| PUERTO RICO/HURRICANE                     | UNIMAS NEWS BRIEF | 10/01/2017 | 10:32   | :30    | Since the storm made landfall on September 20, Hurricane Maria has wreaked havoc on the island, causing a level of widespread destruction and disorganization paralleled by few storms in American history. Almost two weeks after the storm abated, most of the island's residents still lack access to electricity and clean water. From a meteorological standpoint, Maria was nearly a worst-case scenario for the territory: The center of a huge, nearly Category 5 hurricane made a direct hit on Puerto Rico, lashing the island with wind and rain for longer than 30 hours.   |
| LAS VEGAS/MASSACRE                        | UNIMAS NEWS BRIEF | 10/02/2017 | 5:21    | :30    | A man unleashed a barrage of gunfire from a hotel room onto an outdoor music festival in Las Vegas on Oct. 1, in what is now one of the deadliest mass shootings in American history. The events played out on two stages on Sunday: the streets and festival grounds that became a killing field, and the halls of the Mandalay Bay Resort and Casino where the police sought the gunman. As the gunman sprayed bullets from the 32nd floor of the hotel, concertgoers began to flee. In a video taken near the concert stage, panicked screams can be heard amid bursts of continuous gunfire. As victims fell, people ran or ducked for cover. Many concertgoers jumped fences to escape. The gunfire interrupted the performance of Jason Aldean, a singer at the Route 91 Harvest Festival, a three-day country music event. Police officers told people to take cover near the festival grounds. Sunday night's performance was the festival's last scheduled show. |

| TRUMP ADMINISTRATION/IMMIGRANTS | UNIMAS NEWS BRIEF | 10/08/2017 | 5:22 | :30    | The White House will demand this week that lawmakers harden the border against thousands of children fleeing violence in Central America before President Trump will agree to any deal with Democrats that allows the young undocumented immigrants known as Dreamers to stay in the United States legally. Administration officials said Sunday that Mr. Trump would seek to slam shut what they described as loopholes that encouraged parents from Guatemala, El Salvador and Honduras to send their children illegally into the United States, where many of them melt into American communities and become undocumented immigrants. The demand is included in a list of legislative priorities for tougher immigration enforcement that Mr. Trump and his advisers were set to release on Sunday as they seek to establish their bargaining position in expected congressional negotiations later this year about the Dreamers, who were brought to the United States as small children and often have few ties to the countries of their birth. Last month, the president abruptly ended an Obama-era policy called Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals, or DACA, in which former President Barack Obama |

| NORCAL/FIRES         | UNIMAS NEWS BRIEF | 10/10/2017 | 5:21 | :30    | In some areas in Sonoma County, the wildfires that have ravaged tens of thousands of acres died down enough Wednesday for the sheriff's department to check on more than 600 missing persons reports by visiting burned-out neighborhoods. In many other cases, detectives used telephones to track down people who are unaccounted for. Still, 285 people remain missing in just this one county, people who authorities pray are still alive but have no way to contact police or their loved ones. But there is some dread that the death toll -- 23 in the region -- from the Northern California wildfires will rise as more areas cool down and searchers discover what's left. "I'm optimistic that we will get a lot of people connected," Sonoma County Sheriff Rob Giordano said. "At the same time, we have to be realistic and start searching for the ones we found are missing." Firefighters battling 22 blazes were challenged Wednesday by blustery conditions and shifting winds. |
| NORCAL/FIRES         | UNIMAS NEWS BRIEF | 10/11/2017 | 5:21 | :30    | Beltane Ranch, an inn and winery in Sonoma County, California, has been a family owned business for five generations. On Sunday night, they watched the property burn. In the past 36 hours, wildfires have whipped across Northern California wine country, burning tens of thousands of acres of land. Already, officials estimate that at least 2,000 homes and businesses have been destroyed, and 15 people have died. It's too early to fully tally the human and economic costs of the disaster. But it's almost certain to scar a region that relies heavily on its tourism and wine industries -- especially since business owners aren't sure when they'll be able to operate normally again.   |

