Brief narrative describing the guest and content of interview or lecture:

We learn about fire prevention, as we here from Terry Timan, Danbury's Fire Marshall, as he puts on a demonstration of extinguishing fires on the lawn outside the science building on the Midtown Campus of Western Connecticut State University where he set up 2 simulated dorm rooms, 8 foot square boxes, each with one side off so you can look in and see that they are decorated like dorm rooms, with a bed, a chair, curtains on the wall and a garbage pail in each room filled with paper and plastic and set on fire, both rooms are equipped with fire alarms but only 1 room has a sprinkler system, and the audience watches as the fire develops and the sprinkler system quickly takes over and extinguishes the fire in that room
