11/15/2022	NASA's Artemis 1 Launch	Info was found on the NPR website Launch is set to go off on the 16th of November for the Artemis 1 launch. This rocket has been worked on for the last 50 years and many would like to see it launch. The scientists don't want to launch until the timing is just right, they want to make sure that absolutely nothing goes wrong. If this launch goes well then this could lead to taking people to the moon again. So if you're dream is to be an astronaut you in fact could one day become one, so be sure to stay in school.
11/29/2022	Dr. Pifer Award	This was an article written in the school paper the Flashlight be sure to grab one for yourself to read more stories like this one. This article in particular was written by the editor in chief Kendal LeValley. On November fourth Dr. Pifer was given the Mansfield campus keepers of the flame award. The award is given to people committed to creating an inclusive and diverse environment for belonging. Though I have not met Dr. Pifer in person before, I have only ever heard amazing things about her. Everyone says she is an amazing teacher that promotes learning and creativity. Congratulations to Dr. Pifer.
11/29/2022	Vehicle thefts continue	There was another car broken into on campus in-between the days of October 23rd and October 25th . If anyone has information, contact campus police at 570-439-4900. This is the third one within the past month. Just a reminder to lock your car when you leave it alone. And when you leave

		your car make sure to take all of your valuables with you. If you cannot take them with you be sure to cover it with a towel.
