HOT TALK with JILL TRACEY

Hot Talk with Jill Tracey: Assistant Director Civilian Investigative Panel (CIP) Rodney W. Jacobs, Jr. JD, MPA, MPH

April 10, 2022

The Civilian Investigative Panel (CIP) provides for independent and impartial citizens' oversight of the Miami Police Department. Mr. Jacobs joins Jill to discuss how the agency empowers the community to be engaged with experts in mediation who believe that it provides each of the parties involved by providing a "safe space," protected by rules of confidentiality, where they can freely express their feelings and opinions. In this setting, mediation empowers police officers by allowing them to take an active role in shaping the settlement of the complaint. Mediation provides police officers with an opportunity to explain what they did and why. In the internal affairs review process, officers are required to explain themselves to investigators—from either internal affairs or a citizen oversight agency—but they have no opportunity to talk directly to the complainant.

HOT TALK WITH JILL TRACEY: LYNN FENSTER SMITH

The Fenster Family was one of prominence and privilege until they dared to create businesses in the Black Community in the heat of the civil rights movement. At the hand of many of their white and Jewish community and family members, Lynn shares how opening business in the Black community almost ended their family business. This A self-made, complex woman who carved out her own path with hands-on education, made history in banking and faced an unsolved disaster reeking of greed and gender bias. Lynn weaves a no-holds- barred, raw, reality account of generosity, vulnerability, societal restraints, strength, impeccable style, defiance, ups and downs, passion and a target for hidden agendas with a riveting focus to take care of her family in her own words. One of her life choices was to take-on a group of New York power-brokers head-on in a brutal battle that would make national and local headlines.
