July 19th , 2015 Youth Advocacy/Education 'Making It Happen Foundation' 30m

If you've seen "The Blind Side," you know the impact that one person can have on the life of a child. That is the story of our Family. How quickly we went from a four person family to a five person family and the impact it had on ALL of our lives, yet that was never our goal. We simply saw someone with needs. Michael was about to fall through the cracks and society deemed him valueless. I am here to tell you that NO ONE is valueless. This story is not something we were looking for, nor did we anticipate what would eventually happen. We feel the story of our family is 100% God driven. We are simply trying to be good stewards of the message; to encourage others that they can make a difference too. We have received cards, letters, and messages from people who want to help provide opportunities for other kids who may not otherwise have them. By way of response, we have established the Making It Happen Foundation to share the message that hope, love and opportunity can change a life.

July 26th , 2015 Topic Health “Be The Match: Bone Marrow” 30m

For the thousands of people diagnosed every year with life-threatening blood cancers like leukemia and lymphoma, a cure exists. Over the past 25 years Be The Match®, operated by the National Marrow Donor Program® (NMDP), has managed the largest and most diverse marrow registry in the world. We work every day to save lives through transplant.

August 2nd, 2015 Topic: Local Writers/Entrepreneurs “Mommias Drama” Week 30m

Mamas' Drama is based on a true story. Four generations experience the secrets and lies that create the "mama's baby, daddy's maybe" condition, which occurs when the father's identity is questionable. The story begins in 1929 when Josephine, who is approaching the tender age of eight, is told that the daddy she dearly loves is not her biological father. Josephine grows up and marries George, and they become parents of nine children. The paternity of two of the children is questionable, and secrets and lies become a way of life for Josephine.

August 9th , 2015 Topic- Community Involvement “KING ARTS COMPLEX” 30m

KAC’s Summer Arts Camp is an 8-week, daily, program where children are immersed in multiple art forms to foster their creative spirit. This year’s theme is BAM!! Black Aesthetics Movement (BAM), called for the creation of poetry, novels, visual arts, and theatre to reflect the pride in black history and culture in the wake of the Black Power Movement. Summer Camp Participants will learn about this Movement and produce art in light of this era.

August 16th, 2015 Topic- Committed to Community 30m

#CommittedToCommunity: Engage, Empower, Uplift is a first of its kind joint venture and voter mobilization campaign between the Republican National Committee and a black media outlet – Radio One networks. The campaign includes a series of engagement activities, issue forums and events in communities of color where the RNC is actively engaged and Radio One has a platform to help share our message. The campaign includes digital integration with mobile technology and a significant radio ad campaign on Radio One stations in target cities and states.

August 23rd, 2015 Homelessness “The OSU Star House” 30m

The city’s only drop-in center for homeless youths won’t have to cut hours with the move to a new building this fall, directors say. Emergency support from the city of Columbus and from Franklin County is expected to help Star House keep its doors open 24/7. The center had received $665,000 in state money each of the past two years, but supporters couldn’t persuade legislators to renew the funding in the biennial budget that took effect on July 1.

Terry O’Connell, chairman of the Star House advisory board, said the city council and county commissioners recognized what was at stake with the loss of state money.

“We have an extremely receptive audience,” he said. “We won’t have to put our kids out on the streets at all hours, which is where they are most vulnerable.”

August 30th, 2015 Recap: “Making It Happen Foundation” 30m

If you’ve seen “The Blind Side,” you know the impact that one person can have on the life of a child. That is the story of our Family. ### September 6th, 2015 Topic: Women’s Conference of Empowerment 30m

Shatisha Williams has put together a free conference for Women in central Ohio. She explains that “this movement is designed to allow all women to come together to hear the word of the lord concerning God's will for their life. This is not an ordinary move of God, but a God ordain encounter to discover who you are and your purpose in the Kingdom. Jesus knew exactly who he was and knew his purpose on the earth.

