

Date	Time	Duration	Show	Type	Issue	Description
10/1/2023
10/2/2023	7:46-7:49a	3:08	Morning Show	Newscast	Local Government	On September 25, the Pittsboro Board of Commissioners voted for creating a social district which will allow alcohol to be carried from one business to another. The board listened to the proposal, asked questions, and discussed it before the majority voted in favor.
10/3/2023	1:24-1:25p	0:33	Afternoon Show	Newscast	Sports	It's back to business for the UNC football team this week, as the Tar Heels are coming off their bye week and preparing for a matchup with Syracuse this weekend. But while the free weekend allowed Carolina fans to relax, the players and coaches were still hard at work staying sharp.
10/4/2023	12:07-12:10p	2:23	News at half past	Newscast	Local Government	After some early endorsements in September, more local organizations are beginning to compile and share theirs this month. On Tuesday, the advocacy group NEXT Chapel Hill-Carrboro joined us on the air to exclusively reveal their own endorsements for this fall's municipal elections.
10/5/2023	8:16-8:19a	2:33	Morning Show	Newscast	Community	What is the state of our community? Every year, the Chamber for a Greater Chapel Hill-Carrboro compiles data on a wide variety of topics for a comprehensive "State of the Community" report, featuring trends both good and bad-not to mention trends that could be either good OR bad, depending on how you look at them.
10/6/2023	12:21-12:25p	3:30	News at half past	Newscast	Sports	It's almost gameday for the UNC football team, as Carolina is looking to move to 5-0 on the season when it hosts Syracuse tomorrow at 3:30 p.m. The Orange and Tar Heels have only played six previous times in football, but their most recent meeting one no one will ever forget.
10/7/2023
10/8/2023	2:10-2:15p	4:46	Afternoon Show	Newscast	Crime	The UNC community was rattled after a devastating shooting on August 28 where one faculty member died. Then campus went into lockdown again on September 13 because of an unknown man with a gun. The Board of Trustees met to discuss the response from UNC Police,
10/9/2023	9:35-9:39a	3:47	Morning Show	Newscast	Sports	It isn't often a player's highly-anticipated season debut comes in the fifth game of the season, but that's exactly what happened with the UNC football team Saturday against Syracuse. Receiver Tez Walker finally got to suit up for the Tar Heels after being declared eligible by the NCAA earlier in the week.
10/10/2023	3:54-3:55p	0:34	Afternoon Show	Newscast	Sports	Friday night marks the unofficial start of basketball season, as the men's and women's programs will host Live Action with Carolina Basketball in the Dean Smith Center. The mne's team will feature a host of new faces from both incoming freshmen and the transfer portal, but the Tar Heels will continue to lean on program pillars R.J. Davis and Armando Bacot.

10/11/2023	12:46-12:50p	3:53	News at half past	Newscast	Entertainment	In the last two weeks, the Writers Guild for America, or WGA, reached a tentative agreement to end its 148-day strike against television and film production companies. The strike contributed to a stoppage of production and distribution across the country and a turbulent time for the content-creation industry. While most of the strike played out in Hollywood near these production companies, some members of the UNC community were also affected by the shutdown.
10/12/2023	10:37-10:40a	3:11	Morning Show	Newscast	Development	When announced last year, the future redevelopment of 306 West Franklin Street caught some in the downtown Chapel Hill community by surprise. Around 11 months later, though, the life science-focused developers are holding community information sessions and have changed their designs a little since their initial announcement.
10/13/2023	12:16-12:20p	4:12	News at half past	Newscast	Sports	We're getting closer to another big game in Kenan Stadium as No. 12 Carolina will host No. 25 Miami at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow. The Hurricanes come in 4-1, but could've been undefeated were it not for a wild finish last weekend.
10/14/2023	1:27-1:28p	1:05	Afternoon Show	Newscast	Education	Thursday marked the 230th birthday of the oldest public university in the country... and UNC gathered for its customary recognition of "University Day" in Memorial Hall. The hour-long ceremony featured students and staff working on projects or initiatives that help both people on campus and across the country.
10/15/2023	7:13-7:14a	0:46	Morning Show	Newscast	World News	As we've seen this last week, the war happening between Israel and Hamas fighters in Palestine is affecting so many others across the globe-including UNC's campus. A tense demonstration took place as some supporting Palestinians were met by pro-Israel campus community members last Thursday- reflecting how emotionally fraught the conflict is.