| TRUMP/HEALTH CARE    | UNIMAS NEWS BRIEF | 10/13/2017 | 5:21 | :30    | Prosecutors in California, Massachusetts, Kentucky and Connecticut today announced a joint lawsuit over the decision of the government of President Donald Trump to suspend subsidies to health insurance carriers covered by Obamacare. The California prosecutor, Xavier Becerra, said at a press conference that the presidential action announced Thursday is a "sabotage, plain and simple" to the current health law of the United States, promulgated by his predecessor, Barack Obama, after successive Republican failures to approve a new reform in Congress. Becerra said that this decision, which represents a major setback for the markets in the sector, removes "money from the pockets of six million Americans." The announcement of the legal action was made jointly with the Kentucky attorneys general, Andy Beshear; Massachusetts, Maura Healey and Connecticut, George Jepsen. |
| TRUMP/HEALTHCARE     | UNIMAS NEWS BRIEF | 10/16/2017 | 5:21 | :30    | Perhaps the greatest dispute between McConnell and Trump during Trump's young presidency is over health care. Trump campaigned on the promise to repeal and replace former President Barack Obama's controversial health care law, dubbed ObamaCare. McConnell, like many other Republican lawmakers, have railed on ObamaCare since it was enacted. Over the summer, Senate Republicans tried and failed multiple times to piece together a health care reform bill that would have passed. Trump urged McConnell to "get health care plan approved" on Twitter – and criticized him multiple times when that didn't happen.   |

The ban, now in its third iteration, was one of Mr. Trump's earliest and most controversial decisions after taking office in January, and it has also been one of the most legally troubled. Both previous versions were ordered halted by federal district judges who said they violated the Constitution or exceeded the president's authority, and those orders were upheld on appeal.   |
| LAS VEGAS/SECURITY   | UNIMAS NEWS BRIEF | 10/18/2017 | 5:21  | :30    | The Mandalay Bay security guard who was described as "missing" in recent news reports has turned up on "The Ellen DeGeneres Show," where he taped his first public account of being wounded as he responded to Stephen Paddock's deadly shooting rampage in Las Vegas. In a segment set for broadcast on Wednesday, Jesus Campos described how he was called to check on an open door near Paddock's suite on the 32nd floor of the hotel and casino, and how he was struck by gunfire moments before the shooter unleashed a fusillade of bullets on a crowd of concertgoers below. "As I was walking down, I heard rapid fire, and at first I took cover," Campos said. "I felt a burning sensation. I went to go lift my pant leg up and I saw the blood. That's when I called it in on my radio that shots have been fired." Excerpts from the show were first published by the Las Vegas Review-Journal. Campos's remarks didn't deviate from what police and hotel officials have said publicly about the Oct. 1 attack, which left 58 people dead and more than 500 injured, but did offer a clear narrative about what Campos experienced that night. |

| GANGS/AG JEFF SESSIONS | UNIMAS NEWS BRIEF | 10/23/2017 | 5:22 | :30    | Attorney General Jeff Sessions said Monday he has authorized federal prosecutors to investigate members of the international MS-13 gang with all lawful tools, comparing the effort to the federal takedown of Prohibition-era mobster Al Capone. Sessions has designated MS-13 as a priority for the Organized Crime Drug Enforcement Task Force, which brings together prosecutors from the Department of Justice with investigators from the Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA), the FBI, the IRS, Postal Service Inspectors and the Coast Guard. The attorney general said this designation will allow investigators to pursue drug cartels and drug traffickers "at the highest level." Speaking Monday to the International Association of Chiefs of Police in Philadelphia, Sessions said: "Now they will go after MS-13 with a renewed vigor and a sharpened focus. I am announcing that I have authorized them to use every lawful tool to investigate MS-13—not just our drug laws, but everything from RICO to our tax laws to our firearms laws. Just like we took Al Capone off the streets with our tax laws, we will use whatever laws we have to get MS-13 off our streets." |

