WILLISTON, Vt. -

As the school bus pulls up to his Williston neighborhood, Andy Duback is waiting.

"Hi, Daddy!" Andy gets a hug from his 6-year-old daughter, Evelyn, and hears about the new book she got from the library as they head inside their house.

Duback and his wife, Allison, are raising Evelyn and her 3-year-old sister, Fiona, on one income. Andy owns his own photography business and works from home.

"With photography, now's a very busy time of year, but in January to March-- that's a slower time of year. So sometimes you just don't have as much money coming in the door," Duback said.

At 37, experts say the number one thing Andy should be doing is kicking his emergency savings into high gear. They suggest having about six months' worth of expenses covered.

"If there's one thing I feel I'm lacking it's that rainy day fund," Duback said.

About 10 miles away in Burlington and 10 years younger, Jordan Boyle and her boyfriend, Eric Lafayette, know the feeling.

"We definitely do not have six months I don't think, but a few months we could make it," Boyle said.

"Yeah and as long as we don't have any branches fall through the house," Lafayette added with a laugh.

That's something that was on his mind on the windy night we showed up, as they were cooking dinner in their new home.

"I personally dipped into my IRA to buy this place," Lafayette said.

Lafayette had been investing almost 20 percent of his salary into a 401(k) before cashing it out. He was ahead of the curve for a 27-year-old. Experts say by your 30s, you should up your retirement savings to 15 percent of your pay.

"401(k)s often allow you to go up to 15 percent of your salary to save and companies often match 3 to 5 percent or more. And so if you could possibly save 20 percent of your salary for 20 or 30 years, you're going to have a nice cushion in retirement," said Eric Hanson, a money manager at Hanson & Doremus.

Hanson says think of it this way: Invest $1,000 at 5 percent and the first year you make $50 on it. By year five, your $1,000 is worth $1,276. And 20 years from now, you've more than doubled your money with $2,653.

"That's the first bucket I try to fill up because all of that growth, the capital gains I have over time that comes out tax-free," Duback said.

Duback has more than one type of investment, which experts recommend by your 30s. For instance, he is already saving for his girls' college in a 529 account.

Speaking of college, Lafayette is looking forward to paying off his loans. Right now, a lot of his and Boyle's extra money goes to attending friends' weddings. Even with the added expense and fun, they've managed to stay mostly debt-free, which is something experts say you should definitely do by your 30s.

"Optimally, you've reduced your credit card debt and perhaps are paying off your credit card every month," Hanson said.

By your 30s you should also write a will and prepare other legal documents, like a health care proxy saying what your medical wishes are.

"I never even thought of that to be honest," Boyle said.

Back in Williston, the girls are grabbing a snack before piano lessons. And there is another lesson Duback says they've already started teaching them.

"We recently started telling Evelyn, our 6-year-old, about the fact that we have a mortgage on this house," Duback said.

He says he wants her to understand how money works.

"We don't want to give her the wrong impression like it's not her home, but just the financial mechanics behind how does somebody buy a house," Duback explained.

In recent years, there has been a lot of debate about whether buying a house is still the best investment. Hanson says it's like forced savings and, in the end, quite an asset for retirement.

BURLINGTON, Vt. -

Many Vermont families fond of downhill skiing and riding find themselves in an uphill battle with cost.

"To outfit a family, it's a very expensive sport," said Kristian Barrowman of Jeffersonville.

"I do think it's getting more expensive," said Barbara Ann Cochran of Cochran's Ski Area. "I just cringe when I look at some of the prices."

A ticket to Bromley in 1950 cost skiers $4. Now, weekend lift tickets for Stowe ring in at $115 a pop. Historical price data is not complete, but what's available suggests median ticket prices have seen a steep rise since becoming a Vermont staple in the 1940s. Adjusted for inflation, though, the slope looks more like a bunny hill than a black diamond.

"The reality is those ticket window prices you see, maybe 10-20 percent of our skiers actually pay that full price," said Parker Riehle of Ski Vermont.

According to the National Ski Areas Association, ski areas typically gross only slightly more than 50 percent of the weekend, full-day ticket price for each visit. During the 2012-2013 ski season, the average price across the nation came to $82.61. But areas actually charged only slightly more than half of that-- $42.10-- for every skier and rider visit.

"The good news is behind every sticker window ticket price, there's a deal or discount to be had," Riehle said.

Youth, college kids, 20-somethings, military members, locals and senior citizens can all cash in on big savings across Vermont, especially by buying in bulk, with four-packs or savings cards. Fifth-graders can take advantage of three free tickets and lessons across the state; older students who pledge not to use drugs can get a free pass to Stratton; and just like online retailers, Bolton is offering a slew of Cyber Monday deals this year.

"We're not going to the big ski areas, we're not flying to go skiing. We're going to be skiing locally," said Jim Grossman of South Burlington.

Prices for a pass are lowest if you buy next season's as soon as the snow melts and lifts stop turning.

"The key is to plan ahead," said Kyle Hartsfield of Richmond.

"Most of the time we just ski out of our doorstep, mostly just in the woods and it's free," said Sarah Schlein of Huntington.

While ticket prices have gone up even when accounting for the changing value of a dollar, those in the industry say so has the quality of the experience. High-speed lifts get skiers and riders up the hill faster than most can descend, often shortening lift lines. High-tech snowmaking provides better coverage even when Mother Nature has different plans. Spending a few extra bucks on an extra set of rock gear can eke the most out of a pass investment.

"Five bucks, I don't care what I hit with these skis," said Andy McIntosh of Ripton. "I'm going to be out there early, and I'm going to be out there late."

Buying local can save those looking to gear up from getting buried by costs.

"Those skis are a couple hundred dollars, and these were 10 and we're getting bindings off of another pair of skis," Grossman said.

Those who know what they're looking for can cash in on lightly used equipment, with proceeds benefiting school programs and teams.

"I've heard a lot of parents say I used to lease stuff, but it actually turns out to be a lot cheaper to just buy it, hold onto it for a couple years," said Theresa Akerley, the snowboard coach at South Burlington High School.

Reporter Kyle Midura: Do you do your best to make sure he doesn't grow?

Kristian Barrowman: Yes, we ration his food! (laughs)

Gear can be resold at another swap when it's time to upsize or be passed down to younger siblings. Leasing can be a good option for those who need a bit more guidance, or the option to change sizes midseason. Regardless of how one makes the finances work, enthusiasts say the time and energy they put into making winter sports affordable are worth the investment.

"How often do you get to play with your teenager?" Grossman asked.

Deals aren't just for Vermonters, some are tailored to those who live in surrounding states and Canada. While many of the best pass deals are long gone, resorts like Mount Snow have ski and stay deals, Bolton has deals for those older than 50 and Sugarbush offers a rewards card.

BURLINGTON, Vt. -

Vermont's foster care system is being inundated with babies and young children. In fact, for the first time that anyone can remember, there are more children under the age of 6 than there are teenagers in foster care. Julie Kelley takes a closer look at the dramatic change to the system in the last year and a half.

Aiden spent 841 days in Vermont's foster care system before he was adopted.

"If you count his biological homes, he had been in seven. So, we were his seventh home," said Erica Page, foster mom.

When Aiden came to his home in Derby at the age of 3, it was with the hope that Erica and her husband, Shaun Sykes, would eventually adopt him. They didn't have any biological children and Aiden was their first foster child.

"You kind of enter in to survival mode and just take every day and just let this little boy know that he is loved and he is safe," said Erica.

And keeping Vermont's youngest children safe is becoming a major issue for the Department for Children and Families.

In March 2014, there were 300 children 5 and under in foster care in Vermont. At that same time, there were 463 kids ages 12 to 17. Flash forward a year and a half and a lot has changed. In August of this year, DCF had 526 babies and young children in its custody and 490 older kids.

"The issues that are bringing those young children into care are thorny issues," said Cindy Walcott, DCF deputy commissioner of family services.

Walcott started as a social worker in DCF 38 years ago. She says, in all her time, she's never seen anything like this.

"The danger that is being created to young children, who are very vulnerable, by their parents abusing substances is very significant in this state," said Walcott.

She believes it is one type of substance in particular, opiates, that is causing the spike.

DCF started to notice the trend upward by the summer of 2014 and consulted with state and national experts. Walcott says they quickly realized how vulnerable young children are in a home where opiates are being abused. From that point on, calls into the child protection hotline were handled differently when it involved a young child and opiate abuse.

"What we did is we sort of flipped our thinking to assume that there was danger for a child until we could verify that there were other mitigating factors because there sometimes are," said Walcott.

The number of calls coming in has also gone up. In 2012, there were 15,756 calls into the hotline. In 2013, it went up to 17,458 and last year, there were 19,292 calls.

"I will tell you that we have to rely, at times, on temporary staff in order to handle the call volume that we have," said Walcott.

With 250 additional young children in foster care since 2013, Walcott believes treatment is critical in what happens from here.

"I am concerned about the waiting lists for medication-assisted treatment and how that may affect Vermont's families and our ability to really successfully reunify," said Walcott.

"I think everybody is doing their level best to get more capacity," said Barbara Cimaglio, Vermont Department of Health deputy commissioner.

Cimaglio says Vermont has made significant progress in getting people treatment.

"We've gone from two years ago serving under 1,000 people in medication-assisted treatment to now almost 6,000," said Cimaglio.

Cimaglio says the wait is the worst in Chittenden County, where 300 people are waiting for treatment. In the Northeast Kingdom right now, there are about 80 on a waiting list. In Berlin, there's no one waiting. She says the Department of Health is working right now to recruit doctors who can treat more people.

"We know from experience that parents who do get into treatment can succeed. They can be safe, successful parents," said Walcott.

Walcott says more than half of the young children who come into DCF custody return home. She says the rest are adopted by foster parents like Aiden was.

"Oh, it was the best decision we ever could have made. It's been so fulfilling," said Erica.

Erica's story doesn't end there. It continues with a middle of the night phone call and a newborn baby who needed a foster home. It's a situation that's becoming more common in Vermont. Wednesday night at 6 p.m., we take a closer look at the need for foster families who are willing to take babies and small children and the challenges that they face.

Aired November 18, 2015
BURLINGTON, Vt. -

For the first time that anyone can remember, Vermont's foster care system has more children under the age of 6 than teenagers. In a year and a half, more than 200 additional little kids have been brought under the state's care. Julie Kelley is following the impact on families and the system.

Having hundreds of babies and young children added to the foster system in such a short time, means finding more parents willing to foster kids in their homes. There are added challenges for foster families including having regular visits with the biological parents.

"Are you a hungry guy?" Anneka Bickford asked.

She's talking to her 10-month-old foster son who came home with her when he was 1 day old.

Reporter Julie Kelley: How do you emotionally go into something knowing that you might have to give up a baby?

Anneka Bickford: I don't think you're ever prepared.

"Ashley, Desiree, Danielle, Brock, Caden, Adriana," Bickford listed.

They each have children of their own, and then came Brock together. Three years ago, Caden came as an emergency placement from Anneka's day care, and soon after Caden's sister Adriana arrived. Both of them are now adopted. The baby is their cousin.

"Right now we have about 77 children in our care who came into care during the first week of life," said Cindy Walcott, the deputy commissioner of the DCF family services division.

In the St. Johnsbury office, there is a whole room full of baby stuff for foster families and anyone in the community to use.

"We have needs for like pack and plays, high chairs, we've got quite a bit of clothes," said Emily Carrier, the district director for the DCF family services division.

Carrier says the influx of young children is having a significant impact.

Julie Kelley: Do you ever have a situation where you can't find a home?

Emily Carrier: There are times when we struggle. We stay here until we figure it out.

Julie Kelley: So you might go through how many calls to families?