10/16/2023	2:34-2:37p	3:18	Afternoon Show	Newscast	Sports	The potency of the UNC offense was on full display Saturday night against the Hurricanes, with Drake Maye tossing a season-high four touchdown passes. Three of those went to wide receiver Tez Walker, who had the best game of his career less than two weeks after receiving his eligibility from the NCAA.
10/17/2023	12:36-12:40p	3:59	News at half past	Newscast	World News	The Israeli government is vowing to destroy Hamas after the militant group carried out a surprise attack last weekend. The effects are being felt by many in the Chapel Hill community, with some having lost loved ones in the areas of conflict. But as a demonstration on UNC's campus reflected last week: many are feeling strongly about the implications of the growing conflict.
10/18/2023	10:19-10:20a	0:57	Morning Show	Newscast	Education	One of the storylines of the last year in Chapel Hill-Carrboro City Schools was recurring bus route cancellations due to a driver shortage. So far this year that has not been the case.

10/19/2023	1:40-1:43p	3:01	Afternoon Show	Newscast	Local Elections	After a layered and competitive local election cycle in Orange, Chatham, and Durham County municipal races this fall, voters now have the chance to have their final say in the races. The early voting period begins on Tuesday across North Carolina and provides a chance for residents of their towns and cities to cast their votes at their poll location of choice.
10/20/2023	12:29-12:12:34p	4:14	News at half past	Newscast	Community	The Town of Carrboro is moving forward with its Bolin Creek Greenway Master Plan around 14 years after its initial document was passed, as the town council voted Tuesday on a conceptual direction for the final phase of the greenway's alignment. It came after three months of surveying residents and getting hundreds of responses.
10/21/2023
10/22/2023	4:31-4:36p	4:48	Afternoon Show	Newscast	Community	Ten months ago, the Chapel Hill Town Council adopted a resolution to install and implement a new framework to inform the local government about growth in sustainable, managable ways. The complete Communities plan was later adopted into the town's comprehensive plan, meaning elected officials and staff have had the chance to use it when considering development projects proposed in Chapel Hill.
10/23/2023	11:14-11:18a	3:23	Morning Show	Newscast	Sports	As we continue to sort through the fallout from the UNC football team's stunning loss against Virginia on Saturday, the Tar Heels are searching for answers. If the team wants to avoid another long losing streak, the players and coaches know a short memory is critically important.
10/24/2023	9:17-9:18a	:59	Morning Show	Newscast	Local Elections	Early voting is underway for the 2023 municipal elections, with closely-watched races for Chapel Hill Mayor and Town Council. But where does the campaign stand, just days away from Election Night?
10/25/2023	5:09-5:14p	4:17	Afternoon Show	Newscast	Business	The medical supply company Medline first announced its plans for a major distribution center in Orange County in 2019, marking on of the latest businesses to take advantage of space along the I-40/I-85 corridor.
10/26/2023	6:25-6:28p	3:39	Evening show	Newscast	Community	In the last couple of years, the Town of Chapel Hill added bike lanes on West Franklin Street to improve safety for those using bicycles around downtown. Safety advocates celebrated the move- but now some business owners on West Franklin Street are arguing that the addition has led to a subtraction in traffic to their businesses.
10/27/2023	11:27-11:28a	0:37	Morning Show	Newscast	Sports	Tonight's the night for the UNC men's basketball team, as the Tar Heels will take the floor for the first time in an exhibition game against St. Augustine's tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the Smith Center. The first game will provide fans with a first look at several new faces on the team, including, among them freshman Zayden High and Elliot Cadeau.
10/28/2023

10/29/2023	2:07-2:10p	3:15	Afternoon Show	Newscast	Sports	If you're still scratching your head after the UNC football team's second consecutive loss on Saturday night, you're not alone. Fans, coaches, and players alike all now face the same question: where do the Tar Heels go from here?
10/30/2023	3:13-3:14p	1:02	Afternoon Show	Newscast	Community	Tomorrow is Halloween, and the Town of Chapel Hill is anticipating costumed revelers downtown for the first time in several years.
10/31/2023	10:06-10:07a	:29	Morning Show	Newscast	Local Elections	Early voting continues this week as residents head to the polls to cast ballots in this year's local elections. There are five early voting sites open in Orange County: Orange Works at Hillsborough Commons on Mayo Street in Hillsborough; the Seymour Senior Center; the Chapel Hill Public Library; Chapel of the Cross on Franklin Street downtown- and 108 Bim Street just behind Carrboro Town Hall, which has seen the heaviest voting traffic so far.
