“Education Matters” – Principals and Social-Emotional Learning

Air Date: 08/27/23 08:00AM 30 Minutes

This episode of Education Matters features three elementary school principals. They discuss how our kids and educators are doing and what we need to consider as we wind down the school year. We want to note how significant and often thankless the role of our principals has been during these past two-plus years of the pandemic. Research tells us that principals are the second, only to teachers, school-related factor that influences student outcomes.

Host:

- Dr. Mary Ann Wolf

Guests:

- Sandy Chambers, Principal, Horton Creek Elementary School, Wake County Public Schools
- Suzanne Owen, Principal, Cliffdale Elementary School, Cumberland County Schools
- Adrian Parry, Principal, Hickory Ridge Elementary School, Cabarrus County Schools

“Education Matters” – Back-to-School 2023-2024

Air Date: 09/03/23 08:00AM 30 Minutes

This episode of Education Matters features educators as they discuss challenges for the upcoming school year. School has started for children across North Carolina, and just as every other year there is great enthusiasm in the air. Teachers and administrators have been preparing for their students’ return and setting ambitious goals for the year. However, even with school doors opened some planning remains unsolidified at no fault of the schools or their staff. Teacher vacancies remain to be an issue for much of the state. This is on top of increased administrator and superintendent turnaround. Both issues may be heightened by the lack of a state budget which prevents school districts from knowing exactly how much they will be able to pay this year. Despite the uncertainty, administrators from districts across the state are optimistic heading into the 2023-2024 school year.

Host:

- Dr. Mary Ann Wolf

Guests:

- Dr. Shanessa Fenner, Principal, W.T. Brown Elementary School
- Dr. Patrick Greene, Principal, Greene Central High School
- Dr. Aaron Fleming, Superintendent, Harnett County Schools
- Rani Dasi, School Board, Chair of the Chapel Hill Carrboro City Schools Board of Education

“Forever Chemicals: North Carolina’s Toxic Tap Water” (WRAL Documentary)

Air Date: 08/26/23 12:00PM 30 Minutes

A company in North Carolina dumped massive amounts of toxic chemicals into the Cape Fear River for decades. These "forever chemicals" also contaminated the air and ground water surrounding the plant. The level of contamination to hundreds of thousands of people was discovered five years ago, but even today, thousands of people are still forced to use contaminated water. It's one of the most pivotal contamination stories in the United States. WRAL Investigative Documentary Reporter Cristin Severance co-reported on this important topic with Liz McLaughlin, WRAL's reporter covering climate change impacts and environmental issues. This documentary explains how this contamination happened and why these families say they deserve to know if drinking toxic water for years has led to health problems including cancer and birth defects.