The startling scene played out in full view of the cameras as Trump walked down the Capitol halls with Senate Majority Leader Mitch McConnell, R-Ky. | TRUMP/OPIOID CRISIS         | UNIMAS NEWS BRIEF | 10/26/2017 | 5:17  | 0:29   | President Donald Trump's plan to declare the opioid crisis a nationwide public health emergency won't bring new dollars to fight a scourge that kills an estimated 142 Americans each day, but will expand access to medical services in rural areas and shift some federal HIV money to help addicts, White House officials said Thursday. Trump intended to use an afternoon speech to announce that he was directing his health department to take that step, according to the officials, who weren't authorized to publicly discuss the matter in advance and briefed journalists on condition of anonymity. Administration officials said they would urge Congress, during end-of-the year budget negotiations, to add new cash to a public health emergency fund that Congress hasn't sent money to for years. They made clear that the declaration, which lasts for 90 days and can be renewed, comes with no dedicated dollars. |
| U.S. POLITICS/INVESTIGATION | UNIMAS NEWS BRIEF | 10/27/2017 | 10:33 | :30    | A federal grand jury in Washington, DC, on Friday approved the first charges in the investigation led by special counsel Robert Mueller, according to sources briefed on the matter. The charges are still sealed under orders from a federal judge. Plans were prepared Friday for anyone charged to be taken into custody as soon as Monday, the sources said "It is unclear what the charges are". A spokesman for the special counsel's office declined to comment. Mueller was appointed in May to lead the investigation into Russian meddling in the 2016 election. Under the regulations governing special counsel investigations, Deputy Attorney General Rod Rosenstein, who has oversight over the Russia investigation, would have been made aware of any charges before they were taken before the grand jury for approval, according to people familiar with the matter.  |

The driver was shot in the abdomen by police after jumping out of the truck with what turned out to be a fake gun in each hand and shouting what witnesses said was "Allahu Akbar," Arabic for "God is great," authorities said. The man underwent surgery and was in critical condition but was expected to survive. Officials who weren't authorized to discuss the investigation and spoke on the condition of anonymity identified the attacker as 29-year-old Sayfullo Saipov and said he is from Uzbekistan and came to the U.S. legally in 2010. The officials said Saipov has a Florida driver's license and may have been staying in New Jersey, and a family friend described roots he had in Ohio, where he lived years ago and was a commercial truck driver. The ride-hailing service Uber confirmed late Tuesday night that Saipov was one of its drivers. The company said he passed a background check and had been actively driving on the platform for more than six months. |

The suspect identified as 29-year-old Sayfullah Saipov of Tampa is reported to have screamed "Allahu Akbar" after the crash, a key reason authorities are looking at terrorism as a possible motive. Law enforcement says Saipov left a note saying he carried out the attack on behalf of ISIS. The suspect has no immediate direct or enabling ties to the terror group. Law enforcement believes it is an "inspired" attack as opposed to directed. Saipov entered the U.S. through Kennedy Airport from Uzbekistan in 2010. He had a green card that allowed permanent legal residence. | TEXAS SHOOTING MASSACRE | UNIMAS NEWS BRIEF | 11/05/2017 | 5:22 | :29    | A mass shooting occurred at the First Baptist Church in Sutherland Springs, Texas, about 30 miles (48 kilometers) east of the city of San Antonio. The gunman, 26-year-old Devin Patrick Kelley of nearby New Braunfels, killed 26 and injured 20 others. He was shot twice by a male civilian as he exited the church. Fleeing in his SUV, Kelley crashed after a high-speed chase and was found dead with multiple gunshot wounds, including a self-inflicted head shot. This was the deadliest mass shooting by an individual in Texas, the fifth deadliest mass shooting in the United States, as well as the deadliest shooting in an American place of worship in modern history, surpassing the Charleston church shooting of 2015 and the Waddell, Arizona Buddhist temple shooting of 1991. Kelley was prohibited by law from purchasing or possessing firearms and ammunition due to a domestic violence conviction in a court-martial while in the United States Air Force. The Air Force failed to record the conviction in the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) National Crime Information Center database, which is used by the National Instant Check System to flag prohibited purchases.   |

The decision to terminate TPS for Nicaragua was made after a review of the conditions upon which the country's original 1999 designation were based and whether those substantial but temporary conditions prevented Nicaragua from adequately handling the return of their nationals, as required by statute. There was also no request made by the Nicaraguan government to extend the current TPS status. | ELECTIONS RESULTS IN 2 STATE GOVERNOR'S RACES                     | UNIMAS NEWS BRIEF | 11/08/2017 | 5:22 | :29    | Seizing his party's first major Trump-era victory, Democrat Ralph Northam beat back a charge from Republican Ed Gillespie in the race for Virginia governor, a bruising election that tested the power of President Donald Trump's fiery nationalism against the energy of the Trump resistance. In Virginia, like in several contests across America on Tuesday, the Trump resistance won. And it wasn't close. Northam, a pediatric neurologist and Army veteran, led longtime Republican operative Gillespie by several points as the final votes ticked in. Democrats also scored victories in the race for New Jersey governor and in Maine, where voters slapped the state's Republican governor, a Trump ally, by backing a measure to expand Medicaid coverage under former President Barack Obama's health care law. The Democratic mayors of New York and Boston, both vocal Trump critics, also won re-election easily. And Virginia voters elected the state's first openly-transgender state representative, among more than a dozen state legislative pickups for Democrats. The resounding victories marked the GOP's most significant day of defeat in the young Trump presidency and a rebuke to the president himself as his party eyes a suddenly more threatening midterm election season next year. |