11/1/2023	7:31-7:32a	:56	Morning Show	Newscast	Development	There have long been discussions by Chapel Hill of how to build a new emergency services center to better fit the town's police department and other first responders. But with a lack of land and the presence of coal ash under the current department of Martin Luther King Jr. Boulevard have complicated matters- as the police station falls further into disrepair.
11/2/2023	12:10-12:13p	3:14	News at half past	Newscast	UNC	Wilson Library sits at the center of UNC's campus, as it has for nearly 100 years. But the facility needs several safety improvements- which university officials announced this week will require the library to close for an extended period of time.
11/3/2023	1:35-1:37p	1:17	Afternoon Show	Newscast	UNC	While the UNC semester has pushed on, many in the campus community are still affected by the fatal shooting of a faculty member on August 28. That includes the university's administration, who continue to examine ways to better improve campus security and emergency responses.
11/4/2023
11/5/2023	4:07-4:08p	1:09	Afternoon Show	Newscast	Newscast	The town of Chapel Hill has spent the last few years examining the best ways for people to move about town in a safe manner that's also more environmentally friendly. The government has invested some resources into bike lanes- but there isn't yet a complete infrastructure for bicyclists on the road.
11/6/2023	10:27-10:28a	:47	Morning Show	Newscast	Sports	The win against Campbell proved to be much-needed for the UNC defense, which held an opponent to single digits for the first time since the Syracuse game four weeks ago. And while the Camels are only an FCS team, head coach Mack Brown said Saturday's win was still important for many reasons.
11/7/2023	12:50-12:51p	:58	News at half past	Newscast	Sports	UNC honored Walter Davis before the game on Monday, wearing special warmups featuring his name and number and holding a moment of silence before tip-off. The game was the first for Carolina since Davis died last week. It was also first public appearance of Davis' nephew, Carolina head coach Hubert Davis, since then.
11/8/2023	8:25-8:30a	4:19	Morning Show	Newscast	Election	As election day wound down Tuesday evening, candidates were holding election parties all over downtown Chapel Hill.

11/9/2023	4:16-4:17p	:57	Afternoon Show	Newscast	Art	In a ceremony happening today, six North Carolinians will receive the state's highest honor- The North Carolina Award. The award has been given out annually since 1961 to recognize individuals who make significant contributions to the state in fine art, literature, science, and public service. This year two folks from the Chapel Hill area are receiving the award-- Former Congressman David Price, and Sculptor Patrick Dougherty.
11/10/2023	6:34-6:39	4:45	Evening show	Newscast	Sports	It's hard to believe, but tomorrow is the last home game of UNC football's 2023 season. The game will mark the home swan song for stars like Cedric Gray and British Brooks, and is also likely the final home appearance for Drake Maye, who's projected to be a top pick in next spring's NFL draft. As if that's not enough, tomorrow's game pits Carolina against one of its oldest rivals.
11/11/2023	12:46-12:47p	:55	News at half past	Newscast	Election	While Election Day last week determined some of the newest members of our local governments, there's still one seat left to be formally decided. Elizabeth Sharp leads Renuka Soll by 16 votes after Election Day total came in... which is too close to call. The Orange County Board of Elections will meet on Thursday this week to count any remaining mail-in ballots and determine whether any provisional ballots will go toward the totals.
11/12/2023
11/13/2023	9:21-9:25	4:09	Morning Show	Newscast	Sports	We are all still catching our breath from the UNC football team's double-overtime win over Duke on Saturday, one which will live on as one of the most thrilling in the history of the rivalry. It was a night none of the Tar Heel players will ever forget.
11/14/2023	2:18-2:21p	3:54	Afternoon Show	Newscast	Government	With the North Carolina legislature passing legislation in August to limit LGBTQ+ instruction in early grades and establishing a "Parents' Bill of Rights" framework for public education, local districts are now figuring out how to implement those changes.
11/15/2023	11:10-11:11a	:42	Morning Show	Newscast	Government	Democrats continue to be optimistic about recent election results both nationally and locally. Here in North Carolina the state democratic party is implementing its strategy to break the Republican supermajorities in the house and senate of the state legislature.
