Subject: RE: INVITE: LINC Event

We've formed a relationship with LINC because they can get the word out to people new to the area about LehighValleyNews.com and they can provide information about happenings in the Lehigh Valley that may make interesting articles. They want to share resources and networking opportunities with our team members, particularly those who are new to the area. The happy hour at Copperhead Grill is one of those networking opportunities so please consider taking advantage of it and register today.

As some of you may recall, LINC is a non-profit organization on a mission to make the Lehigh Valley a place where every person who moves here for employment reasons is connected and feels like they belong. They are not recruiters- they partner with regional employers who deploy innovative and inclusive strategies to attract and retain diversity of talent at every career level. They take a holistic approach, caring for the needs of the whole family and focusing on community life outside the workplace that often drives a successful transition.
