March 26, 2019

Shortly before Christmas Day, 2003, when he was just 26 years old, Chris Wark received the devastating news that he had Stage IIIc colon cancer. Following his physician's advice, he underwent surgery to remove a golf-ball sized tumor, a third of his colon and cancerous lymph nodes.

At that point, Wark was strongly advised to undergo chemotherapy in order to survive, but instead he chose to embark on a radically different path to uncover the root causes of his disease and transform his life in order to help his body heal.

In his book, Chris Beat Cancer, Wark uncovers a number of factors in our modern world that are contributing to our increasing rates of cancer, including our processed food diet, our increasingly sedentary lifestyle, environmental toxins, and stress. But he reserves a special chapter that deals with forgiveness.

"Forgiveness is a huge part of my message" Wark says. "As a Christian, I am a strong believer in God's healing power, and forgiveness was a major theme of Jesus' life and ministry. Long-term bitterness and resentment are toxic emotions which cause profound stress in the body, increasing inflammation and decreasing immune function, both of which make you more susceptible to cancer and other chronic diseases."

Hosts Robin Bertram and Deborah Ross. Twenty minute interview within the ninety-minute program.

- March 6, 2019 Rev. Chip Gordon is the Director of Pastoral Care with Our Journey of Hope. Our Journey of Hope is a compassionate provider of cancer care ministry resources and leadership training. The mission is to care for those affected by cancer through building and supporting a network of church-based cancer care ministries. Encore presentation.
- March 13, 2019 In today's society, true love and genuine relationships are becoming a thing of the past. It is not healthy for our generation and our children to grow up learning what love is through reality television shows, music, social media, and the internet as a whole. If our society is going to have a chance at true love from the heart, then as believers we must reintroduce Christ back into our hearts as our first love. Author Kent Gant Jr. addresses this in his book 23 Heartbeats: A Lifelong Guide That Compliments Love in All Relationships.
- March 27, 2019 Venessa Abram is all too familiar with the trauma and stigma surrounding mental illness, depression and suicide because of a family member. She has made it her mission to help families heal and educate others about the realities of mental illness through her workshops and training sessions.

Topic: February is Black History Month

WATC presented the following special programming during the month of February as part of Black History Month:

George Washington Carver: An Uncommon Life

One hour documentary special airing February 17 at 6:00 p.m. and February 19 at 1:00 p.m. on WATC TOO.

While George Washington Carver's rise from slavery to scientific accomplishment has inspired millions, time has reduced him to the man who did something with peanuts. This documentary uncovers Carver's complexities and reveals the full impact of his life and work.

The Autobiography of Miss Jane Pittman

Two-hour movie presentation on February 13 at 10:00 p.m. on WATC TOO.

Based on the book by Ernest Gaines, The Autobiography of Miss Jane Pittman originally aired on CBS in 1974. In this fictionalized biography, Cicely Tyson stars as the 110-year-old Jane Pittman, who recounts the events of her life as they relate to a century of racism in America. Born into slavery in the 1860s, Jane lives through the Civil War and into the civil rights movement. A winner of multiple Emmy awards, this made-for-TV movie is appropriate for classroom use in junior high and high school. Also starring folk music legend Odetta as Big Laura.

Topic: Encouragement for Special Needs Families

WATC featured programming to encourage families who are raising special needs children, whether it is autism or other types of physical disabilities. Such programming during 1st Quarter 2019 included the following:

Atlanta Live

The flagship program of WATC returned airs weeknights from 7:00-8:30 p.m. with a rebroadcast at 7:00 a.m.-8:30 a.m. the following weekday morning on WATC and from 2:00 p.m.-3:30 p.m. on WATC TOO. WATC TV 57 Original Series. All-new episodes unless noted as an encore presentation.

February 5, 2019 James C. Birdsong, Jr. lives in Marietta, Georgia. As a child raised in the innercity southside community of Richmond, California his family attended church regularly. He comes from a family of preachers, singers and musicians. He received his calling into ministry at 3 years old and what he describes as a miracle. Growing up with a developmental disability and attending public schools in the special education program, he was determined to be successful in life. His mission is to encourage people of all ages, races to pursue their dreams and goals in life and he is also a mentor to children throughout the country.

February 11, 2019 Norma Stanley lives in Decatur, Georgia. Having a daughter born with disabilities really connected her to the Lord, Jesus Christ and her Heavenly Father. She had no idea she had the strength or capacity to be the parent of a child with disabilities, but God showed her different. Not only did she have the strength and capacity, He showed her it was major part of her purpose to use her skills and experience as a journalist and public relations consultant, to bring awareness to the trials and triumphs families with disable children face. This has proven to be an amazing journey, allowing her to use all her gifts (singing, writing, speaking, etc.) to help bring awareness and resources to this community. Another part of her mission is to educate Major Corporation about the inherent revenue-generating opportunities and necessity of helping to bring support and resources to these individuals and families.

Also, Sharon Gary-Dill, Lawanda Scales and Krystal Davis shared on the program. Sharon lives in Decatur, Georgia. She used to walk to church, even while she was sick, she later became a pastor's aide for 12 years, which changed her life. Her mission it to bring people together by using the gift of fashion designs to bring awareness to the needs of the disability community and the critical issues of human trafficking.

Rachael Miller and Marissa Daniel hosted this program. Fifteen minute interviews within the ninety-minute program.

March 4, 2019 Aundrea Caldwell lives in Cumming, Georgia. She is passionate about many things and it is all about encouraging and supporting autism parents through writing, speaking and sharing her autistic journey. She has written an autobiographical self-help book for parents and caregivers who are raising children on the Autism spectrum titled Wait! Did You Say Autistic?. Her son, Cameron, was diagnosed with Asperger's Syndrome in 2008.

