

stories_2019-06-05-2019_May

Issue	Specific Issue	Story
Arts & Life	Full Record	Democracy vouchers go national Politics	politics	Seattle's democracy vouchers in high demand
Politics	homeless	New one-night tally counts fewer homeless people in Seattle area than last year
Arts & Life	culture	Marcie Sillman's weekend culture picks, May 3-5
Environment	nature	New film explores Canada's Great Bear Rainforest, and the rare spirit bear

Arts & Life	Full Record	The human game may be coming to a close
Environment	nature	They smell, bark and snatch pet dogs. Sea lions cause trouble at Northwest ports
Health	health	13 exposed to radioactivity
Politics	Week in Review	Week in Review: Our legislative wrap-up immigration	government	Immigrant rights group sues Trump over denying bond for asylum seekers

Politics	elections	Stacey Abrams walks the talk of policy, politics and democratic values
Environment	education	Radio Free Bill McKibben fights on against climate change
Politics	books	Meet the Clintons, again
Health	Full Record	How scared should you be of stories in the news?
Business	Boeing	Engineer gap flaw MCAS

Business	technology	Big deal: Either Amazon or Microsoft will win the JEDI contract
Arts & Life	Full Record	Why we need better arguing
Arts & Life	food	Tyler Malek wants to take you on an adventure. One ice cream flavor at a time.
Health	law and courts	City funds new unit to handle low level emergency calls
Health	immigration	They came to Washington to work, then they got the mumps

Environment	Weather	The oral history wasn't a myth. Tsunamis hit this tribal village five times, new study shows
Technology	business	Trust in Microsoft? It's what the Build conference is all about Education	politics	Why can you hear gunshots at this school?
Arts & Life	Full Record	Are multiple choice tests canceled?
Arts & Life	culture	Marcie Sillman's weekend culture picks, May 10-12

Health	safety	What Seattle has learned from construction accidents past
Crime	law and courts	Seattle Police solve 52-year-old murder case, using genetic genealogy
Immigration	agriculture	The complicated relationship between temporary and local farmworkers in Mattawa, WA
Education	parenting	A young Irish mom's painful decision
Arts & Life	Full Record	Should we valorize true crime?

Business	government	Seattle Mayor gives the green light to electric scooters
Politics	government	Why they left: Seattle police in their own (blistering) words
Politics	elections	Jay Inslee's week: All Democratic eyes on climate
Arts & Life	Week in Review	Week in Review: Would you ride an e-scooter or a moon lander?
Politics	education	Why the 'Seattle is Dying' conversation won't die

Politics	healthcare	Opioid distributors sued by WA attorney general get to keep their better-than-Boeing tax break
Politics	police	Read Seattle police officers
Arts & Life	Full Record	To the teeth: Ani DiFranco reflects on school shootings and more
Environment	science	Emaciated gray whales are washing up dead on Northwest beaches

Environment	wildfires	Bracing for another tough wildfire season in Washington state
Politics	housing	Wilburton: the housing destination you've never heard of Arts & Life	social change	Seattle teens help make social change through art
Arts & Life	Full Record	We need to think about health differently
Arts & Life	health	No one could stop him. He was all made of stars

Law	race and equity	Their smiles were ... defiant.' A cop puts a young black man in a chokehold
Politics	development	The military found this land unsatisfactory. Locals see opportunity of a lifetime.
Arts & Life	Full Record	Amid the noise, a podcast whose host is mostly silent
Arts & Life	health	David Brooks sees 'a national valley of distrust and disconnection'

Business	trade	How Trump's trade war with China could hurt Washington state
Business	housing	Seattle businesses need affordable housing to survive
Environment	safety	Oregon policymakers may shake up development rules in tsunami zones
Arts & Life	environment	This Bainbridge Island podcast wants to take you on a walk. That's all
Politics	elections	Jay Inslee unveils his $9 trillion proposal to fight climate change

Arts & Life	Full Record	When the media shows us dead bodies: what do we see?
Arts & Life	culture	Marcie Sillman's weekend culture picks May 17-19
Technology	business	There will be no privacy.' The internet, tech moguls and you
Politics	politics	Is Seattle losing its progressive edge? How the City Council races shape up
Politics	Week in Review	A very satisfying week in review