11/16/2023	12:48-12:49p	:41	News at half past	Newscast	Sports	The UNC field hockey team will take the field tomorrow afternoon right here in Chapel Hill for the national semifinals against Virginia. Karen Shelton Stadium hasn't hosted the field hockey Final Four since 2021, when UNC defeated Michigan in sudden death overtime. The scorer for that winning goal is now the head coach: Erin Matson.
11/17/2023	5:26-5:30p	4:03	Afternoon Show	Newscast	Community	The Orange County community, and nation, honored Veterans Day one week ago. While many might think of discharged veterans or active military members at base.. There's a population that is often forgotten: veterans attending college.
11/18/2023
11/19/2023

11/20/2023	10:46-10:50a	3:44	Morning Show	Newscast	Community	Today is the first day broadcasting from our NEW LOCATION on 1525 East Franklin Street! We're excited to begin welcoming guests into the space over the next few weeks. But how did this become the place for our new headquarters?
11/21/2023	7:27-7:28a	1:02	Morning Show	Newscast	Sports	Chapel Hill is still abuzz after the UNC field hockey team claimed its 11th national championship, second in a row and fifth in the last six years on Sunday. The shootout win against Northwestern came in front of a sold out, standing room only crowd at Karen Shelton Stadium on the Carolina campus. And the party lasted long after Ryleigh Heck scored the game-winner in the sixth round of penalty strokes.
11/22/2023	3:23-3:28p	4:41	Afternoon Show	Newscast	Law	Chapel Hill Police Department's Crisis Unit has long been celebrated as an alternate way to respond to emergencies that may not need a law enforcement response. The co-responding program sends out social workers with officers for calls to see if their skills would be better for the incident- whether it's a mental health crisis, a runaway child, or simply treating victims of a crime.
11/23/2023	9:52-9:55a	3:19	Morning Show	Newscast	Health and wellness	Through the COVID-19 pandemic and changing wage scales, the care work industry is experiencing very slow growth. But the needs of people with injured or aging family members are still consistent. One Triangle-area service is looking to bring new people into the profession by tapping into the college student population.
11/24/2023	8:07-8:12a	4:44	Morning Show	Newscast	Sports	Carolina's 2023 football season may not be going the way the Tar Heels had hoped, but this weekend offers one last chance for redemption: a visit to NC State on Saturday. UNC has not beaten the Wolfpack since 2020, and tomorrow's game presents not just a shot to earn a ninth win, but also to avenge some past slights.
11/25/2023	12:34-12:35p	:40	News at half past	Newscast	Town	No local government meetings this week, but LAST week the Carrboro Town Council got the final report from a task force on community safety, which was created in the wake of George Floyd's murder to study policing in Carrboro and propose some possible reforms.
11/26/2023
11/27/2023	5:53-5:57p	3:59	Afternoon Show	Newscast	Sports	Carolina's regular season ended with a whimper on Saturday night, and it marked the beginning of a precarious few weeks for the program. Beginning today, players and assistant coaches will meet with head coach Mack Brown to discuss their futures, and it's unknown when or where the first domino will fall.
11/28/2023	8:43-8:46a	2:57	Morning Show	Newscast	Community	It was an unseasonably warm start to fall, but these last few weeks, we've definitely seen more leaves on the ground. In the Triangle, the local governments are once again embarking on a town initiative to encourage residents to not blow or rake those leaves from their yards... instead, just LEAVING them where they lie.

11/29/2023	4:39-4:44p	4:05	Afternoon Show	Newscast	Development	At its most RECENT meeting, The Chapel Hill Town Council approved a resolution to expand its water and sewer management boundary further south toward Chatham County.. The measure proposes an amendment that would give the town control over around 360 acres of more land than it currently does in the 15-501 corridor south of the Southern Village community.
11/30/2023	7:29-7:30a	1:02	Morning Show	Newscast	Community	This weekend is full of Holiday Activities in Hillsborough.
12/1/2023	12:47-12:51p	4:00	News at half past	Newscast	Health and wellness	After years of debate and months of planning a rollout across the state, Medicaid expansion is officially in effect for North Carolina. State lawmakers initially passed a bipartisan law for around 600,00 more residents to become eligible in March- but delays in passing a state budget bumped implementation back.
12/2/2023
12/3/2023	1:35-1:37p	2:19	Afternoon Show	Newscast	UNC	The UNC Community- as well as the Michigan State community- is awaiting a final answer from Chancellor Kevin Guskiewicz about whether he'll take the job in Lansing and leave Chapel Hill. The latest reports from the Michigan State student newspaper said Guskiewicz is the sole candidate for the role, while the Chronicle for Higher Education recently reported that the UNC System president is already reviewing potential interim and replacement candidate.
