SUBJECT: Fracking in the area

DISCUSSION: The Maryland Department has issued a draft final report on fracking the Marcellus Shale that lies underneath our area. Some areas that were researched included: economic impact, environmental impact, and wildlife safety. This report comes after 3 years of research. The report recommends the best practices that are as stringent, if not more so, than what other states currently have legislated. The report does find that with the right regulations in place risk would be minimal for fracking.