Health	vaccines	As measles return to King County, here's what you need to know
Environment	education	The bittersweet story of 'our greatest friend among the insects'
Technology	science	Adam Savage made a toolbox for creativity, with his brain
Politics	technology	If I die from gun violence please publicize the photo of my death. #MyLastShot

Health	homeless	Homeless encampment cleared after drug bust
Education	government	Thousands more Washington students will soon attend college for free
Arts & Life	Full Record	A chat with Carmen Best about SPD exit interviews
Arts & Life	Full Record	Dear Sugars' Steve Almond has advice for you: look inward.
Politics	homeless	Why do
Politics	housing	One unintended consequence of MHA

Arts & Life	dance	If she isn't dancing, who is Noelani Pantastico? Even she isn't sure
Arts & Life	food	Bainbridge happened
Arts & Life	Full Record	Dear America: Jared Diamond thinks you should talk to someone Politics	housing	Here's what Fort Lawton housing will look like

Environment	orcas, science, Native Americans, environment, endangered species, animals	Lummi Nation asks federal government to issue an emergency intervention to help Puget Sound orcas
Arts & Life	culture	Marcie Sillman's weekend culture picks May 24-27
Environment	animals	The Wild Episode 9
Arts & Life	Full Record	Is it okay to feel joy while the world is burning?
Politics	books, education	Partisan bickering, meet fellowship and belonging, the Eric Liu way

Health	HIV/AIDS	North Seattle HIV, where will it go next?
Politics	homeless	Is city of Seattle getting tougher with those tent camp sweeps?
Politics	development	At the birthplace of Seattle karaoke, two different visions for the future of the CID
Health	science	It is safe for pregnant women to smoke pot? New UW study will study the effects
Politics	technology	Some families

Arts & Life	Full Record	Rainn Wilson reflects on a changing Seattle
Crime	law and courts	20 years behind bars, now helping youth stay out of prison
Technology	politics	What's driving travel giant Expedia's move to Seattle's waterfront?
Health	schools and education	What happened to the 1200 Seattle students potentially exposed to hepatitis and HIV?

Politics	homeless	What is the most humane, cost effective way to end homelessness? These experts have ideas.
Arts & Life	Full Record	Is centrism dead in Washington state politics?
Politics	growth	In Rainier Beach, homeowners hope to survive the upzones
Health	medicine	WA Sen. Patty Murray on protecting abortion rights: This Supreme Court really concerns me

Education	science	Seattle Public Schools approves contentious Amplify Science curriculum
Arts & Life	film	Marcie Sillman's weekend culture picks, May 31-June 2
Arts & Life	Full Record	Mitch McConnell joins the Seattle Times editorial board
Arts & Life	Week in Review	Week in Review: Backyard cottages and no more Independents

Politics	immigration	Inslee reveals immigration plan. But will it be enough for Latino voters?
Politics	race and equity	Social justice, civic engagement and the American experience

stories_2019-06-05-2019_May

Content	Date	Duration	Air Time	Reporter
Kirsten Gillibrand might take a local experiment across the country. Is it possible to consume in a carbon neutral way? A look at how the values that made America great are now bringing America down. And what happens when the roller derby leaves your town.	5/1/2019	0:51:49	noon	Bill Radke
Candidates say democracy vouchers are leveling the playing field to launch their campaigns. But the vouchers can't keep big money out of their races.	5/2/2019	0:04:13	5-9am	Amy Radil
For the first time in years, the results of King County's annual tally of people experiencing homelessness has gone down. On a single night this January, 11,199 individuals were counted in places like shelters, tents, vehicles and on the streets. That's an 8% decrease over the 2018 results, when 12,112 people were counted on a single night.	5/2/2019	0:04:00	3-6:30pm	Kate Walters
Weather forecasters predict our weekend will be mostly sunny. In honor of the fair weather, KUOW arts and Culture reporter Marcie Sillman spices her weekly picks with some outdoor activity suggestions. Enjoy.	5/3/2019	0:04:48	3-6:30pm	Marcie Sillman
Kim Malcolm talks with Ian McAllister about his new IMAX film Great Bear Rainforest.	5/2/2019	0:07:47	3-6:30pm	Kim Malcolm, Andy Hurst