| DOZENS OF YOUNG IMMIGRANTS MAILED RENEWAL FORMS  | UNIMAS NEWS BRIEF | 11/10/2017 | 5:22 | :29    | Dozens of young immigrants mailed renewal forms, weeks before they were due. But their paperwork was delayed in the mail and then denied for being late. Rep Luis V. Gutiérrez (D-IL) has learned of at least 21 cases in Chicago where applicants to renew DACA have been denied because USCIS says they did not accept the applications before the October 5, 2017 deadline. When the DACA (Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals) program was killed by President Trump in September, a window for renewal applications was opened for some DACA recipients whose DACA status expires before March 5 of next year. However, USCIS (U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services, the branch of Homeland Security that processes applications for immigrants) said the applications had to be "accepted" by October 5 of this year. But applications mailed to USCIS as early as September 13 were not received or "accepted" for processing, even though they were mailed from addresses in Chicago to the USCIS lockbox address also in Chicago. In one case, an application mailed to the Chicago lockbox address on September 13 via registered mail was delivered, according to the Post Office receipt, on October 5, but USCIS says it did not receive it until the next day, thereby making the application invalid. In another case, an application was mailed on September 21, which the Post Office estimated would be received by September 29. The actual receipt, according to USCIS, was October 9. |
| MEL BERNSTEINTHE "MOST ARMED MAN IN AMERICA" | UNIMAS NEWS BRIEF | 11/11/2017 | 5:17 | 0:29   | Colorado gun shop owner Mel Bernstein became casually known as the "most armed man in America" after acquiring thousands of high-powered weapons, bazookas and machine guns. His firearms collection dwarfs the number of guns -- 47 -- allegedly found in the Las Vegas hotel suite and two homes of mass shooter Stephen Paddock, for instance, but the Federal Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives (ATF) is unable to confirm whether Bernstein has amassed more weapons than any other U. S. gun owner. Bernstein says he has amassed over 4,000 weapons at his Colorado Springs compound, where he also keeps military-style vehicles. The weapons are registered in his name, he says, and he also rents and sells machine guns to his customers. His gun shop, six shooting ranges, military museum, paintball park, motocross park and home are located on the 260-acre property known as Dragonland.  |

| CALIFORNIA SHOOTING DEATH TOLL | UNIMAS NEWS BRIEF | 11/15/2017 | 5:22 | :29    | The gunman who went on an apparently random shooting spree in rural Northern California allegedly left an elementary school after he failed to access classrooms there, authorities said. Four people were killed and 10 more were wounded in a series of shootings Tuesday morning in Tehama County. The shootings took place in seven locations, including the Rancho Tehama School, an elementary school in Corning, about 130 miles north of Sacramento, police said, but no children were killed. Ten people were hospitalized, including at least two children, police said. One student was shot inside a classroom at the school, while the other injured child was shot while sitting in a truck when the shooter drove by, police said. The male suspect was killed by police, but his motive is unknown, according to authorities. He has been positively identified, but Johnston declined to release his name at this point in the investigation. There was an ongoing dispute between the gunman and a woman who was killed in the shooting spree, Johnston said. | SEXUAL HARASSMENT-FRANKEN      | UNIMAS NEWS BRIEF | 11/16/2017 | 5:22 | :29    | Sen. Al Franken apologized Thursday after a Los Angeles radio anchor accused him of forcibly kissing her during a 2006 USO tour and of posing for a photo with his hands on her breasts as she slept. Leeann Tweeden posted the allegations on the website of KABC, a Los Angeles radio station where she now works as a news anchor for a morning radio show. Tweeden joined the then-comedian on one of several trips to entertain troops in December 2006 when Franken told her he wrote a skit for the pair that included a kiss. And despite her protests, she alleges he insisted they practice the kiss during rehearsal. "We did the line leading up to the kiss and then he came at me, put his hand on the back of my head, mashed his lips against mine and aggressively stuck his tongue in my mouth," she wrote. Tweeden also included a photo of her sleeping on board an aircraft later during the trip, in which Franken is shown reaching out as if to grope her breasts. Franken said in a statement that Tweeden account of the skit did not match his memory.  |