Emily Carrier: We might go through 20 calls.

DCF officials say more than one-third of children in state custody are placed with a relative. If a child is related to a person or knows them well, the state considers that a kinship placement.

Julie Kelley: How does that compare to nationally?

She says kinship placement is higher in cities. The rest of Vermont's foster children stay with people they don't know. People like Erica Page, who lives in Derby Line with her husband, Shaun Sykes.

"It's crazy to think where we are now and where we were two years ago," Page said.

Two years ago, the couple, who had struggled to have children, started fostering Aiden. Today, he is theirs-- adopted 841 days after entering Vermont's foster care system. Eleven months ago, they started fostering a baby.

"Three weeks old. In the middle of the night. This tiny body and a full head of black hair," Page said.

Both foster mothers we met have regular contact with the parents of the babies that they care for. Page meets with the biological Mom two to three times a week. She says initially it was tough.

"The baby had been with us for just a couple of days and you're meeting the biological parents for the first time and things are really pretty hostile. They can be," Page said.

She says over time, the two sets of parents have grown to understand each other and work together.

"If you are going to really support and encourage that bond, for young children you might be talking about daily visits with the parent," Walcott said.

Vermont's primary goal is to reunify children with their families. Walcott says they have success doing that about half the time. As part of the six week training for foster families, it is made very clear that they are there to not only take care of the children, but to support the whole family.

After caring for a baby since Day One and waiting on court dates to possibly adopt him, Bickford says permanency in Vermont needs to happen more quickly for children in the system.

"We knew that we were doing foster care, we knew that we were to support the parents, but the thought of a 1-year-old leaving the only home that he's ever known and the people that he's with consistently-- that is not fair," Bickford said.

There is a new law in Vermont that went into effect in July. It allows birth parents and foster parents to come up with a post-adoption contact agreement before a biological parent voluntarily gives up their rights. Both families are in the process of reaching agreements and moving forward with adoptions.

Channel 3 News at 6 PM November 16, 2015 BURLINGTON, Vt. -

Suicide is the 8th leading cause of death in Vermont according to the state health department. Many don't make headlines -- some do. Like in two recent deadly crashes, where police believe the drivers were trying to take their own lives. What do police look for and why would someone want to end it all this way?

December 7th, 2013; July 30th, 2015 -- three lives lost in two devastating crashes, and with one potential connection. In both crashes a car went barreling across the highway median. Police say the drivers of the out-of-control cars, Robert Dellinger and Karri Benoir, were trying to kill themselves.

"These types of collisions are scary because you're just driving and all of a sudden someone can come across the road, said Lt. Garry Scott, Commander of the Vermont State Police Traffic Safety Unit. He says after a deadly crash, police start with the final resting place of the car and work back to the point of impact. In these two crashes, that devastating point of impact was another car. Wilder residents, and soon to be newlyweds, Jason Timmons and Amanda Murphy died in the 2013 crash. Richmond EMT and father of three, Brendon Cousino, was killed this summer.

Without being able to speak specifically to those cases, Lt. Scott says in all fatal crashes there are a number of factors they look for:

- Skid marks: Did the driver apply brakes or try to avoid a collision?
- Vehicle Inspection: An inspection -- Was anything mechanically wrong with the car?
- Medical Emergency: Was there a medical emergency like a heart attack or stroke?
- 24-hour driver history what did the drivers do in the day leading up to crash?

"A lot of investigations, we know what happened. We don't know why it always happens," Lt. Scott said.

Investigators also have to determine if the driver was trying to take their own life. It's rare, Lt. Scott said. He can only think of three confirmed cases in 10 years. But he believes there are probably more, they're just incredibly hard to prove. "Usually we have some indication of something going on, but I'm sure there's cases where that happens, where there's just no communication prior and they just cross the center line, and we probably could account that to distracted driving or something else."

It happened in Waterbury. "That's pretty much the impact site right there," said Waterbury Police Chief Joby Feccia. In his 20 years on the force Chief Feccia says a fiery crash in 2008 is the worst he's seen. On the night of July 2nd, 46-year-old Teddy Ainsworth came barreling off the interstate and smashed into the rock ledge. An autopsy confirmed he died instantly.

"It's a pretty straight shot, and 80 mph off the off ramp -- we quickly started asking questions," Feccia said. The well-known and well-liked local man had left a note. "I felt bad for his kids and his mom and his dad and his brothers and sisters. I still do." Waterbury Police respond to several suicides a year -- most happen in private. The Chief says this was different.

"Suicide is a very difficult behavior to make sense of," said Dr. Neil Metzner, the Director of Crisis Services for the Howard Center. He said every case is different and complicated, and that Depression can be like a vortex, pulling the the victim deeper and deeper into sadness, and making the world seem smaller. "Relief at any means. And so again you're not thinking about what that relief means," he said.

In those dark moments when someone wants to end it all, Metzner said their minds are full of hopelessness, and not thinking about how actions effect others. "I believe that the person is absolutely not saying -- 'I'm going to choose that car, and I can see that person in the windshield behind the wheel,' and even has any thought of the person. They are very, very focused on their own selves and their own impulsive act."

Those impulsive acts can have disastrous consequences. In the two most recent cases, the driver survived. Dellinger and Benoir's lawyers both now claim it wasn't suicide. Dellinger will spend at least eight years behind bars for that crash. Benoir is awaiting trial.

Crashes that have left loved ones -- family and friends -- to struggle with so many unanswered questions.

If you have concerns about a loved one, Dr. Metzner says to look for any changes in mood or temperament -- someone isolating or not taking care of themselves. He says an effective way to help is to listen.

BURLINGTON, Vt. -

A series of WCAX News reports last month highlighted the growing pressure on the foster care system, with about 200 additional young kids added in just a year and a half. Julie Kelley is digging deeper into one of the issues that was raised out those reports.

Reporter Julie Kelley: One part of our story struck a nerve for a lot of people. Vermont Department for Children and Families leaders say their goal is to keep children with their families. After our story aired, I heard from a number of grandparents who told me that in their experience, that's just not true.

Michelle Mathews had everything she needed to take care of her new granddaughter this summer. After months of fighting to become her foster parent, she says she lost hope and got rid of everything.

Reporter Julie Kelley: You just felt so frustrated?

For this military veteran, it was not for lack of trying. She says she spoke with a caseworker once and did not hear back. Then she emailed and talked to higher-ups at DCF and was told it was being looked into, but she never heard back. She says she even called Governor Shumlin's office four times.

"They're like, 'We contacted DCF. They have not replied yet,'" she said.

Mathews says she only learned about her granddaughter after her son took a paternity test when the baby was 3 months old.

"When I found out she was in state's custody, I'm like, what do we have to do?" she said.

She says the baby girl had been in Vermont custody since she was born because of drug use.

"Grandparents are a very, very important part of the safety net for Vermont children," Vt. DCF Commissioner Cindy Walcott said.

Walcott says of the more than 1,000 children placed in homes in Vermont right now, 448 are in licensed kinship care, including with grandparents. The rest-- 563-- are in unrelated care with someone they didn't know.

"A grandparent, in the example you use, has to have criminal background checks. Their discipline practices will be assessed. If they have any history or current use of substances, that's going to be looked at," Walcott said.

Walcott says they also look at the relationship the kinship care provider has with the biological parents and the child. She says certain crimes exclude someone from being a foster parent-- felony assault and charges related to felony substance abuse.

Sandi Yandow is a kinship advocate who spends her days on the road working with families around Vermont. She thinks there's more to it.

"I think we hear too much about, 'If you had raised your child better ... '" she said.

She says that stigma has Vermont moving in the wrong direction. Yandow says in 2008, the federal Fostering Connections Act gave preferential placement to relatives when a child entered state custody. In 2010, Vermont adopted a similar law. This past July, a new law took effect, taking away preferential placement for families.

"We are balancing both protecting children and keeping families together, but the concept of child protection means that if you have to make a choice, protecting children needs to come first," said Rep. Ann Pugh, D-South Burlington.

Pugh says the governor's recent proposal to spend more than $8 million more protecting children, including adding more social workers, should help keep children out of state custody. She says right now, social workers don't have the time to work with families who have been identified as needing help, but haven't had a child taken away. Walcott says even once a child is in state custody, social workers can't be as responsive because of the high caseload.

"If you don't have time to kind of sit with people and develop that relationship, then it is hard for them to feel like you're on their team," Walcott said.

Reporter Julie Kelley: A lot of the grandparents that reached out to me after our initial stories aired said, 'We're left in the dark. We find out about things late or after the fact. We can't get calls returned.'

"Yes, I wish I could say that surprises me, but, unfortunately, it doesn't," Walcott said.

While she waits for word, Michelle Mathews feels like time is running out. After filling out the Vermont application to foster and taking kinship classes in New Hampshire where she lives, she says in September she received an email from DCF about her granddaughter.

"Her foster family is open to adoption should this be needed. So any disruption to your granddaughter's attachment to this family needs careful consideration as it is not likely to be in her best interest," Mathews said.

She says those words blew her away. After months of trying to work with DCF, like other grandparents who have come forward since our initial reports, Mathews had concerns about talking publicly.

Reporter Julie Kelley: Do you worry that DCF will even see this and there will be ramifications?

Michelle Mathews: Yes, I do.

Reporter Julie Kelley: Why take the chance?

Michelle Mathews: Because other people need to hear this story. Other people need to know that it's OK to speak out. That it's OK to have feelings for our family member that's in foster care. And it's OK to come forward with it. DCF needs to understand that I'm not just going to go away, that I will fight tooth and nail for her.

Walcott says moving a baby back to a biological family member after months with a foster family is a very thorny issue for DCF. She says even when they make the decision to do it in Vermont, foster families can appeal it through DCF if they've had the child for three months or more. Walcott says working with family members who live outside of Vermont has added challenges because of laws connected to moving children across state lines.

BURLINGTON, Vt. -

With thousands of Vermonters caught up in the opiate and heroin crisis, medical professionals and social service groups are constantly working to help people cut their addiction. One controversial approach incentivizes drug abusers to get and stay clean.

"I wish I could escape all that," said Tyler Nolan, who has been addicted to drugs for almost half his life. "All in all, it was hell. It was a living nightmare and I don't wish it on my worst enemy.

He's clean now. The 24-year-old hasn't used opiates since 2013, but when he was using heroin, Nolan begged for help and almost didn't get it. "And the gentleman told us, he said, if you are not suicidal, if you are an IV user and you have no felonies and you are not in court, he's not going to get in," Nolan said.

Then Nolan got arrested, and got a break. He was facing felony charges for selling heroin when Judge James Crucitti sent Nolan to detox. "He said, you know, has Mr. Nolan actually contacted you folks, and they were like yeah, we were actually going to call him today to let him know we have a bed available," Nolan said.

From there, more rehab. Today the Howard Center operates a clinic where Nolan and more than a thousand others received a maintenance drug within the last year to stay off of heroin.

"Methadone maintenance, Subxone maintenance are highly effective because they are not getting high. Generally, patients like to take the medication. It keeps them from relapsing and it reduces intravenous drug use, criminal behavior," said Stacey Sigmon, an addiction expert at the University of Vermont and Director of the Chittenden Clinic at the Howard Center. She says Subxone or Buprenorphine treatment, like what Nolan receives, works.

Sigmon says her clinic has a 90-percent success rate and that even more opiate abusers could be helped if incentives were put in place across the board. "Use financial incentives to help opiate abusers get into treatment or stay in treatment," she said.

It's called contingency management. Monetary support for addicts like Nolan in the form of vouchers or gift cards. They can also work towards the reward of take home doses, avoiding a daily trip to the clinic. The Howard Center says as of June, of the 550 people who received take-home doses, 91-percent tested free of opiates.