stories_2019-06-05-2019_May

Bill McKibben says it might be curtains for humanity. Cass Sunstein says social movements may surprise you, but they shouldn't. And a look at one controversial social movement: affirmative action.	5/2/2019	0:51:21	noon	Bill Radke
A big rebound in the sea lion population along the West Coast in recent years has created a constant battle to wrangle the protected animals.	5/2/2019	0:04:05	5-9am	Tom Banse
Thirteen people were exposed to a radioactive substance Thursday night at a building in the Harborview Medical Center complex.	5/3/2019	0:01:25	5-9am	Casey Martin
Bill Radke reviews the week's news with Essex Porter, reporter for KIRO TV, Melissa Santos, reporter for Crosscut, and Bill Finkbeiner, former state legislator.	5/3/2019	0:50:46	noon	Bill Radke
Kim Malcolm talks with Northwest Immigrant Rights Project legal director Matt Adams about a federal lawsuit that aims	5/3/2019	0:04:26	3-6:30pm	Kim Malcolm, Andy Hurst

stories_2019-06-05-2019_May

Abrams fell short in her attempt to become the first African-American woman to govern an American state. She's not letting that get her down.	5/3/2019	1:04:47	7pm & 11pm	John O'Brien
A talk by Bill McKibben	5/4/2019	0:52:48	7pm & 11pm	John O'Brien
Listen in to the Seattle stop of the political power couple's national tour	5/5/2019	1:25:33	7pm & 11pm	John O'Brien
Former U.S. Secretary of the Department of Homeland Security Janet Napolitano talks about her book, How Safe Are We? We also talk about our complicated relationships with our mothers with Michelle Filgate. And we look at how Washington state is prepping for ... the plague?	5/6/2019	0:50:11	noon	Bill Radke
Boeing continues to maintain there was no flaw in the design of the 737 MAX. But a former Boeing engineer is meeting with federal investigators this week. He says he can point to several flaws in the automated system known as MCAS.	5/7/2019	0:03:43	5-9am	Carolyn Adolph

stories_2019-06-05-2019_May

Two contenders are fighting for the future of the JEDI - not Star Wars, but a multi-billion dollar defense contract.	5/7/2019	0:04:10	3-6:30pm	Carolyn Adolph
Eric Liu says we need better arguing, and less stupid arguing, to make our democracy better. KUOW's Joshua McNichols explains the tax hike passed by the state legislature. And UW Professor Saadia Pekkanen tells us about the new space race.	5/7/2019	0:51:26	noon	Bill Radke
You may not think of mushroom or baked beans in ice cream, but no ingredient is off limits to Tyler Malek. Malek, co-founder of Salt and Straw, a small batch ice cream company based in Portland, Oregon, is known for daring flavors like roasted bone marrow ice cream with smoked cherries.	5/7/2019	0:04:20	3-6:30pm	Ruby de Luna
Many of the nearly 94,000 calls made to emergency services last year didn't actually require an emergency response, according to city officials.	5/7/2019	0:02:31	3-6:30pm	Patricia Murphy
We roll up a long, gravel road about 20 miles outside Mattawa, a small farming town in central Washington state. We're on the King Fuji Ranch where there's four suspected cases of the mumps and over a 100 exposed workers quarantined.	5/7/2019	0:04:14	5-9am	Esmey Jimenez, Anna King