| VENEZUELA OPPOSITION LEADERLEDEZMA FLEES TO COLOMBIA    | UNIMASNEWS BRIEF | 11/17/2017 | 6:47 | 2:17   | Veteran Venezuelan opposition leader Antonio Ledezma, under house arrest since 2015 for alleged coup plotting, escaped across the border to Colombia on Friday. Ledezma, the best-known detained opponent of leftist President Nicolas Maduro after Leopoldo Lopez, said he had gone past 29 police and army controls during a clandestine, overland journey that he kept secret from his loved ones. "I ask my wife and daughters to understand. They have suffered long hours of anguish without knowing where I was," he told reporters in the Colombian border town of Cucuta after crossing a bridge from San Antonio in Venezuela. "It was my decision alone." With a 2018 presidential election looming, an array of major Venezuelan opposition figures are now in exile, detention or barred from holding office. They say Maduro has turned Venezuela into a dictatorship, while the government accuses them of joining forces with a U.S.-led global plot to topple him. Ledezma, a 62-year-old former Caracas metropolitan mayor, had spearheaded street protests against Maduro in 2014 that led to months of violence and 43 deaths. He was mocked by Maduro as "The Vampire," and accused by officials of helping violent hardliners, including dissident military officers plotting to topple the president via air strikes.   |
| TRUMP TO TAKE FIGHT OVER DACADOCUMENTS TO SUPREME COURT | UNIMASNEWS BRIEF | 11/18/2017 | 5:22 | :29    | The Trump administration plans to ask the Supreme Court to take up a case regarding the release of documents pertaining to President Trump's decision to end the Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals (DACA) program, Politico reported Friday. The decision to seek relief from the nation's highest court comes after a three-judge panel of the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals rejected the Justice Department's attempt to stop a federal judge's order to release emails, memos and other documents considered part of Trump's decision to end the program. Trump announced in September that he would end the Obama-era program, which offered a temporary reprieve from deportation to hundreds of thousands of young undocumented immigrants. That decision prompted public furor, as well as calls for lawmakers to take swift action to enshrine DACA's protections into law. In a ruling issued Thursday, Judges Kim Wardlaw and Ronald Gould of the San Francisco-based Ninth Circuit Court said that the Trump administration did not release enough documents in response to lawsuits challenging the decision to end the program to paint a clear picture of its reasoning. The Justice Department argued that U.S. District Court Judge William Alsup's order to release more documents would violate executive privileges. That argument, however, was rebuffed by the Ninth Circuit panel. The |

Dressed in white as a symbol of peace, the silent marchers started at the White Playground in East Harlem. From there, they headed to Trump Tower on Fifth Ave. in Midtown about three miles away. "My intent is to send a message of peace, hope and faith," said event organizer Carmen Cruz before the march.  |

Border Patrol spokesman said they could not provide. Any details Sunday on what caused the agent's injuries or what led to them. Spokesman Carlos Diaz said the FBI has taken over the investigation. Another spokesman, Douglas Mosier, said Agent Rogelio Martinez, 36, and his partner were transported to a local hospital, where Martinez died. Martinez's partner is in serious condition. His name wasn't released. Martinez had been a border agent since August 2013 and was from El Paso.  |
| MYSTERY SURROUNDS KILLING OF BORDER PATROL AGENT | UNIMAS NEWS BRIEF | 11/21/2017 | 5:22 | :29    | The immigrant aunt of recently killed Border Patrol Agent Rogelio Martinez told The New York Times that she supports Trump's border wall and asked how many more agents must die before we secure our border. The agent's father told the paper that he saw his son's wounds on his head and believed that his son had been attacked. The aunt was identified as a former illegal immigrant who now holds a green card and the father was identified as having been born in Mexico and now being a U.S. citizen. He reportedly came to the U.S. as a temporary migrant construction worker. Agent Martinez's death and the severe injuries to another agent have sparked intense concerns across the political spectrum. Fellow Border Patrol agents believe the agents were attacked by illegal aliens and federal agencies are staying tight-lipped and refusing to rule out anything or to share any meaningful information on the matter. |