But should we be paying heroin users to quit? Contingency management programs in Vermont don't pay cash, and Nolan says that's a good thing. He says gift cards and vouchers could be a great motivator for some addicts, but worries cash would be too tempting for someone newly sober.

"I know for me, if I would have had money when I first got out of rehab and I would have been given money or something, it's like I would have gone and used. I definitely would have gone and got high again," Nolan said.

The demand for treatment in Vermont is still greater than the supply. Sigmon says the state might be able to reduce wait lists and get more Vermonters onto maintenance meds if physicians are also motivated. "The other thing that I think we need to consider is offering incentives to the providers.

Vermont has the highest per capita number of Buprenorphine providers, yet whenever we look at the data, the vast majority of doctors are really only treating one or two patients, nowhere near the 100 limit that the federal regulations allow," she said.

Nolan says Suboxone is enough for him. He doesn't need to get paid to stay clean. "It was enough to say, I can actually be happy again and look forward to just random things, going to work and waking up. I mean, that's good enough for me, but some folks they do need that," he said.

The road ahead won't be easy. Nolan spends time at the Turning Point Center in Burlington -- a safe haven for people in recovery. He is homeless. His fiancé is expecting a child this spring. But free of addiction, he says he feels like his life is beginning again, and if using contingency management helps others stick with sobriety, it has his full support.

Contingency management programs have also experienced success in getting people to kick their smoking habit.

BURLINGTON, Vt. -

If you're a parent you know that kids pick up the latest technology lightning fast, but are you?

You may still be using Facebook but experts say that's old news for kids. It's not hard to see why when 20,000 new apps are released monthly. So, how do you keep up especially when many of those apps could be dangerous?

Most kids are hooked on smart phones and downloading apps all the time. It can be hard for parents to keep up. But Internet safety expert and former intelligence analyst Katie Greer says there are some apps popular right now that should be completely off limits.

The first Dangerous Download, Flinch.

"Flinch is a LIVE video chat with strangers, got that," said Greer.

You stare at a complete stranger, any age from any country who can say or do anything in the course of this game. The first person to smile, laugh or flinch first loses.

"I'm supposed to see if i can make you smile but that's not what's happening. I pulled up a couple images and the first image I saw was a picture of a kid with a gun in his mouth," said Greer.

Reporter Gina Bullard tested that app and when she asked, "what do you use this app for," one person responded, "to find pieces of a like you god damn."

We showed Flinch and other apps to a panel of parents so they could experience firsthand what their kids could be up to online.

Bullard: This brings back the childhood game of a staring contest but puts it in a mobile version.

Peggy O'Neil, Burlington parent: This guys in bed.

Bullard: What are you doing?

Flinch user: I try to sleep.

Bullard: Then why are you on Flinch?

User: I want to see beautiful girl like you.

If no one flinches in the 60 seconds you can rematch the same person as many times as you want or find someone new to play.

Flinch is currently one of the most downloaded games on iTunes.

"It's gross and mind numbing as well," said O'Neil.

Greer says that studies show 30 percent of teens would meet someone in person they've met online. Which is especially alarming when it comes to the next Dangerous Download, Omegle.

"The tag line is talk to strangers," said Greer.

The thrill of anonymity continues with Omegle. The app and website allows you to message and video chat with strangers. Almost all of what we saw was sexually explicit, just too "hot" for TV.

"I'm hearing something odd," said Luis Vivanco, Burlington parent.

"I don't want to see this," said Caroline Crawford, Burlington parent. "This is profoundly disturbing I'm feeling very uncomfortable."

Along with being disturbing, Greer says both of these apps save information from the users phone including the IP address and GPS location.

Bullard: Is there a danger of people contacting these children outside of the application itself ?

Greer: For sure. You're connecting strangers and whether they say it out loud, they're grabbing GPS information from the person they're connecting with 1000 percent.

But with a quick switch you can disable location services. To stay on top of what your kids are downloading, Greer suggests having one Google Play or iTunes account for the entire family so you can track what's being downloaded and check it out for yourself.

And it may surprise you but Greer does not recommend programs like Net Nanny which claim to block and stop things. Greer says many of those services sell your kids' user data to third parties and kids are so crafty they'll find ways around them.

"It is an eye opener for me to see some of these apps which i haven't heard of," said Chris Hood, Burlington, parent.

Bullard: How nervous do parents need to be?

Greer: I don't think they need to be nervous, they need to be vigilant and ask questions.

Greer says confiscate all devices after a certain time every night and create a central charging station in your bedroom. And kids should also turn over all their passwords even if you never use them.

"I figured this was going on but it was so shocking and disturbing to see what's out there," said O'Neil.

Another Dangerous Download Greer says you should make sure your kids are not using is Ask.FM. It's an anonymous question and answer app and site where you can ask whatever question you want and anyone can answer it. She describes this one as despicable and says it leads to major cyber bullying with teens.

So, what apps are safe for kids to use?

Kids are going to use technology. Greer says there are plenty of apps that are OK with some ground rules. For example, Instagram. She calls this a great app, just make sure your kid's profiles are private, they should not be following strangers or letting strangers follow them and they should only be posting appropriate photos.

Next up, Snap Chat. Which is known for images disappearing. Greer says it's fine to use, just make sure your kids know nothing ever really disappears online. And again, they should only be sending appropriate pictures and videos, nothing sexually explicit.

The big thing is for parents not to be intimidated but to be involved.

BURLINGTON, Vt. -

No matter how you pay for it, health care is expensive and costs are opaque. But experts say you can save yourself some cash by asking tough questions before you are treated.

"Just about the time I was full apex turning, my knee popped and I fell to the ground," said Adam Royer, patient.

Doctors told Royer he needed an MRI after a nasty spill on the softball field. Like most patients, the 31-year-old followed medical advice without first questioning costs.

"I didn't realize it was going to cost me $3,300 for 20 minutes in a box," said Royer.

Turns out, Royer tore his ACL. That meant surgery and lots of medical bills.

"They're coming in 2, 3, 4 every other day," said Royer.

Royer has medical insurance but says keeping track of all the charges is overwhelming.

"I'm just very confused on how this all works," said Royer.

"We think the payment system is broken," said Bea Grause, CEO of the Vermont Association of Hospitals.

Grause lobbies for health care and payment reform. She says consumers are becoming savvier, but can always do more to protect their pocketbooks.

So what's the best prescription for managing your medical decisions?

Experts say:

- Find out exactly what procedure you need
- Identify your out-of-pocket expenses like deductibles and co-pays
- Call the hospital's business office before your procedure to discuss discounts based on your insurance coverage

"You're not going to get an exact price, like you would if you were getting your oil changed, but you are certainly going to get a range," said Grause.

Grause says don't be afraid to shop around and inquire about hospital and physician charges. Facilities must disclose their charge master or list price for services.

We discovered price tags for the same procedures can be wildly different at Vermont's 14 hospitals.

According to the latest Hospital Report Card an emergency room visit will cost between $156 at Grace Cottage Hospital to $408 at Mt. Ascutney Hospital & Health Center.

But North Country charges the least for MRIs of upper extremity joints at $1,210. Mt. Ascutney tops the chart at $4,089.

A cat scan can cost as little as $485 at Northeastern Vermont Regional Hospital or 5 times that $2,306 at UVM Medical Center.

Bringing a baby into the world is an exciting step, but it's also expensive. Vaginal births range from $5,103 at Northwestern Medical Center to $13,382 at Gifford Medical Center.

If you deliver by cesarean charges nearly double. Again, Northwestern Medical Center is the cheapest at $10,977 and Gifford the priciest at $23,949.

Hospitals negotiate discounts with private insurance companies. But cost variation is largely linked to location. Hospitals in communities with high concentrations of Medicaid, Medicare and uninsured patients will have higher prices to offset revenue losses generated by that population.

The size of the hospital also matters.

"Smaller hospitals have higher fixed costs and they have to cover those fixed costs and they have lower volumes," said Grause.

"It makes me stressed out, but I'm trying not to stress out because there's nothing I can do about it," said Royer.

Royer chose the state's largest hospital not based on price, but convenience and the surgeon's reputation. Although he's been happy with his care, Royer wonders how much he could have saved had he shopped around before going under the knife.

Again, the numbers listed in our story are sticker prices for procedures. What patients actually pay out-of-pocket will vary greatly by individual medical insurance plans.

- 10/04/15 “Hands Off The Wheel” – a report on the advancement of self-driving cars powered by a form of artificial intelligence. In Silicon Valley, Bill Whitaker takes a test drive in the Mercedes-Benz self-driving automobile and sits inside Google’s version of the driverless car. Unlike current cars, the issues consumers will face with self-driving cars will be related to cybersecurity and privacy. The car industry plans to automate the driving experience feature-by-feature first, before a driverless car is introduced to the market. Mercedes-Benz shared their vision for a car in the year 2030, the F015, a design where the driver turns its back to the steering wheel. (Includes an excerpt from an Infiniti ad) Includes interviews with: Ralf Herrtwich, director of driver assistance and chassis systems at Daimler AG/Mercedes-Benz; Chris Urmson, director self-driving cars at Google; Jaime Waydo, systems engineer at Google; Peter Lehmann, engineer at Daimler AG/Mercedes-Benz; and Mark Rosekind, Administrator of the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA). (C: Bill Whitaker – P: Marc Lieberman)
- “Patrick Kennedy” – an interview / profile of Patrick Kennedy, former Democratic Representative for Rhode Island and the youngest son of deceased Senator Edward “Ted” Kennedy and Joan Kennedy. Patrick discusses his memoir, “A Common Struggle”, co-authored with Stephen Fried, in which he describes not only his own alcoholism struggles, but that of his parents too. Mental illness, anxiety, depression and bipolar disorder have also been prevalent in Patrick’s life. Patrick’s purpose for revealing these Kennedy family secrets is to help break the silence about mental illness and addiction, and he continues to champion this cause through the behavioral health policy organization he has founded, The Kennedy Forum. (Includes an excerpt of Walter Cronkite and Ted Kennedy) (C: Lesley Stahl – P: Richard Bonin)
- “Hidden Holocaust” – a report about Father Patrick Desbois, a French Catholic priest who is the President of Yahad-In Unum, an organization founded in 2004 that seeks to unsilence nearly half of the six million Jewish victims of the Holocaust whose bodies lie in unmarked mass graves, killed by Nazi soldiers in mass shootings in the former USSR. Investigating and speaking to eyewitnesses have led Yahad-In Unum to more than seventeen hundred of Hitler’s hidden killing fields, and each site is memorialized by recording the GPS coordinates. Includes interviews with: Father Patrick Desbois; Paul Shapiro, director of Advanced Studies at the U.S. Holocaust Memorial Museum; and eyewitnesses to the Holocaust in Moldova (all through translator): Gheorghe of Hiriseni; and Anatoli and Dimitri of Dubassary. Among the topics discussed: Russia’s military mission in Syria led by President Vladimir Putin in support of Syrian President Bashar al-Assad; strategy in dealing with terrorist organizations in the Middle East including ISIS (ISIL) and al Qaeda after the failed program that attempted to train and equip Syrian rebels; presidential primary campaigns; Donald Trump; Hillary Clinton and her use of a private e-mail server; Vice President Joe Biden’s possible run for president; and his thoughts about his last fifteen months in office. (C: Steve Kroft – P: L. Franklin Devine, Maria Gavriloic, Michael Karzis) DOUBLE LENGTH SEGMENT
- “30 Years on Death Row” – a report on the wrongful murder conviction of Glenn Ford, a man who spent nearly 30 years on death row in Louisiana’s Angola prison. Ford was released after Jake Robinson told the police he robbed and killed jewelry store owner Isadore Rozeman. Marty Stroud served as the prosecutor in Ford’s case and confesses he ignored evidence and composed a jury with no African-Americans. Stroud has asked the Louisiana Bar Association to discipline him for his role in the case. Ford was denied restitution from the state because they believe he knew about the robbery and did nothing about it. Shortly after Ford’s release last year, he was diagnosed with stage IV lung cancer, and died three weeks after his interview with 60 MINUTES. Includes interviews with: Glenn Ford; exonerated death row inmate; Marty Stroud, attorney and lead prosecutor on Ford’s case; and Dale Cox, acting district attorney of Caddo Parish, Louisiana. “Seeking Asylum” – a report on the hundreds of thousands of people arriving in Europe who have fled war or poverty in the Middle East in hopes of reaching Germany. 60 MINUTES follows migrants from Syria, Iraq or Afghanistan who are paying Turkish traffickers to take them across the Aegean Sea in overcrowded boats to land on the Greek island of Lesbos. Once in Greece, migrants are fingerprinted and registered and then they travel through Macedonia, Serbia, Croatia, Slovenia, and Austria, to end up in Germany. German Chancellor Angela Merkel welcomes asylum seekers, but the influx is overwhelming. Includes interviews with: Kirk Day, emergency field director for the International Rescue Committee on Lesbos; Heinz Schaden, mayor of Salzburg, Germany; Katharina El Masri, project management for Save Me Munich; Wolfgang Panzer, mayor of Unterhaching, Germany; and asylum seekers: Ahmed Dosum (through translator), Dr. Bassam al-Tarifi (through translator), and Mohammad Pathlavay. (C: Anderson Cooper – P: Patricia Shevlin, Miles Doran)