12/4/2023	9:28-2:29a	1:15	Morning Show	Newscast	Development	At last week's Chapel Hill Town Council meeting, the council denied a proposal for a 12-story mixed-use development at 157 E. Rosemary Street, with 56 condo units and 3,000 square foot of ground-floor retail space.
12/5/2023	11:41-11:43a	1:50	Morning Show	Newscast	Community	After a recent spike in towing from the parking lot at Carr Mill Mall in Carrboro, the town sent a letter to the mall management about the law of adequate signage.
12/6/2023		:45	Afternoon Show	Newscast	Local Government	Newly elected officials are taking their seats this month, following November's local election. That includes Chapel Hill, where Jess Anderson will take the oath of office as mayor. She defeated Adam Seaing in that race, but Seairings not going anywhere- he's still on the Town Council with two years left in his term.
12/7/2023	12:13-12:14p	:45	News at half past	Newscast	Sports	The UNC men's basketball team won't be back in action until next weekend, but their schedule won't get any easier. Carolina's next game sees them take on No. 16 Kentucky in Atlanta on December 16 as part of the CBS Sports Classic. It's part of a challenging stretch which features four ranked opponents in a stretch of five games, with three of those ranked games coming away from Chapel Hill.
12/8/2023	7:54-7:55a	:39	Morning Show	Newscast	Local Government	Carrboro's Town Council voted this week to hold a special election in November to fill the now-vacant seat left by Barbara Foushee becoming mayor. But it wasn't the only option to the town. According to Carrboro's charter, council members got to choose between holding a special election to fill the seat or appointing someone.

12/9/2023	3:37-3:38p	:49	Afternoon Show	Newscast	Local Government	This Monday, December 11, Mark Bell will take the oath of office as the new mayor of Hillsborough, at a swearing-in ceremony in Town Hall at 7 pm. Bell succeeds Jenn Weaver, who's stepping down after four years on the job.
12/10/2023
12/11/2023	5:36-5:40p	3:59	Afternoon Show	Newscast	Education	During his introduction to the Michigan State University community on Friday, outgoing UNC Chancellor Kevin Guskiewicz shared several approaches he hopes to bring to East Lansing that reflected his efforts in Chapel Hill.
12/12/2023	8:52-8:56a	3:55	Morning Show	Newscast	Development	Tucked behind some tree off of Raleigh Road in Chapel Hill lies the Spangler Center and the home to the UNC System headquarters. The main offices moved there in 1971 just a year before the UNC System grew to all public North Carolina schools joined together. But this summer, the North Carolina General Assembly had the headquarters relocated to Raleigh and left the buildings behind.
12/13/2023	12:09-12:10p	:54	News at half past	Newscast	Sports	We're getting closer to gameday for UNC men's basketball. When the Tar Heels take the court against Kentucky on Saturday, it'll be their first game action in 11 days. This comes after the team had played six games in 14 days.
12/14/2023	2:46-2:48p	1:50	Afternoon Show	Newscast	UNC	At UNC, students and staff say the university can do a better job communicating information during emergencies, in the wake of the fatal shooting on campus in August. That's according to feedback sharing in an online survey that UNC conducted afterward... and published the responses last week.
12/15/2023	11:26-11:31a	4:45	Morning Show	Newscast	Sports	The UNC Club Ice Hockey team is in the middle of 2023-24 season, sitting with a winning record during a winter break before preparing for the last third of games in the regular season. The program's leaders and supporters, though, are looking far beyond this season with a major project.
12/16/2023	4:42-4:47p	4:58	Afternoon Show	Newscast	Environment	The UN's 28th annual climate conference, or COP28, wrapped up in Dubai on December 12. Head of the Heat Policy Innovation Hub at Duke's Nicholas Institute and frequent Climate Thursday guest on Ne
12/17/2023
12/18/2023	7:16-7:17a	:44	Morning Show	Newscast	Sports	Against Kentucky, Carolina lost the rebounding battle for the second straight game. The Wildcats outrebounded the Tar Heels by 10, including grabbing 18 offensive rebounds which they turned into 15 second-chance points. Guard R.J. Davis, one of the smallest players on the floor for Carolina, ended up as the team's leading rebounder.
