oklahoma's inmates can decide whether or not they want to be considered for parole. Roughly two out of three parole-eligible inmates choose not to go to their parole hearings, effectively disqualifying them for early release. In late 2016, the state started counting how many inmates opted out. In one year 5,225 of the state's 7,921 parole-eligible inmates chose not to go to their parole hearings.

Oklahoma City Middle Schoolers Learn Soft Skills By Running Mock Business

Many students at Oklahoma Centennial Mid-High in northeast Oklahoma City often don't eat breakfast. And when students are hungry, they don't pay attention and their grades can suffer. Eighth-grader Faith Thomas won a national competition from Family, Career and Community Leaders of America's grant competition to run a mock business that helps solve this problem. The Journal Record's Sarah Terry-Cobo reports Thomas and others in her class hand out bagels between first and second hour classes. Through the process, the students develop the soft skills that are necessary to succeed in the hospitality industry.

State Impact: Doctors Question Push For More Independent Nurses As Lawmakers Consider How to Fill Health Gaps

It's hard to get basic health care like shots and x-rays in rural Oklahoma. The federal government considers all but one of the state's 77 counties to have a primary care shortage. The problem is driving a legislative effort to allow highly educated nurses to fill that gap — but doctors and nurse practitioners are butting heads on who is qualified to help.

Oklahomans Eying Vote On Medical Marijuana Worry About Addictive Effects While Others Eager For Treatment

On June 26 Oklahoma voters will decide if the licensed cultivation, use and possession of marijuana for medicinal purposes should be legal. Some polls suggest State Question 788, which would create a regulatory and licensing system for medical marijuana, is likely to pass, but many other Oklahomans like Pam Hayes of Kansas, a small town in the eastern part of the state, intend to vote 'no.' Hayes, a school librarian, worries the measure's language is too broadly written and will impact the state negatively. Oklahoma Engaged spoke with Oklahomans on both sides of the debate.

Capitol Insider: Legislators Work On Budget, Consider State Raptor

Representative Kevin Wallace suggested as little as 1 percent of the state budget remains to be negotiated as lawmakers eye the end of the 2018 legislative session on May 25. That's according to eCapitol's Shawn Ashley. Ashley says state agencies will most likely see flat budgets. State revenue has increased due to economic growth and revenue generating measures from previous sessions, giving lawmakers more money to appropriate. And lawmakers have already dealt with many of the biggest budget items, like public education.

State Impact: Anxiety about teacher pay-raises grows as tax repeal effort builds and legal questions mount

When the Oklahoma Legislature passed House Bill 1010xx in March, it seemed like a reason for school leaders to celebrate. They had been begging lawmakers to increase teacher pay for years, and it finally happened. But the excitement quickly faded. Oklahoma Taxpayers Unite, a group backed by former Republican U.S. Sen. Tom Coburn, filed a petition to overturn the $430 million tax package, which includes tax increases on cigarettes, gasoline and oil and gas production.

What Tuesday's Liquor-By-The-Drink Vote Means For Dry Counties And Low-Point Businesses

Harper County is one of the state's 14 dry counties. Currently, businesses in dry counties can sell beer that's 3.2 percent alcohol by weight. But that all changes in October. New alcohol laws approved by voters in 2016 don't distinguish between low point and regular-strength beer. All beer will be classified the same, so businesses in dry counties won't be able to sell it. That's bad news for the Brandin' Iron and Roy Lenz, who says he can't turn a profit on food alone.

Oneok Gas Storage requested Red Bluff Resources Operating to not do a hydraulic fracturing project near Oneok's Edmond Gas Storage Unit and facility. The Journal Record's Sarah Terry-Cobo reports Red Bluff's project would run a lateral wellbore underneath a substantial portion of the underground storage cavern. She writes Oneok is concerned the frack job could damage the rock formation where the natural gas is formed.

Collaborations/Content Partnering Efforts

KGOU is an affiliated member of several collaborative/partnering reporting projects that add to and/or expand upon topics and areas of particular interest and concern to our audience. Among these content-generating projects that offer substantive news and issues-related reports (not necessarily prepared by KGOU staff/reporters) are: OPMX (The Oklahoma Public Media Exchange), Capital Insider, Business Intelligence Report and the OK Watch Report (oklahomawatch.org/category/ow-radio/). These producers generate in-depth reports that are roughly four minutes in length on a semi-regular basis. KGOU monitors and chooses particular reports by each of these producers that we believe resonates with the needs, interests, and concerns of our audience.