March 21, 2019 Holly Terei, author of Jacob the Flapping Dinosaur Goes to School, based her book upon personal experience of her son, Noah Robert, having moderate to severe Autism. Having two special needs children has taught Holly about who Jesus is and how he loves and cares for us. Holly made a choice a long time ago to not be angry at God but instead allow him to work through these situations. Every special needs parent needs to know that they are love, and their child is loved. Holly was asked many times how to teach kids about Autism in a way that they could understand, God gave her the knowledge and tools to establish and launch The Noah Robert Project in July of 2017 and her first children's book was published in December of 2017. Hosts Rebecca Keener and Sandra Onal. Fifteen minute interview within the ninety-minute program.

Patricia Spratley lives in Atlanta, Georgia. She gave her life to Jesus Christ at an early age of eight years old. She rededicated her life back to Christ after living a life of prostitution and came to the realization that something was better, but the road was not going to be easy. Her mission is to share her testimony with the world so others will not give up hope and be able to endure and not give up.

Lori Beard-Daily lives in Lithonia, Georgia. Lori doesn't remember a time in her life when Jesus Christ was not at the forefront of her life. She hasn't had a life changing experience where she found Christ or decided to give her life to Him because she has always had a relationship with Him for as long as she can remember. Her mission is very clear. It is to help women work on their now. Throughout the years Lori found herself getting into extensive conversations with women about their careers, spirituality, personal growth, finances, health and wellness. Before she knew it, she was unofficially coaching and counseling women (even her bosses when she was working). These women were coming to her for advice and feeling so encouraged in their discussions that they were taking the advice and started seeing a major shift in their personal and professional lives. Then one day, she and her husband were watching a news show where a nurse said, "If women would just start working toward taking care of themselves NOW instead of waiting until they are done taking care of everyone else they would be so much farther ahead in their mental and physical health." The words she heard were Women need to Work on their Now! Lori felt that hearing this news segment was a voice from God. She was already doing things to help women, but never had a name for it. So that was the beginning of Working on Your Now.

Hosts Shana Thornton and Shawn Evans Mitchell. Fifteen minute interviews within the ninety-minute program.

January 17, 2019

JaKeya Parker's life was spiraling downward finally made a decision to make a change. Changing her environment, associations, and habits made a huge difference. Most importantly, changing her mindset and giving her life to God helped her to become the woman she was called to be. JaKeya feels her mission is to be a vessel that God can use to bring healing and deliverance to His women around the world. So many struggle with the same things and JaKeya learned to use her story and lifestyle to make a difference. Hosts Ann White and Rebecca Keener. Fifteen minute interview within the ninety-minute program.

January 28, 2019

Renee Jansma lives in Lilburn, Georgia. Renee shared her story of surviving with a spouse with addictions, adopting her daughter, finding courage to leave her verbally and emotionally abusive alcoholic spouse and then being married to man she is with now. She is called to love her husband, raise her daughter and to know the Lord and give her very best to the ministries she works with. Hosts Dee Armstrong and Stacy Robinson. Fifteen minute interview within the ninety-minute program.

- January 31, 2019 Jennifer McCullough, Founder of Girls Like Us, shared with hosts Betty Cornett and Pastor John Citizen. Girls Like Us are volunteers from past abortion experiences that give support and love to the single mom that has chosen life, encouraging girls to use their voices, to share their stories and love them right where they are. Fifteen minute interview within the ninety-minute program.
- February 21, 2019 Healed miraculously as a child of Cystic Fibrosis, God has given Staci Wallace a unique perspective of the importance of miracles in the marketplace. She lives with a burning passion for the Church to return to a New Testament model that allows the Holy Spirit to be unleashed on this generation. She is the President of EMwomen International. Hosts Pastor Barry and Beth Peavy. Fifteen minute interview within the ninety-minute program.
- March 11, 2019 Pastor Donna Moncrief of Flovilla, Georgia shared. Pastor Donna grew up in a Christian home. At the age of nine she asked Jesus to come into her heart. Through good and bad times, God has sustained her in a place of peace. Her mission is to pastor, preach and passionately pursue those who may have been forgotten by society. Pastor Donna's mission is also to worship and empower women to be set free and walk fearlessly into their God given purpose. Fifteen minute interview within the ninety-minute program.
- March 13, 2019 Crystal Pugh lives in McDonough, Georgia. She was involved in a major drug bust involving her and her brother. When her brother got away, they took her. After going to jail that incident changed her life through salvation and answering the call of God. Her mission now is to fulfill God's purpose through healing and deliverance ministry and to help others find their purpose in life. Hosts Dr. Deborah Isom and Vic Bolton. Fifteen minute interview within the ninety-minute program.
- March 22, 2019 Playing in the kitchen at the age of 5 is what sparked JoAnn Johnson's interest in the culinary arts. By the age of 6 she had created her first recipe entitled "Peanut Butter and Bologna" which she eagerly presented at the table to her family with a smile. Today, JoAnn is the executive chef/owner for All J's Catering. Her career took a small detour so she could serve in the United States Air Force as a Dental Hygienist and secondary combat medic. She was recognized for creating manuals on dental assisting and survival sterilization techniques that would later be used Air Force wide. JoAnn specialized in Business Communication, Marketing, Fundamentals of Business and Ethics in Managerial Leadership. JoAnn's background in psychology and her ability to overcome many life challenges resulted in her being known as "The Motivational Chef." JoAnn currently hosts the television show Good Mood Good Food. Host Pastor Leroy Doe. Fifteen minute interview within the ninety-minute program.
- March 25, 2019 Elishia Dupree lives in Woodstock, Georgia. She encountered a life threatening event by her mother being diagnosed with HIV.