12/19/2023	1:17-1:20p	2:35	Afternoon Show	Newscast	Sports	With the news of Eric Montross' passing on Sunday, hundreds and hundreds of people shared their thoughts and memories on the former UNC star's impact on their lives. For many people, that meant Montross' role in Carolina winning the 1993 National Championship... for others, it was hearing his voice on the Tar Heel Sports Network calling Tar Heel games. But for some, it was Montross philanthropy and efforts away from basketball that made the biggest difference.

12/20/2023	9:47-9:48a	1:05	Morning Show	Newscast	Government	As we look ahead to the coming year, a lot of our attention is already focused on the 2024 election- not just the race for President, but also an open race for governor, as incumbent Roy Cooper is term limited. On the Democratic side, there are two high-profile candidates who have thrown their hats in the ring- state attorney general Josh Stein and former state supreme court justice Mike Morgan. But a new survey from Public Policy Polling finds the primary race is NOT competitive right now: Stein currently has 56 percent of the vote among North Carolina Democrats, while Morgan is a far-distant second with just five percent.
12/21/2023	2:25-2:26p	:47	Afternoon Show	Newscast	Sports	National Signing Day is in the books, and the UNC football program officially inked 27 prospects as future Tar Heels. Carolina's class ranks in the Top 30 nationwide, with a majority of that group joining the team for spring practice next year.
12/22/2023	8:32-8:37a	4:44	Morning Show	Newscast	Community	The Dorothy N. Johnson Community Center was dedicated by the Town of Hillsborough in 2021, turning a former police substation into a dedicated building for the Farview neighborhood community members. The historically Black community, which lies northwest of downtown, is working to find ways to turn the facility into a real asset. Among these people are local high school students taking part in an internship program meant to encourage civic encouragement.
12/23/2023	5:41-5:43p	1:25	Afternoon Show	Newscast	Community	The Chatham County Commissioners recently received a needs assessment report from the Chatham County Partnership for Children. One of the major areas of need uncovered in the report is for safe child-care options, particularly for parents of color.
12/24/2023
12/25/2023
12/26/2023	10:24-10:25a	1:12	Morning Show	Newscast	Election	The 2024 presidential election is guaranteed to be among the year's biggest stories, taking up a lot of public attention. But further down on the ballot will be a lot of state and local races that will get no attention at all. Voter turnout will be high, but a recent survey from Public Policy Polling finds the vast majority of North Carolina Democrats with zero opinion about the primary candidates for attorney general, lieutenant governor, insurance commissioner, or state supreme court, among others.
12/27/2023	12:12-12:17p	4:32	News at half past	Newscast	Sports	For the last time in 2023, it is gameday for the UNC football team. The Tar Heels take on West Virginia in the Duke's Mayo Bowl today at 5:30 p.m. in Charlotte. Carolina is hoping tonight goes better than its last appearance in the Duke's Mayo Bowl, when the Tar Heels lost decisively to South Carolina.
12/28/2023	3:34-3:38p	3:21	Afternoon Show	Newscast	Medical	When North Carolina passed its "Care for Women, Children and Families Act" earlier this year, it made abortion access more restrictive and intensive than before. Since July, those seeking an abortion are only allowed to get one after 12 weeks in extreme scenarios- and must go through a three-day waiting period from their first meeting with doctors to the actual procedure.

12/29/2023	4:18-4:19p	:58	Afternoon Show	Newscast	Environment	One of the things 2023 will be remembered for will be for having the hottest weather of any year in history to date. Ashely Ward is the director of the Heat Policy Innovation Hub at Duke's Nicholas Institute- she said that the extreme heat of 2023 is the biggest climate story of the year.
12/30/2023	7:24-7:30a	4:35	Morning Show	Newscast	Government	Among the highlights from the North Carolina legislature in 2023 was the approval of legalized sports betting. The long-divisive issue passed with majoritiies before being signed by Governor Roy Cooper and will allow for sports gambling beyond the state's three casinos.
12/31/2023	11:56-11:57a	1:07	Morning Show	Newscast	Community	As we look back on the biggest local news stories of 2023, sadly one of the biggest involved a major figure in our community who left us too soon: Eric Montross, who passed away this month at the age of 52. In the days after his death, we heard from many people whose lives he touched- and while they spoke about his prowess on the basketball court and the broadcast booth, it was his legacy as a humanitarian that stood out the most.