| IN THANKSGIVING MESSAGE, TRUMP HAILS MILITARY GAINS AND 'BIG, BEAUTIFUL, FAT TAX CUTS' | UNIMAS NEWS BRIEF | 11/23/2017 | 5:17 | 0:29   | U.S. President Donald Trump gave a bullish Thanksgiving address to troops overseas on Thursday, hailing progress in Afghanistan and against ISIS, and telling them they were fighting for "something real," including a stock market at record highs and his promised "big, beautiful fat tax cuts." Speaking in a live video teleconference from Palm Beach, Florida, with military personnel serving in Afghanistan, Iraq and elsewhere, Trump told them they were "very, very special people. "He called troops in Afghanistan "brave, incredible fighters" who had "turned it around" in the past three to four months. "We opened it up; we said go ahead, we're going to fight to win," he said. "We're not fighting any more to just walk around, we are fighting to win." Trump said the Marines were inflicting "defeat after defeat" on Islamic State, and again credited his change of approach compared to that of the Obama administration.  |

| 16 WOMEN AND DONALD TRUMP | UNIMAS NEWS BRIEF | 11/25/2017 | 5:32 | 0:29   | Sexual harassment is pervasive and happens at the very top of the institutions that run this country. We owe it to all women to hold men, especially those with immense power, accountable for their actions. Yes, this includes the president too. In the video, 16 Women and Donald Trump, we put together the stories of women who have reported being sexually harassed or sexually assaulted by Donald Trump. Seeing these women's stories, one after another, is incredibly powerful - it's time to listen and act accordingly. As a society, we need to do a better job of holding men liable for harassment and abusive behavior. And we have a right to hear these women stories even as the mainstream news outlets dismiss them and the White House deflects responsibility for them. It's time to disrupt the powers that silence the voices of women in all our institutions. Please share this video to remind the nation that Hollywood isn't the only place abuse happens and that our current president isn't immune to being held accountable. |

Intense online shopping started on Black Friday and will continue right up until the last possible day when you can still have something shipped in time for Christmas. Franken appeared before reporters outside his Senate office, and gave no indication that he was planning to resign. He apologized to the women accusers, as well as to his constituents. "To all of you, I just want to say again, I am sorry," he said. "I know that there are no magic words I can say to regain your trust, and I know that is going to take time, I am ready to start that process and it starts with going back to work today."   |

| PRESIDENT TRUMP TO MEET CONGRESSIONAL LEADERS | UNIMAS NEWS BRIEF | 11/28/2017 | 5:22 | :29    | Democratic leaders Chuck Schumer and Nancy Pelosi said they will not attend a meeting at the White House Tuesday after President Donald Trump slammed them in a tweet. "Given that the President doesn't see a deal between Democrats and the White House, we believe the best path forward is to continue negotiating with our Republican counterparts in Congress instead," the Senate and House minority leaders said in a statement. Rep Curbelo says he will not support any budget deal that does not include fix for Dreamers. President Trump was supposed to be focused on Tax Reform this week, heading to Capitol Hill today to push for the GOP plan... but instead he's dealing with the fallout over calling Senator Elizabeth Warren "Pocahontas" during a White House ceremony to honor Navajo veterans of World War II. The comments received swift backlash shortly afterward. Trump has repeatedly referred to Warren as "Pocahontas," the name of a famous 17th-century Native American, during his presidential campaign in a mocking reference to Warren's having said in the past that she had Native American ancestry. Warren said Trump "stooped to a disgusting low" but that he's "happy that people are not focused on how he's trying to cut taxes for billionaires and giant corporations." The comments were the latest instance of Trump taking any opportunity to land a hit against a political opponent, veering off-script and quickly setting off a furor. |
| TAMPA KILLER ARRESTED                         | UNIMAS NEWS BRIEF | 11/29/2017 | 5:22 | :29    | A man's startling decision to have a co-worker hold on to his gun, and the co-worker's instinct to alert a police officer, ended a killer's reign of terror in Tampa, Fla., the police said on Wednesday, after arresting a man and charging him in four fatal shootings committed on the streets of a quiet residential neighborhood. The accused gunman, Howell Emanuel Donaldson III, 24, has no prior criminal history, and even after interviewing him, investigators have no idea why he carried out the four apparently random, unconnected killings, Chief Brian Dugan of the Tampa police said. Mr. Donaldson was charged on Wednesday with four counts of first-degree murder; if convicted, he could face the death penalty. "That firearm was used in all four murders," Chief Dugan said at a news conference, adding that Mr. Donaldson had bought the weapon legally a few days before the first killing. "He admitted that he owned the gun, but he did not admit to the murders," the chief said.   |