“Make-A-Wish” – a report on a local chapter of the “Make-A-Wish” Foundation, a non-profit organization established to grant wishes to children around the world who are living with life-threatening illnesses. The volunteers at the local chapter in northeast Arkansas collect as many donations as possible one day a year to fund the wishes. Kaden Erickson was battling leukemia and had his wish of visiting Australia with his family granted, but died a month ago. Gavin Grubbs suffers from debilitating muscular dystrophy and had his wish granted five years ago to attend the Daytona 500 and meet race car driver Joey Logano, and the two are still close. Includes interviews with: Christie Matthews and Danna Johnson, “Make-A-Wish” volunteers; Kendra Street, “Make-A-Wish” volunteer, former recipient, and a teacher at Marmaduke Elementary School; Kaden Erickson (now deceased) and Gavin Grubbs, “Make-A-Wish” recipients from Arkansas chapter; Joey Logano, NASCAR driver; and Jeanne Erickson, Kaden’s mother. (C: Bill Whitaker – P: Robert G. Anderson, Magalie Laguerre-Wilkinson, Aaron Weisz)

“Revis Island” – an interview / profile of the New York Jets All-Pro National Football League (NFL) cornerback, Darrelle Revis, and how his defense shuts down the best receivers in the league. Revis has had five contracts in seven years, and negotiates each salary as hard as he plays. Also includes interviews with: Will Sullivan; speed training coach and owner of Sullivan PROformance; and Sean Gilbert, former NFL defensive lineman and Revis’ uncle. Includes comments by: Brandon Marshall, NFL wide receiver; and Diana Askew, Revis’ mother. (Includes excerpts from HBO’s “Hard Knocks”). (C: Armen Keteyian – P: Alan B. Goldberg)

“Vice President Biden” – an interview with Vice President Joe Biden and his wife, Dr. Jill Biden, recorded at their official residence on the grounds of the Naval Observatory on Saturday, October 24 after the vice president announced on Wednesday that he would not seek the Democratic presidential nomination. Together, they discussed the reasoning behind the decision to not run for president or any future political office, and the death of their son Beau Biden to brain cancer in May. Separately, Joe discussed: how he wants to influence the Democratic Party; Hillary Clinton; Donald Trump; and what he would like to get done in his last fifteen months in office. (C: Norah O’Donnell – P: Michael Radutzky, Guy Campanile)

“Inside The Air War” – a report on the 14-month-old air war against ISIS (ISIL, Daesh) from inside the military operations floor at Al Udeid Air Base in Qatar. Every plane flying over Iraq and Syria is being tracked from here. 60 MINUTES cameras capture a B-1 bomber, in real-time, striking a car-bomb factory with secondary explosions indicating explosives were inside. The air war costs the U.S. $10 million a day, launching aircraft from bases in Kuwait, Qatar, the United Arab Emirates, Jordan and Turkey. The estimated number of enemy fighters remains unchanged, twenty to thirty thousand, because ISIS has been able to replace the dead with new recruits. Includes interviews with: various American air crew flyers (unidentified due to potential death threats); Lieutenant Colonel David Haworth; and Lieutenant General Charles Brown, commander of the air war. (C: David Martin – P: Mary Walsh)

“The New Burma” – a report on the democratic movement in Burma (also known as Myanmar) before the country’s elections November 8th and the woman most responsible for it, Nobel Prize-winning activist Aung San Suu Kyi. The National League for Democracy (NLD) party lead by Suu Kyi is poised to win control of parliament after the election, and Burma President Thein Sein believes this year’s election will be free and fair, unlike 1990. Another issue in the pursuit for democracy is the violent conflict between Buddhists and a Muslim minority called the Rohingya. Includes interviews with: Aung San Suu Kyi, human rights activist, former political prisoner and current chairperson of the NLD; Ashin Wirathu (through translator), Burmese monk and militant Buddhist; and President Thein Sein (through translator), Burma’s president. Also includes comments by Abdusalem (through translator), Muslim in a refugee camp. (C: Bill Whitaker – P: Rachael Morehouse, Henry Schuster)

48 HOURS: “The Doctor’s Daughter” - an investigation into the 2012 death of Leslie Neulander, the wife of Dr. Robert Neulander, a prominent New York State obstetrician, and the quest to discover whether her death was an accident or murder. Leslie Neulander suffered a massive head wound while showering, but her body was found on the bedroom floor, near the bed and far from the shower. The Medical Examiner ruled the death an accidental but investigators suspected the husband, Dr. Neulander, of covering up the crime. The couple’s daughter, Jenna Neulander, was the only other person in the home at the time, and made the 911 call to summon help. The investigation uncovered a troubled marriage, suggestions of a pending split and declining finances. Eighteen months after Leslie Neulander’s death, her husband was charged with her murder. The defense maintained the Neulander’s had a loving marriage and that Leslie had died from injuries from the fall in the shower. Prosecutors say it was murder and the doctor covered up the crime. The science of blood spatter and the 911 call for help became focal points in the trial. Jenna Neulander testified in her father’s defense. Robert Neulander was found guilty. On-screen text graphic: Just this week, Neulander surrendered his license to practice medicine. Interviewed: Scott Kapral (NY Police Sergeant); Jim Stevens (attorney/CBS News Consultant); Bill Fitzpatrick (Onondage County DA); Dr. Mary Jumbelic (friend of Leslie Neulander); July Crosby (Neulander employee); Edward Menkin (defense attorney); Karen Green (forensic scientist). 48 HOURS (continued)

- 10/10/15 48 HOURS: “Shadow of Death” - a report on the murders of Andra and Brad Sachs, who in 2014 were killed during a suspected home invasion, in which their younger son was left paralyzed. Evidence in the crime points towards one of their older sons, Ashton Sachs, who was allegedly fascinated by the 1989 Menendez brothers murder case. The Sachs were a wealthy couple with five children, who had divorced, but continued to live together in upscale San Juan Capistrano, California. Investigation first led to the theory of a business deal gone bad, but a month after the shootings, then-19-year-old Ashton Sachs was charged with murder. Family members say that Sachs was an avid player of violent video games and had been fascinated with the sensational 1989 Menendez murders. Through interviews with various family members and experts, including highly respected child psychologist Ali Mattu of Columbia University, a portrait of Ashton Sachs emerges as a very troubled individual potentially suffering from mental illness. Warning signs of a troubled life were on the surface, and family dynamics played a part in the case. Sachs remains in a California jail and is scheduled to go on trial for the murders in March 2016. On-screen text graphic: Ashton Sachs is being held in solitary confinement. Authorities will not confirm reports he has tried again to take his own life. Interviewed: Orange County Register Meghann Cuniff; reporter/48 HOURS consultant Jack Leonard; Orange County realtor Monte Burghardt; Andra’s close friend Nina Lifshultz; weapons expert Nabil Khattar; trauma surgeon Dr. Enrique Ginzburg; Ashton’s friend Connor Ward; attorney Mary Fulginiti; Columbia University child psychologist, Ali Mattu; Andra’s sisters Lesley Summers and Stephanie Garber. (C: Troy Roberts - P: Chuck Stevenson, Judy Ryback)
- 10/17/15 48 HOURS: “Vengeance in Vegas” – an investigation into the 2012 murder of Shauna Tiaffay, a Las Vegas casino cocktail waitress who was brutally beaten to death in her townhouse, while her husband George Tiaffay, a West Point military graduate and firefighter, worked an all-night shift at the firehouse. Investigation revealed that the Tiaffay marriage had begun to crumble; they had separated, but shared custody of their daughter. Police focused on the husband, but George had a solid alibi. Police also discovered an earlier robbery and a strange clue the robber left behind. Forty-eight hours into the investigation, detectives received a crucial tip from a local resident, William Pennix (aka “Big Will”) – a friend had told him that he had just killed a woman. The tip led investigators to a homeless man named “Greyhound” (Noel Stevens) who lived in the desert away from the Las Vegas strip. Police believed that George Tiaffay had befriended Stevens, and manipulated his friend with the promise of cash if he would kill his wife. They also matched the murder weapon with merchandise that the two men are seen shopping for, on video footage acquired by the police. Stevens and Tiaffay were arrested. Stevens pleaded guilty in 2013 to Shauna’s murder. In a pre-trial deal, he agreed to testify against George Tiaffay once prosecutors promised not to seek the death penalty against him. George Tiaffay was found guilty. On-screen text graphic: Shauna's family is raising awareness for domestic violence through their group Justice4Shauna. Noel Stevens will be sentenced in November for Shauna's murder. He faces a maximum of life in prison without the possibility of parole. Interviewed: William Pennix (informant); Paula Stokes-Richards (Shauna’s sister); Randee Emmett, Siana Nikolav (Shauna’s friends); Bernadette Tiaffay and Maria McGrew (George’s sisters); Roc Ryder (George’s West Point friend); Dan Long and Terri Miller (Las Vegas Metropolitan Police Department investigators); Detective Sam Smith; Marc DiGiacomo (prosecutor); Robert Langfore (Tiaffay’s defense attorney); Pam Weckerly (Assistant Clark County DA) (C: Peter Van Sant – P: Allen Alter, Alec Sirken, Chris Young Ritzen, Cindy Cesare, Chris O’Connell)