stories_2019-06-05-2019_May

A legend about a great flood has been passed down through the centuries among the Klallam people on the north side of Washington's Olympic Peninsula.	5/7/2019	0:04:16	5-9am	Tom Banse
Microsoft is wrapping up its annual developer conference in Seattle on Wednesday. Geekwire's Todd Bishop hit the highlights of Build for KUOW's Angela King.	5/8/2019	0:04:46	5-9am	Angela King, Jason Pagano
Issaquah High School is like hundreds of other suburban schools around the country. But unlike most of those schools, the campus rings with the sound of gunshots.	5/9/2019	0:17:37	Podcast	Deborah Wang, David Hyde
Now you can graduate without standardized testing. Cash: the newest frontier in retail? How to survive a bear in the wild. And infiltrating white nationalism in the Pacific Northwest.	5/8/2019	0:49:16	noon	Bill Radke
Sunday, May 12 is Mother's Day. If you haven't planned something special yet, take a deep breath and relax; there's still time. KUOW's Arts and Culture reporter Marcie Sillman has some suggestions for the big day, plus a few ideas that aren't mom-related.	5/10/2019	0:03:44	3-6:30pm	Marcie Sillman

stories_2019-06-05-2019_May

We still don't have an official explanation for why a crane collapsed in Seattle's South Lake Union neighborhood, killing four people. But we know we'll learn from it.	5/9/2019	0:04:24	3-6:30pm	Joshua McNichols
Paige Browning talks with Seattle homicide detective Rolf Norton about the murder of Susan Galvin, and how her decades-old case was finally solved.	5/9/2019	0:04:25	3-6:30pm	Paige Browning, Andy Hurst
A report from central Washington state.	5/9/2019	0:04:12	3-6:30pm	Esmey Jimenez, Anna King
I was 16 and going to school; I lived in Dublin and was infatuated with this older fellow who was a jack-the-lad kind of fella.	5/9/2019	0:06:21	7pm & 11pm	Sian Cullen
What's behind our fascination with charismatic murderers? Scooters are nipping at the heels of e-bikes in Seattle. The governor gives permanent DST a go. How worried should we really be about cougar attacks? And a look at seasonal workforce migration in eastern Washington.	5/9/2019	0:50:50	noon	Bill Radke

stories_2019-06-05-2019_May

Paige Browning talks with Casey Martin about Seattle's plans to allow a scooter-share program.	5/9/2019	0:04:36	3-6:30pm	Paige Browning, Casey Martin
These are the parting shots of Seattle police officers explaining why they left in the past year.	5/13/2019	0:04:43	5-9am	Amy Radil
Washington Governor Jay Inslee got some political wins in recent days that could help his presidential run, just as he's trying to make it onto the Democratic debate stage.	5/10/2019	0:04:50	5-9am	Angela King, Jason Pagano
Bill Radke reviews the week's news with communications strategist John Murray, former Seattle Mayor Mike McGinn and former editor-in-chief of ColorsNW magazine Naomi Ishisaka.	5/10/2019	0:51:16	noon	Bill Radke
Civic Cocktail takes on KOMO's controversial look at homelessness in our fair city	5/10/2019	0:59:40	7pm & 11pm	John O'Brien

stories_2019-06-05-2019_May

At the same time Washington Attorney General Bob Ferguson is suing three Fortune 15 pharmaceutical distributors for allegedly 'fueling the state's opioid epidemic," majority Democrats in the Washington Legislature this year left intact a generous tax break for distributors of opioids and other prescription drugs while raising taxes on other business sectors.	5/13/2019	0:04:20	5-9am	Austin Jenkins
Officers leaving the Seattle Police Department over the past year complained they were being undercut by a 'hyper-aggressive oversight' system and a lack of support from city leaders.	5/13/2019	0:04:43	5-9am	Gil Aegerter, Amy Radil
The singer-songwriter on what happens when you write a song you wish you could stop playing. Chinese tariffs hit home in Washington State, along with climate change-driven floods. And, says Melinda Gates, we could be doing a lot better at lifting women off.	5/13/2019	0:50:51	noon	Bill Radke
Paige Browning talks with John Calambokidis about why gray whales are being stranded on beaches up and down the west coast.	5/13/2019	0:04:20	3-6:30pm	Paige Browning, Andy Hurst