September 13th, 2015 Preserving History: GCBLA 30m

The GCBLA will host their 3rd annual induction ceremony on at the Crowne Plaza North, 6500 Doubletree Avenue, Columbus, OH 43229, in Columbus, Ohio with a meet/greet from 5:00-6:00pm and dinner/induction ceremony from 6:00-9:00pm. This event is open to the public and will be a great opportunity to get acquainted with GCBLA members and to network with other professionals. The idea for the GCBLA was initially discussed during a conversation between, Skip Young, current president, and his friend, John “Pineapple” Louis, who thought it was necessary to record the history of the basketball legends from Franklin and surrounding counties. Skip shared this idea with other former players and they envisioned that the organization would emphasize the impact of basketball on the Ohio community, be responsible for telling their own story, and help the younger generation of athletes in their academic and athletic careers. Unfortunately, before Louis could witness the realization of this dream, he passed away from cancer. Unbeknownst to Skip, Dr. Wallace Chandler also had a similar vision and they came together, 20 years later, to form the GCBLA in honor of Louis and other influential basketball players who have since passed away.

September 20th , 2015 Topic Education/Family Center 30m

St. Vincent Family Center began in 1875 at our present location on East Main Street. The organization was founded as an orphanage under the auspices of Bishop Sylvester Rosecrans of the Catholic Diocese of Columbus. The work of the Catholic sisters to service the poor and orphaned of central Ohio continued into the early 1970s but expanded into the mental health field when the St. Vincent Orphanage merged with Columbus Children's Psychiatric Hospital. Our emphasis on providing residential treatment and day treatment continued into the 80s and 90s and was again expanded to include day treatment to St. Vincent Family Center in 2000 to acknowledge the mission of the agency and its founding. Today, St. Vincent Family Center remains in its original location in Columbus.

September 27th , 2015 Topic: Healthcare 30m

UHC, United Healthcare Community Plan is a great service that offers Medicaid and Medicare to those in need. This community plan also has a special program for pregnant women, as well as members matter, which helps people with particular issues. These issues can be housing, food, transpiration, utility bills and more.

Columbus Suburb Finds West Nile Virus

The city of Dublin has confirmed that three mosquito traps in different sections have tested positive for West Nile virus. This include the sections of west (from Houchard Road, south of SR 161/Post Road, east to I-270 and areas in the city south of Rings Road), east (east and south of I-270 to Tuttle Crossing and Martin Road) and northeast (east of Riverside Drive to Sawmill Road and south to I-270).

In order to reduce the number of adult mosquitoes, Franklin County Public Health will be spraying the entire city next week.

Spraying is scheduled for the Central, West and East sections on Monday, July 27.

Spraying is scheduled for the North and Northeast sections on Tuesday, July 28.

All spraying is scheduled to start at 8:30 p.m. and is weather permitting.

Child Advocacy: Subway And Jared

Suspended Subway pitchman Jared Fogle's foundation, which encourages children to avoid the same obesity he experienced in college, faces an uncertain future following a raid at his home two months after the group's then-executive director was arrested on child pornography charges. A phone number to the Jared Foundation Inc. was out of service and its website was down Wednesday, a day after federal and state authorities seized electronics and other items from Fogle's suburban Indianapolis home. Fogle hasn't been charged with any crime and his attorney, Ron Elberger, said the 37-year-old is cooperating with authorities "in their investigation of unspecified charges."

Following the raid, Subway suspended its relationship with Fogle, who shed 245 pounds more than 15 years ago as an Indiana University college student, in part by regularly eating the restaurant's sandwiches.

Ohio College to Change Name Due to Cosby Allegations

A historically black college in southwest Ohio says it's considering changing the title of a building named for comedian Bill Cosby.

Officials at Central State University in Wilberforce earlier said the name of its Cosby Communications Center would remain intact, but President Cynthia Jackson-Hammond said in a statement Wednesday the name will be "discussed appropriately." In newly unsealed documents, Cosby testified in 2005 that he obtained quaaludes with the intent of giving them to women before sex. Jackson-Hammond calls the circumstances around the comedian's situation "troublesome and disappointing to all." The Dayton Daily News reports that the Cosby family has donated more than $2 million to the university. A decision on the building's name is expected from the school soon.

Prisons in Ohio: Will President Obama's new Initiatives bring change here?

President Barack Obama's push for a fairer justice system is literally sending him to prison. As part of a weeklong focus on inequities in the criminal justice system, Obama will meet separately Thursday with law enforcement officials and nonviolent drug offenders who are paying their debt to society at the El Reno Federal Correctional Institution, a medium-security prison for male offenders near Oklahoma City. He'll be the first sitting president to see the inside of a federal prison, the White House said.