- 10/24/15 48 HOURS: “The Hunter” - a report on the 2012 disappearance of Kelli Bordeaux, a young army combat medic who went missing in Fort Bragg, North Carolina, and one local bounty hunter’s own efforts to find her -- his first case after he receiving his private investigator’s license. Bordeaux had gone to a local bar and never returned home. A massive search was conducted, but no clues turned up. Police had several suspects, including Mike Bordeaux, her estranged husband; Justin Thompson, a man she was dating; and Nicholas Holbert, a man who was last seen with her the night she went missing. Without telling the police, bounty hunter David Marshburn (now a 48 HOURS consultant), launched his own investigation. Alibis for Bordeaux and Thompson were airtight, so Marshburn befriended Holbert, putting him at ease and sometimes paying him to open up with information. Finally, Marshburn told police what he was up to and they told him to continue with his investigation. Holbert confessed to Marshburn, that Bordeaux had learned that Holbert was a sex offender, which offered a motive. In 2014, Marshburn decided time was up and convinced Holbert to lead him to Kelly Bordeaux’s body. The footage shown from the subsequent arrest video is the first broadcast of a confession captured by a police officer’s bodycam. On-screen text graphic: Under his plea deal, Nicholas Holbert waived all rights to an appeal. Nicholas Holbert will receive psychiatric counseling and substance abuse treatment in prison. David Marshburn is investigating a new missing person’s case. Interviewed: David Marshburn (private detective/48 HOURS Consultant); Johnna Henson (Bordeaux’s mother); Olivia Cox and Matt Henson (Bordeaux’s sister and brother); Justin Thompson (boyfriend); Jeff Locklear (Fayetteville, North Carolina detective); Billy West (District Attorney). (C: Troy Roberts - P: Marc B. Goldbaum, Paul LaRosa, Jonathan Leach)
- 10/31/15 48 HOURS: “The Pact” (9:00-10:00p) - a report on the murder of 15-year-old John McCabe of Tewksbury, Massachusetts, who was murdered after a dance in 1969, and his family’s decades-long quest to find out what really happened to him. Police launched a massive investigation; there were suspicions that John’s schoolmates may have been involved. One, Walter Shelley, was driving in a car that matched the description of a car spotted near the crime scene, but there was no forensic evidence and the case went cold. In 2000, Bill McCabe got a tip from John’s childhood friend, Jack Ward: he heard at a BBQ, that the motive for the murder was jealousy and John had been flirting with Shelley’s girlfriend, Marla Shiner. The case stalled again. In 2007, a new investigation was launched which led to Edward Alan Brown, who shared details of what happened that night. Mike Ferreira and Walter Shelley were arrested for the murder. Ferreira was tried first and was found not guilty: the jury did not believe Brown’s story. Bill McCabe died four days after the verdict. Evelyn McCabe took up the quest for justice. Walter Shelley stood trial. This jury believed Brown and he was convicted of murder. On-screen text graphic for original and rebroadcast: Evelyn McCabe has filed a wrongful death suit against Michael Ferreira, Walter Shelley and Edward Allen Brown. Interviewed: Bill and Evelyn McCabe (parents); Debbie McCabe, Roberta McCabe (sisters); Gerry Leone (former District Attorney); Mike Ferreira and his wife Nancy Williams; Jack Ward (childhood friend); Detective Linda Coughlin; Ken Lavalee (police); Eric Wilson (Ferreira’s attorney); Michael Duquett (juror). (C: Richard Schlesinger - P: Judy Rybak, Peter Henderson) (OAD: 10/25/14)
- 10/31/15 48 HOURS: “The Bugs Bunny Defense” (10:00-11:00p) – a report on the 2007 death of Patrick Duffey and the incredible story his wife, Linda told police about what actually happened: she and her husband had reenacted a moment from a Bugs Bunny cartoon and she accidentally shot and killed her husband with a gun. Police questioned whether what happened in the suburban Whittier, California home was a freak accident, or an intentional murder. The investigation dragged on for five years, and the case grew cold. Linda Duffey remarried and was now living with her husband Larry Gwozdz, a well-known jazz musician in Mississippi. In 2012, with a new prosecutor urging them on, police arrested and charged Linda Duffey Gwozdz with murder. At the trial, her team used the Bugs Bunny defense and the case ended with a deadlocked jury. One year later, for her second trial, prosecutors did not rely on the interrogation videos in which Linda spoke about the cartoon defense. Instead they claimed that it was a pre-meditated, deliberate murder. In order to bring up the cartoon defense, Linda Duffey Gwozdz would have to testify herself. She declined to do so. She was found guilty of murder. On-screen text graphic: Linda Duffey Gwozdz is appealing her conviction. Interviewed: Shaun McCarthy and Shannon Laren (Los Angeles County detectives); Julie Prendergast (Linda Duffey’s former friend); Katherine Hunt (Patrick Duffey’s sister); Tracy Peck (Los Angeles Country firearms expert); Paul Delhauer (blood evidence expert); Robert Villa (Deputy District Attorney); Brandi Jones, Andrew Dixon, Danielle Wong, Patricia Enriquez (jurors from first and second trials). CBS RELIGIOUS AND CULTURAL SPECIAL

“Veterans Journey Home: Faith, Hope & War”: an interfaith special examining the issues veterans face as they transition to civilian life. According to the Department of Veterans Affairs, there are 22 million veterans in the U.S. This program highlights the stories of some of these men and women who have volunteered to serve their country. Featured on the program are: (1) Rev. Dr. Rita Nakashima Brock is founding Co-Director of the Soul Repair Center at Brite Divinity School in Ft. Worth, Texas. A widely recognized expert on the emerging study of moral injury and recovery, she talks about moral injury and what it takes to rebuild a moral identity. (2) Rev. Dr. Craig Combs, a retired chaplain with the Texas National Guard, served two tours in Iraq. Currently a Faith & Community Based Initiative Coordinator with the Military Veteran Peer Network, he discusses how society needs to do a better job in helping veterans transition from a “war mind to a peace mind”. Also includes footage of Rev. Dr. Combs leading a discussion with a group of Texas veterans. (3) Traumatic brain injury and post-traumatic stress (PTS) are often referred to as the unseen wounds of war. It’s estimated that 500,000 veterans have returned from the wars in Iraq and Afghanistan with symptoms of PTS. Less than half seek help for their condition, and many self-medicate with drugs and alcohol. Among the areas impacted is the criminal justice system in Denton County, Texas, where a Veterans Treatment Court Program is offered as an alternative to serving time in jail. Includes interviews with Judge David D. Garcia and Ginger Simonson, a Veteran Peer Services Coordinator with the Military Veteran Peer Network. (4) Olivia Bush, Program Coordinator for The Lotus Project for Women Veterans, discusses the challenges that are unique to women vets. In addition to mental health referrals and basic needs support, the organization offers permanent, supportive housing options for disabled women veterans. Also features two female veterans who found permanent housing and support through the program. (5) Rev. Dr. Robert Lee Hill, Minister Emeritus of the Community Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) in Kansas City, Missouri, talks about how the faith community can help foster a “repair of the soul”. (Narrator: Rolland Smith. Executive Producer: Elizabeth Kineke. Associate Producer: Natalie Baxter. Director & Senior Executive Producer: John P. Blessington. “Heroin In The Heartland” – a report on the increasing accessibility and use of heroin in the United States. Federal and local authorities across America believe it’s the biggest drug epidemic today. Drug dealers, connected to Mexican drug cartels, have expanded from an inner-city focus to the suburbs for a new set of consumers: high school students, college athletes, teachers and professionals. Focusing on families in the Columbus, Ohio suburbs dealing with this problem, the reasons for the rise of this epidemic are discussed. The drug that reverses the effects of opiates in the brain, Naloxone Hydrochloride (Narcan), is now available in Ohio without a prescription. Includes interviews with: former heroin addicts: Hannah Morris and Jenna Morrison; Mike DeWine, Ohio Attorney General; Jessica Kaiser, forensic scientist for Ohio Attorney General; and parents of heroin addicts: Wayne and Christy Campbell (whose son Tyler died); T.J. and Heidi Riggs (whose daughter Marin died); Brian Malone and Lea Heidman (whose daughter Alyssa died); Brenda Stewart (whose two sons are in recovery), Tracy Morrison, (whose two daughters are in recovery); and Rob Brandt (whose son Robby died). (C: Bill Whitaker – P: Tom Anderson, Michelle St. John)

“Smart Guns” – a report on ‘smart gun’ technology which allows firearms to fire only in the hands of their owners - - and why it is not yet mass-produced or sold in the United States. Advocates of smart guns believe they can lower the number of accidental shootings and suicides and cut down the resale of stolen guns. Opponents question: the safety of adding high-tech to guns; if the guns would be vulnerable to hacking; and if the fingerprint technology is reliable in various weather conditions. New Jersey State Senator Loretta Weinberg plans to ask the state to repeal the 13-year-old law which mandates all handguns sold in New Jersey be smart guns once they become available. Includes interviews with: Tom Lynch, CEO of Safe Gun Technology; Andy Raymond, co-owner of Engage Armament; Steve Sanetti, president of the National Shooting Sports Foundation; State Senator Loretta Weinberg (D-NJ); Jonathan Mossberg, CEO and president of iGun Technology Corp; and Ron Conway, investor. (C: Lesley Stahl – P: Shachar Bar-On)

“The Slave Ship” – a report on how teams from the National Museum of African American History and Culture (NMAAHC) and the Slave Wrecks Project are searching for the underwater remains, off Mozambique Island, of a slave ship named St. Joseph (Sao Jose in Portuguese). Includes interviews with: Lonnie Bunch, founding director (NMAAHC); Decio Muianga, Mozambican archaeologist; Steve Lubkemann, co-founder of the Slave Wrecks Project and anthropologist from George Washington University; Paul Gardullo, historian of slavery and curator at the Smithsonian Museum; and Jaco Boshoff, archaeologist with South Africa’s Iziko Museum and co-founder of the Slaves Wrecks Project. 60 MINUTES (continued)