stories_2019-06-05-2019_May

Will Seattle area skies be filled with smoke this summer? Lands Commissioner Hilary Franz says the state is prepping for another bad wildfire season.	5/14/2019	0:05:26	5-9am	Angela King, Jason Pagano
Job growth is moving to Bellevue. Amazon is building a campus there. Facebook is building out nearby. So where will people live? Wilburton, perhaps.	5/15/2019	0:03:29	3-6:30pm	Carolyn Adolph
Students at Seattle's Franklin High School use art to make social change	5/22/2019	0:04:15	3-6:30pm	Marcie Sillman
Dr. Sandro Galea talks about his new book WELL: What We Need to Talk about When We Talk about Health. The EPA wants to allow more chemicals in our state's waterways. Unprecedented numbers of grey whales are dying along the West Coast. And, does knowing about neighborhood crime make us more prepared or just paranoid?	5/14/2019	0:51:00	noon	Bill Radke
When, why and how Moby fell apart - and pulled it back together.	5/14/2019	1:03:08	7pm & 11pm	John O'Brien

stories_2019-06-05-2019_May

Josiah Hunter was 21 when the skinny cop with the orange-red hair put him in a chokehold and yelled, his breath hot on Hunter's ear, 'Stop resisting arrest!'	5/29/2019	0:07:57	3-6:30pm	Isolde Raftery
The National Guard wants to give up 25 acres of Seattle real estate. Locals have an unprecedented plan to turn that land into something special for Seattle and its visitors.	5/15/2019	0:04:02	5-9am	Joshua McNichols
Why you might want to take a vicarious walk around Bainbridge. A new neighborhood could spring up across the Magnolia Bridge. San Francisco just says no to facial recognition software. Are there really fine people on both sides of every argument? And a BBC play brings a Seattle landmark back to life.	5/15/2019	0:50:55	noon	Bill Radke
David Brooks considers the ways human nature and ingenuity can help us rise above disunion	5/15/2019	1:22:55	7pm & 11pm	John O'Brien

stories_2019-06-05-2019_May

Paige Browning talks with Debra Glassman about how President Trump's escalating trade war with China could affect Washington state.	5/15/2019	0:04:39	3-6:30pm	Paige Browning, Andy Hurst
You might think the high cost of housing is mostly a problem for renters. But in the West Seattle Junction neighborhood, it's also a threat to some small businesses. They're wondering if affordable housing built under MHA rules will come soon enough to save them.	5/17/2019	0:04:29	3-6:30pm	Joshua McNichols
Sooner or later the offshore Cascadia fault zone is going to unleash a monster earthquake and tsunami.	5/15/2019	0:04:08	5-9am	Tom Banse
Bainbridge Island author and journalist Jon Mooallem didn't shell out for a bunch of gear. He just pulled out the small voice recorder he uses to interview people, put it in an old wool sock and then, well, walked around.	5/16/2019	0:12:00	noon	Bill Radke, Alison Bruzek
Paige Browning talks with Seattle Times reporter Jim Brunner about Jay Inslee's climate plan.	5/16/2019	0:04:41	3-6:30pm	Paige Browning, Andy Hurst

stories_2019-06-05-2019_May

How the corpses we show create a hierarchy of grief. A chat about the recent SPD exit interviews. Would you eat fake chicken nuggets? (What if you didn't know they were fake?) And the glamorous origins of Seattle's Norwegian festival.	5/16/2019	0:52:04	noon	Bill Radke
It's mid-May and in Seattle, that means one thing: the Seattle International Film Festival!	5/17/2019	0:03:30	3-6:30pm	Marcie Sillman
Journalist Kara Swisher sees into the future of technology. That may scare the hell out of you, or give you hope.	5/17/2019	0:59:53	7pm & 11pm	John O'Brien
Is Seattle's City Council election a battle between business and anti-business forces? Progressives vs. conservatives? Or is something else going on?	5/17/2019	0:03:49	5-9am	Angela King, Jason Pagano
Bill Radke reviews the week's news with former Washington State Attorney General Rob McKenna, Civic Cocktail host Joni Balter, and Live Wire host Luke Burbank.	5/17/2019	0:52:27	noon	Bill Radke