| Dreamer/ Forbes Magazine | UNIMAS NEWS BRIEF | 12/02/2017 | 5:23 | 0:29   | A DREAMER from the Valley was recently named by Forbes Magazine as one of the top social entrepreneurs who are under the age of 30. The magazine evaluated hundreds of potential honorees in the making of the list and chose Reyna Montoya, a 26-year-old Gilbert resident, as one of the nation's 30 social entrepreneurs. Montoya said she found out she was chosen through an email from Forbes Magazine. "I wasn't expecting it," she said. "It was definitely a surprise to see that the work of many years has been recognized." In an article by Forbes, Montoya was described as a young, undocumented immigrant who grew up experiencing the "fear, anxiety and stress associated with having undocumented status in America." Montoya was born in Mexico and came to Arizona with her family fleeing violence when she was 13 years old. Forbes also credited her with starting a community-based organization called Aliento, through which she teaches immigrant youth and children with family members who have been deported to use art as a form of healing. She also taught them leadership skills and encouraged them to become agents of change in their communities. In addition, she guided allies on what they can do to support undocumented youth and immigrant families. Montoya's honor came as the Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals program - that is protecting Montoya from deportation - is on its way out. She is one of about 25,500 DACA recipients in Arizona, according to U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services data. President Donald Trump announced in September he was ending the DACA program and gave Congress six months to replace it. Opponents of the program said it is unconstitutional. | Socal/Fires          | UNIMAS NEWS BRIEF | 12/06/2017 | 5:22  | :29    | With thick plumes of smoke, towering flames and mass evacuations, a fast-moving wildfire struck one of America's major cities on Wednesday. As fires raged out of control across Southern California, a new blaze erupted in the Bel-Air neighborhood of Los Angeles, near iconic landmarks like the U.C.L.A. campus and the Getty Museum, home to old masters' paintings and ancient Roman statues. It burned up to the edges of the 405 freeway, the nation's busiest highway carrying about 400,000 vehicles a day, where the northbound lanes were closed for much of the day and commuters drove through a shower of ash with flames rising in the horizon. Forty miles to the northwest, the largest of several fires underway had consumed 90,000 acres by Wednesday night and at least 150 structures — probably hundreds more, fire officials said — and threatened 12,000 others in the city of Ventura and neighboring communities, and was 5 percent contained. Other major fires were burning in the northern San Fernando Valley and the rugged region north of Los Angeles. |
| Resign/Senate        | UNIMAS NEWS BRIEF | 12/07/2017 | 5:22  | :29    | Al Franken will resign from the Senate ending any uncertainty over whether he would reverse course after announcing earlier this month that he would step down amid a sexual misconduct scandal. Franken's office also announced that Tina Smith, the Democratic lieutenant governor tapped to succeed him, is expected to be sworn into the Senate on Jan. 3. Franken began collaborating with Smith on a transition soon after she was tapped by Democratic Minnesota Gov. Mark Dayton. The announcement will halt any further push from some of his colleagues to persuade him to hang onto his seat, even after seven women came forward to say he groped or attempted to kiss them without their consent. Sen. Joe Manchin (D-W.Va.) told POLITICO earlier this week that their fellow Democrats were "hypocritical" to push Franken toward resignation only to later greet him warmly on the Senate floor after he announced his departure.  |

A transition attorney sent letters Saturday to two congressional committees saying the General Services Administration had improperly provided the transition records to Mueller's investigators. Dianne Feinstein ahead of what promises to be a bitter and expensive battle. "We are living in unique times, facing unprecedented challenges that require new ideas and new energy," he told the crowd, which campaign spokesman Roger Salazar said included a few hundred supporters, at the launch of his U.S. Senate bid. "The D.C. playbook is obsolete." The event, held at a community college in downtown Los Angeles, paid homage to De León's humble upbringing and alluded to chief complaints De León has had about Feinstein, who at 84 is making her sixth run for the Senate. De León played on the themes of change and bold action that he's embraced as a leader of California's pushback against President Trump's  |