- 11/08/15 “Into Dangerous Hands” – a report on the critical lapses in the United States security clearance process under the Office of Personnel Management (OPM) that allowed NSA leaker Edward Snowden, convicted spy Chelsea (previously known as Bradley) Manning, and mass murderer Aaron Alexis to gain access to America’s defense secrets. Includes interviews with: Paul Stockton, managing director of Sonecon and Fmr. Assistant Secretary of Defense; Fmr. Army Specialist Jhirleah Showman, Manning’s supervisor; John Hamre, Fmr. Deputy Secretary of Defense; and Ret. Department of Defense adjudicators: Brenda Persons, Kathy Treese, and Linda Dei. (C: Scott Pelley – Producers listed at the beginning of the segment: Michael Rey, Oriana Zill de Granados, Andrew Bast; Producers listed at the end of the segment: Oriana Zill de Granados, Michael Rey, Emily Rand)
- “The Collider” – a report on the Large Hadron Collider, a massive scientific instrument located 300 feet underground the border between Switzerland and France. After two years of repairs and upgrades, the Collider is smashing subatomic particles together at nearly double the power, leading physicists to look more closely at: dark matter, the quark, black holes, and anything else they may discover. Includes interviews with: Peter Higgs, British theoretical physicist who gave his name to the Higgs boson particle; Fabiola Gianotti, Italian physicist, and next Director General of the European Organization for Nuclear Research (CERN); and American physicists: Greg Rakness, Sam Ting, Steve Nahn, Laura Jeanty, and Steve Goldfard. Also includes comments by: Dr. Rolf-Dieter Heuer, Director General (CERN). (C: Lesley Stahl - P: Andy Court, Keith Sharman, Sarah Fitzpatrick)
- “Hamilton” – a report about “Hamilton”, the unorthodox musical currently selling out on Broadway and attracting such luminaries as President Barack Obama and former Vice President Dick Cheney. The lead actor and playwright of “Hamilton” is Lin-Manuel Miranda, and he uses a combination of hip-hop and rap along with popular music to portray Alexander Hamilton’s life -- all sung and danced by a diverse cast. Miranda also created the winner of the 2008 Tony for best musical, “In The Heights”. Includes interviews with: Lin-Manuel Miranda; Luis Miranda and Luz Towns-Miranda, Miranda’s parents; and Ron Chernow, author of “Alexander Hamilton” and the show’s historical advisor. Also includes a comment by Tommy Kail, the director of “Hamilton”. (C: Charlie Rose – P: Graham Messick)
- 11/15/15 “The Paris Attacks” – a report on the terror attacks in Paris, France on November 13th. ISIS (ISIL, Daesh) claimed responsibility for the series of attacks which consisted of mass shootings, suicide bombings, and hostage-taking. At least 129 people are dead with hundreds more injured. Two survivors describe the scene of the shootings at Bonne Biere café, and the massacre inside the Bataclan concert hall during an Eagles of Death Metal concert, where most of the victims were killed. Includes interviews with: Mark Colclough, Danish psychotherapist witnessed Bonne Biere café shooting; Francois (he withheld his last name for his own safety), shot and survived Bataclan shooting; and Alain Bauer, criminologist and former security advisor to the French Government. (C: Scott Pelley - P: Michael H. Gavshon, Keith Sharman, David M. Levine, Guy Campanile, Michael Rey, Robert G. Anderson)
- “The Speaker of the House” – an interview with Republican Representative Paul Ryan, the newly elected Speaker of the House, at his home in Janesville, Wisconsin. Among the topics discussed: his relationship with President Barack Obama; reasons for becoming Speaker; the loss of his father at age 16; a lack of a residence in Washington, DC, and how he sleeps in his office; his immigration and tax plan; and entitlement programs. Also includes an interview with Paul’s wife, Janna Ryan. (C: Scott Pelley – P: Robert G. Anderson, Aaron Weisz)
- “Football and the Brain” – a report on how the National Football League (NFL) is acknowledging the connection between on-field concussions and brain impairment later in life, and how they are reinventing equipment, funding scientific research and changing the rules due to the medical science. Ongoing studies of Chronic Traumatic Encephalopathy (CTE), a degenerative brain disease, have proven that 88 former NFL players had it, but currently CTE is only able to be diagnosed in the dead. Researchers hope to be able to diagnose CTE in the living in five to ten years. Includes interviews with: Roger Goodell, NFL Commissioner; Ed Reed, retired NFL safety; Dr. Robert Stern, Director of Clinical Research for the Boston University CTE Center; Dr. Kevin Guskiewicz, researcher in brain trauma at the University of North Carolina; Jeff Miller, Senior Vice President of Health and Safety for the NFL; and Pete Carroll, head coach of the Seattle Seahawks. - 11/22/15 “Active Shooter” – a report on how police departments in America are training their officers on how to respond to and stop active gun shooter situations like the terrorist attacks last week in Paris, France and the 2008 attacks in Mumbai, India. Police now urge victims of these situations to either run, hide, or fight since most attacks are over before help arrives. Includes interviews with: Bill Bratton, New York Police Commissioner; Raymond McPartland, detective, and lead trainer with the NYPD Counterterrorism Division; and Cathy Lanier, Washington, DC, Police Chief. (C: Anderson Cooper - P: Ira Rosen, Habiba Nosheen)
- “Common Enemy” – a report from the battle lines against ISIS (ISIL, Daesh), just outside of Fallujah, Iraq, where some former enemies of the United States -- Shiite militias backed by Iran -- are proving to be among the most effective militias against the terrorists. Includes interviews with: Major General Peter Gersten, top US commander in the fight against ISIS; Ali Arawi, local Badr commander (through translator); and Hadi Al-Amiri, president of Badr Organization (through translator). (C: Lara Logan – P: Max McClellan, Richard Butler)
- “The Future of Money” – a report on M-PESA, a mobile phone-based payment system used in Kenya created by Safaricom, Kenya’s largest cell phone provider company, that has improved urban commerce and brought basic necessities like water and solar power to poorer rural areas. Users give money to an agent at an M-PESA kiosk and it’s converted into virtual currency inputted on a phone. Includes interviews with: Bob Collymore, CEO of Safaricom; Daniel (last name not disclosed), taxi driver; Anji (last name not disclosed), shop owner; Mary Tonkei, Maasai dairy farmer; and Stephen Wainaina Waweru, pig farmer. (C: Lesley Stahl – P: Shachar Bar-On, Alexandra Poolos)
- The Mail - selected viewer comments about the segment “The Paris Attacks” (OAD: 11/15/15)
- 11/29/15 “The Last Prisoner” an interview with Alan Gross about what his five-years of captivity in Cuba were like before he was released on December 17, 2014 in exchange for three Cuban prisoners held by the United States. Gross was a U.S. government contractor hired by the U.S. Agency for International Development (USAID) to set up independent internet connections for the Jewish community in Cuba, and on his fifth trip he was arrested and captured in Havana. Also includes interviews with: Judy Gross, Alan’s wife; Senator Patrick Leahy (D-VT); and Tim Rieser, Senator Leahy’s congressional aide. (C: Scott Pelley – P: Oriana Zill de Granados, Michael Rey)
- “The Execution of Joseph Wood” – a report on the longest execution in U.S. history. The lethal injection Arizona executioners used on murderer Joseph Wood consisted of an experimental drug combination which took nearly two hours to kill him. Pharmaceutical companies have banned the use of their drugs for capital punishment, partly under pressure from death-penalty opponents, forcing states to turn to new, untried and illegally imported drugs. Includes interviews with: Mark Brnovich, Arizona Attorney General; Alex Kozinski, federal judge of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit; Richard and Jeannie Brown, family of Eugene Dietz and daughter Debra (two people Joseph Wood killed); and witnesses to Joseph Wood’s execution: Deacon Ed Schaeffer; Dale Baich, Wood’s attorney; and Michael Kiefer, reporter for The Arizona Republic. (C: Bill Whitaker – P: Ira Rosen, Habiba Nosheen)
- “Taking On The Eiger” – a report on how extreme athlete JT Holmes combined three sports: speed riding, skiing, and BASE jumping to descend down the Swiss mountain, pulling a parachute to break his 100-mph free fall. Cameras capture Holmes in action as it was attempted for the first time. Includes an interview with JT Holmes, American professional skier. Also includes comments by: Martin Schurmann, Swiss mountain guide; and Valentin Delluc, champion speed rider and cameraman. (C: Anderson Cooper – P: Tom Anderson)

48 HOURS: "The Accidental Husband" (9:00–10:00p) – an updated rebroadcast about Harold Henthorn, a twice-widowed man from Colorado whose two wives both died in unusual accidents, and whose changing account of events led family members to suspect that he murdered them. In 2012, Harold Henthorn surprised his wife Dr. Toni Henthorn, a successful ophthalmologist, with a weekend hike in Rocky Mountain National Park to celebrate their anniversary -- only to have it end in her death from a fall. Henthorn's version of events to family members changed several times and they began to doubt his account of events and to suspect he was responsible for her death. While reporting on the case, investigative reporter Brian Maass received an anonymous email stating Henthorn's first wife died in a freak accident as well. Maass looked into the accident and discovered first wife Lynn Henthorn had died 17 years earlier in another freak accident. He found: (1) both accidents occurred in very remote locations in Colorado; (2) Henthorn was the only witness; (3) the accidents were extremely unusual; (4) he had told numerous versions of the events; and (5) both wives had large life insurance policies, with him as the sole beneficiary. Federal investigators also discovered that Henthorn had not worked for the past twenty years. He had also taken out a fraudulent policy worth millions on his ex-sister-in-law, Grace Rishell, who now believes she was to be his next target. In 2014, two years after Toni Henthorn's tragic death, federal authorities arrested and charged Harold Henthorn with her murder. His trial is scheduled to begin in the fall. On-screen text graphic: A judge will decide if Lynn's death can be included in Henthorn's trial for the murder of Toni. Henthorn has yet to receive any proceeds from Toni's life insurance. Harold Henthorn declined our request for an interview. 11/21/15 UPDATE: This September, Henthorn's trial began. Prosecutors were confident they would win this largely circumstantial case. The defense rested without calling a single witness. Harold Henthorn was convicted of murder. On-screen text graphic for the 11/21/15 updated rebroadcast: Henthorn will be sentenced on December 8th. He faces a mandatory life sentence with no chance of parole. Harold Henthorn declined our request for an interview. Original 04/04/15 interviews: Barry Bertolet, Yvonne Bertolet and Bob Bertolet (Toni Henthorn's brother and parents); Daniel Jarvis (friend of Harold Henthorn); Tammi Abbruscato, Christie Drews (Toni Henthorn's co-workers); Brian Maass (investigative reporter); Grace Rishell (ex-sister-in-law of Harold Henthorn and Lynn Henthorn) and daughter Laura Rishell; Ann McNally, Nancy Hodges (co-workers of Lynn Henthorn); Patricia Montoya (offered aid during first accident); Lora Thomas (Douglas County Coroner); Arnold Wheat (48 HOURS consultant/ accident reconstruction specialist). New 11/21/15 interviews: jurors Dawn Roberts, Marxy Miller-Zahn, Daniel Jarvis, Jerry Taboada; and Henthorn friend Daniel Jarvis. 48 HOURS (continued)

- 11/21/15 48 HOURS: “The Strange Case of Kurt Sonnenfeld” (10:00-11:00p) - an investigation of Kurt Sonnenfeld, a man wanted for the 2002 murder of his wife, Nancy Sonnenfeld, in the United States, and who is now living with a new life with a new wife in Argentina, a country that has yet to agree to extradite him to the United States. He claims that the United States government wants to silence him for what he saw at Ground Zero following the 2001 terrorist attacks. He also maintains that his wife committed suicide after a New Year’s Eve celebration on January 1, 2002. Police believed it to be a homicide. Her death came during a troubled time in their marriage; Nancy had filed for separation and intended to divorce Kurt. He was arrested for murder, but the charges were dropped shortly before he was to go to trial due to insufficient evidence. The investigation continued, and police eventually refiled the murder charge. By that time, Sonnenfeld had moved to Argentina, remarried and had launched a campaign to clear his name by giving interviews to the local media. He claims that he is wanted in the United States because of something he saw while working as a cameraman for FEMA at the World Trade Center Ground Zero site, and also claims that he is facing the death penalty -- which he is not. The case now drags on through the Argentine court system, and the President of Argentina even says that Kurt Sonnenfeld will not be extradited. On-screen text graphic: Tomorrow is Argentina’s presidential election. It’s not clear whether the decision to keep Sonnenfeld in Argentina will stand. Interviewed: Paula Sonnenfeld (second wife); Amy Leek (Nancy’s sister); Leslie Lindberg (Nancy’s cousin); Jonathan Priest (retired Denver detective); Dr. Amy Martin (Denver assistant Medical Examiner); Carrie Thompson (defense attorney); Bill Ritter (District Attorney); Robert Dreyer (informant); Bill Owens (former Colorado governor); Dolores and Jorge Richar (Sonnenfeld supporters/ through translation); Adolfo Perez Esquivel (Nobel Prize winner, Sonnenfeld supporter); Rolondo Grana (Argentine TV personality); Kirk Mitchell (Denver Post reporter/48 HOURS consultant). (C: Erin Moriarty - P: Anthony Venditti, Clare Friedland)
- 11/28/15 48 HOURS: “Road to Redemption” - a report about Jeanne Bishop, who for more than two decades struggled to move on after losing both her sister and brother-in-law, Nancy Bishop Langert and Richard Langert -- murdered in their suburban Chicago home in 1990 by 16-year-old David Biro. In seeking closure to the crime, she pursued a face-to-face meeting with Biro in prison – which she eventually had. In 1990, Nancy and Richard Langert were found dead in their Winnetka, Illinois home, in what seemed like a home invasion/robbery. Their killer was identified months later as David Biro, a local high school student, who bragged to a friend that he had done it. Biro was tried as an adult and convicted of murder. He was sentenced to two mandatory life terms for the murders of Nancy and Richard Langert, and the judge gave him a discretionary life sentence for the death of their unborn child. For Jeanne Bishop, the crime was a life-changing moment: her actions during the investigation made authorities think she was uncooperative, and, because of the way she was treated by police, she changed careers, going from being a high-powered corporate attorney to a public defender. Still, for 23 years, in order to forgive, she felt she needed to know what motivated David Biro, thus lifting the crushing burden victims often live with. Biro agreed to meet with her, at Pontiac Correctional Center, where he is serving his time. In June of 2012, the U.S. Supreme Court decision deeming mandatory life sentences for juveniles as “cruel and unusual punishment.” meant that David Biro could qualify for a reduced sentence, or even be released. The ruling guarantees that there will be a re-sentencing. Jeanne’s mother and sister have ideologically different views about forgiveness and the Supreme Court decision, but have agreed to disagree. On-screen text graphic: David Biro is one of approximately 80 offenders convicted as juveniles awaiting re-sentencing in Illinois. Across the country, more than 1,000 offenders may qualify for resentencing under the Supreme Court ruling. Interviewed: Jeanne Bishop (sister); Joyce Bishop (mother); Jennifer Bishop-Jenkins (sister); Gene Kalvaitis (Sergeant, multi-town task force); Patty McConnell (Sergeant, Winnetka Police Department); Gera-Lind Kolarik (true-crime writer); Mark Osler (law professor). 12/06/15