stories_2019-06-05-2019_May

Paige Browning talks with Dr. Jeff Duchin about the current outbreak of measles in the Puget Sound region.	5/17/2019	0:04:40	3-6:30pm	Paige Browning, Andy Hurst
Dr. Thomas Seeley on the crucial importance of honey bees.	5/18/2019	1:15:07	7pm & 11pm	John O'Brien
The famed Mythbuster loves to create. Hear how he manages that process	5/19/2019	1:00:18	7pm & 11pm	John O'Brien
High School student Audrey Porter wants news organizations to publish photographs of her dead body if she's ever shot and killed in an act of gun violence.	5/20/2019	0:03:58	5-9am	David Hyde

stories_2019-06-05-2019_May

A City of Seattle team began closing down an unauthorized homeless camp along South Dearborn Street in Seattle Monday.	5/20/2019	0:02:33	3-6:30pm	Kim Malcolm, Andy Hurst, Kate Walters
Kim Malcolm talks with Michael Meotti about the Workforce Education Investment Act.	5/21/2019	0:04:36	3-6:30pm	Kim Malcolm, Andy Hurst
Many cops reported feeling unsupported and demonized “ so we asked their boss about some of their complaints. How do you raise kind kids? And why you should be eating more seaweed.	5/20/2019	0:50:25	noon	Bill Radke
Our shift from a culture of character to a cult of personality. We ask MOHAI's Clara Berg again: is Seattle fashionable? One reporter looks deeply at domestic violence. And high school students take what might be their last stand.	5/21/2019	0:50:41	noon	Marcie Sillman
SoundQs listeners have asked us lots of questions about homelessness. In this episode, we try to answer them.	5/23/2019	0:22:39	Podcast	Anna Boiko-Weyrauch, Jeannie Yandel
Some mom and pop developers in Seattle are finding it hard to build under Seattle's new MHA rules. The law is meant to create more affordable housing. But one unintended consequence is it may change who builds the next round of housing in Seattle.	5/22/2019	0:04:02	5-9am	Joshua McNichols

stories_2019-06-05-2019_May

Noelani Pantastico has been a professional ballerina for more than 20 years. At the age of 39, she's thinking of retiring, and she has no idea what comes next.	5/31/2019	0:07:15	3-6:30pm	Marcie Sillman
When Brendan McGill opened Hitchcock, his first restaurant on Bainbridge Island, he was commuting from Seattle, where he and his wife lived.	5/29/2019	0:03:52	3-6:30pm	Ruby de Luna
Why America needs to get on the couch. What to call the sleek, squared surfaces that loom large in the Seattle suburbs. And a look at Four Women, from the vantage point of Nina Simone.	5/22/2019	0:50:52	noon	Bill Radke
The legal challenges are largely over. But there's still lots of paperwork to do before 238 low income homes are built on the former army land next to Discovery Park.	5/22/2019	0:04:30	3-6:30pm	Joshua McNichols, Kim Malcolm

stories_2019-06-05-2019_May

Kim Malcolm talks with Squil-le-he-le Raynell Morris about why the Lummi Nation is asking NOAA to issue an emergency intervention to save Puget Sound orcas.	5/22/2019	0:04:37	3-6:30pm	Kim Malcolm, Andy Hurst
Memorial Day weekend is the unofficial start of summer. A three-day weekend often invites us to head out of town, but for those who choose to stay in the city limits, KUOW's Marcie Sillman has a few suggestions to help round out your calendar - including the weekly Seattle International Film Festival picks.	5/24/2019	0:04:18	3-6:30pm	Marcie Sillman
Chris Morgan explores the ideas and controversies behind reintroducing grizzly bears to the North Cascades.	5/28/2019	0:23:24	Podcast	Chris Morgan, Matt Martin
High anxiety: meet huge, phenomenal, amazing joy. Personalized love notes to Jeff Bezos at the Amazon shareholders meeting, and a check in about Amtrak. Lastly, the notes and the silence in the Fremont bridge.	5/23/2019	0:51:34	noon	Bill Radke
Eric Liu's new book, a collection of civic sermons, is 'Become America'	5/23/2019	1:27:01	7pm & 11pm	John O'Brien