Obama will also be interviewed at El Reno for an upcoming Vice News documentary on the criminal justice system. The goal is usually to keep people with criminal histories far away from a president, not to put a president in their midst. But, as much as it may defy logic, the controlled environment of a prison is better than many of the public venues where presidents appear, said Danny Spriggs, a former deputy director of the U.S. Secret Service, which provides the president's security.

New Details in Sandra Bland Case. Do You Fear The Law in Your Community?

Family and friends sought more details Thursday about the death of a black woman who authorities say hanged herself in a Texas jail after her arrest for allegedly kicking an officer following a traffic stop, saying the 28-year-old gave no indication she was in such an emotional state that she would kill herself. However, Sandra Bland had posted a video to her Facebook page in March acknowledging she was suffering from "a little bit of depression as well as PTSD," or post-traumatic stress disorder.

The Texas Rangers and the FBI are investigating the circumstances surrounding Bland's death, and a prosecutor said he planned to present the state findings to a grand jury. Bland was found dead Monday morning in a Waller County jail cell in Hempstead, Texas, about 60 miles northwest of Houston.

UC Police Officer Ray Tensing Indicted In Shooting Of Unarmed Black Man

The two University of Cincinnati police officers who were present at the scene of Sam Dubose's death will not be facing any charges. According to reports, Officers Phillip Kidd and David Lindenschmidt were placed on administrative leave this past Thursday after footage was released of Sam Dubose's shooting by Officer Ray Tensing.

Despite Tensing being indicted for murder and involuntary manslaughter charges, the two officers have gotten off clear of any charges.

Black Vote in Ohio: Is Donald Trump for the People?

During a Sunday interview with ABC News, presidential candidate Donald Trump defended comments he made about Barack Obama, concluding that America will not see a Black president for quite some time due to the legacy the current Commander-In-Chief has left behind. The comments came after Trump, who has been in the news lately for disparaging comments against Mexican immigrants and women, was asked a question about a 2014 tweet that stated there would not be a Black president for generations because of the “poor job” Obama has done.

Suspensions Disproportionately Applied To Black Children Mean Racism Begins Early

Does racial bias in America begin inside public school classrooms?

Judge for yourself. A new study shows that America’s teachers and administrators frequently address behavioral problems with students strictly along racial lines.

The study, which was recently released by the journal Sociology of Education, shows that African-American students with behavioral problems are far more likely to be punished with expulsions, suspensions — and sometimes even arrested and forced into the criminal justice system — while white students are routinely steered into special education programs and treated for learning disabilities when they behave badly.

Black Lives Matter VS Black On Black Crime

Monday’s “The Kelly File” segment on Fox News turned into a war of words between the host, Megyn Kelly and Dr. Cornel West. The three-minute debate centered on the #BlackLivesMatter movement and the various cases of Black-on-Black crime as Kelly kicked things off with discussing Peggy Hubbard, a St. Louis area grandmother who – as we reported – generated more than 7 million views of a video she posted that captured her anger with the Black Lives Matter movement and the lack of protests happening for the inner-city regarding innocent children and unwarranted violence.

Sexting Case Highlights Quandary Over Child Porn Laws

When authorities discovered that a high school couple had sent each other nude selfies, the two 16-year-olds were plunged into a legal morass with the potential to be branded sex offenders for life.

The Fayetteville teens were accused of being both the victims of child pornography and the perpetrators of the crime. And under a quirk in the law, the legal system treated them as adults for purposes of prosecuting them, but also considered them minors by deeming their selfies child pornography.

Over Homemade Clock; President Obama Invites Teen to White House: Do We Discriminate against Muslims?

The detention of a 14-year-old Muslim boy questioned and handcuffed after teachers decided a homemade clock he brought to his Texas high school resembled a bomb prompted allegations of anti-Islam profiling Wednesday, even as police and school officials defended their response.

Ahmed Mohamed, who by Wednesday afternoon had received an invitation to the White House, will not be charged with possessing a hoax bomb because there's no evidence that the boy meant to cause alarm at his school in Irving, police Chief Larry Boyd said at a news conference.

The incident drew broad attention, with President Barack Obama inviting Ahmed to the White House. In a tweet posted Wednesday, Obama called Ahmed's clock "cool" and said more kids should be inspired like him to enjoy science, because "it's what makes America great."

The hashtag #IStandWithAhmed was tweeted more than 520,000 times by early Wednesday afternoon.
