Good Fortune is a provocative exploration of how massive international efforts to alleviate poverty in Africa may be undermining the very communities they aim to benefit. In Kenya's rural countryside, Jackson's farm is being flooded by an American investor who hopes to alleviate poverty by creating a multimillion-dollar rice farm. Across the country in Nairobi, Silva's home and business in Africa's largest shantytown are being demolished as part of a U.N. slum-upgrading project. The gripping stories of two Kenyans battling to save their homes from large-scale development present a unique opportunity see foreign aid through eyes of the people it is intended to help.

Behind the enduring images of heroic rescues undertaken by the New Orleans Police Department in the aftermath of Hurricane Katrina, there is another story of law enforcement in crisis, even out of control. "Law & Disorder," a year-long, ongoing collaboration among FRONTLINE, ProPublica and the New Orleans Times-Picayune, investigates charges that NOPD officers inappropriately used lethal force against New Orleans citizens and then tried to cover up their actions. Airing days before the fifth anniversary of one of the deadliest hurricanes in U.S. history and drawing from reports published in a real-time online investigation, FRONTLINE takes a fresh look at how the NOPD performed when the rules of civilized society collapsed.

Merle Haggard actually lived the rambling, gambling, love 'em and leave 'em, often brutal life that remains the bedrock of country music lyrics - he hopped his first freight train at the age of 10, became a chronic truant and drinker and was locked up some 17 times as a youngster. Serious criminal charges followed, including car theft. He was, literally, in the inmate audience in 1959, when Johnny Cash gave his New Year's Day concert in San Quentin - and, as he's said repeatedly, "my life changed forever." The film features interviews with comrades and fellow musicians including Robert Duvall, John Fogerty, Billy Gibbons, Kris Kristofferson, Keith Richards, Tanya Tucker, Don Was, and Dwight Yoakam, among others.

Two big items checked off the president's to do list--signing financial reform into law and extending unemployment benefits, but it was a sloppy firing with an unknown government employee that forced the White House off message this week. I'm Gloria Borger sitting in for Gwen Ifill tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama, said, "We finally overcame the procedural blockade of a partisan minority in the Senate to restore unemployment insurance for about 2.5 million Americans who are out of work and looking for a job." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "He went out of his way to misrepresent the position of Senate Republicans. Of course we ought to extend unemployment, but we ought to pay for it." Ben Bernanke, Federal Reserve Chairman said, "The economic outlook remains unusually uncertain." So who should we believe and what's the best way to help those hit by the recession? The video clip that caused an uproar, followed by the firing and then the backpedaling. Press Secretary Robert Gibbs said, "A disservice was done for which we apologize." Secretary Tom Vilsack said, "I started off by extending to her my personal and profound apologies." Sec. Gibbs said, "The president expressed to Ms. Sherrod his apologies for the events of the last several days. Inside the firestorm that put the media, the White House and the issue of race front and center. Or was it just a bungled personnel matter? And in the post-9/11 era has America's intelligence community gotten too big and unmanageable? Covering these stories this week: John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, and Dana Priest of the Washington Post.

In 1993 the late architect and MacArthur "genius" Samuel Mockbee started the Rural Studio, a design/build architecture program, in which students create striking architecture for impoverished communities in rural Alabama. Guided by frank, passionate never-before-seen interviews with Mockbee, the film shows how a group of students use their creativity, ingenuity and compassion to craft a home for their charismatic client, Jimmie Lee Matthews. Known within the community as Music Man because of his obsession with soul music, Jimmie Lee maintains a healthy zeal for life, blasting R&B from his vast collection of used stereos and boasting that he "ain't never met a stranger!" These relatively affluent, typically middle class students cross a threshold into Music Man's world to form a strong bond with a role model and friend--someone they likely would not have met had they not left the comfortable university campus for rural West Alabama. The Rural Studio is about more than building. It is also about providing students with an experience that forever inspires them to consider how they can use their skills to better their communities. Interviews with Mockbee's peers and scenes with those he's influenced infuse the film with a larger discussion of architecture's role in issues of poverty, class, race, education, social change and citizenship.

In the first decade of the 21st century, baseball is booming. In an age of home runs and power, Pedro Martinez and a handful of other superb pitchers still manage to dominate. The astonishingly talented right fielder Ichiro Suzuki becomes MLB's first Japanese position player and a hero back home. As America reels from the horror of the 9/11 attacks, baseball provides solace, and in an incredible World Series, gives the country something to cheer about. As the rivalry between the Yankees and the Red Sox reaches the boiling point, long-suffering Boston fans rejoice in their first World Series victory in 86 years, while Giants and Cubs fans endure devastating losses. Barry Bonds demolishes Mark McGwire's home-run record and sets his sights on Henry Aaron's revered all time mark. The game is more popular than ever, but revelations about steroids cast a shadow on many of the era's greatest stars and their historic accomplishments.