"Confidential Informants" – an investigation into police coercing young people, many of them college students, to become confidential informants (CI) to help combat the war on drugs. Young people who are caught selling small amounts of marijuana are being recruited to become CI's by law enforcement. As a CI, they are placed in high-risk situations with no training while wearing a wire to make undercover drug buys in exchange for having their charges reduced or dropped altogether. Being a CI lead to the murder of Rachel Hoffman, and is questioned in Andrew Sadek's death, which is still an open investigation. Metro Narcotics, a drug task force close to the University of Mississippi (Ole Miss) in Oxford was exposed for threatening CI's and giving CI's incentives to entrap other students. Metro Narcotics and Ole Miss declined an interview. (Includes recordings of Keith Davis, head of the Metro Narcotics Unit, who has since resigned.) Includes interviews with: Jason Weber, narcotics officer and chief of a four-county drug task force in eastern North Dakota and western Minnesota; Tammy and John Sadek, Andrew Sadek's parents; Lance Block, attorney; Brian Sallee, undercover narcotics officer; Ken Coghlan, defense attorney; and Greg and Bob (unidentified Ole Miss students and former CI's who agreed to speak in disguise). (C: Lesley Stahl – P: Shari Finkelstein) DOUBLE LENGTH SEGMENT

"Bonobos" – a report on bonobos, a primate cousin of humans that looks like a chimpanzee. Bonobos are a separate species of ape that live in female-dominated groups and do not kill each other. Bonobos are endangered species and can only be found in the Democratic Republic of Congo in Central Africa. Conservationist Claudine Andre created Lola Ya Bonobo Sanctuary, an orphanage in Congo that's caring for bonobos. To save these primates from extinction, Lola has released some back into the wild and, so far, they are thriving. Includes interviews with: Claudine Andre; Brian Hare, Duke University evolutionary anthropologist; and Suzy Kwetuenda, biologist who oversees bonobo rehabilitation at Lola Ya Bonobo. (C: Anderson Cooper – P: Michael H. Gavshon, David M. Levine)

Obituary – a look back at the career of 60 MINUTES producer Harry A. Radliffe II, who died of cancer this past week. He was sixty-six years old. (C: Steve Kroft)

- 12/13/15 “A New Direction On Drugs” – an interview with Michael Botticelli, the new director of National Drug Control Policy, and the first “drug czar” to be a recovering addict himself, from alcohol. Topics includes: how addicts should be treated as patients and not prisoners; changing the stigma of addiction and classifying it as a disorder; his efforts as Director of Substance Abuse Services in Massachusetts in arming police departments with Naloxone to combat heroin overdoses and the Good Samaritan Law; legalizing marijuana; and Botticelli’s personal life as a recovering alcohol addict and an openly gay man. Also includes an interview with: Lieutenant Patrick Glynn, head of narcotics for Quincy, MA police. Also includes comments by: Dr. Leslie Kerzner, Neonatologist at Massachusetts General Hospital; and Dr. Jeffrey Samet, Professor of Medicine at the Boston University School of Medicine. (C: Scott Pelley – P: Denise Schrier Cetta)
- “The New Force Behind Star Wars” – an interview / profile of JJ Abrams, director and co-writer with Lawrence Kasdan of the latest Star Wars installment, “Star Wars: The Force Awakens”. This is the first Star Wars movie made without creator George Lucas, who sold the empire to The Walt Disney Company three years ago. Abrams managed a cast and crew of almost a thousand, set limits on computer-generated imagery, and crafted most of the creatures, like the droid BB-8, by hand. Also includes interviews with: Kelly McGrath, Abram’s wife; and Steven Spielberg, director. (C: Bill Whitaker – P: Marc Lieberman)
- “Lewis Hamilton” – an interview / profile of Lewis Hamilton, a three-time Formula One car racing world champion at the age of thirty. Hamilton is from England and is the first black Formula One racecar driver. Charlie Rose sat shotgun as Hamilton drove him around the track at Silverstone, home of the British Grand Prix, at 140 mph in the fastest Mercedes Benz. Also includes an interview with: Anthony Hamilton, Lewis’ father. (C: Charlie Rose – P: Keith Sharman)
- The Mail - selected viewer comments about the segment “Confidential Informants” (OAD: 12/06/15)
- 12/20/15 “Inside Apple” – a report on Apple Inc., a technology company headquartered in California that designs, develops, and sells consumer electronics and computer software, most notably the iPhone, iMac, and iPad. Apple’s CEO Tim Cook discussed: national security and encryption technology; corporate taxes; manufacturing products in China and Foxconn; Steve Jobs’ legacy; his personal life as an openly gay Fortune 500 CEO; and Apple’s new, under construction, campus dubbed the “spaceship”. Apple’s Chief Design Officer, Jonathan (Jony) Ive, and his team, reveal how the Apple watch and iPhone camera are created. Includes interviews with: Tim Cook; Jonathan Ive; Graham Townsend, Apple’s lead camera design engineer; Angela Ahrendts, Apple’s head of retail; and Paul Schiller, Apple’s head of marketing. Also includes comments by: Eddy Cue, Apple’s senior vice president of Internet Software and Services; and Dan Riccio, Apple’s head of hardware engineering. (C: Charlie Rose – Producers listed for Part I: Michael Radutzky, Glen Rochkind, Andrew Bast; Producers listed for Part II: Michael Radutzky, Andrew Bast, Glen Rochkind) DOUBLE LENGTH SEGMENT
- “Michael Caine” – an interview / profile of British actor Michael Caine, who stars as the leading man in the new film, “Youth” at the age of 82. Born Maurice Micklewhite, Caine is renowned for his working class cockney accent, and has appeared in over 100 films, winning two Oscars. In 2000, Caine received a knighthood from Britain’s Queen Elizabeth II. Also includes comments from Christopher Nolan, director. (C: Lesley Stahl – P: Ruth Streeter, Kaylee Tully)
- The Mail - selected viewer comments about the segment “A New Direction On Drugs” (OAD: 12/13/15)

48 HOURS

12/05/15

48 HOURS: “Dear Savanna” - a report on how Dorothy Lee Barnett (“Lee Barnett”) eluded the FBI for over two decades after fleeing the United States with her daughter Savanna, after losing custody of the child. Their 1994 disappearance launched an international search for Barnett and Savanna that did not end until she was arrested in Australia. Lee Barnett was in the midst of a bitter divorce with then-husband Harris Todd. Barnett had married him even though he said he did not want children. Problems began after she became pregnant. They went to counseling, and during this period a doctor diagnosed her as having hyperthymic temperament, a form of bipolar disorder. After Savanna was born, she filed for divorce. Harris counter-sued. The judge sided with Todd. Barnett then started to make plans to leave with 11-month-old Savanna. She obtained fake documents (birth certificates and passports) and disappeared. An FBI manhunt ensued. She was vilified in the press. In 1999, Harris Todd told 48 HOURS that she was mentally ill. Barnett countered with her side of the story: she cut off all contact with her family and headed to Europe, then Malaysia, Singapore, South Africa, Botswana and Australia. Along the way, she met and married Alex Geldenhuys, and had another child, Reece. Unbeknownst to Savanna, she became Samantha Geldenhuys. While they were on the run, Barnett also kept a secret diary for her daughter, planning one day to tell her the story of her life. In 2011, the FBI got a tip that Barnett was living in Australia. Samantha learned about her past from the agents. In 2013, Barnett was extradited to the United States. Samantha has read all the transcripts and the diaries and has a new understanding of her mother. Barnett pled guilty to all charges and spent 21 months in prison. Samantha eventually met her father and described it as a surreal experience. She remains open to a relationship, but stands behind her mother. On-screen text graphic: Samantha graduates college in Australia next year. Reece is attending Auburn University in Alabama. Lee is living with friend in Charleston. Interviewed: Lee Barnett; Samantha Geldenhuys (Savanna); Reece Geldenhuys (son); Susie Poag, Bruce Michell, Patty Roth, Gordon King, Ken Gizzard (Lee’s friends); Cliff Barnett (brother); Chris Quick (FBI agent); Nathan Williams (assistant U.S. Attorney); Harris Todd (1999 interview). (C: Maureen Maher - P: Liza Finley, Ryan N. Smith, Doug Longhini)

12/12/15

48 HOURS: “The Two Faces of Todd Winkler” - a report on the investigation into the February 2012 death of Rachel Winkler, who was fatally stabbed with scissors by her husband, Todd Winkler, a former fighter jet pilot, in their Cameron Park, California home. He claims it was self-defense, triggered by an extreme psychotic episode -- they were fighting. He told police she was stabbed during the prolonged struggle when she grabbed the scissors. Investigation revealed: a fractured marriage; Rachel’s affair; a potential divorce; and Todd Winkler’s shocking past which prosecutors believe held clues to what happened to Rachel. Rachel’s father, renowned impressionist painter Don Hatfield, believes Todd killed Rachel because she knew his secrets: a past that included possible psychotic outbursts and erratic behavior to get out of problems in the military and in his professional life, and that there was more to the story behind the fiery crash which claimed the life of his previous wife, Catherine Winkler. Todd Winkler’s mental health became a major issue when he seemed to have a psychotic outburst during the trial. Prosecutors suggested he was faking and that it was a ploy to sway the jury. The verdict: guilty of the crime of first-degree murder as charged. On-screen text graphic: Todd Winkler plans to appeal. He says evidence of Catherine’s death should not have been allowed at trial. On-screen text graphic for the 12/12/15 rebroadcast: Todd Winkler is appealing his conviction. He says evidence of Catherine’s death should not have been allowed at trial. Interviewed: Don Hatfield (Rachel’s father); Brandy Stanley (close friend of Rachel’s); James White (Rachel’s boyfriend); Lisette Suder (prosecutor); Peter Hecht (Sacramento Bee reporter/CBS News Consultant); Woody DePew and Michael Hodnett (campers); Christina Carlisle (Catherine Winkler’s sister); Rich Johnson (deputy sheriff); David Weiner (defense attorney); Dr. Frank Lossy (psychiatrist/expert witness for the defense); and Phil Albee (pilot). 48 HOURS (continued)