stories_2019-06-05-2019_May

After a cluster of HIV infections in North Seattle, some outreach workers worry about the County's ability to stay ahead of the virus.	5/24/2019	0:04:27	3-6:30pm	Patricia Murphy
A drug bust saw Seattle police serve warrants at two tent camps and arrest 10 people, and that led to a sweep of the camps this week. Does this signal a new public safety approach at City Hall?	5/24/2019	0:04:09	5-9am	Angela King, Jason Pagano
	5/24/2019	0:08:06	3-6:30pm	Joshua McNichols
Kim Malcolm talks with Dr. Natalia Kleinhans about a new study that will research the effects of marijuana on the brain development of infants.	5/24/2019	0:04:09	3-6:30pm	Kim Malcolm, Andy Hurst
Bill Radke reviews the week's news with Q13's C.R. Douglas, journalist Erica C. Barnett and the former congressional representative of Washington's 3rd district, Brian Baird.	5/24/2019	0:52:03	noon	Bill Radke

stories_2019-06-05-2019_May

The Office actor joins us to talk about his hometown. Plus, should the Seattle City Council make a major rezoning decision 5 months before the election? How did a bear swim to Orcas Island? And how the Oregon Shakespeare Festival is trying to reach younger audiences.	5/28/2019	0:50:55	noon	Bill Radke
In 1999, Andrea Altheimer of Seattle was sentenced to nearly 40 years in prison. She was convicted for shooting and wounding her ex-boyfriend after she found him with another woman. But this year the King County Prosecutor's office concluded that her sentence was excessive, and there were grounds to cut it in half. She was released in March from the Washington Corrections Center for Women in Gig Harbor.	5/28/2019	0:07:30	3-6:30pm	Amy Radil, Casey Martin, Kim Malcolm
A glass-walled conference space called 'The Prow' rises out of the earth like a ship near the water's edge. It's a flagship element in the Expedia Group's opulent new headquarters along Seattle's waterfront.	5/28/2019	0:04:12	5-9am	David Hyde
Two months after Neighborcare, a local low-income healthcare provider alerted some 1200 Seattle students about a mishap, parents and students struggle with mixed feelings.	5/29/2019	0:01:41	5am-6:30pm	Esmey Jimenez

stories_2019-06-05-2019_May

We know that homelessness is a problem. It's hard to go anywhere around Seattle without seeing people living outside. And SoundQs listeners have been asking what the region can do better.	5/30/2019	0:23:15	Podcast	Anna Boiko-Weyrauch, Jeannie Yandel
Why Don't We Go For What We Say We Want: Political Centrist Edition. So is socialism the answer instead? And why aren't people going into the trades?	5/29/2019	0:51:06	noon	Bill Radke
Nowhere more than Rainier Beach is both the promise and the threat of growth so apparent.	5/30/2019	0:04:31	3-6:30pm	Joshua McNichols
Kim Malcolm talks with U.S. Senator Patty Murray about the future of Roe v. Wade, and whether Congress should begin impeachment proceedings against President Trump.	5/29/2019	0:07:05	3-6:30pm	Kim Malcolm, Andy Hurst

stories_2019-06-05-2019_May

The Seattle School Board has voted to adopt a controversial new elementary and middle school science curriculum.	5/30/2019	0:02:36	3-6:30pm	Ann Dornfeld
The Seattle International Film Festival (SIFF) is rounding out its third weekend with more screenings and events galore.	5/31/2019	0:03:56	3-6:30pm	Marcie Sillman
Should we wait on backyard cottages and let the voters decide? Amazon calls in union labor. With unemployment so low, why does Seattle have such a homelessness problem? And Karen Russell looks at elsewhere through the lens of here.	5/30/2019	0:51:17	noon	Bill Radke
Bill Radke reviews the week's news with Chris Vance, former state Republican party chair, Brandi Kruse, correspondent for Q13 News, and Marilyn Strickland, president and CEO of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce.	5/31/2019	0:51:19	noon	Bill Radke

stories_2019-06-05-2019_May

Presidential hopeful Jay Inslee released his immigration plan today.	5/31/2019	0:02:38	3-6:30pm	Esmey Jimenez
Conversations from the Crosscut Festival: Valerie Jarrett, Doug Baldwin and Macklemore	5/31/2019	0:59:52	7pm & 11pm	John O'Brien