"Now is the time for a senator who is willing to stand up and be heard, not from the sidelines, but loud and proud from the front lines." De León announced his challenge Sunday in a campaign video and an email to supporters in which he promised to fight a Trump administration that "wages war on our people and our progress." The intraparty battle between De León and Feinstein promises to be a study in contrasts. Feinstein, a member of the Democratic old guard who has been in office since 1992, is known as a cautious consensus-seeker and was criticized by members of her own party when she urged "patience" with Trump. De León, part of the party's ambitious younger generation, has taken center stage in Sacramento as a leader of California's "resistance" against the Trump administration's policies on immigration, climate change and education. De León sought to highlight those differences, talking about how he was raised by a single mother with a third-grade education who made ends meet by cleaning houses. |

| COVERED CA DEADLINE  | Conexion | 11/5/2017  | 6:00am | 30 min. | Guest: Franceska Ramos - Covered CaliforniaTopic: Covered California Registration Period startsCovered California announced Wednesday the final rates for its health plans in 2018, giving existing consumers and new shoppers an opportunity to see their expected rates and the financial help available Covered California logoto help them purchase health coverage for next year given their income and particular circumstances. With this announcement, Covered California noted that health plans will have to include a surcharge on Silver-tier plans for the 2018 coverage year due to the ongoing uncertainty at the federal level. The surcharge is necessary because of a lack of commitment from the federal government to fund a critical piece of financial help known as cost-sharing reductions (CSRs). The average CSR surcharge increase on rates is 12.4 percent, although the surcharge will vary for each health insurance company and will range from 8 percent to 27 percent. However, because the surcharge is only being loaded onto Silver-tier plans, those who purchase coverage without getting federal help - whether through Covered California or by buying directly from health insurance companies - can be protected from paying any surcharge. Most Covered California consumers who receive financial help in the form of an Advanced Premium Tax Credit, or subsidy, will not see a change in what they pay for their insurance in 2018 because of the surcharge, and many will actually end up paying less because their subsidy amount will increase more than the surcharge. |

The administration had a deadline Monday on whether to extend protections for Nicaraguans and Hondurans, which were set to expire in January. Many have lived in the U.S. for years, some as long as two decades. The largest communities are in Southern California and Texas. Elaine Duke, acting secretary of Homeland Security, determined that conditions in Nicaragua have improved enough to justify sending migrants from that country back. They will have until January 2019 to leave, the senior official said. But Duke decided she still needed more information on Honduras, the official said. She extended the temporary status for Hondurans for at least another six months, through July 5. The Honduran government had appealed for more time, which the Nicaraguan government did not do, the senior official added. Trump administration officials have been signaling their desire to end the protections, arguing that a program that started almost two decades ago to provide a temporary respite after natural disasters and civil wars has instead become a permanent benefit for people who had entered the country illegally. But it's now unclear whether the administration intends to kill the protections for larger groups of people who came from other troubled countries. By far the largest number, 212,000, are from El Salvador; their protections expire in March. In all, about 325,000 residents from 10 countries, including Haiti, Syria, Somalia and Nepal, are protected under the program. |

Kevin Neal -- killed Tuesday morning by police officers near Corning -- was told he could not own weapons as part of a protective order for two female neighbors with whom he had a confrontation in late January, according to Tehama County District Attorney Gregg Cohen. Cohen said Neal, whom he called a "deranged, paranoid killer," was being prosecuted by his office on several charges related to that incident. Neal fired shots at the women, stabbed one and held them hostage, Cohen said. He made $160,000 bail and repeatedly harassed those alleged victims, officials said. A protective order was served in February. Assistant Sheriff Phil Johnston told reporters he did not know whether Neal had surrendered the weapons. The shooter illegally manufactured guns he used Tuesday, officials said. Handguns police recovered were not registered to him, Johnston said. Neal "was not law enforcement friendly" and authorities a number of times had come to his house after complaints that shots were fired from the property, Johnston said. Charges against the gunman included assault with a deadly weapon, robbery and false imprisonment, Cohen said. Neal's deadly rampage may have been prompted by his fatal shooting of his wife, authorities said.