- 12/19/15 48 HOURS: “Murder in Aspen” – a updated rebroadcast on the 2013 murder of Nancy Pfister, an Aspen, Colorado socialite / ski resort heiress, and the investigation to find her killer. Pfister came from a family of high achievers, but was also known for a demanding demeanor; even her friends were treated with disrespect, as friend Kathy Carpenter had personally experienced. Nancy Pfister was found dead from blunt force trauma, in the bedroom closet of her home by Kathy Carpenter. She had been alerted that something was amiss by Nancy Styler, who had recently rented the place with her husband Trey Styler, and was in the process of moving out. Police focused on the Stylers because they were involved in a public dispute with Pfister involving the rental home. Pfister came back three months earlier than expected, saying the couple had owed her a large amount of money. Police believed Nancy Styler harbored anger over the way Pfister treated the couple. They also believed Trey Styler, who suffered from a neurological disorder, was incapable of killing anyone. Days after the murder, both were arrested and charged with murder. Soon after, Kathy Carpenter was also arrested, and charged with murder. Police believed the women had bonded over Pfister’s seeming indifference to them. Three months later, a bombshell: Trey Styler confessed and said that he and he alone had killed Nancy Pfister. He agreed to tell the details of the crime in exchange for a 20-year sentence and his wife’s unconditional freedom. The charges were dropped against both women, but they claim that the prosecution’s continued insistence that they were somehow involved in the murder has convicted them in the court of public opinion. Kathy Carpenter still faces the threat of prosecution should more evidence be found. Nancy Styler can never be charged. Original on-screen text graphic: Nancy Styler has filed for divorce, gone back to take her maiden name and moved to another state. Epilogue for the 12/19/15 rebroadcast: After thirteen months behind bars, Trey Styler sat down with author Dalleen Berry, who is writing a book with Nancy Styler in an effort to clear her name. He insisted he had acted alone. Four months after the interview, Trey Styler hanged himself in his prison cell. Nancy Styler changed her name, and moved to another state. Interviewed: Nancy Styler; Kathy Carpenter; Mark Seal (writer/48 HOURS consultant); Tim Mooney, David Koffend, Michael Cleverly (Pfister friends); Juliana Pfister (daughter); Andrea Bryan (Assistant District Attorney); Lisa Miller (DA Chief Investigator); Sherry Caloia (District Attorney); Greg Greer (Carpenter defense attorney); Garth McCarthy (Styler defense attorney). (C: Maureen Maher - P: Liza Finley) (OAD: 03/07/15)
- 12/26/15 48 HOURS PRESENTS: “Love and Death In Alaska” (9:00-11:00p) - an updated rebroadcast of the 09/13/08 48 HOURS MYSTERY rebroadcast of “Love and Death In Alaska”. On May 2, 1996, the body of Kent Leppink was found off a deserted road 90 miles south of Anchorage, Alaska. He had been shot three times. Police investigation discovered that he had been involved with Mechele Hughes, a young woman who worked as a stripper in a club called the Great Alaskan Bush Company. Mechele was also involved with two other men -- John Carlin III and Scott Hilke. Ten years later, after further investigation, Mechele (now Mechele Linehan) and John Carlin were indicted for Leppink’s murder. At his trial, Carlin was found guilty of first degree murder and sentenced to 99 years in prison. At her trial, she was also found guilty of first degree murder. She awaits sentencing. Among those interviewed are: Mechele Linehan; Linda Branchflower, detective; Ken and Betsy Leppink, parents of Kent; Scott Hilke, salesman; John Carlin III; John Carlin IV; Megan Holland, reporter, Anchorage Daily News; Tina Brady, stripper; Kristina Hermach, friend of Mechele Linehan; Colin Linehan, Mechele’s husband; Pat Gullufsen, special cold case prosecutor; Sydney Billingslea, lawyer for John Carlin III; Kevin Fitzgerald, lawyer for Mechele Linehan. 08/07/10 Update: In February 2010, an appeals court reversed Mechele’s conviction for murder and she will be given a new trial. John Carlin III was involved in a prison fight in 2008 and beaten to death. Because his appeal was pending at the time he died, the court has thrown out his entire case. In Mechele’s new trial, prosecutors can’t mention Carlin ever was convicted. Onscreen graphics update: Mechele Linehan’s retrial is expected to begin next year. Epilogue for the 12/26/15 updated rebroadcast: In 2011, nearly two years after the court reversed her conviction – authorities dismissed Mechele Linehan’s murder indictment, and it is unlikely that she will be charged again. John Carlin’s son sued the State of Alaska for wrongful death and was awarded a $160,000 settlement. Today, Mechele and Colin are living apart, though they work together. Kent Leppink’s mother struggles with the feeling that nobody was really held accountable for his murder. (C: Susan Spencer - P: Josh Yager, Mark H. Smith) (OAD: 03/08/08 as 48 HOURS MYSTERY: “Love and Death in the Wild”; 1st Rebroadcast: 09/13/08 as 48 HOURS MYSTERY: “Love and Death In Alaska” which included a brief updated text graphic at the conclusion. 2nd Rebroadcast: 08/07/10, which was an update of the 09/13/08 rebroadcast.)

60 MINUTES SPECIAL EDITION (8:00 - 9:00p)

WEST COAST ONLY - "Hands Off The Wheel" – a report on the advancement of self-driving cars powered by a form of artificial intelligence. In Silicon Valley, Bill Whitaker takes a test drive in the Mercedes-Benz self-driving automobile and sits inside Google's version of the driverless car. Unlike current cars, the issues consumers will face with self-driving cars will be related to cybersecurity and privacy. The car industry plans to automate the driving experience feature-by-feature first, before a driverless car is introduced to the market. Mercedes-Benz shared their vision for a car in the year 2030, the F015, a design where the driver turns its back to the steering wheel. (Includes an excerpt from an Infiniti ad) Includes interviews with: Ralf Herrtwich, director of driver assistance and chassis systems at Daimler AG/Mercedes-Benz; Chris Urmson, director self-driving cars at Google; Jaime Waydo, systems engineer at Google; Peter Lehmann, engineer at Daimler AG/Mercedes-Benz; and Mark Rosekind, Administrator of the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA). (C: Bill Whitaker – P: Marc Lieberman) (OAD: 10/04/15)

"The Spy Among Us" – an interview / profile of Jack Barsky, a former spy for the Soviet Union's KGB, assigned to the United States during the last years of the Cold War, with the aim of infiltrating President Jimmy Carter's White House. Barsky, born Albrecht Dittrich in East Germany, was recruited by a Russian KGB agent. Failing at his original mission, he then worked at MetLife in IT, where he stole IBM source code for the Soviets. He also led a double life, with a wife and son in Germany and a wife and daughter in the United States. Recalled by the KGB in 1988, he made the decision to stay in the U.S. with his daughter. He lied to the KGB by telling them that he was dying of AIDS. He had another child, a son, and settled down with his family in Mount Bethel, Pennsylvania. The FBI started observing Barsky, and in May of 1997 had gathered enough evidence to question him. After the interrogation, the FBI concluded that his spy days were over and that he would be most useful in supplying information as to how the KGB operated. He now lives in upstate New York as director of software development for an undisclosed company that manages New York's high-voltage power grid. Also includes interviews with: Joe Reilly, former FBI agent; and Chelsea (last name not disclosed), Barsky's daughter. (C: Steve Kroft – P: Draggan Mihailovich) DOUBLE LENGTH SEGMENT (OAD: 05/10/15)

60 MINUTES PRESENTS: "Mob Stories"

"The Gaskos" – a report on the capture of the FBI's most wanted man, Boston mobster James "Whitey" Bulger, and his girlfriend, Catherine Greig. For over 14 years the couple avoided an international manhunt by living a quiet, secluded life in Santa Monica, California posing as "Charley and Carol Gasko". Federal law enforcement trackers explain how a breast augmentation by Greig and the couple's shared love for animals led to their arrest. Includes interviews with Josh Bond, manager of the Princess Eugenia Apartments; Janus Goodwin and Barbara Gluck, tenants of the Princess Eugenia Apartments; Scott Garriola, Rich Teahan, Tommy MacDonald and Phil Torsney (Ret.), FBI Special Agents; and Neil Sullivan, Deputy U.S. Marshall. (C: Steve Kroft – P: Tanya Simon) (OAD: 11/24/13 - includes an update)

"Gotti" - an interview and profile of John Gotti Jr., son of the late convicted mafia boss John Gotti, head of the Gambino crime family. He discusses his infamous father, whom he strove to please by living a life of crime, and his eventual decision to leave that life. Also includes comments by his lawyer, Charles Carnesi, who was present during the interview. (C: Steve Kroft - P: Ira Rosen) (OAD: 04/11/10 as a DOUBLE LENGTH SEGMENT; includes an update)

"The FBI's Wise Guy" - an interview with Joaquin "Jack" Garcia, the Cuban-American FBI agent who infiltrated the Gambino crime family as Jack Falcone, an Italian gangster character he created in 2002 to take down one of the most powerful mobsters in America. Extremely successful, he gained the trust of Gambino capo Greg DePalma, who offered to make Falcone a "made member" of the Mafia -- a proposal which would have made him the first law enforcement agent in history to ever achieve that position. Recently retired after 26 years, he is the author of "Making Jack Falcone". (C: Armen Keteyian - P: Pat Milton, Michael Radutzky) (OAD: 10/12/08)

CBS RELIGIOUS AND CULTURAL SPECIALS

12/13/15 “Marriage, Religion & Modern Life” – an interfaith special that looks at how the tradition of matrimony has evolved throughout the ages and what it looks like today. Marriage is a ritual that is celebrated in many different religions and cultures all over the world. Today, nearly 30 percent of adults are married or living with a partner who has a religion different than their own and there is a growing population of families who are making a conscious choice to raise their children in both faith traditions. Featured are: (1) Historian Stephanie Coontz (author, “Marriage, A History” and “The Way We Never Were”) and sociologist Dr. Andrew J. Cherlin (author, “Labor’s Love Lost”, Sociology Prof., Johns Hopkins University) discuss how marriage has evolved over the centuries and why the public debate around same-sex marriage went from unfavorable to favorable. (2) Changes in attitudes toward marriage and religion are also evident among millennials, who are increasingly deferring the decision to tie the knot. Reverend Dale Rosenberger (author, “Sex and the Spirit”) is the Senior Pastor of the First Congregational Church of Darien, Connecticut. He discusses how the culture of marriage has changed in the United States, how this affects millennials’ spiritual lives, and how he ministers to young couples who are ready for this commitment. (3) The Interfaith Family Project (IFFP) of Greater Washington in Washington, D.C. is an educational organization for families who want to raise their children both Christian and Jewish. IFFP’s spiritual leaders, Reverend Julia Jarvis and Rabbi Rain Zohav, discuss why more families are intentionally raising their children with an understanding of both traditions. IFFP member Susan Katz, author of “Being Both: Embracing Two Religions in One Interfaith Family”, explains why more and more families are embracing this grassroots movement. (Narrator: Rolland Smith. Executive Producer: Elizabeth Kineke. Associate Producer: Natalie Baxter. Director & Senior Executive Producer: John P. Blessington. Produced in consultation with: National Council of Churches; The Islamic Society of North America; New York Board of Rabbis; A Consortium of Roman Catholic Organizations.)

12/24/15 AMay Peace Prevail On Earth: An Interfaith Christmas Special – an interfaith Christmas Eve service at St. Gregory of Nyssa Episcopal Church in San Francisco, California. The service is sponsored by the United Religions Initiative, the world’s largest grassroots interfaith organization. The service includes music and dance, and features prayers from various religious traditions, given voice by individual representatives of each of those traditions. Also included are reports on some of the efforts of URI in bringing together people of different faiths and cultures, and to end religiously motivated violence. The host for the broadcast is the Rt. Rev. William E. Swing, Founder and President of URI. Executive Producers: Jonathan Dann (Jon Dann Communications); Rev. Victor H. Kazanjian, Jr. (Executive Director, URI). Executive Producer for CBS: John P. Blessington
